DON'T RISK NEGLECT

Don't neglect a constant backache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Doan's Kidney Pills as have your friends and neighbors. A Charlevoix case.

Mrs. Elwin Johnson, 803 Bridge St. says: "When I had kidney trouble my back was stiff and lame and when I did any stooping, sharp pains caught me in the small of my back. I had a great deal of headaches and my kidneys acted irregularly."

Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended and after using them I was cured in a fine way."

MILEAGE

Mileage is the "commodity" one purchases when buying a tire; not mere materials, but the service that certain materials will perform when combined. Greater mileage is assured in Hydro-Toron tires because processes and principles employed represent the industry's greatest forward steps. The Internal Hydraulic Expansion Process prevents defects from being built into the tire—concealed from sight. The Toron (no-rot) chemical treatment of fabric gives greater tensile strength, greater holding power between layers, increased affinity for rubber and complete protection against the damaging effects of moisture. Hydro-Toron tires are oversize—as big as cords, better than cords. Next time you are ready to buy tires, come in and let us show you the tire you have heard so much about.

GOOD FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

Those who like a hot dish will enjoy the following. If well made and cooked a long time, the flavor is excellent.

Chili Con Carne—Take one-half pound of fresh lean and fat pork, one and one-half pounds of round steak; put through the meat grinder. Brown three good-sized onions sliced; add the meat, one dried chili pepper, two quarts of tomato, salt, pepper, two to three tablespoonsful of chili powder, and cook for two or three hours slowly, then add two cans of kidney beans, and let the whole stand to cook another half hour. Serve hot.

Sour Cream Pie—Take one cupful each of sugar and chopped raisins, one-half cupful of sour cream, one egg well beaten, one-fourth of a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, and cloves, one tablespoonful of flour. Cook all together. Cool and bake with two crusts.

Almond Horseradish Sauce—Blanch and chop fine 24 Jordan almonds. Press the vinegar from four tablespoonfuls of horseradish, season with salt and cayenne and add to it the almonds and two tablespoonfuls of thick sweet cream. Mix well and serve with fish.

Luncheon Macaroni—Cook three-fourths of a cupful of macaroni broken into inch lengths in boiling salted water until tender; drain, rinse in cold water and drain again. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter; cook in this a slice each of onion and carrot until somewhat softened, then remove the vegetables, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper; cook until frothy, then add one-half cupful each of beef broth and tomato puree, a full cupful of either or half-cupful of each; stir and cook until boiling, add the macaroni and one-half cupful of grated cheese, then with two forks mix the macaroni and cheese with the sauce. Cover and let stand over hot water for a few minutes. Serve very hot. If one desires, a cupful of chopped ham may be used with or in place of the cheese.

DR. C. W. HEWITT AT M. E. CHURCH

Gave Stirring Address Before Appreciative Audience

Dr. C. W. Hewitt, author of the "Gospel Question Box," spoke to a large audience at the M. E. church Sunday evening. The Dr. left no doubt in the minds of his appreciative audience, as to God's denunciation of sin, and the hopeless condition of the business man without Christ.

Following are a few extracts from his sermon "God hasn't any use for the man who burns the candle of life in the service of the Devil, and then on his death bed hopes to whip up on the right side and get into Heaven. You will never make it."

"The business man who leaves Jesus Christ out of his business transactions is afflicted with the loathsome disease of leprosy of sin. I haven't any use for the preacher who seeks the approbation of man, with his so-called modern methods, and his 'modern methods' according to God's holy word, will land in hell."

Dr. C. W. Hewitt, wife and daughter, Muriel, who have been spending a few days at their "summer home" at Norwood, returned to their home in Jackson, Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. H. R. E. Quant, who intends spending a week with her many friends in Jackson and Detroit.

20 TROUT A DAY NOW THE LIMIT

Stream Lined With Anglers on Opening Day Monday

If trout fishermen had placed a special order for a certain kind of weather, a day more ideal for the opening of the brook trout season could hardly have been the result. Streams in and about Charlevoix were lined with fishermen at the break of day, and a number of excellent catches have been exhibited.

Fishermen, however must remember the change in the law governing the number of trout to constitute a days catch. It will be unlawful to take more than 20 brook trout in any one day, or to have in excess of 20 brook trout in possession at any one time on any trout stream or to have in possession at any point away from any trout stream more than 40 brook trout at one time in any of the following counties: Wexford, Oseola, Missaukee, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Oshtemo, Crawford, Otsego, Clare, Newaygo, Arenac, Alcona, Montmorency, Emmet, Cheboygan, Lake, Mason, Manistee, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Benzie, Alpena, Charlevoix, Antrim, Kalkaska, Isosco, Presque Isle, and Roscommon.

AUTOMOBILE PLUNGED INTO PINE LAKE

Party of Five Narrowly Escape Death at Ironton Ferry

An Overland car owned by Harvey Bashaw of East Jordan, plunged into Pine Lake, at the Ironton ferry, Sunday afternoon, and the five occupants of the car narrowly escaped drowning.

Mrs. Bashaw was driving the car when it approached and boarded the ferry. For some reason she failed to stop the car on the boat and it dove into 15 feet of water off from the opposite end. Mr. and Mrs. Bashaw, two daughters and Mrs. Bashaw's father, a Mr. Berg, were in the machine.

All of the party with the exception of Mrs. Bashaw were in good condition when rescued. Mrs. Bashaw was evidently held in the machine by the steering wheel and was unconscious when taken from the water. Resuscitation soon restored her, however, and the ill-fated party were taken to the home of Sam Alexander until they were thoroughly dried and recovered from the shock. The car was removed from the water Monday morning, without having been seriously damaged.

BEEF CATTLE BENEFIT FARM

Make Possible Greater Use of Roughage More Efficiently Than Any Other Animals.

The use of beef cattle in connection with general farming throughout the corn belt, says the United States Department of Agriculture, offers the following advantages:

It is possible to make greater use of dry roughages produced on the farm as beef cattle consume larger quantities of these feeds than any other classes of stock.

Beef cattle can be used profitably on rough land unsuitable for crop production, also on low, wet land unsuitable for either crops or for other classes of live stock.

Beef cattle use the total production of grain and roughages on the average farm, without the purchase of other feeds, more efficiently than any other class of live stock.

Beef cattle on the farm favor a well-balanced distribution of labor throughout the year. They require very little attention during the summer and fall, when crops need attention, and during winter and early spring, when there is little field work to be done, farmers can utilize their time to advantage by caring for the breeding herd, wintering the stockers and feeders, or fattening some steers.

PAST LEGION HEAD SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Observance of Gen. Ulysses Grant's 100th Birthday

Maj. John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, past commander of the American Legion, gave an interesting talk to the members of the high school and visitors last Thursday, bringing out the importance of every citizen feeling keenly his own individual responsibility toward his country. He described the scene in Washington last Armistice Day when the unknown soldier of the American army was buried with the highest honors that can be given.

He told of the homage paid the unknown patriot by representatives of other countries; and emphasized the fact that the common soldier, not the officer, won the war.

The talk was extremely interesting, and those present enjoyed very much the opportunity to hear Maj. Emery on the occasion of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Gen. U. S. Grant.

Clean and DRY for the line without a wringer

THE Laun-Dry-Ette has no wringer. It washes the clothes, and whirls the suds out; it rinses them and whirls the rinse water out; it blues them and whirls them dry for the line—a whole tubful at a time.

The Laun-Dry-Ette saves work on wash day because it dries as well as washes. It saves work on mending day because it never smashes buttons or injures the daintiest fasteners. The Laun-Dry-Ette does not require extra tubs, because both the washing and the drying are done right in the Laun-Dry-Ette itself. The Laun-Dry-Ette prevents red hands, because it makes it unnecessary to put your hands in the water even once.

We invite you to come to our store and see the Laun-Dry-Ette do a regular washing. If you can't come, please phone or write.

Such is Advice of Officials of Michigan Resort and Tourist Bureau to Charlevoix

"The best meeting of the association yet held" was the comment made regarding the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce held at Withers' Restaurant last Friday evening.

Not only was the attendance above the average, but the program could hardly have been improved. Matters were discussed that were of more than usual interest, and each speaker had a message worth while.

At the close of the supper, President E. B. Ward called the meeting to order and minutes of the last regular session were read and approved. Hugh J. Gray of Grand Rapids, secretary of the Michigan Resort and Tourist Bureau, was the first speaker called upon. Mr. Gray explained in detail the working of the bureau and its mission. He told of the activities of sections in the west with regards to the tourist business, stating: "The vast amounts of money being spent in advertising. 'If Michigan wants to continue in the resort business, we must advertise, and then advertise more,' he stated. Competition at present is stronger than ever before, and if Michigan, the northern section, wants this kind of business, they must get in the advertising game to a larger extent than during previous years."

Lee H. Bierce of Grand Rapids, was then called upon. His topic, "Franchises," "Every man has a franchise," says Mr. Bierce. "He has certain duties to perform, and if he lays down on his job, he forfeits his franchise." Mr. Bierce held his audience spell-bound for fully thirty minutes. His arguments were forceful and to the point, and left a lasting impression on those fortunate enough to hear him.

Fred Rowe of Grand Rapids, president of the Tourist Bureau, gave a clear insight in his workings and results obtained. He stated he believed Michigan would see a great influx of tourists this season. "Take care of them," he said, "make them feel at home, don't over-charge them and send them home satisfied with their visit. Then they will come again."

Short talks were also given by A. L. Duell of Harbor Springs, E. E. Ormsby and J. M. Harris of Boyne City, A. V. Backus, Thos. Linehan, and others from Harbor Springs, and D. S. Payton, R. L. Lewis, Lisle Shanahan and Mayor A. Bergeon of this city.

MOTHER'S DAY SUNDAY, MAY 14

Gov. Groesbeck Sets Aside This Date
By Official Proclamation

Following the beautiful custom with which we have become familiar in recent years, the time has come to name a day to be known as Mothers' Day, a day whose observance shall honor the memory of our departed mothers and pay a tribute of gratitude and affection to those who are still with us. In the watchful, tender care which guided our earliest footsteps, in the constant planning for our welfare and our

LIVING MEMORIALS IN FORM OF TREES

"Living Memorials" in the form of trees to be planted on Arbor Day and dedicated to the memory of the service men who gave their lives during the world war are planned by the American Legion, under an announcement made last week by National Commander, Hanford McNeider of the Legion.

In his message to the 11,000 Legion posts, Commander MacNeider said in part: "Let's plant a tree—surely somewhere we can find a place to make the world a little better and a more kindly place to live in, and it can stand there after we too have gone—silently to tell the world: 'I represent the strongest of all bonds, the bond between men who have served their country side by side during the dangerous days.'"

Although Arbor Days are celebrated at different times in the various states, being proclaimed by the governors, the Legion has so arranged its program that it will fit in on whatever day the state executives set aside for the observance.

happiness, in the unflinching love that has blessed us all through the years up to manhood and womanhood and that still blesses and cheers us, though it be but a dear memory, in these things we find abundant reason for humble and grateful acknowledgment of the debt we owe our mothers. The very name of mother is a synonym for love and devotion and willing sacrifice.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Michigan, I do hereby designate and proclaim Sunday, May fourteenth, 1922, as Mothers' Day, and I call upon our people, both old and young, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day.

And let absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit the mother in the old home, or where such a visit is impossible, let them send a message of cheer and greeting.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

HUNDREDS ATTEND LEGION SUPPER

CHARLEVOIX BEACH HOTEL
FILLED TO CAPACITY

Proceeds of Supper to Be Turned Over to Community Building Fund —Features of Event

The annual American Legion cabaret dinner, which was held at the Charlevoix Beach hotel last Wednesday night, was the most successful ever held, the estimate of attendance being close to the five hundred mark.

As one entered the lobby they were at once attracted by the tasteful decorations, showing that considerable time and effort had been given along this line.

The tables in the large dining room were filled at the first sitting and as fast as they were vacated, the late comers were taken care of. During the supper hour a part of the evening's program was given, which proved a very pleasing feature of the occasion.

During the supper several numbers were rendered, among which were solos by Loren A. Hart and Miss Irene Finucan, recitation, Miss Kay Gaskin, select reading by Miss Wahnetta Herrington, and songs by members of the orchestra and others.

After the supper hour dancing was indulged in until midnight in the hotel ball room, the floor being filled with those who enjoyed this favorite pastime. At various times during the evening parts of the program were given in the ballroom. Glenn Kirby with guitar accompaniment, received a hearty encore, his singing making a hit with the merry makers. McDonald and Wilson, cabaret singers, gave several selections. Wahl sisters of Petoskey, made a good impression by their clever character dancing.

Favors of conical paper caps were given the men, which greatly enhanced the evening's enjoyment.

The members of the Legion are to be commended on the manner in which the affair was conducted. Credit is also due to the liberality of the citizens of Charlevoix in their donations of eatables, and to the women who devoted their time in feeding the hundreds in attendance. Also to the Beach Hotel management, who donated the use of the hotel and dancing parlors to the Legion without cost.

The Legion boys cleared up in the neighborhood of two hundred and fifty dollars, after all expenses were paid, and this amount will be turned over to the Community building fund.

Eugene Neville's orchestra of Petoskey, composed of young college men from Big Rapids, furnished the music, which in itself was one of the best features of the evening's entertainment.

"CHARLEVOIX" IS TRADE MARK NAME

LOCAL HOLSTEIN BREEDER SE-LECTS A FARM NAME

Farm Name Dignifies the Business and Increases the Value of Property

"Charlevoix" is the trade mark name that has been reserved exclusively for the use of Loeb Farms, at Charlevoix, as a prefix to the regular registration name for all Holstein animals raised on the Loeb Farms, and registered with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, according to an official announcement recently made by Secretary F. L. Houghton, of Brattleboro, Vt.

All registered animals carry beside a registry number a family name usually indicating the ancestral bloodlines. As a means of identifying the various breeding establishments of the country trade marks names are reserved by the Association for the exclusive use of breeders. Thus, an animal can always be identified as to its original birthplace. Every Holstein man in the United States knows that a cow named Pabst Clover Blossom must come from the Pabst Stock Farm of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin. In a like manner animals carrying the prefix "Charlevoix" will in the future be recognized as coming from the Loeb herds of Charlevoix, Michigan.

The farm name is a good advertisement. It marks the farm home, and the place of business. It dignifies the business and increases the value of the property. It shows a pride in the management and fosters love of tradition. A good farm name can be sold with the land and products as the good will of a firm (Continued on page ten.)

THREW BOTTLE THROUGH WINDSHIELD

Petoskey Party Injured While on Way Home

Early Thursday morning of last week, while two couple of Petoskey young people were returning home from the Legion dance, they were met on the road by a car containing two men, one of whom is alleged to have thrown an empty bottle which struck the windshield of the Petoskey car, breaking it and fragments of the glass cut the face and limb of a young lady who was riding in the front seat.

The driver of the damaged car turned and followed his assailant back to Charlevoix, obtaining the number from his license plate. The men, however, left the city for East Jordan, but were picked up there and brought back to Charlevoix during the early morning hours.

One of the occupants of the car, Clyde Eitel of Grand Rapids, a potato buyer, who has been buying for some time in northern Michigan towns, was taken before Justice H. C. Cooper, where he plead guilty to assault and battery, and was fined $25.00 and costs.

L. E. SMITH HAS SAID FAREWELL

SUCCUMBS TO NEURITIS FRIDAY
AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Was One of the Best Known Men of This Community—Funeral Services Moody From Home.

Again Charlevoix is called upon to mourn the loss of another pioneer of this section. Lewis E. Smith died at his home on Mason street, Friday, May 5, at 2:00 p. m. Mr. Smith had been a sufferer from asthma for the past ten or twelve years, which had greatly reduced his vitality, and when suddenly taken with neuritis late Sunday, he was unable to withstand the ravages of the disease.

Deceased was born at Clarkston, Michigan, April 11, 1861, and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. He came to Charlevoix about thirty-five years ago. For a number of years he was engaged in his trade as a barber in the Frank Wood shop. Later he started in the laundry business, in which he continued for a number of years.

When R. F. D. carriers were first started he became carrier on route number two, where he remained until about six years ago, his health at this time compelling him to discontinue the long daily trips in all kinds of weather.

He was appointed as street commissioner of Charlevoix during the S. M. Rose administration five years ago, in which capacity he continued up to the time of his death.

He was a charter member of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, and served his term in each office until he reached the highest position in the local organization. He was also a Macabee and member of the M. W. of A.

"Shorty," as he was known to all, was a man possessed of an enviable disposition. A good word for everyone he met, a friend to all, willing to undertake anything asked of him, it is no wonder his friends were legion.

He is survived by a wife, one son, Lee R. Smith, assistant postmaster, two brothers, Henry of Clarkston, and Jesse of Ann Arbor, besides four granddaughters.

Funeral services were held from the family home on Mason street Monday at 2:30 p. m., conducted by Rev. C. W. Long of the Congregational church. The remains were escorted to Brookside cemetery by members of the K. of P. lodge, who conducted the services at the grave.

KENYON GETS CAPITOL JOB

Mackinac Island Park Head To Be Superintendent at Lansing

Frank Kenyon, for several years superintendent of the State park at Mackinac Island, has been named superintendent of the Capitol building and grounds at Lansing. He succeeds F. C. Ebling, who has resigned.

Mr. Kenyon was a county official of Charlevoix county for a number of terms, following which he moved to Mackinac Island, where extensive improvements and changes have been made under his management. Reforestation and conservation of the young timber was looked after in a manner which greatly improved the appearance of the natural resources of the island and lessened the fire risk.

The appointment of Mr. Kenyon is considered at the state house as recognition of his ability as an able superintendent, and it is being well received by his friends at the capital.

Student Musicales Friday Night.

The students of Mrs. E. Josephine Madill will give a musical in the Hallett Inn lobby on Friday evening of this week. The program, which consists of quite a few numbers, will be given in two parts, and will be well worth hearing. These young students will appreciate the presence of not only their parents, but friends as well, and the program will be well worth the time taken to be present.

Barrel Method For Treating Seed Potatoes

The following method for treating seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate (commercial) is recommended for use where the growers are planting from two to twenty acres. If the acreage is larger than twenty, it would be advisable to secure a tank that will hold a large amount of potatoes at one time.

By the following method and with only one barrel, a person can treat from 25 to 30 bushels with the one solution. If four or five barrels are used, one man can treat 100 to 150 bushels of potatoes a day. It will require six ounces of corrosive sublimate for each barrel used and this amount will treat six batches of potatoes. A 52-gallon barrel will hold from 4-1-4 to 4-1-2 bushels of potatoes, so with the six batches one can treat about 27 bushels, enough for planting 2-1-4 to 2-1-2 acres of potatoes.

Equipment.

To be arranged in any convenient manner:

1. A platform from two to three feet high.
2. A 52-gallon barrel with a hole bored near the bottom and fitted with a pine plug. Set barrel upon the platform.
3. A half-barrel or tub which will hold at least 30 gallons of liquid. Mark the height of the 30 gallons of solution so as to eliminate measuring when making the other solutions.
4. A wooden pail to dip the liquid from the tub.
5. Six ounces of corrosive sublimate.

Making the Solution.

Pour two gallons of hot water into the tub and add four ounces of the corrosive sublimate. Stir thoroughly until the corrosive sublimate has all dissolved, then add enough cold water to make a total of 30 gallons of solution.

Treating.

1. Fill the barrel with screened potatoes, as dirty potatoes waste and weaken the solution.
2. Add enough of the solution from the tub to cover the potatoes. It will require about 23 gallons. About one gallon will be lost with each batch treated.
3. The tubers should soak in this solution for a good one-half hour. Then, pull the plug and let the solution drain into the tub.
4. The potatoes should be removed from the barrel and spread out to dry. A good method would be to have a low wagon next to the platform so that the potatoes could be dumped into the wagon box and then spread out.

5. Six batches can be treated in this way, after which the solution should be thrown away. These six batches can be easily run through in a day and there will be just about enough potatoes to plant 2-1-4 to 2-1-2 acres.

If one desires to treat only enough potatoes for one acre, the same directions, as above, should be followed except that the proportions should be cut in half.

Renewing the Solution.

The solution decreases in strength with use, so that it will be necessary to add two more ounces of the corrosive sublimate. This can be done while the third batch is soaking. The pail, add two ounces of corrosive sublimate and stir until dissolved. Put this solution into the tub. It will mix with the solution that drains from the third batch so that the 4th, 5th, and 6th batches will be renewed.

Cautions and Precautions.

Corrosive sublimate is a POISON. It is colorless, tasteless, and odorless and is sold in either a crystal or a powder form.

Keep all livestock away from the treating equipment and the solution. It does not injure the hands so that the solution can be handled, but not taken internally.

It corrodes metals so, therefore, must be put into wooden, granite, stone, or cement containers.

Bury the solution and the waste potato pieces in a pit as soon as the treatment and cutting is completed. Use clean containers such as sacks, baskets, bins, etc., to put the potatoes into, after treating, to avoid contamination.

Bins and equipment can be disinfected by scrubbing out with a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to ten gallons of water.

Do not leave the potatoes in the solution too long. Injury to the eyes may result.

When treating enough potatoes for only a few acres, ask the druggist to put the corrosive sublimate into two ounce cartons or packages. It will aid you in making up the solution.

Dry the potatoes after treating or plant at once.

WOULDN'T you like to have expert advice and color suggestions on how to make your old scarred furniture, floors, woodwork and bric-a-brac new-looking and artistic again?

Wouldn't you like to know how to transform rooms that are now lacking in distinction into gems of interior decorations?

That's just what the Devoe Interior Decorator will be here for.

She will show you how to brighten up the gloom spots in your home. She will show you how, with a little Mirrolac and Velour, brushes, and a few hours of time, you can add more beauty to your home than if you spent several hundred dollars for new furniture and decorations.

Mirrolac and Velour are wonder products. Mirrolac restores scarred surfaces to their original beauty as if by a "magic touch." It gives new expensive wood a finish that imitates perfectly the appearance of more expensive woods, such as Oak, Mahogany and Walnut.

Velour is the ideal Flat Wall Finish which perfectly illustrates a principle that every great artist insists upon; namely, that there is no necessary conflict between beauty and utility; but that they are rightly considered one and the same thing.

The Devoe Expert will be at the service of our customers on the dates noted above. There will be absolutely no charge for her advice. Come in and let her help you with your home decorating problems.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS A BAREFOOT BOY

Every scrap of printed paper that came to his hands was a treasure trove. He read it eagerly—conning every line—getting every worth while word.

What a harvest he could have gathered from a modern newspaper! And not the least interesting to him would have been the advertisements, with their stories and their pictures of products, appliances and services that have smoothed the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable in the rough pioneer days.

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all. And advertising that has made it simpler to make and distribute profitably innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our life so eminently easy to live.

TAKE OWN LIFE

Bay Shore Farmer Had Been in Poor Health Several Months

Bert B. Jones, farmer residing near Bay Shore, who was found dead in his barn Friday noon by his wife, had been in poor health for some time and during the last few days had evidently been worse. During the forenoon of Friday he had worked on some of his school board books. He visited the William Brechisen farm home and also mailed some letters. Later in the forenoon he went to the barn and Mrs. Jones thought he was going to the field to work. When he failed to respond to the dinner call search was made and his body found. He had hanged himself in the hay loft.

Mr. Jones was born in Nason county, Michigan, November 3, 1867, and had resided on the farm south of Bay Shore for a number of years. He was a member of the North Bay Arbor of Gleaners.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—
B. O. Hagerman

Mr. Potato Producer:

Are you getting the greatest returns possible from your efforts in potato production? Are you satisfied with your yields per acre? If not, the following few figures may be interesting, in fact, they are not only interesting, but instructive. We realize figures are tiresome, but these figures are not as much so as hard work in the potato field. Consequently, if the ones following will have a tendency toward causing better practices in potato production, hence a greater yield on a decreased area, they will be well worth the labor involved reading them.

The last 1920 census reports the following regarding potato production in Charlevoix county for year 1919. These figures are not authentic for 1922, but the comparison will hold good nevertheless.

Yield in Bushels, 294,828

By indulging in a little mathematics you will find that the average yield per acre for the county is 96.6 bushels. When climatic conditions are a very controlling factor in extensive potato production, is that yield sufficient for a county which is blessed with these ideal conditions; conditions which are very similar to Colorado conditions where the potato will grow uncultivated. Potatoes are very susceptible to good treatment, consequently, when good cultured methods are practiced the response is remarkable.

At this time the desire of the writer is to impress upon the potato grower the importance of, one other of the controlling factors in present day potato production. This factor is that of treating the seed with Corrosive Sublimate.

Michigan Statisticians report an annual actual loss of 15 per cent by scab. They also report that as high as 10 to 25 per cent of the plants of an average fields are affected with Rhizoctonia or Black Scurf. Consequently, we may be safe in saying that our production is decreased 10 per cent. This shows that these two diseases alone, which can be controlled almost entirely by the use of Corrosive Sublimate, and crop rotation, takes a toll of 25 per cent annually of our potato crop.

Using the above figures for calculation we found that according to these statistics Charlevoix county's normal production for that year should have been 393,276 bushels instead of the 294,828, or an increase of 98,276 bushels. These figures seem almost staggering, but let us figure them to completion by allowing an average price of 75 cents per bushel. This would have meant an actual cash increase to Charlevoix county farmers of $73,707.00. This same report tells us that there are 1,306 farms in the county. With a little more figuring we find that this would mean to every farmer, not only the potato farmer, but every farmer in the county an actual increase of $56.43. Quite a good salary for the two days work it may take to treat your seed potatoes.

We cannot refrain from adding that this practice of treating our seed potatoes would allow every farmer in Charlevoix county to become a Farm Bureau member, pay his dues for all three years in advance, pay the cost of treating the seed, buy his wife a new dress, pay up his back subscription on the Minister's salary, pay his grange dues for a year and then have some besides.

MORAL: TREAT YOUR SEED AND BE A BETTER FARMER.

EASY COME, EASY GO

Back in 1912, when Mr. Taft was President, and when the gross expenditures of the government were about one-quarter of what they are now, he became exercised and concerned about the higgledy-piggledy, unscientific, disorderly, grab-bag methods by which your money was expended for public purposes. He said then what is equally true now, that the activities of the national government "are almost as varied as those of the entire business world. The operations of the government affect the interest of every person living within the jurisdiction of the United States. Its organization embraces stations and centers of work located in every city and in many local subdivisions of the country."

"This vast organization has never been studied in detail as one piece of administrative mechanism. Never have the foundations been laid for a thorough consideration of the relations of all its parts. No comprehensive effort has been made to list its multifarious activities or to group them in such a way as to present a clear picture of what the government is doing. Never has a complete description been given of the agencies through which these activities are performed."

"At no time has the attempt been made to study all of these activities and agencies with a view to the assignment of each activity to the agency best fitted for its performance, to the avoidance of duplication of plant and work, to the integration of all administrative agencies of the government, so far as may be practicable, into a unified organization for the most effective and economical dispatch of public business."

This extraordinary and indefensible situation, which exists today as fully and completely as it did when Mr. Taft portrayed it seven years ago, came about quite naturally and simply through our tolerance and slackness.

For years and years the government lived and grew and extended its activities on Santa Claus money. Its income came as easily as money in a letter. For years and years the national income was greater than the expenses. Every year there was a surplus.

The government was precisely in the position of the Rockefellers and the Carnegies and the Rothschilds. Its problem was not how to get money enough to live on, but how to spend its income. It naturally got in the way of throwing some of it to the birds. It lived like a remittance man. You may remember that back in the time of the first Cleveland administration one of the problems of public discussion was: "What shall be done with the surplus?" Then there was a change of administration and Corporal Tanner was made commissioner of pensions. The whole country was amused and had a hearty laugh when he announced his policy: "God help the surplus!" Then was the halcyon days!

Mr. Gilbert, the present undersecretary of the treasury, in an address said:

"The estimates for the year 1920 show that over a billion dollars of expenditures were authorized by the last session of congress in addition to the amount shown in the usual compiled statements of appropriations. In fact, the practice has reached such proportions as to be almost a national scandal, and it was vigorously denounced in the President's last annual message."

"It has become the first principle of strategy on the part of people interested in appropriations for various special purposes to frame the matter so as to authorize the use of the public funds indirectly, or in indefinite terms, or by authorization for expenditure of unexpended balances, perhaps appropriated originally for other purposes, or by authorizations to divert government receipts before they ever reach the treasury. Efforts are made to find general words which do not speak in terms of appropriation and cannot be readily calculated."

"The last session of the present congress, for example, authorized additional expenditures out of balances of prior appropriations and from receipts to the amount of over $500,000,000, including over $400,000,000 for the shipping board. The present session of congress by similar procedure takes credit for refusing appropriations for the shipping board, but, at the same time, purports to authorize the expenditure of receipts in amounts that may reach as high as $300,000,000. By the indefinite appropriation for the railroad guaranty about $500,000,000 was in effect appropriated without appearing in any of the statements of appropriations."

You see how it goes.

XXVII.

THIS WAS YOUR MONEY

Consider for a moment, if you will, some further figures. This is your money I am talking about.

For every fiscal year from 1890 to 1893, inclusive, there was a surplus of receipts over expenditures. During this period of 28 years the surplus of receipts over expenditures totaled $1,920,205,013.41.

For the fiscal years 1894 to 1899, inclusive, the expenditures exceeded the receipts in the aggregate of $283,022,991.14. For the fiscal years 1900 to 1904, inclusive, the surplus of receipts over expenditures aggregated $310,319,165.04. For 1905 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $78,774,022.30.

For the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $149,024,404.27. For 1915 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $33,488,131.53. For 1916 the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $55,171,553.50, and for 1917 there was a deficit of $29,724,864.79.

From 1890 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures for each year with the exception of 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1905, 1906, 1915 and 1917. The total amount by which the expenditures exceeded the receipts for these 11 years just named, is $443,760,744.70. For the 52 fiscal years, 1890 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures in 41 years, the total of such excess for that period being $2,501,453,184.16.

For the fiscal years 1890 to 1910, the revenues were raised through an indirect system of taxation. Beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the receipts from direct methods of taxation have usually grown each fiscal year, as will be seen by the following table:

1910—Corporation tax	20,861,780.97
1911—Corporation tax	33,516,978.59
1912—Corporation tax	28,563,203.72
1913—Corporation tax	35,606,299.84
1914—Corporation tax	10,671,077.72
1915—Corporation income tax	32,456,982.67
1916—Individual income tax	26,353,534.85
1917—Emergency revenue	62,069,126.29
1918—Corporation income tax	39,156,696.77
1919—Individual income tax	41,046,162.06
1920—Emergency revenue	94,278,302.13
1921—Corporation income tax	56,293,657.86
1922—Individual income tax	67,943,564.63
1923—Emergency revenue	90,297,562.88
1924—Corporation income tax	179,672,887.86
1925—Individual income tax	180,708,340.10
1926—Income and excess prof- its tax	2,838,999,894.23
1927—Income and excess prof- its tax	2,696,008,702.70

The number of corporations making income tax returns showing taxable income, aggregated 52,498 in the calendar year 1909, and that number increased to 232,079 for the calendar year 1917. The number of individuals making personal income tax returns aggregated 357,598 for the calendar year 1913, and that number increased to 3,472,890 for the calendar year 1917.

For the fiscal year 1909 the total ordinary receipts aggregated $603,580,489.84, of which $300,711,933.95 came from customs duties, $246,212,648.59 came from internal revenue, and the balance was received from the sale of public lands and other miscellaneous items; whereas, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the total receipts from customs amounted to $184,437,867.39, while the internal revenue, including income taxes, and corporation and excess profits taxes, amounted to $3,889,950,612.05.

So you will see that until 1910 the money you paid toward the support of the government was slipped away from you so easily that you hardly knew anything about it. You did not know that you were paying taxes to the national government.

Indirect taxation is the most seductive form of raising public revenue. You never came in contact with the federal government except when you bought a postage stamp. But now you know it every time you buy a drink at a soda fountain, or a bottle of medicine, or send a telegram, or make a long-distance telephone call, or perform any one of a score of other normal activities of daily life. Something must be put in the kitty for the government. Its annual rakeoff runs into the billions. You pay it and the government spends it.

But all that part of the party is about over now. The oysters have been eaten and put in the bill. They must be paid for. It is perfectly clear that in the future by far the greater part of the revenue required for conducting the public business must come from direct taxes. It is also clear that the ordinary expenses for running the government will in future probably exceed four billion dollars a year. That is a lot of money to take out of your pockets, and mine. Hadn't we better see what is done with it, and whether we can save any of it? Congress, which is very far-sighted, and able, when its own skin is concerned, to distinguish a hawk from a hand saw at a very great distance, is beginning to take notice.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED

May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day, and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would die of dry rot. Sectional hatred or prejudice only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness thrive.

It is the biggest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to the innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or so deeply; no church reaches into so many souls, flutters so many pulses, has so many human beings dependent on its ministrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, by the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion advertisers, and the entire organization of 325,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in this country-wide campaign of interest in postal improvements. Your help is vital. Address your letters plainly with pen or typewriter. Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back) and always look at your letter before dropping in the mail to see if it is properly addressed. This care in the use of the mails is for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster. He has instructions to investigate them and report to the department.

Building Stimulates Local Prosperity — Materials
Plentiful and Prices Down

(Copyright, 1922, by Real Estate News, Chicago)

Next to farming, local prosperity depends upon building activity. The reason is plain. Building is the country's second largest industry. It employs millions of workers directly, millions to make the materials for building, and hundreds of thousands in lumbering, quarrying and mining.

Everyone knows that a building shortage exists. One way to restore prosperity then, is by a lively resumption of building. Materials and labor now are plentiful. Costs are lower. Cement will serve as a good example because it goes into nearly all building.

For every ton of cement, 1 1/2 tons of raw materials and coal must be mined, shipped, assembled, dried, ground, weighed, mixed and then fused at about 3,000 degrees to a hard "clinker." This "clinker" must then be ground again, this time to a powder so fine that 78% will pass through a sieve having 40,000 holes per square inch. To make cement, one literally must "tear down a mountain and put it through a sieve." And yet, cement sells at the mill for about $3.00 per ton! These facts caused the United States Geological Survey a few years ago to say that "one could not scrape the free sand from the gutter for much less cost per barrel."

Cement Competition Keen.
That competition has been active is noted in government reports. According to the United States Geological Survey, the production of cement has steadily increased and the price declined. It shows that in 1890, cement sold at $3.00 a barrel average at the mill; in 1920 at $2.02; in 1921, at $1.87. Now it is selling at many large plants as low as $1.50 a barrel, only half the average price in 1890, and less than the average for the 40-year period covered in the government report.

At one of the country's largest cement plants the price now is 48 1/2% higher than in the pre-war year 1913. The latest report of the United States Department of Labor shows the average price of "all commodities" as 51% higher than 1913. Some of the items whose prices enter into this figure of 51% have undergone radical decreases, while others are very much higher than the average of 51%. Few, if any, items of the former class enter into cement manufacturing costs, but several items of the latter class do affect the cement costs. In fact, the principal elements in these costs are labor, freight rates, coal and limestone.

In February, 1922, the cement plant paid for its coal at minus 203% more than in 1913, for limestone at quarries 60% more and for labor 54% more. Freight rate on coal was 107% greater and on limestone 52% greater. A comparison of these increases with the increase of 48 1/2% in cement price and 51% in the price of "all commodities" is enlightening. Cement is so widely used that users themselves have standardized it. Today every cement maker, regardless of his brand, meets the specifications set jointly by the United States government and the country's leading engineering societies. All brands of cement, therefore, are alike.

Jevon's Economic Law.

Because of this, the prices of various brands of cement in any given market usually are the same. The reason for this puzzles many. But the answer is simple and well stated by W. Stanley Jevons, L. L. D., M. A., F. R. S., in his standard work "The Theory of Political Economy," which says:

"If in selling a quantity of perfectly equal and uniform barrels of flour, a merchant arbitrarily fixed different prices on them, a purchaser would, of course, select the cheaper ones. Hence follows what is undoubtedly true—that in the same open market, at any one moment, there cannot be two prices for the same article."

Applying Jevon's economic law, a simple illustration of cement competition may be cited thus: A, B and C are cement makers. Each seeks business at M, a town with a 30-cent freight rate from A, 35 cents from B and 40 cents from C. This gives A a 5-cent advantage over B and 10 cents over C. A figures he can sell at, say, a mill price of $1.50, so adds the 30 cents freight and quotes $1.80 at M. Then if B and C want to do business at M they must meet A's price, requiring B to go 5 cents below A in his mill price and C to go 10 cents below A in his mill price. Unless B and C can make the mill price sacrifices required by the market at M as made by A's $1.80 price, then A will monopolize the market at M.

Similar principles apply to other materials. Prices are not arbitrarily made. They are based upon supply and demand and upon the cost of transportation, raw materials and labor. Supply of labor and materials now is plentiful. We cannot afford longer to delay needed building improvements. This is particularly true because building is so entwined with the nation's prosperity that a full revival of building will hasten a revival of other lines of business.

PLAN INCREASED SOIL FERTILITY

Certain Quantity of Different Elements Is Necessary to Promote Plant Growth.

GREEN CROPS SUPPLY HUMUS

Much of Enriching Properties of Stable Manure Is Wasted by Unwise Methods—Wheat and Corn Need Potash.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Richness and fertility are often supposed to mean the same thing when applied to soil, but there may be a wide difference, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The difference is one that may mean success or failure in crop production.

By fertility is meant the ability of the soil to produce a good crop. A soil is rich if it contains a considerable quantity of each of the elements required by the plant in the process of growth. Unless, however, these elements are available to the plant and the physical conditions of the soil are such as to promote plant growth, the soil cannot be said to be fertile. Certain elements are always available to the plant; others must be added upon by certain substances under suitable conditions to become available or soluble.

Soils may be rendered infertile through natural causes, such as leaching, and through artificial causes, such as single cropping, improper rotation, and the improper proportion of live stock to crop production. One of the principal methods of increasing soil fertility is through addition of humus in the soil, either by stable manure or green crops plowed under.

Leaching May Waste Manure.

Too much of the fertilizing properties of stable manure is wasted either by leaching in the barnyard or by evaporation when spread on the land and left on the surface. If the manure is spread and cannot be plowed under quickly, it should be disked, unless the ground is frozen. If manure must be left on the surface of the field, it is much better left in piles and spread just before it is plowed under. The effect of stable manure on the land is cumulative, and frequently is more marked with the second crop than with the first.

Green crops plowed under provide another source of soil improvement. Such crops as peas, beans, clover and alfalfa are among the best for supplying humus to the soil. These crops should be plowed under in the soil so as to have abundant opportunity to decay before the growing season begins the following spring. If a leguminous crop cannot be grown for green manure, other crops, such as oats, rye, barley, or even sorghum, may be used.

If the required elements are not in the soil or are not readily available, the need should be supplied by commercial fertilizers. The composition of fertilizer used will depend upon the requirements of the crop to be grown and upon the condition of the soil which is used for crop production. A sugar beet crop, for instance, should have abundant potash, while for a wheat or corn crop attention should be given to the nitrogen supply.

Fit Fertilizer to Soil Needs.

A complete fertilizer consists of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Materials containing these elements are mixed in different proportions for different crops and for different soil requirements. It frequently appears that a complete fertilizer is not required. For example, there may be present in the soil an abundant supply of available potash, but the supply of nitrogen and phosphoric acid may be deficient.

Under certain conditions commercial fertilizers do not seem effective. This may be due to the fact that the fertilizing elements are not used in proper proportions, or it may be due to the physical conditions of the soil. The greater benefits are obtained from commercial fertilizers when the soil is well supplied with humus. There should, of course, be a sufficient supply of moisture in the soil to dissolve and hold in solution the plant foods that are already present or that may be supplied in the form of commercial fertilizer.

Circulation counts—we have it.

Long Distance Service Restored

EVERY important point in Michigan can again be reached by Long Distance. Poles and wires crushed by storm have been replaced sufficiently to meet demands of business.

It was an appalling task. Nearly 20,000 poles and 6,500 miles of circuits were destroyed, with tremendous losses in money.

But the people of the Telephone Company realized the dependence of the industrial and social welfare of every community on the wires and made every effort to restore service. Not a minute, night or day, did they relax their efforts.

Today, therefore, their first task—that of establishing emergency circuits—is finished. And they appreciate the patience and understanding of their difficulties shown by users of the Toll wires.

We are pleased to announce that Long Distance is again at your service.

PLENTY TO EAT AT FISH SUPPER

TWELFTH ANNUAL EVENT WAS A SUCCESS

Program a Real Treat and Number Were Enjoyed—Donald Patterson Acted as Toastmaster

The twelfth annual trout supper served at the Blue hall on Friday evening of last week was one of the most successful ever held and the table arrangement and program proves that the committee had worked hard and faithfully.

There were sufficient fish for all besides a variety of other goodies, and that allowed no one to leave the table with the pangs of hunger unsatisfied.

A real treat on the program which followed the supper was the singing of Mrs. B. F. Isbell of Oshkosh, Wis., who was visiting at the H. L. Dawson home.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Thos. D. Megrison of Central Lake, Mr. and Mrs. James Devey and A. J. Dunsmore of Bellaire, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Warring of Kewadin and Mrs. B. T. Isbell of Oshkosh, Wis., nearly all of whom gave short interesting talks. Short talks were also given by local people among whom were C. E. Bearss, D. E. Clow and Geo. Klooster and musical numbers were given by Mrs. Clow and the Misses Evelyn Ruis and Emily Johnstone.

Donald Patterson filled the bill as toastmaster in a creditable manner and Mrs. Frank Russell and Mrs. Lester Glidden, gave readings which were thoroughly enjoyed. At the close of the meeting the committee consisting of Miss Blanche Boss and the Mesdames Marion Best, B. J. Beuker, H. L. Dawson and S. P. Barr were unanimously elected to take charge next year. This committee wishes to thank all who helped to make the affair a success and to ask those who in the confusion following the supper became mixed on dishes or silverware to call on any member for help in getting things straightened out.

Mrs. Ralph Davis, son Clayton, and daughter, Ruth, who have been spending the winter at the home of their father, Lewis Williams, returned last week to their home at Greenville, South Carolina.

The Northern Auto Co. of East Jordan gave a demonstration of the Fordson tractor on the Ethan Jolliffe farm, as stated last week. The tractor will do all that salesmen claim, and more. We understand that Geo. Parsons has given his order for a tractor complete for farming or anything else. Well he is always happy when the wheels are buzzing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Klomp are happy now, all on account of a sweet baby boy that came last week to stay at least 21 years. John wears not only a smile, but a size eight hat. Cigars, please.

ROCK ELM
(Too late for last week)

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad have moved in with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Danforth to help with the farm work this summer. Mrs. Conrad is Mrs. Danforth's daughter.

The meeting of the East Jordan Marketing Association, in the interest of potato growing, which was held at the high school auditorium, April 21, was not very well attended as only a few knew of the meeting. Mr. Buell, president of the Potato Growers' Association and Mr. Hugerman county agent, were the leading speakers.

A delegation of eleven members of the Rock Elm grange attended the Pomona grange which met with Wilson grange, Thursday, April 20. All reported the meeting both pleasant and profitable.

The high wind of April 19th, blew Mr. Smatts' silo down. Fortunately the only damage to the materials was the bending of the hoops.
Mrs. Melvin Teboe's sister, from Munie, Indiana, came Saturday to spend the summer with her.

The School Patrons' Association of this district held their second annual meeting at the Grange hall, Tuesday, April 25th. A pot-luck dinner was served which all enjoyed. Superintendent Dunkenson of the East Jordan schools was then introduced and gave a talk that was interesting, alike to old and young. He assured the boys and girls that their education did not depend so much upon what kind of a school they attended, as it did upon their determination to secure it. The next speaker introduced was County Commissioner Belding. His address was filled with suggestions for the improvement of our schools, not the least of which was, that vocational training should be substituted for the elective studies in the high school course.

Mr. Nason, East Jordan's teacher of agriculture, was also introduced and pledged the boys and girls such assistance as he might be able to render when they were ready to enter high school.

PASSED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Remains Taken Wednesday to Old Home For Burial

After a long illness caused by ulcers of the stomach, Lorn T. Mabie, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Harwood.

Mr. Mabie was born in Bushnell, Michigan, November 17, 1850, and passed away May 7, 1922. He came to Antrim county in the early seventies and took up a homestead near Centrs Lake, where he lived several years.

Later he moved to Otsego, Allegan county, where he lived a number of years until his health became so poor that he came to live with his daughter at Atwood.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Hutzler of North Manibou Island and Mrs. Albert Parsons, also seven grand children. He is the last of a family of fourteen.

The remains were taken to Otsego for burial. We take this way of extending our sympathy to all of the bereaved ones.

OCCUPANTS PINNED BENEATH THEIR CAR

M. R. Nelson and Son Hugh Hurt in the Accident

M. R. Nelson is in dry dock for repairs and Hugh Nelson went back to Charlevoix on Tuesday with the appearance of having been in an argument with Jack Dempsey, all being due to D. E. Clow's ear in which they were riding going into the ditch and doing a tail spin on Sunday night.

The accident occurred about two miles southwest of Ellsworth, while the party were returning from Big Rapids.

No other members of the party were injured in spite of the fact that the car turned completely over, pinning the occupants beneath it from which they extracted themselves with difficulty. M. R. Nelson was the worst injured of any and his injuries, although painful, are not serious simply confining him to the house for a few days.

Found Dead in Woods
Alex Larson was found dead in the woods on his farm near Deer Lake Tuesday afternoon. He had been suffering from a caruncle for some time and it is thought this broke inside, causing his sudden death. The remains were taken to Boyne City where funeral services were held Friday, conducted by Rev. Merrill. Mr. Larson was a former well known resident of East Jordan, working at the East Jordan Iron Furnace. He leaves a wife and three children.

Game Wardens Kept Busy
Game Wardens Duell and Stephenson are busy these days. Tuesday Clyde Roger was before Judge Hammond and paid a fine of $15.00 for spearing fish in Boyne River. Last Saturday three men were arrested with fourteen muskrat hides and forty speckled trout in their possession, taken from the Jordan river. They were before a justice in Bellaire where each paid a fine of $24.75 on the muskrat charge and will be heard later regarding the fish taking. Several men and boys have been arrested for spearing at, and above, the dam.—Boyne Citizen.

Lightning Rods Just Scorched
A building at Maple Ridge Arenac county, equipped with lightning rods, was struck by lightning last week and burned with a loss of several thousand dollars. Though everything else was destroyed, the rods, it is declared, were only a little scorched and remained practically as good as new.

Was it the Lightning
A Lapeer man declares that in the midst of an electrical storm one morning the lightning struck his bed and knocked him out of it. We understand, too, that he distinctly heard the lightning say, in a voice resembling that of his wife, "Now you hustle down and start the fire you let go out yesterday!"

Elmira Robbery Suspects Caught
Bandits fleeing from the Elmira robbery were found at Bay City, it is believed. Two men, giving their names as LeRoy Foley and Thomas Connors and claiming Minneapolis as their home, were rounded up at Bay City by Sheriff Menzie of Gaylord. They will be brought to Elmira to find some of the loot that was stolen from the S. J. Burdo and Frank Polus stores and buried between here and Boyne Falls. A small quantity of jewelry and watches were found on them, it is reported but the rest, they say, is buried near Elmira.

AT THE MOVIES

"Held by the Enemy," the new Paramount picture which is on view at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday is not a war spectacle, as many might fancy. There are no scenes showing desperate fighting between the armies of the North and the South during the civil war period. In fact the picture is a spectacle of human emotions and of the hearts and souls of men and women.

The bathing costume worn by Helene Chadwick in "Dangerous Curve Ahead" is only one of 32 changes of clothing worn by the lovely actress in this latest Rupert Hughes comedy which comes to the Palace Theatre for 2 days, commencing Saturday. Some of the most beautiful garments seen on the screen this year are worn by Miss Chadwick, and each one of them was especially designed or imported for her.

can be sold with the business. Certain localities in the west have become famous because of their farms and the distinctiveness which goes with the naming of them.

In connection with the naming of the farm, it is well to think of ways of drawing the attention of the passerby. In these days of autos and tourists, it is the grasping of a potential advertising opportunity to display on the roadside, at the entrance to the farm yard, the farm name and the name and address of the owner. Suspended there from might be the illustration of a cow, an ear of corn, bee-hive or what-not suggesting the business specialty. Such would serve as a mark of identity.

Over fifteen thousand of such names have been reserved by members of the Holstein-Friesian Association, and pamphlets giving instructions for erecting appropriate signs are distributed free by the Association.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES

Next Sunday is Mothers' Day. The Governor of our State writes, "In the watchful tender care which guided our earliest footsteps; in the constant planning for our welfare and our happiness; in the unfailing love that has blessed us all through the years up to manhood and womanhood and that still blesses and cheers us, though it be but a dear memory, in these things we find abundant reason for humble and grateful acknowledgment of the debt we owe our mothers. We will come to church in memory of her. The custom is to wear a white flower if our mother is deceased and a red one if she still lives.

The Queen Esther girls will distribute the flowers at the entrance to the church. The pastor will preach from the text, "The unfeigned faith that is in thy grandmother, Lois, and thy mother Eunice and I am persuaded in thee also." 1 Timothy 1. 5. The topic for the Sunday School lesson is "Wise Methods of Reform." Classes are organized to fit to all ages. Many adults do not attend. We have a place for you all. The school follows immediately after church. Splendid orchestra.

The Junior League has changed its hours from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. This will be the time throughout the summer.

Epworth League is at 6:30. This society is preparing for the spring convention held this month at Bellaire 19th and 20th. A large delegation is desired and we hope our young people will be there.

Evening worship begins at 7:30. This meeting has the evangelistic emphasis. Hear the sermon from the text, "Ye shall be my sons and daughters saith the Lord Almighty."

At last Sunday's evening service we completed the organization of our Storehouse Association. Will Bel-linger was elected president; Earl Shapton, vice-president, Edmond Shapton, treasurer and Walter Quant, secretary. We now have 80 tithe, 33 of which are the Store-house. Ask about it. Prayer meeting this Thursday at 7:30. Come.

THE Laun-Dry-Ette has no wringer. It washes the clothes, and whirles the suds out; it rinses them and whirles the rinse water out; it blues them and whirles them dry for the line—a whole tubful at a time.

The Laun-Dry-Ette saves work on wash day because it dries as well as washes. It saves work on mending day because it never smashes buttons or injures the daintiest fasteners. The Laun-Dry-Ette does not require extra tubs, because both the washing and the drying are done right in the

BALL TEAM A COMMUNITY ASSET

SHOULD HAVE BACKING OF EVERY CITIZEN

Courier Receives Letter From Former Player Containing Many Good Suggestions

The question of whether or not Charlevoix will have a baseball team this coming season seems uppermost in the minds of not only our local citizens, but those who spend the winters in some other locality.

The Courier received the following communication from H. A. Cartier, who is attending college at Princeton, one of the players on the home team last season. Being a baseball player, Mr. Cartier is naturally interested, and expresses himself in favor of having a team this year. He also makes some suggestion along the line of management and responsibility, which are worthy of consideration.

Personally, we believe a good ball team is about the best drawing card a city can have. For two seasons past, Charlevoix has had a good ball team, and we believe we should and could have one this year. All that is needed is full co-operation among our business men.

Think it over, business men, and get behind those who are willing to make such an organization a possibility. Mr. Cartier's letter follows:

May 7, 1922.

Editor of the Courier,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

Although a careful reader of the Courier each week, I have failed to discover any information concerning the coming baseball season for the Northern Michigan teams and especially no notice of any plans for the Charlevoix team. If the season is to be a success, as it has been the last two seasons, it seems to me that some means should be taken whereby the whole-hearted support of the people of Charlevoix may be secured.

Towards the close last year's season, several of those particularly interested in the baseball situation in Charlevoix heartily approved the following suggestion and it is hereby offered for your consideration. It was suggested that the control of the team be placed in the hands of a committee of some public organization, as the American Legion. The committee would assume the duties of the manager, which might be delegated to one particular member thereof, with the committee as a whole retaining the responsibility for the actions of its appointee. A captain, elected by the players themselves, would direct the actual playing on the field. This plan has been suggested because it seems unfair that one man should be forced to bear the entire responsibility, and that gratuitously, and also have to answer numerous unjust complaints made against the management of the team. If this suggestion be followed, this responsibility will be shouldered by the members of the committee and it is reasonable to suppose that, with the team backed by a public organization, a greater and more representative interest will be aroused. We would then be able to compete more successfully against teams that have a strong, though perhaps not a large, backing.

A criticism has been constantly offered in the past against the manner in which the proceeds from the games have been distributed. In fact, there has been no distribution, as practically the entire fund has been used for the paying of stipulated salaries to but two or three players.

PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

On Sunday, May 28, Memorial services will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church at 10:30 a. m. Members of the G. A. R., American Legion, the W. R. C. and American Legion Auxiliary are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. hall at 10:00 a. m. sharp, and march to the church in a body. The services will last during the usual church hour. Memorial day sermon and special music in observance of the day.

Buy Charlevoix Farm
R. C. Molet, formerly of Chicago, has purchased the ten acre of land known as the L. Wells farm, ten miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, and will make this section their future home.

ers. It certainly is not right that the players, who live in Charlevoix and probably give more of their time and energy for the success of the team, should receive the least compensation, both as regards financial remuneration and credit given for respective abilities. Therefore, it is suggested that players be secured, who are more willing to play the sport for sport's sake and will not demand a specified salary at the beginning of the season. Then, when the season has closed and the financial status can be determined, the proceeds may be distributed at the discretion of the committee in such a way that each player will receive a proportionate recompense for services rendered.

In view of the fact that our diamond is in almost the worst condition of any in the league, some attention should be given to it before the opening of the season. In the past rather exorbitant charges have been made for services rendered in this regard, a practice which is to be greatly abhorred. A successful baseball team is generally considered as an asset to a community and unselfish support should be given such a team by all those who have the promotion of the welfare of Charlevoix at heart. The fact that Charlevoix is a summer resort should prove an added incentive to this support, since many of the team's strongest enthusiasts are those who merely summer here.

These suggestions are offered in view of these considerations.

Respectfully yours,
H. A. Cartier.

NORTHERN BALL LEAGUE FORMED

SEVEN CITIES AND TOWNS ARE REPRESENTED

Dr. G. E. Frank of Harbor Springs Made President—Opening Game to Be Played June 11

This year the Northern Michigan Amateur Baseball league will be composed of seven northern Michigan cities and towns, those seven being represented at the annual organization meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce offices at Petoskey last Friday evening.

Teams in the field this season will represent Charlevoix, Boyne City, East Jordan, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Pellston and Mancelona. Dr. G. E. Frank of Harbor Springs, was named president and William P. Voght of Boyne City, secretary and treasurer.

R. L. Lewis of this city, retiring president of the league, in his final talk to the thirty-two delegates, pleaded for closer co-operation among the managers, officers and umpires, cleaner sportsmanship and faster baseball. Charles McCartney, president of the Petoskey club, also stressed the need of better co-operation, cleaner and faster games, and urged that the most valuable player in the team be suitably rewarded for his efforts this year.

In the schedule committee named by President Frank were one man from each team as follows: O. E. Hawkins, Mancelona; E. L. Stevenson, Pellston; Henry Boehm, Petoskey; Leo Powers, Charlevoix; A. E. Wells, Harbor Springs; W. P. Voght, Boyne City, and Glen Bulow of East Jordan. The season is to open June 11.

The umpires were hired for another year as follows: Bert Cryderman, Petoskey and Ralph Walker and Roy Cooper of Levering.

Another meeting was called for Thursday evening to ratify the schedule written by the new schedule committee and make final plans for the opening games of the year.

Charlevoix will be in the game to the limit this year. While as yet all members of the team have not been decided, there is no doubt we will have an aggressive, hard hitting bunch of ball players.

Entertained Their Neighbors
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls entertained Tuesday evening of last week at their farm home in Marion township. Maple syrup and warm biscuit was served to about twenty-five guests from that neighborhood. The young people enjoyed games out of doors, while the older ones took pleasure in conversation and music.

PARKING CARS WITHOUT LIGHTS

IS PROVING A MENACE TO ALL AUTOISTS

State Highway Commissioner Rogers Urges Local Commissioners to Enforce Law

Attention is being called to the law in reference to lights on autos and other vehicles. A neighboring road commissioner writes as follows:

"A great many people feel that the average motorist, with the strong lights that are used, has no trouble in locating a vehicle ahead, but when two machines are passing, the glare of lights prevents the motorist from being able to see any distance in front, and without some sort of a light the vehicle ahead is in a serious danger.

"I have also noticed in our own town that a great many motorists have the habit of parking their cars along the curb without lights. Unless this particular condition is remedied some serious accident is bound to occur and I believe the attention of the proper city authorities should be called to this particular negligence or carelessness, which ever it may be."

Enforce Vehicle Lighting Law—State Highway Commissioner Frank F. Rogers has urged county road commissioners of the state to give attention to the law which requires the lighting of all classes of vehicles on the state trunk line highways and in towns and villages. It is recognized that many serious accidents have occurred because of disregard of this law and State Highway Commissioner Rogers suggests, to the county road commissioners that they exercise their best efforts to see that this law is complied with, because in this way the highways of the state can be made safer.

Drivers of motor vehicles and horse-drawn vehicles have as much interest in this element of safety as any one else, and it is up to them as well as state officials to see to it that the law is enforced, and their own disregard of this provision is one of the elements that result in disaster.

Law Requiring Vehicle Lights Must Be Obeyed—It is a common knowledge that many accidents on the highways of the state and in villages have been due directly to lack of observance of the law requiring lighting of vehicles.

The law is clear upon this point and is as follows:

"It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to drive, or to cause or permit to be driven, upon any incorporated village or city street or a trunk line highway of this state, any vehicle, including wagons, buggies and carriages, drawn by horses or other draft animals, during the period or any part or portion thereof, from one hour before sunrise unless there shall be displayed in a conspicuous place on the left of such vehicle a light of such an arrangement that the same may be plainly seen either from the front or rear at a distance of not less than three hundred feet.

"Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be liable to a fine of not more than five dollars."

Rogers suggests that the Boards of County Road Commissioners give this enforcement their constructive attention.

In driving at night we have often noticed that very little heed is given to the lighting of horse drawn vehicles. This should receive attention for the protection of all persons concerned.

Little attention is paid by many to the dimming of lights. It is practically impossible to drive an auto with lights dimmed toward one with lights on full power. In self protection this disregard of the law on the part of one autoist forces the other to disregard it also. If behind one or both of these machines there are other machines the drivers are so blinded that there is always danger of collision.

The City Vulcanizing and Repair Shop, Geo. D. Light, proprietor, moved Monday from its former quarters in the old Courier building, at the rear of the postoffice, to the first building south of Bridge street on Belvedere avenue. MEGUEZEE ASSN. ANNUAL SESSION

HELD IN CITY LAST WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Delegates Present From All Chapters in Association—Officers Chosen For Coming Year

The Eastern Star Meguzee, composed of the chapters of Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Pellston, Boyne City, Mancelona, Williamsburg, Kalkaska, East Jordan, Elk Rapids, Northport, Bellaire, Traverse City, Central Lake, Acme and Charlevoix, held its 19th annual session at Charlevoix, Wednesday and Thursday, May 10th and 11th.

Wednesday forenoon was given to registration of guests and visiting. At noon lunch was served by Mrs. Bartlett.

Wednesday afternoon the meeting was called to order at 2:30 p. m. by the president, Mrs. Maud Stone of Harbor Springs, assisted by H. R. Fowler of Charlevoix Chapter. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Alice Miller of Charlevoix chapter, and was responded to by Mrs. Love of Traverse City. This was followed by the president's address given in the true Star spirit of love and so many helpful points, a tribute to the nature of the president, Mrs. Stone. The memorial work was well done by members of Kalkaska chapter.

Through the afternoon several program numbers were given. Duets by Mr. White of Traverse City and Dr. F. H. Wilkinson of Charlevoix. Solo by Dr. Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilkinson, who also did the work in the evening for the duet work given through initiation. Solo by Mrs. Whitney of Central Lake, accompanied by Mrs. R. L. Lewis of Charlevoix. Reading, Mrs. Catherine Rose, Charlevoix. Reading, Miss Helen Mason, Charlevoix. Solo, Mrs. Conkle, Boyne City. Cornet selections by Mrs. Angus Jarvis Morrison and others of Boyne City. The program, through the efforts of the committee, was very interesting.

O. G. M. Miss Irene Louise Getty was present and in each session gave, in her quiet, loving way, many helpful corrections and suggestions.

At 6:30 p. m. a banquet was served by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hallett at the Hallett Inn. This was a credit to everyone concerned.

In the evening officers of Charlevoix chapter opened the meeting, after which the initiatory work was given by the officers from the different chapters, and each one a credit to their chapter and the Meguzee.

The floral work was well given by the officers of Petoskey chapter. Harbor Springs chapter presented the president with a nice bouquet, showing their love and respect for her.

The duet work of the evening was given by Mr. White of Traverse City and Dr. Wilkinson of Charlevoix.

After several short addresses the session closed to open Thursday morning at 9:30 for a business program.

1921 WOOL POOLERS GET FINAL CHECKS

Thirteen Thousand Sent Out by Bureau Last Week

Checks are being mailed by the Michigan State Farm Bureau wool department in settlement of its 1921 wool pool. Last week the bureau sent out 1,300 checks as the first batch of a list of 10,000 to be drawn, it was reported.

Michigan wool poolers pooled 2,858,000 pounds of wool in 1921 and marketed it co-operatively direct to mills on a graded basis. The average gross price for all grades was 23.949 cents a pound, netting the producers an average of 19.94 cents after the marketing costs of 4.009 cents had been deducted. The average local price paid for Michigan wool from April to December, 1921, was 18.25 cents a pound, according to the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates at Lansing. The Michigan wool pool netted its members an aggregate of $48,000 over and above average local prices, said the bureau. The bureau's educational campaign to clean up Michigan wool has lowered the percentage of rejected wool from 21 per cent in 1920 to 11 per cent in 1921 and five per cent so far in the 1922 pool, the bureau said.

The bureau is pushing its 1922 pool vigorously. Three grading crews are in the field, pooling and grading wool at local pooling points. The bureau is making a forty per cent advance on pooled wool this year.

ENFORCED DESPITE OPPOSITION

CONVINCING EVIDENCE PROVES THIS A FACT

United States Commissioner Hayes Speaks Regarding Workings of 18th Amendment

United States Commissioner Hayes, says of the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment:

"With utmost emphasis it can be conceived possible in less than been on every hand that the eighteenth amendment is being enforced with greater success than ever was conceived possible in less than 30 months by its closest friends.

"The truth is, it is being enforced to such an extent its enemies are increasing their false, country-wide propaganda, and this fact alone is sufficient evidence the shoe is pinching.

"The open saloon is a thing of the past and even enemies of the prohibition law admit it is gone forever. "Hotels which before prohibition feared ruin are co-operating in enforcement and many prominent managers declare they do not want the barroom back.

"Purchasers of hootleg liquor themselves know beyond any question of doubt the eighteenth amendment is being enforced, for the simple reason the source of supply is so nearly closed real bonded liquor is practically impossible to obtain and they are compelled to drink poisonous, doctored stuff or go without.

"Another striking proof is the changed attitude of editors and cartoonists, who, as everybody knows, reflect public opinion and are a true index of current events. The general character of cartoons and editorials, standing alone, is eloquent testimony the law is being enforced and that the people want it enforced and are letting publicity agencies and officials know it."

STANDARD OIL CO. TO BUILD STATION

Work to Be Started Immediately on New Building

Surveyors and engineers representing the Standard Oil Co. were in Charlevoix Monday, laying the plans for the erection of a service station on their property at the corner of State and Antrim streets.

The station will be modern in every respect, built of brick and stucco, and will be a great improvement to the city. A fifty foot entrance from both State and Antrim street will make the approach to the station an easy matter. Work on the structure will be rushed to completion as fast as possible.

MOST DIVERSIFIED COUNTY IN STATE

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY COMES FIRST IN SOIL SURVEY

Enjoys the Distinction of Being Pattern County of the Entire State of Michigan

Charlevoix county enjoys the distinction of being the pattern county of Michigan. The state department of agriculture and other departments and institutions co-operating with it, at a meeting held in Lansing last week, selected this county as the place in which to start the state survey of soils, water courses, undeveloped water power and other natural resources, including a census of wild life. Our county was chosen because of the diversified conditions prevailing here.

The survey will start June 1st, and the field work will be in charge of Prof. H. W. Stewart of the University of Wisconsin. The Michigan Agricultural College and the University of Michigan will take a prominent part in the survey, and it is planned to make the work done in Charlevoix a model to be followed, as the survey is gradually extended to the other counties of the state.

M. A. C. will have charge of all soil analysis. Prof. Ernest Bessey of that college and Prof. L. H. Harvey of Kalamazoo State Normal are to conduct the botanical research work. Prof. L. J. Young of the forestry department of the U. of M. is to direct the forestry work, including a study of forest fire prevention. The advisory committee is composed of Prof. George Grantham of M. A. C.; Frank Leverett of the federal geological survey; Miss M. H. Martin of the state geological survey; Prof. L. J. Young of the U. of M.; Prof. C. O. Sauer of the U. of M.; R. L. Smith, state geologist; Albert Stoll of the state conservation commission and Ezra Levin of the state department of agriculture.

Probably few of us have stopped to consider and appraise the situation of our own county with regard to its peculiar and unusual soil and climatic conditions, and the varied resources which it presents. We have been content to claim that it is a good place to live; that its people for some reason are healthy and contented. We are aware of the many lakes and rivers with beautiful shores; of the fine frontage on one of the grandest inland lakes of the world; of the teeming wild life about us, and of the richness of the products of the soil available to all.

We take all these things as a matter of course, with much the same attention and thoughtfulness as a horse as he plunges his nose into a measure of oats. When someone from outside comments upon the pleasing surroundings, we always acquiesce and after letting out a boast or two, which we feel is spreading it on a little, we forget all about it. Frequently one of us will go to some distant place which has been touted as the garden of the earth, only to return with the remark, "Charlevoix is good enough for us."

Now comes the advisory committee to inform us indirectly that our county presents a greater diversity of natural resources than any other county in the state, and that it proposes to use us as a pattern county upon which to model the plan of the surveys of the entire state.

A little reflection brings out numerous things. We find that we have twenty-five lakes in this county, in

WHEN LINCOLN WAS A BAREFOOT BOY

Every scrap of printed paper that came to his hands was a treasure trove. He read it eagerly—conning every line—getting every worth while word.

What a harvest he could have gathered from a modern newspaper! And not the least interesting to him would have been the advertisements, with their stories and their pictures of products, appliances and services that have smoothed the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable in the rough pioneer days.

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all. And advertising that has made it simpler to make and distribute profitably innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our life so eminently easy to live.

Read over the Courier advertisements and try to think what the things you see there would have meant to our forefathers. Then you'll realize what a service and what a convenience advertising is to you.

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends
Your Money in Conducting Your Business

REMEDY IN YOUR HANDS

I have been asked many times, and particularly since this series began: "What is the remedy for the condition and situation of government business that you have described? What can we, the average man or woman without influence, and with no knowledge of politics, what can we do about it?"

Well, the answer is that you can do everything about it. The remedy lies wholly within your own hands, as I have tried to point out in each one of the articles that have preceded this one. It is a remedy easy to prescribe but, I confess, difficult to put into effect.

Difficult, I mean, in the sense that you will have to give up time from your own engrossing private affairs to pay some attention to what you probably think of as public affairs and, as such, not concerning you. The whole point I have to make is that public affairs are your affairs.

I do not suggest that you go into politics. I do not suggest that you attend political meetings. I do suggest that you take an interest, a direct personal interest, in the business of government as distinguished from the politics of government.

A part of the remedy you ask for the conduct of the business of government has been applied when the facts and the conditions are spread broad and made known to every taxpayer. Bad conditions are in a way to be remedied when they become known.

But some hundreds of you have written me and asked: "How can we help? What can we do?" Let's take a concrete case.

Congress has committed itself to the policy of building twenty first-class battleships in the next few years. Armed and equipped, these battleships will cost in the neighborhood of $45,000,000 each. That will make a total cost of $900,000,000; that is, just short of a billion dollars.

Do you approve that expenditure? Do you think it wise and necessary? Do you think we ought to spend our money that way? Do you think we ought to spend 80 or 90 per cent of our total national income for wars, past, present and prospective? That is what we are doing. If you approve of it you have only to sit still and say nothing. If you disapprove of it, let your congressman know.

You live in a congressional district and every two years you send a man here to Washington to attend to your public business. Do you know him? Do you know what he is doing here? Your state has two senators, who also represent you here. If they do not represent you fairly, you can keep them at home. Whenever a majority of you want you can have.

To this moment a majority have approved, at least by silence, the great military expenditures that have been made from the money you have paid in taxes. If now you have come to the conclusion that it is too much, you have only to say so.

Do you realize that this conference on the limitation of armament which President Harding called arose fundamentally out of the circumstance that all of the so-called big nations are paying more than they can afford to pay by way of preparation for war?

The endeavor to find a formula to limit armaments is another way of saying that the nations are trying to find a way to save money. Since the war the great powers are all living beyond their means. All of them are in debt. All of them, except ourselves, owe more than they can pay. In all of them, including the United States, government expenses are running beyond government income. A nation can no more stand that sort of thing than a private person or a private business.

If you will devote a half hour or an hour every evening to thinking about and talking about public business, you will be amazed at the prompt response you will get. If there is any question you want to ask, write to your congressman or to either one of your senators. That will cost you two cents for a postage stamp, and it won't cost him anything to reply, for his letters go through the mails free. That is one way of helping to remedy the present condition.

WRITE TO THESE MEN.

The chief defects, or places where waste is apparent in the conduct of the business of the government, that I have pointed out in these articles, have been, first, the excessive proportion of the government income that went for military expenditures; second, the chaotic condition and lack of adequate supervision and control of expenditures, which have been in part remedied by the introduction of the budget system; and third, the haphazard organization of the government departments and the unorganized condition that prevailed in government employment.

The remedy for two of these conditions I have treated briefly in the two immediately preceding articles. I come now to the manner of reorganization of the departments and the reclassification of government employees. A beginning has been made on both of these matters.

A joint committee of the two houses of congress, with Walter F. Brown as chairman, is studying the whole question of organization of the government and the function of the various departments and bureaus and independent establishments. I cannot too strongly advise you to keep yourself in contact with the work that joint committee is doing. I have given you the names of the members of the committee in another article but I will repeat them here. They are Senators Shoup of Utah, Wadsworth of New York and Harrison of Mississippi; Representatives Davis of Nebraska, Temple of Pennsylvania and Moore of Virginia. Write to any of them or to Mr. Brown, the chairman of the committee, who represents the President, with headquarters in the house office building here at Washington.

This is the third or fourth attempt that has been made to effect a general reorganization of the conduct of the business of the executive departments. They have all failed through lack of interest. There was lack of public interest, and consequently lack of interest in congress.

This joint committee is at work now. It is collecting facts. It is finding out the actual condition. It is studying the departments. Presently it will make a report to congress. If you will show an active, insistent interest in the work that it is doing, congress will take action. If you do not show this interest, there is every chance in the world that no action will be taken, and that things will remain much as ever.

Hundreds of special interests are clamoring for the attention of congress. All of them are organized. Most of them keep representatives here at Washington. They present to individual members of congress in a hundred skillful, shrewd, subtle ways arguments to support the legislation they are seeking to advance. It would take two or three columns of this newspaper merely to print a list of the organizations and associations that are here to keep congress mindful of their interests.

In this great clamor the common public interest is likely to be submerged. In fact, too often it has been submerged. This matter of economies and reorganizing the business of the government and taking up the tedious details of administration is a dull business. It has been neglected and put off time after time because of a lack of public interest and driving force behind it.

If you will supply this driving force now and display a sustained interest, you can at least put the business of government of the United States on an efficient basis. Congress has been negligent because you have been negligent, but now at last the thing has run along so far that something must be done about it.

MORE MONEY FOR ROADS

By a nearly unanimous vote the house of representatives has passed the Dunn bill, granting a federal appropriation of $65,000,000 for road-building the year beginning next July and $75,000,000 for the following year. There seems no question at all about the approval of the measure in the senate. Thus the continuance of the liberal government policy of the last few years is assured, and the national program of highway construction will go ahead on a bigger and better scale than ever.

This is more than the government is appropriating for waterways, and that is doubtless right. Perhaps there should be more money for waterways than congress is willing to vote. That is another question. The point is that, with all the importance of rivers and canals as essential parts of an adequate transportation system, land ways are far more important, because they go everywhere and serve universal needs, local and sectional as well as national, and invariably pay for themselves in the increased value of the land whose needs they serve.

It will be noticed, too, that there is no talk of "pork" in this connection, as there always is when waterways bills are under consideration. Possibly the reason lies in the difference of policy. The federal money for roads is granted on condition that the states share the expense, and the states in turn make the particular localities served bear their part of the expense. In rivers and harbors improvement, the government usually is regarded as "pork" by the community immediately benefited. If local communities had to stand their share of waterway expense, perhaps they and their congressmen would treat the whole matter in a more honest and business-like manner.

THE HOME TOWN PAPER

"We take a daily, of course, but we miss your paper," said an old friend to one of our neighboring newspapers, who concluded to drop the paper when she moved away. "There's no use talking," she added, "there is that something about the old home paper that you miss. I don't know what it is, but in my case it is closely allied to a kindly neighbor."

The lady is correct; if you are a small town product and have been accustomed to a small town paper there is something about it that becomes a part of you. While all newspapers are, in the last analysis, commercial, it is not so emphatically true of a small town newspaper that is obliged to constantly consider and cultivate the human side in its dealing with a clientele which, for the most part, is personally acquainted with the people producing the paper. This is bound to make for a closer relationship between the country paper and its readers, which fact is frequently indicated in the personal touch that goes into so many of the items you read in the small town papers. It is the feeling that goes with the belief that the home town editor is really an interested and faithful friend to his community, liberal with his praise and charitable in his censure. No one can read a small town weekly for a year without absorbing this thing that the lady describes in connection with her years of reading the Courier. It applies to any small town paper, however, the Courier simply being within the rule rather than being the exception. Of course there is always a certain percentage who regard the small town editor as a prize fish, but let it be put down here that the average editor of this type writes ten letters of recommendation, when the son of his critic shakes off the dust of the old home town, to one written by the town banker. The small town man who doesn't take his home paper is missing the best investment he can buy for the money. You owe it to yourself and to your household to take the home paper, if for no other reason than to absorb the something that is wrapped up in every copy that finds its way into your mail box.

The Ironwood Times had something to say along this line the other day:

Even in this newspaper game, with all its tribulations, with one person kicking because you say this and another kicking because you don't say that, there is considerable fun if one looks at things in the right way; it's highly amusing at times to see the foibles and inconsistencies of human nature sticking out like a sore thumb, and to observe how the average person is highly concerned with the grinding of their own individual axe to a condition of razor sharpness, though they concern themselves very little, if at all, as to the condition of their neighbor's axe.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Must Enter Agreement

The Michigan Public Utilities commission has directed the Mackinac Transportation company, operating the car ferries across the Straits of Mackinac to enter into an agreement with the attorney general's department for ferrying automobile trucks across the Straits. Failure to enter such an agreement, the commission indicated, will be met with a commission order providing for a new rate schedule. This company, some time ago, agreed to put into effect rates on passenger automobiles providing for ferrying charges of $4 and $5.

Want Investigation Made

Residents on Crooked and Burt Lakes are making an effort to have the U. S. war department engineers investigate the cause of the continued high water on these lakes. Some residents on the lakes maintain that the difficulty is at Cheboygan where not enough water is let over the dams, while others maintain that the difficulty is caused by a sand bar across Cheboygan river at the east end of Mullet Lake.

A large black bear was captured alive by McClelland brothers who had traps set near the Freeman ranch in Black river section near Cheboygan. The bear had been in the trap several days when discovered and its foot, by which it was caught, was only slightly bruised. The animal was hog tied and after being given water and food was taken to Cheboygan on a truck where it is now on exhibition at the McClelland barber shop.

The bear is full grown. Owing to its weakened condition from being several days in the trap it was docile when taken to the city. The captors plan to tame it if possible and will make it the official mascot of Cheboygan's baseball club this summer.

Petoskey Man Found Dead

Louis Miller, a resident of Petoskey for many years and employed as laborer, was found dead last Monday at his home in that city with a bullet in his temple. Evidence pointed to suicide.

Becoming suspicious over Miller's absence for several days, neighbors called the police department to investigate. The door was broken in and Miller found dead. Near the body was a 32-caliber revolver with one chamber emptied. Efforts are being made to locate relatives of the dead man. Miller had lived in Petoskey about 15 years.

War Scandals Are Flattening

Senator Caraway of Arkansas, has made a number of bitter attacks upon Attorney General Daugherty, and the latter has replied that he would like to enjoy the privilege of sitting with Congress, by virtue of the fact that he is a Cabinet member, in order that he might make a reply in the same forum where he has been assailed. The statements of Senator Caraway and a number of other members of the two branches of Congress, have evidently penetrated under the hide of the Attorney General, and he has struck back against what he calls a political attack with the retort that "influential personages" in the Wilson administration put the muffer on the investigation of scandals that will soon be notorious. "Two cases of the first magnitude are ready for prompt submission," declares Mr. Daugherty. Naturally this "promising" statement has excited the wildest speculation, and profiteers in all parts of the country who have thought their crimes forgotten, are doubtless fearful that they may be hauled into the spotlight.

Is There a Nigger in the Woodpile?

Washington gossip has for months made a good deal out of transactions in connection with the seizure and disposal of German property during the war. Some of the very highest officials in the last administration are openly connected with the affairs of the institutions that were recognized after the Germans were squeezed out. They defend themselves by declaring that they officially treated the enemy property in the manner contemplated by the law under which it was seized. Then they explain their present enjoyment of "soft snaps" on the ground that they were not brought into transactions until Americans came into possession of the properties, and until they had retired definitely from official life. The former officials assert that selfish German interests are now seeking to besmirch them in order to secure the return of the property they properly lost through the conduct of the war. Evidently the Attorney General does not take a very rosy view of the situation, and his promises of prosecutions are generally construed in Washington as a forecast that Mr. Daugherty is preparing to uncover "a nigger in the woodpile."

House Nags the Senate

Criticism has been heard in the lower house of congress because of the delays in handling public business in the senate. The tariff bill is the particular source of worry to the House, and that body wants the senate to deliver the law p. d. q. Naturally there is a lot of sentiment favoring the speeding up of this particular legislation. Undoubtedly President Harding is as much disturbed about the delay in passing a tariff law as anyone in the country. Senators who have the bill in charge are chafing under the delays of debate. The only difference between this bill and its predecessors is that the delays are stretched out longer. That is due to the fact that the war made new conditions that upset all tariff-making precedents. But it is only fair to the Senate to recognize the fact that every tariff bill that has ever been sent to it was little more than a hedge-hedge affair threshed out in a committee of the House whose main business was to reconcile all the traders and beneficiaries interested in the different schedules. The debate in the House is mere camouflage and lasts but a few hours. As a result the senate practically creates the bill, does all the deliberating, brings out all the criticism in its debates, and in short furnishes all the "gray matter" that finally determines whether there is or is not common sense in the legislation. While the senate is going through these processes of constructive hard-labor it comes with mighty poor grace for the shirking House to nag the upper body.

Wood Impressed With Himself

The University of Pennsylvania has refused to further extend its leave of absence to General Leonard Wood, with the result that President Harding and Secretary of War Weeks has advised him that "While they would be glad" to have him remain in the Philippines that they cannot ask him to remain in the islands if he thinks his duty to the university should decide him to return to the United States. Reports from Manila indicate that General Wood is so well satisfied with himself that he will likely remain at his present post until the last of the year. The Philippine colony in Washington have an idea that General Wood will stay even longer—in fact as long as he is permitted to remain. A delegation of Filipinos is now enroute to this country to impress upon congress the demand of their people for an independent self-government. These men represent every phase of public life in the Philippines and it is fair to assume that they know what they are doing in placing themselves in opposition to their Governor-General, who insists on conservative American rule being continued. General Wood would be doing them a favor if he would get started on his job with the University of Pennsylvania.

Bonus "Groundswells"

Republican senators are as insistent as members of the lower House in their support of the soldiers' bonus legislation. Senators Lodge, McCumher and Watson of Indiana, recently called on President Harding to "put it across" with him, but in their "report" to their fellow members of the senate they did not disclose that they found any support at the White House. Instead they returned with a lot of facts which they were given to consider as indicative that there were "groundswells" that the public was not so strongly in favor of bonus legislation as some members of congress assert. The President has certainly given cold comfort to the supporters of the bonus measure, and without his co-operation the leaders in congress feel that there is very strong probability that the bonus measure will not go through this session. And if it does not get by before the fall elections, what will happen to the politicians when they meet the voters "back home?" On the other horn of the dilemma the American Legion no doubt feels that it is fighting the last fight for the bonus, which must be put through before the adjournment of this session if it is to be saved from being permanently buried.

Bar Tax-Exempt Securities

The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives has reported favorably a proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit the further issuance of tax-exempt certificates. Estimates place the amount of these issues last year at one billion dollars, while perhaps nearly twenty billion dollars worth of the securities are now in existence. Holders of large incomes are putting their money in to these securities thereby withdrawing their funds from usefulness in industrial lines. The industrialists, as a rule, are not as acceptable as the tax-exempt securities, to those who have great fortunes to invest. Another reason for the proposed constitutional amendment is found in the constant decrease of revenues to the Federal government from large incomes.

Insists On Ship Subsidy

President Harding has made it clear that he expects the present Republican congress to enact a ship subsidy measure. The American merchant ships are eating up nearly a million dollars a week in net losses, and the administration feels that this can not continue indefinitely without stirring up a country-wide protest. The subsidy contemplates positive assurances from private corporations that they will keep the stars and stripes flying on the ocean, and while the subsidy will be an expensive affair, it will not be solely a luxury, since its guarantees not only increased shipping but the extension of our foreign commerce. This is the view taken by the administration, and to carry out its program the Republican party is asked to guarantee about fifty millions of dollars a year for the subsidy.

AT THE MOVIES

Absolutely unique in the annals of screen entertainment is Cecil B. DeMille's production "The Affairs of Anatol," a Paramount picture which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

Unique from the point of view of cast, story, treatment and magnificence. Jeanie Macpherson wrote the photoplay which was suggested by Arthur Schnitzler's play. Alvin Wyckoff and Karl Struss, two photographic experts, did the camera work. The cast is extraordinary. Here is the list of all stars: Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Mont Blue, Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts, Agnes Ayers, Theodore Kosloff, Polly Moran, Raymond Hatton, Julia Faye, Charles Ogle, Winter Hall, Guy Oliver, Ruth Miller, Lucien Littlefield, Zelmia Majia, Shannon Day, Wm. Boyd, Maud Wayne, Fred Huntley, Alma Bennett and Elinor Glyn, the famous British novelist, and Lady Parker, wife of Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist.

REINDEER NOW AT GRAYLING

HERD SHIPPED FROM NORWAY TO STATE FARM

Norwegians Who Accompanied Them to United States Leave For Their Home

There has been a lot said about the action of the state conservation commission in purchasing a herd of reindeer, to be let loose in the wilds of Michigan. Some of Michigan's leading sportsmen have voiced their sentiments against this move in a manner not well taken by the game department, while other believe the move a commendable one.

At any event, the reindeer are here. They were at first placed on the state farm near Mason, Ingham county, and later shipped to the state game preserve at Grayling. It seemed that the extreme hot weather in the southern part of the state did not agree with these natives of a colder climate.

Two native Laplanders came over with the herd, but have since returned to their native land. A story regarding the arrival of the herd, published by a southern Michigan newspaper, will be of interest to sportsmen of northern Michigan, and we reproduce it in full.

"It is barely possible that Santa Claus will drive into Mason next Christmas Eve with a real team of reindeer. At least the reindeer will be available for him should he choose this method of transporting his sleighload of gifts into town. Last Monday morning there arrived at the M. C. station in this city two express cars carrying sixty head of reindeer from Norway. This city was the destination of their five-thousand mile trip. They were accompanied by two Norwegians, Lars and Nils Danielsen, brothers, also Dr. Christensen, a veterinary well versed in the care of these animals. The animals were in crates and were taken to the State Game Farm, southeast of Mason, where they will remain for two months.

"The animals were shipped by express from New York City where they were held in quarantine for fifteen days. They embarked from Christiania, Norway, February 24th. The ocean voyage was uneventful, and the long wait in quarantine tedious. Lars Danielsen, the younger of the two brothers, can speak English brokenly and between the bars of the excited shepherd dog which they brought with them, he explained a few interesting facts about the first herd of reindeer ever brought to this country.

"This herd, consisting of fifty cows and ten bulls, are all two and three years old. The animals are quite tame and were part of a domesticated herd in Norway. Both cows and bulls have horns, which they shed each year. Some of the animals had not shed their horns this spring and just before starting on their long journey they were dehorned. One bull, older than the rest and broken to drive, has his

ONE DIVORCE TO 5.5 MARRIAGES

Eleven out of every thirteen married persons in Michigan are contented with matrimony, judging from the 1921 divorce and marriage records compiled by the state department of health. Two out of every thirteen contemplate annulment of their marriages.

These ratios are based on 41,508 marriages and approximately 7,632 divorce records recorded in the state in 1921. In 1920 there were 50,805 marriages and 8,695 divorces. The 1918 and 1919 ratios of one court ending to every six matrimonial ventures increased during 1920 to one divorce to every 5.9 couples married last year to one divorce to every 5.5 marriages. While the number of marriages performed in 1921 was exceeded in 1919 and 1920 it is in excess of the 1918 total.

More than 22,000 bills for divorce were handled in Michigan courts last year. About 11,000 cases were pending on January 1, 1921, and 11,000 bills were filed during the year. Cases withdrawn numbered 2,345; and contested cases 832. Only 132 divorces were refused, 102 of these being in Kent county.

Wayne county led in the number of marriages with 14,474. Keweenaw county being at the end of the list with 8. June continues as the popular marriage month, September being second choice.

1922 model horns well started. He was harnessed and hitched to a reindeer sled Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of some Detroit newspaper men. He drew the two Danielsen brothers on the sled over the bare ground with apparent ease. Dr. Christensen says these animals are very powerful. A large bull weighs over three hundred pounds.

"The herd made a pretty sight Wednesday afternoon when the Danielsen, together with their dog, drove them before the Detroit News staff photographer's camera. They vary somewhat in color. On some the entire coat is gray. Others have a tinge of brown over the back and a black face. When excited or frightened, they elevate the short white tail, and trot away with their heads in the air and at a most ungainly gait. The reindeer is somewhat shorter and stockier than the Michigan wild deer, larger boned and with large crescent shaped hoofs and prominent dew-claws. Devoid of horns, their heads greatly resemble that of the cow moose.

"Included in the menu of the herd while on their long trip was a quantity of moss gathered from the barren plains of Norway. This moss is the main fare of these animals in their wild state, and they seem to consider it a great delicacy. The domesticated herd at the game farm (Continued on page eight)

TRAINING CAMP AT CAMP CUSTER

OFFERS SPLENDID INDUCEMENT
FOR YOUNG MEN

Free Transportation, Clothing, Food, Equipment and Medical Attention Given Men Who Accept

Thirty days military training under Regular Army supervision will be offered by the government this summer to a limited number of Charlevoix county young men at the Citizen's Military Training Camp which opens at Camp Custer, Michigan, August 2nd.

Free transportation, clothing, food, equipment and medical attention is given the men who are accepted for the camp.

Dr. Mitchell of Charlevoix, is chairman of the Charlevoix local committee. Application blanks and detailed information may be obtained from him.

Purposes of the military training camps are to furnish young Americans with a chance to secure military training under favorable conditions, and to develop them physically, mentally and morally to increase their ability to render service to their country in time of need.

The training will be confined in the "Red" course to simple fundamentals, and in the "White" and "Blue" courses, for non-commissioned officer and officer material, respectively, two subjects in which the candidates must qualify for appointment in the grades indicated.

Age limits are 17 to 25 years for the "Red" course; 18 to 26 for the "White" course; and 19 to 27 for the "Blue" course. No man who completed the "Red" course last year will be barred from the "White" course this year on account of age, however. World War Veterans and other ex-service men may be accepted for any one of three courses if not over 35 years of age.

Wilkinson Family to Drive Through From Arizona

A letter from Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, of Douglas, Arizona, who left Charlevoix about three years ago to make his home in that city, states that he and his family will leave Arizona about the 15th of June and drive through to Charlevoix, expecting to arrive here about July 1st.

They will make the trip in their new 7-passenger Buick car, and expect to stay here some six weeks. They will occupy their cottages on the north side while here.

On another page of this issue will be found Dr. Wilkinson's advertisement, announcing that he will do special professional work while in the city.

Memorial Day Proclamation By the Governor

More than three score years have passed since our fathers took up arms in defense of the Union. That was the primary purpose of the Civil War, to preserve the Union; but as the war progressed, it became more and more apparent that slavery must be killed. It had fastened itself upon us; it grew with our growth; it strengthened with our strength; but when at last it lifted its mailed fist to strike a blow at the Nation's life, then the Nation armed itself to save itself, and for liberty as well; and when the four years of agony were over, a new witness to human brotherhood went forth from these shores and the light sped all round the globe. Some of those who took part in this great conflict are among us yet, though a fast diminishing company.

For many years it has been the custom of our people to go out on Memorial Day and place flowers on the graves of those veterans of the Civil War who have passed on, and with appropriate public exercises to show respect and honor to those who are still with us. May the Republic never cease to commemorate the heroic achievements of the men who freely offered their lives that the Nation might live.

In the Spanish-American War and in the recent World War, the sons and grandsons of those who fought at Shiloh and Gettysburg fully maintained the honor of America.

Therefore, in order that we may pay a tribute of respect and affection to the surviving veterans of all these wars, and do honor to the memory of their fallen comrades, I sincerely urge that Tuesday, the thirtieth day of May, 1922, be fittingly observed as Memorial Day, and I earnestly appeal to the people of Michigan for hearty cooperation in plans for the proper observation of the day in their respective communities. The comfort and convenience of the old soldiers will, I am sure, be the first care of those in charge of the arrangements.

On Memorial Day flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon and then hoisted to the top of the staff. Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this seventeenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-sixth.

Alex J. Groesbeck, Governor.

CONTRACT LET FOR WATER PLANT

CONSTRUCTION WORK TO START IMMEDIATELY

R. R. Brenner & Son of Kalamazoo Awarded Contract at Cost of $33,500 to Tax Payers

The contract for the construction of Charlevoix new water extension was awarded Tuesday evening, at a special meeting of the common council, to R. R. Brenner & Son of Kalamazoo, for the sum of $33,500. Work will be started Thursday morning and under the terms of the contract, within 40 days Charlevoix will be supplied with water from the new filtration galleries.

Charlevoix's water situation has been hanging fire since last September. Every effort up to the present time has been given to its solution. Residents and summer visitors have been clamoring for a permanent correction or a new source of supply. They have demanded action on the part of city authorities—and have got it.

In the final solution of the matter, we believe the result will be more than satisfactory. A source of water supply will be available to cover the city's need for many years to come. The new plant will be modern in every respect, not only in the manner in which the filtration galleries will be constructed, but also in the new pumping equipment to be installed.

In the meanwhile the city will be furnished water from the old wells.

FARMERS GET BUSY ON RAIL PROBLEMS

Engage Attorney to Look After Their Interests

Michigan farmers are to be increasingly active in railroad transportation matters, according to action last week by the State Farm Bureau when it retained F. L. Ewing, prominent Michigan traffic attorney, of Grand Rapids, to represent the bureau on rate and service matters before State Federal railroad commissions and before railroad committees.

Mr. Ewing directed the Michigan Traffic League's rail rate reduction case which is still before the State and Federal railroad commission representatives at Lansing for the railroad's side of the case. The shippers closed their case May 18, presenting strong testimony to show that Michigan freight rates are too high and that the Michigan zoning system is discriminatory upon Michigan shippers because it puts them at a disadvantage with respect to competing shippers in adjoining states.

The State Farm Bureau intervened in behalf of agricultural interests. Agricultural evidence presented by the League was said to be the most complete and convincing testimony ever presented at a Michigan rate hearing. Forty farmers and farmers' representatives, coming from nearly as many counties, were heard by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission and representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STORIES OF VENIZELOS' BIRTH

Two Legends Told, One of Them Narrated by the Great Greek Statesman Himself.

There are many legends surrounding the birth of Venizelos. According to one, his mother went to the Monastery of the Virgin near Chania to pray for a son, promising the child should be born in a cattle shed after New Testament tradition. Another tells the same story with this addition: When the abbot christened Venizelos he uttered, following the mother's wish, these prophetic words: "I baptize thee Eleutherios, for thou shalt deliver our long-suffering island from the tyranny of the Turks."

In the "Life of Venizelos" by S. H. Chester, still another story is told, based on incidents narrated by the Greek statesman himself at a dinner party in London. His parents, having already lost three children, decided to follow the local custom and adopt him as a foundling. There was a superstition that the child would survive only if treated in this fashion. Eleutherios was duly taken away from his mother and deposited on a heap of dry leaves outside the house. Passing by soon afterward, some friends, who, of course, played their role in the secret, "discovered" the child, brought him to his parents and urged that they adopt him as a foundling. They did, and Eleutherios survived and prospered.

LAW HAD BIBLICAL SANCTION

West Virginia Mayor Couldn't See Where Autoist Had Any Reason for Complaint.

Law founded on the Bible is good enough for Mayor Gilmore of Morgantown, W. Va. A local man charged with not having the tail light burning on his automobile was arraigned before the mayor, who assessed a fine of $3.

The accused protested, said that it was a poor law under which he was fined and that he did not think it would hold water in court.

The mayor declared any law founded on the Bible was good enough for him. The defendant said he couldn't see where a tail light had anything to do with the Bible. The mayor looked pityingly at the accused and said:

"Do you remember the tale about the ten virgins, five of whom had lights and five of whom didn't? Well, if you do, you will remember that the Lord wouldn't have anything to do with the five without lights, and neither will this court."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Miniature Libraries.

A brilliant idea in book making is offered by a firm of French publishers. Their plan consists of substituting for the large pages of the average books microphotographic reproductions of them to be read through a magnifying glass.

It is proposed that the size of the plates representing pages should be internationally standardized, so that any one possessing the magnifying apparatus would be able to read any book produced in this way. No technical difficulties are said to be in the way.

It is claimed that the cost of production would be enormously reduced. Also it would greatly reduce the work of libraries now cumbered by books of every shape and size. The plates would be, moreover, of a fire-proof and durable material, while the system admits of an edition being enlarged to any dimension desired in accordance with demand.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS A BAREFOOT BOY

Every scrap of printed paper that came to his hands was a treasure trove. He read it eagerly—conning every line—getting every worth while word.

What a harvest he could have gathered from a modern newspaper! And not the least interesting to him would have been the advertisements, with their stories and their pictures of products, appliances and services that have smoothed the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable in the rough pioneer days.

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all. And advertising that has made it simpler to make and distribute profitably innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our life so eminently easy to live.

Read over the Courier advertisements and try to think what the things you see there would have meant to our forefathers. Then you'll realize what a service and what a convenience advertising is to you.

A sweeping verdict for QUALITY

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

In reporting the Bland bill for creation of a fact-finding commission for the coal industry, the House labor committee declared that the principal work of the proposed agency would be to settle disputes in the coal fields, to prevent overdevelopment of the coal industry and to bring about stabilization.

"It is a startling statement, but true, nevertheless," says the report, "that today there is no agency in the Federal government which has ascertained or can ascertain the correct production cost of a ton of coal in a well operated efficient mine. Not only have existing agencies failed to obtain information from an unbiased source, but they have been denied the legal right to obtain such information, and from the source of information at hand it would apparently be impossible with the limited amount of expenses and effort for any committee of congress to obtain this information."

"Operators," the report added, "have obstinately refused to give the committee their cost of production, and it is fair to suppose that such reports as were made voluntarily to existing government agencies, who did not have the right to examine books, were padded and unreliable."

Calls Muscle Shoals Offer a "Cinch"
Henry Ford's proposed contract for the purchase and lease of the government's power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, has been denounced by Chairman Norris of the Senate Agriculture Committee, as "unconscionable" and a "cinch" by which Mr. Ford would obtain "unregulated" control of valuable properties and cause those who negotiated the contract "to be condemned by future generations."

Senator Norris declared that if Rockefeller or the International Harvester Company made the same proposition Mr. Ford makes, that it would be charged that congress was giving away the people's property to a corporation. He added, "Why, you could take the Ford offer to Wall street and get an advance of 1,000 per cent on it as a valuable contract if it was accepted."

Unemployment is Lessened
The President's Conference on Unemployment cities as an example of definite employment and business improvement the fact that Chicago issued permits for $19,000,000 of building in March, as against $7,000,000 for the same month a year ago. Building permits for thirteen Illinois cities also show a 150 per cent gain.

In Houghton, Michigan, 1000 more men are working than in November last. Wilmington, Delaware, reports additional employment for 500 men in the next ten days. The Duponts have announced the erection of an addition to their fibre silk plant there which will give work to 850.

The American Legion employment bureau in Baltimore has more help-wanted calls than registrations, which shows that the drive for jobs for veterans there has been successful.

Building Operations in 1921
Measured by the number of building permits issued during the year in the cities reporting, there was 32 per cent more building done in the United States in 1921 than in 1920. This includes new buildings both residential and non-residential, and alterations and repairs, but does not include permits for the installation of signs, awnings and other things of like character for which some of the cities require permits.

The United States Department of Labor through the Bureau of Labor Statistics says there was a decrease of 38 per cent in the wholesale prices of building material between the averages for 1920 and 1921. Between May, 1920, and May, 1921, there was an increase of one and one-half per cent in building trade wage rates per hour. The estimated total cost of building construction covered by permits issued in 1921 was 17 per cent over the cost covered by permits issued in 1920, due to the increase in the number of permits.

While 1921 shows a decided gain over 1920, it does not by any means indicate that home building has caught up with home needs. During the whole war period and since there has been a slackness in home building that has produced an acute need for homes. Reports are complete as to the number of families provided for in the dwelling permits issued in 1920 and 1921 in 119 cities. The population of these cities in 1920 was 23,657,799. The number of families provided for in these cities by the 1920 permits was 69,544 and in 1921 the number was 156,671. Assuming 5 persons to a family, this means providing housing for 347,720 persons in 1920 and 783,355 persons in 1921. The normal growth in population in the cities of 25,000 and over in the United States is about 2.7 per cent per year, which applied to the population of the above cities, means an increase of 638,761 persons.

These figures seem to indicate, therefore, that while the building of dwellings in 1920 did not keep up with the annual increase in population, the building of dwellings in 1921 was somewhat above the increased population demand, and made a little start in reducing the housing shortage.

The Cost of Living
The Department of Labor reports that during the month from March 15, 1922, to April 15, 1922, 15 cities showed increases in cost of living, as follows: Savannah, 3 per cent; Mobile, 2 per cent; Birmingham, Charleston, Columbus, Dallas, Indianapolis, Little Rock, Manchester, New Orleans, and Seattle, 1 per cent. Buffalo, Louisville, Omaha, and Springfield increased less than five-tenths of 1 per cent. The other four cities decreased as follows: Fall River, 2 per cent; Butte, Rochester, and San Francisco less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

For the year period, April 15, 1921, to April 15, 1922, there were decreases in the following cities: Savannah, Birmingham, Columbus, Little Rock, Charleston, Manchester, Omaha, Dallas, Fall River, Indianapolis, Mobile, New Orleans, Springfield, Louisville, Buffalo, Rochester, San Francisco, Butte and Seattle.

Charges Movie Politics
The Reverend Dr. S. Paterson Todd of Milwaukee has urged passage of the senate resolution for an investigation of alleged political activities of the motion picture industry. The Federal law prohibiting transportation of prizefight films was not effective, the witness said, because Federal courts imposed fines "which become licenses." Dr. Todd produced letters from the Department of Justice which showed that United States District Attorney Sawyer in Wisconsin was considering trying to indict exhibitors of prizefight films for conspiracy. The witness favored strict federal censorship.

For Values of Animals
The value of animals raised on the farms of the United States during the past three calendar years dropped from $4,145,600,000 in 1919 to $2,998,500,000 in 1920 and to $1,937,000,000 in 1921, according to recent estimates made by the United States Department of Agriculture. The decline in values from 1919 to 1920 was caused principally by the decreased number of beef cattle, hogs, and sheep raised and lambs raised for slaughter. The high cost of feed was a main factor in this decrease. The decline from 1920 to 1921, however, was caused almost entirely by lower live stock prices, as well as lower prices for farm animals.

Louisiana Cane Sugar
Louisiana produced 324,431 tons of sugar and 6,454,388 gallons of sirup from the cane harvested in 1921, according to the final report issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. This is the largest sugar crop in ten years. Production in 1920 was 169,127 tons of sugar and 4,639,885 gallons of sirup.

Lower Construction Cost in Roadway Bids
Confirmation of the predicted lower level of prices for road construction this year is found in the reports on bid prices of 286 miles of Federal-aid roads received by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. The average cost per mile on some of the types of roadway, including the cost of grading and drainage were: 78 miles of gravel at $9,150 a mile, 46 miles of concrete at $29,000 a mile, 47 miles of bituminous macadam at $25,200 a mile, and 23 miles of bituminous concrete at $25,000 a mile.

For Ten Dollars and Ninety Cents—This 30 x 3 1/2 Usco

THE 30 x 3 1/2 tire situation today is just this—

The man who buys an USCO at $10.90 is justified in believing that his money is going farther in tire value than it ever has gone or could go before.

Naturally he appreciates the quality of USCO. That was established long ago.

It is still fresh in his mind that USCO led the national market into the $10.90 price range.

The makers of U.S. Tires always intended the 30 x 3 1/2 USCO to be the highest value in its field. At $10.90 it creates a new classification of money's worth.

A NATIONAL ISSUE IN MICHIGAN
The bitter struggle now going on in Michigan over the nomination of a Republican candidate for the United States senate should be a matter of national even more than of state interest.

Locally it is a battle between Senator Townsend, with a record of nineteen constructive years in congress, and Representative Kelley, whose chief claim is the support of Henry and Edsel Ford. Nationally it is a battle between a man responsible for such constructive action as the advancement of the St. Lawrence seaway, and the national highway projects, on the one hand, and on the other the man responsible for the Eagle boat fiasco and River Rouge scandal, who now is seeking to obtain Muscle Shoals for private profit at a price which would take scores of millions of dollars from American taxpayers during the life of his proposed lease.

Mr. Ford is seeking to put into the senate a friend who probably would not ask embarrassing questions about the $29,000,000 war profits which the manufacturer's biographer says was returned to the government, but which was not. He is seeking to elect a friend who would give senatorial support to the purchase of Muscle Shoals plants at less than junk valuation. To accomplish this he tries to pin upon the constructive candidate responsibility for the senate's acceptance of Truman H. Newberry, who defeated Mr. Ford for the toga. If the Ford argument were applied successfully to the whole senate it would put the majority of that body on the street.

Such is the issue of the campaign for publicity purposes, but in reality it is not the issue. The real issue is whether Mr. Ford can name a senator dependent upon him against a senator with such a constructive record as that of Townsend. If Michigan so prostrates itself at the feet of its richest inhabitant other states may be expected to feel the influence of his money, his vast business interests, and his great organization, with similar results. If that follows, the $29,000,000 war profits, the profits accruing to him from the River Rouge development, and the millions of dollars to be derived from his Muscle Shoals program during the term of his proposed lease, might look like small change.

WHERE BONUS MONEY GOES

"What are you doing with your compensation?" was asked of 109 former service men who had received as bonus money an average of $165.23. The replies showed that 16 per cent went on savings accounts, 24 per cent on debts and 10 per cent on payments for homes. Those were three largest percentages. Next after them came doctor bills, for which went 9.4 per cent. This seems a strange and unwarranted item—surely Uncle Sam should have looked out for that. Or was it perhaps not for themselves, but for their families?

Then came stocks and bonds, 0.2 per cent; clothing for women, 2.3 per cent; furniture, 7.08 per cent; presents for mother, .002 per cent; books, .002 per cent; and taxes, .0043 per cent. Children's expenses took 1.21 per cent; marriage expenses, .06 per cent; new business, 2.15 per cent.

On the whole it's a pretty respectable outlay. The saddest item is that 24 per cent on debts, and the most cheerful the 32.2 per cent which represents savings and investments—unless one regards the wife or the new baby or the present for mother as finest of all things in the world to have ready money for.

The city of Sturgis, St. Joseph county, boasts of the lowest tax rate in the country. A few years ago the city built a hydro-electric plant on St. Joseph river fourteen miles from the city. Last year the city cleaned up $40,000, which is used to pay the operating expenses of the city. The city is operating under the commission form of government. This is an instance of what can be done where the natural resources are conserved and developed.

FAMOUS UNCLES IN FICTION

Up to About Thirty Years Ago Mrs. Stowe's Hero Might Be Said to Be Favorite.

Who is the most famous uncle in literature? Thirty years ago only one answer could have been given. It would have been "Uncle Tom," who dwelt in the world-renowned "cabin," and whose sufferings did much to hasten the emancipation of his fellow slaves, London Answers states. He was only an "uncle" by courtesy, just as many an old woman is addressed as "auntie" who has no other claim to that title except age.

Almost as well known today is another "uncle by courtesy," also a negro. This is the immortal "Uncle Remus," whom Joel Chandler Harris depicts so humorously as relating to a little white boy the fanciful doings of Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Brer Turkey and Brer Bear. Uncle Remus is a universal favorite, and all the children are his nephews and nieces.

Probably the most humorous uncle in literature is that Uncle Fudge who hangs a picture in J. K. Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat," whilst undoubtedly the most satirical is Uncle Ralph Ninkley, in Dickens' masterpiece, and the most horrible that frightful old miser uncle of David Copperfield, in Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped."

The creator of Sherlock Holmes has a very attractive uncle in the best of his French novels, "Uncle Remus," and those who are above military age will recall the long-suffering "Uncle Harry," who endured a week's misery with "Pudge and Tuddy," in that once world-wide book, "Helen's Babies."

HERE'S A BUDDING NOVELIST

Indiana Youngster May Yet Add to Long List of State's Successful Authors.

Ellis Hunter has a seven-year-old son, Lyman. Several days ago Lyman's teacher announced that all the pupils in the room were to write an original story. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter observed their young son lying on the floor pondering heavily on his contribution to Indiana's well-known stock of made-in-Indiana literature. When, at last, the job was done, the proud parents discovered that their youthful author had written a stirring narrative entitled "Jim and John." And here was Lyman's story:

"One bright summer day Jim and John were playing in the dark. They heard a noise in the house. So they went in. They were all alone. They saw a burglar. They tip toed up stairs together for there gun. When they got up there they saw another burglar. So they tip toed around the other way and got a gun. Then they went down stairs and shot that burglar. Then they went up stairs and shot the other burglar and got all the things they had stolen. When their mother came home the boys told the whole story and they lived happily ever after."—Kansas City Star.

Weight Elements of Universe.

Atomic weights of nearly forty of the ninety chemical elements from which the universe is built have been determined by Prof. Theodore Richards and Prof. Gregory P. Baxter, according to announcement by Harvard university. The figures were issued after 35 years of experimentation, and some of the data is being used by thousands of chemists throughout the world, the report says.

Keeping Car's Temperature.

It is desirable during the transit of fruit in a refrigerator car to know the precise temperature in different parts of the car, for this temperature is seldom the same throughout the interior of the car. For this purpose the Department of Agriculture has now in use an instrument which is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has twelve resistance thermometers for recording the temperature at twelve different parts of the car. The instruments are connected by a cable to a twelve-point plug that fits a socket on the recording box, so that a circuit can be established with any of the twelve thermometers. The exact temperature is shown on a register in one corner of the box and a chart shows the location of each thermometer.

"Moll Cutpurse," Notorious Thief. Mary Frith, sometimes called "Moll Cutpurse," a notorious thief in the time of Charles I (1625-1649), died of dropsy at the age of seventy-four. She possessed great physical strength, and frequently assumed man's attire. Having on one occasion held up Lord Fairfax on Hounslow heath, she was captured and sent to Newgate, but escaped by means of bribery.

Titled Women in "Movies."

Among the women of the English aristocracy who have become motion picture actresses are Lady Diana Cooper, daughter of the duke of Rutland; the Hon. Lois Stuart, daughter of Lady Allington; Miss Poppy Wyndham, daughter of Lord Inchcape, and Lady Eden.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

The supreme force for growing a character is personal devotion to Jesus Christ.

Next Sunday we study our fourth lesson on "Growing a Character."

Rev. H. R. E. Quant, Laura Brown, Vera and Lucile Belding attended the Grand Traverse District Convention at Bellaire last Friday and Saturday.

Friday, May 26, at 7:30 p. m. is the date for the annual election of League officers. All members are urged to be present.

Character means the choice of God's will, day in and day out, for the whole length of the winding way of life.

Improvements on I. O. O. F. Block

A new plate glass front will soon be placed in the I. O. O. F. building, occupied by Metcalf's Drug Store, which will greatly add to the appearance of the store as well as a much needed improvement. The work will be completed within the next ten days.

ARRANGING FOR OPENING SEASON

Charlevoix Hotels Look For Good Season

Charlevoix's leading summer hotels are undergoing their annual cleaning up and within the next week practically every one of them will be in readiness or their opening days, at various dates during the month of June.

The first among the exclusive summer hosteleries to open will be the Hallett's Inn, which will open its doors to the public on June first. This will be the second year for this hotel under the management of I. L. Hallett.

The Hotel Hallett, J. J. Hallett, manager, will open on the seventh of June, on the day the first resort special arrives. A number of guests are expected on this date.

The Charlevoix Beach Hotel, under the management of Irene Bois Sears, will open on the 15th of June and the Belvedere about the 20th.

The Inn will again be under the efficient management of A. I. Creamer, and has set July 1st, as its opening date. Mr. Creamer reports his 1922 bookings to average with previous seasons.

There is no doubt that Charlevoix will be as well patronized this season as ever, as reports from all sources indicate that the usual number are planning on spending the summer here.

HIGH MARK SET BY RELIEF OFFICE OF AMERICAN LEGION

The American Legion of Michigan leads the nation in obtaining financial justice for veterans of the World War. Since October, 1919, it has collected $5,535,540 in claims from the federal government, according to reports just completed.

Some of these claims were $10,000 insurance items—sums of money which were due the families of veterans, but which they would not have obtained except after great delay except for the Legion. More than 12,000 men have benefited through this work.

Leads All Other States.

No other state in the Union, it is said, has done nearly so well for its veterans. Michigan has been organized from the start for this work, under Dr. Frank B. Broderick, State Welfare Officer of the American Legion. In recent months, a large staff has been employed in this work. The total expense for the work done by the Legion has been $125,513—which is less than two per cent of the money collected.

The money for this great work has been contributed by the people of Michigan. The funds originally were collected during the war by the Michigan Patriotic Fund. Later, they were transferred to the American Legion to be expended by it in welfare work.

Every Claim in Two Years.

The program of the Legion has been to press all claims with the greatest vigor, and even to employ men to discover veterans who may have had claims but were ignorant of their rights. This policy has naturally been more costly than a more passive one. But it has brought results. And the goal of the Legion is that every veteran claim shall have been uncovered and cared for within a two-year period.

The Legion has had warm cooperation from Michigan's public officials, particularly Senator Townsend whose office in Washington has been of great aid in the pressing of claims. Senator Townsend has personally attended to several hundred cases, many of them being large amounts.

AT THE MOVIES

"Conceit," a new Selznick special, will be the featured attraction at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday. Made from a magazine story by Michael J. Phillips, "Conceit" is a drama of society and the wilderness, and is said to tell one of the finest screen stories of the year. Also The Variety Players Stock Co.

Variety Players Coming
In the cast of Variety Players coming to the Palace for Three Nights commencing Friday, will be "found Miss Fannie Keeler, who has scored heavily in many well known plays.

Real character actresses are a find, and Miss Keeler possesses the requirements that make such role as "Mrs. Wiggs of The Cabbage Patch" live forever in the minds of those who see it.

Youthful in years—ample of figure, a gifted dialectician, equally at ease as a colored mammy, an Irish washer-woman or a Colonial Grand Dame, Miss Keeler wins the hearts of her audience from the start, rocks them with laughter or melts them to tears as occasion demands.

The Company also includes Audrey Phelan, Peggy True, Robert Valentine and William H. Belmont as leading players with a strong supporting cast.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—

B. O. Hagerman

Potato producers on a small scale are each year confronted by a problem in spraying which can only be solved by a high pressure sprayer. The sprayer that will solve this problem, which is adequately controlling leaf hopper and blight, must deliver and maintain a minimum pressure of 160 pounds. A sprayer of this type costs from $150 to $350. This price frightens many of our producers who are growing rather comparatively small areas. Although on three acres of potatoes, a sprayer will pay for itself in a few years, the original investment looks large, and is the reason why many men do not have them that would otherwise use them.

To prove the foregoing statement we will use the data obtained from a spraying demonstration held last year in Emmet county. It was found on the Smallstreet Brothers farm near Levering, that over an area of seven acres, sprayed potatoes yielded an increase of 102 bushels to the acre over unsprayed potatoes. With potatoes selling at 50 cents a bushel this would mean an increase of $50 per acre.

Ellsworth made its first definite step towards becoming a real summer resort on Friday of last week, when L. VanSkiver became the owner of the Campbell Park property here. This property, situated in the edge of town, is one of the natural beauty spots of northern Michigan as people from all sections can testify. The part purchased by Van consists of about fifteen acres, a natural grove of Elm and hardwood traversed the entire length by the beautiful Orr creek and bounded on the north and east by St. Clair Lake and river, while a splendid gravel road touches it on the south and west.

Mr. VanSkiver will start work this week remodeling the old Campbell home and will erect a dining hall capable of seating in the neighborhood of two hundred guests. He will cater almost exclusively to the summer trade and with the excellent fishing and boating which this locality is noted for, will by next summer in doubt be serving a capacity crowd.

represents a typical area in Charlevoix county, this would result in an increase of $150 for the first year. Figures show that with these spraying methods it costs approximately $11 an acre to spray. This includes original cost of sprayer. Deducting $33-as the cost of spraying these three acres we have left a net gain of $117 for the first year as a result of spraying.

The following paragraph may prove interesting. It was taken from a letter from Dr. Nixon of Pennsylvania. Dr. Nixon is the man who bought large quantities of northern Michigan seed, and has had charge of the potato experiment work in Pennsylvania for the last several years.

"This is the fourth year of potato spraying in Pennsylvania with the type of outfits suggested above. (These outfits were high pressure sprayers.) The work has been uniformly successful and very profitable. During this time we have collected data from 3,000 farmers in 55 counties in the state. For the first three years the average increase has been 33 1-3 per cent. This year, the dryest year known since 1875 and the freest from late blight, has given us an average increase of 45.7 per cent, or 74.3 bushels per acre. We consequently are making this statement, and challenge the world to refute it, that proper potato spraying is the most profitable operation in connection with potato culture. The average cost has been $10.56 per acre, and the average increase 56.7 bushels per acre."

The object of the above figures is to enforce upon our Charlevoix county potato growers the necessity of this latest feature in cultural methods. The problem is overcome is the original investment of $150 to $350, according to the size and type of sprayer purchased. Here is the solution:

Several Michigan potato producers are closely following the example of Pennsylvania growers in that they are forming what is known as "Spray Rings." There are different types of these rings being organized. The type seemingly to be most adaptable to our conditions is the one in which four or five farmers go in together and purchase a sprayer co-operatively. The other type, which is on a larger scale, is to sign up at least sixty acres of potatoes, and hire a man to spray them. It is calculated that sixty acres, with from five to six sprayings a season will keep one man busy all the time that weather conditions permit. The following figures are obtained on a spray ring of the larger type:

Cost of Spraying of 60 Acres
Sprayer	$202.50
Copper Sulfate	225.45
Arsenate of Lead	114.80
Lime	40.80
Supplies for Spray	26.78
Express	48.44
Trucking	19.50
Miscellaneous expense	17.62
Telephone and Telegraph	3.39
Labor	170.00
Total	$868.56
Less supplies sold	16.70
	$851.90

Inventory at end of season:
Arsenate of lead and
copper sulfate left over	28.50
	$178.50
Net cost of spraying 60 acres	$673.36
Net cost per acre	11.05

There are several high pressure sprayers coming into the county this year, but not nearly as many as should according to the quantity and quality of potatoes we raise. Your County agricultural agent

TALE OF HEROISM AND NEGLECT

TOWNSEND VIGOROUSLY PRESSED BILL FOR RELIEF OF ONE OF MICHIGAN'S GREATEST HEROES.

"BRAVEST MAN IN THE WAR"

Washington—Through a bill recently introduced by Senator Townsend of Michigan, one of the most heroic exploits of the World War—and likewise one of the most tragic examples of governmental red tape, toward one of its heroes—has come to light.

It deals with Robert Guy Robinson, of Ypsilanti, one of the two Michigan men to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor—the nation's highest tribute to valor in action.

Robinson's military record relates that Robinson as a marine aviator took part in a aerial raid over the German lines, and that as a result of his squadron breaking up, he was obliged either to surrender or to fight his way back to the American lines through a German "circus" of blue Fokkers.

Determined to Fight.

He and his pilot determined to fight. At the first burst of German machine gun bullets, the goggles were shot from the pilot's eyes. Robinson received one bullet in the back and another in the elbow.

But flying fast toward a German salient, the American plane fought its way, through the enemy flyers, shooting down two of them. Robinson then hit upon the most daring maneuver of all. He directed his plane directly over the area of the salient where the anti-aircraft guns were located.

Their aerial barrage was a trifle too late to catch his plane, but it so endangered and delayed the enemy pursuers that the Americans gained their advantage, and volplaned to earth within the allied lines. But by this time, the pilot had received wounds from which he died, and Robinson had been struck by four more bullets.

The report of the commander of the Belgian hospital to which he was assigned is that Robinson was the bravest man whom he encountered during the war.

Honors—Then Neglect.

Citations, honors and medals followed. And then came the governmental neglect of one of its heroes returned to civil life.

Under the law, Robinson was entitled to be retired as a lieutenant of marines, with pay, as much as he is still disabled, and his parents died while he was in service, he needed that money.

But no notification ever was given him, and the first he ever heard of it was through the American Legion on the day of the burial of the Unknown Soldier.

And—under the law—that was 20 days too late to file his claim!

The Legion took the matter up with Secretary Denby, but the latter was unable to unwind the red tape. However, he is co-operating with Senator Townsend to the fullest degree in having adopted a special act of Congress for Robinson's relief.

Greatest Pleasure in Life.

The wearing of a beautiful kimono was stated to be the greatest pleasure of 980 women of Tokyo, in response to a questionnaire sent out by the Hochi, a Tokyo daily. Attending the theater came next with 720 women calling it their greatest joy. One hundred and fifty women answered "visiting friends" as the greatest satisfaction of life. The more simple-minded 100 maidens replied that "good things to eat" are the greatest sources of their heart's delight. The more sophisticated 50 answered "beauty of nature" as affording them the maximum of pleasure. Only 20 women confessed their greed for wealth.

Although potatoes were cultivated privately in Scotland in the beginning of the Eighteenth century, they were rarely raised in fields before 1735. In 1697 the first Scots writer on husbandry strongly recommended their cultivation in the fields.

MAIN BUSINESS OF THE DAY

WHEN MESS CALL SOUNDS AT AMERICAN LEGION HOSPITAL

When a person is suffering from tuberculosis, there are three great necessities—air, food and sleep. When the patients are former husky young men, put accents on the food. That is what the American Legion does at its tubercular hospital near Battle Creek.

The bed-patients are fed in their rooms of course, but the boys who are still on their feet meet in the dining room for their three squares. No expense is spared to have the food extra-good, and plenty of it. Many cases are recorded of patients gaining 20 pounds within six weeks.

One of the members of the hospital board is Major John Emery of Grand Rapids, past national commander of the American Legion.

nearly stamped the husky Dr. Christensen when he appeared in the park with a basket of the moss.

"The Danelsen boys are both of small stature, weighing about one hundred and fifteen. Both are quiet and reserved and Lars says that they much prefer their cold Norway to Michigan. Dr. Christensen is a large man, jovial, and made a fine appearance in a khaki uniform and high-top shoes. He wore a white pelt-lined cap and the Danelsen boys were dressed for the photographer in holiday attire. They wore long black coats similar to the old Prince Albert style with a vest of bright shades of red, blue, green and yellow. Together the three countrymen were photographed in front of a little khaki colored canvas tent which is used when out "touring" with a team of reindeer and sled.

"The Danielson brothers will stay with the herd for some time and will superintend their liberation into the wilds of the Upper Peninsula along the Tahquamenon river in Luce and Chippewa counties. If these animals thrive in their new environment it is possible that more will be shipped to this country. The project is somewhat of an experiment according to Commissioner John Baird and Deputy David B. Jones, who were at the Game Farm Wednesday. Game warden will be given special instructions to observe the animals after they are liberated in May and ordered to put forth their best efforts to prevent hunters from shooting them. They will be protected for a number of years even though the experiment is successful and they multiply.

"It is Mr. Baird's plan now to leave a few of the animals at the game farm for observation. So we say if Supt. Donal Lamont succeeds in breaking them to the sled, next Christmas Eve a bewhiskered old Santa Claus may traverse the streets of Mason with a real team of reindeer and firmly establish the truth of the Christmas legend among the youngsters of the city."

MAKES NEW SURVEY OF FOX ISLANDS

Government Ship to Spend Much of Summer Near Here

The government steamer Margaret, lake survey service cleared Port Huron for Charlevoix Thursday, where she will resume her survey of waters in the vicinity of Manitou and Fox Islands. These waters have not been charted since 1860. These chartings have been rendered obsolete by the shifting of shoals in Grand Traverse bay region. The boat made a trip to the wreck of the steamer Price, lost in the disastrous blow of November, 9, 1913. A sweep of the wreck showed a 28-foot clearance at mean lake level and an actual clearance of 30 feet. The wreck was lighted.

The boat also made an unsuccessful search for the Thompson tug Sport, lost in a southeast blow off Lexington in December, 1920. An area of four square miles was swept in a vain effort to find the wreck, the party being guided to the spot by Capt. Arthur Conkey, who was in charge of the tug when it was abandoned.

SEED PLOTS IN CREASE POTATO YIELD

Proper Selection Results in More Efficient Production

That the use of seed plots and careful planning can be made to increase the potato yield for all Michigan growers is the contention of J. W. Weston, potato specialist with the Michigan Agricultural College extension division. The work is said to be comparatively simple, requiring no separate field or elaborate methods.

"A few rows in the regular potato field should be planted with selected seed and given good care, such as seed treatment, proper cultivation, spraying and ragging," says Weston. "Desirable hills can then be selected at digging time for next year's seed plot, and for general planting as well.

"All seed should be treated with corrosive sublimate solution, according to directions which may be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the agricultural college. A good seed bed is also essential in the development of normal, good type tubers. Careful spraying with home made Bordeaux Mixture, 4-450, with a high pressure sprayer so as to prevent injury from leaf hoppers and stop introduction of diseases from sick plants to the healthy ones, is another important factor to be considered.

"The Rural and Green Mountain strains, other things being equal, may be expected to be most productive. Pick potatoes for your seed plot for ideal type of variety, shallow eye, oval, short, and weighing from six to nine ounces. Cut into about four pieces, splitting the bud eye and discarding any tubers showing discoloration, especially in the region of stem end."

DAIRY POINTS

MANY USES OF THERMOMETER

Particularly Essential to Give Temperatures of Milk, Cream and of Butter Making.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Hardly a useful instrument around a farm is more neglected than the thermometer. Properly appreciated, it would serve the farmer in many ways. Exact information on the temperature of the air is of importance; but there are dozens of other uses.

A thermometer should be the constant companion of the dairyman. In probably no other department of the farm can a thermometer be used to greater advantage than in connection with dairy operations.

The temperatures at which milk, cream, and butter are kept, and at which the various operations of butter making are carried on, are very important.

When milk is to be sold as such it should be immediately cooled. The reason for this is to stop the increase of bacteria as much as possible. Bacteria will reproduce themselves every half hour if the temperatures are favorable.

If milk is to be separated by the centrifugal process, it should have a temperature of about 60 degrees; if by the gravity methods, it should be cooled to 50 degrees very soon after milking. The temperature at which cream is churned is an important item; 52 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit is considered about right. Butter should be stored in a cool place to keep it sweet. For all these purposes it is essential to have a thermometer, and one that can be depended upon for accuracy.

The necessity of maintaining correct temperature in an incubator need not be emphasized. The temperature is correct at 103 degrees, and it should not go lower than that, especially during the first six days. Some incubators have an electric alarm which rings a bell when the temperature goes below 103 degrees.

In the care of live stock, the clinical or fever thermometer may be found very useful. The following are the normal temperatures of farm animals: Swine, 104; goats or sheep, 102 to 103; cows, 101 to 102; horses, 99 to 100.6; dogs, 99 to 100. A rise of 1 or 2 degrees is unimportant if temporary; but if permanent it indicates a serious condition which needs attention. A rise of 10 to 12 degrees in animals is usually fatal.

In calling a veterinarian by telephone, it is often important to be able to give the exact temperature of the animal. A good clinical thermometer, if available, should be used according to veterinary methods.

The thermometer will tell whether the cellar or storage house is of the right temperature for produce. Apples are frequently stored in outside cellars, where the temperature is best if it can be kept at 31 or 32 degrees; but 34 or 36 degrees will give satisfactory results. If the temperature is to be higher, the fruit should be placed in storage soon after being picked, to forestall preliminary decay.

For atmospheric temperature of a room the thermometer should be hung, if possible, away from the wall and where it will not be affected by air currents from open doors or windows or from stoves or artificial heat in the cold seasons.

With constant use one becomes acquainted with the instrument, so that dependence will be placed upon it; and with constant use uniform success in operations conditioned on temperature may be hoped for.

CONCRETE ROAD GROWS POPULAR

EIGHTY-TWO MILES CONTRACT. ED FOR THIS SEASON

Double Course Gravel Roadway Is Next in Popularity in Michigan—Little Stone Road Built

Contracts have been let covering the construction of 209 miles of road so far this year, according to figures made public today by the state highway department. This represents an expenditure of $2,585,990.

Of the total mileage for which contracts have been let, 82 1-2 miles will be the concrete type of pavement. This type of road is receiving Michigan's greatest attention this year, owing to its substantial and more permanent nature, and to the growing demands of traffic.

This 82 1-2 miles will cost approximately $1,625,082.

Next in importance comes the double course gravel road. This type of road has a thickness of eight inches of closely compacted gravel.

So far this year contracts have been let on about 58 miles of this type amounting to approximately $540,680.

For approximately $226,219 contracts have been let on about 33 miles of either stamp sand or single course gravel road. Each of these are constructed 16 feet wide.

To date 19 1-2 miles of macadam roads have been let for about $230,000. Macadam roads are invariably planned and built in sections of the state where gravel is scarce and traffic is not of sufficient volume to warrant a paved surface. This condition prevails in general in the southeast and southwest corners of the state on the secondary trunk line roads and on the primary trunk lines in the upper peninsula.

Stone-gravel roads are not very popular in Michigan. Only 2 1-2 miles of this type have been built, amounting to $19,081.

MICHIGAN PIKERS HERE ON JULY 17

Arrangements to Be Made for One-half Hour Talk

Charlevoix will be a meeting stop of the "Around Lake Michigan" tour of the Michigan Piker Association, on Monday, July 17, between the hours of 2:15 and 2:45.

This will be the eighth annual road tour held by the Michigan association, its object being to create a greater interest in good roads and learn for themselves the location of the beauty spots of Michigan.

It is expected that at least one hundred and fifty people will make the tour this year. They will have their own music and at each stop, whether over night or merely a meeting stop, a short program will be given.

Arrangement will be made for the proper reception of the "pikers" on their arrival at Charlevoix at some suitable place, announcement of which will be made later.

GEO. H. VANPELT YOUNGER 'N EVER

VISITS GRAND RAPIDS ON WAY TO CHARLEVOIX

Has Reached Age of 82, But Enthusiasm for Good Roads Grows Stronger Steadily

Uncle George VanPelt, from all we can learn, has finally decided to spend the summer in Charlevoix. We knew he would all the time, despite the bluff he put up and the story he told about accompanying a bunch of fellows to some other "near" summer resort.

He spent the winter at Seabreeze, Florida. Suffered slightly from ptomaine poisoning and his recovery was not as rapid as it should be. However, a few weeks in Charlevoix will put him on his feet again, and with the good care he will receive at Hallett's Inn, he will be as lively as a cricket inside of a month.

Uncle George arrived Wednesday the effects of Charlevoix's pure air and water. While in Grand Rapids he visited The Press office. Here is what they have to say about his visit:

Uncle George VanPelt, 82 years young, breezed in The Grand Rapids Press office Monday on his way from Florida to Charlevoix. He showed his old time enthusiasm for his three pet hobbies, concrete roads, fireproof hotels and Americanization.

Uncle George retired from business some years ago, but in winter he is one of the busiest men in Florida, in summer one of the busiest men in Michigan, and between times one of the busiest men on the jump, preaching his three favorite doctrines.

"That is the way I keep an interest in life, and the way I keep myself useful," said Uncle George at the Pontilind. "I had several reasons for stopping at Grand Rapids at the present time. First of all you have one of the best hotels in the country—the Pontilind—and I wish to celebrate my eighty-second anniversary with my old friend, Boyd Pontilind. Our acquaintance goes back to the 70's in the early days, and the Morton House now being demolished.

"Another reason was to drive over your streets and roads. My friends all know that I have only one thought regarding roads—they should be built of concrete and have perfect drainage.

"From the days when I was a member of the good roads committee of the Chicago association of commerce I have been an advocate of concrete highways, but I am willing to be convinced if there is anything as good or better for general highway use.

SCEDULE FOR "RESORT SPECIAL"

First Train on Summer Schedule on June Twelfth

"The Resort Special" will be put into operation regularly for the season 1922 from Chicago on Monday, June 12th, and from Cincinnati, Toledo, and Detroit on Monday, June 19th. The service will be daily except Sunday, northbound, and daily except Saturday, southbound. There will be two advance season trains; leaving Chicago Tuesday, June 6th and Friday, June 9th; returning, respectively, from Bay View on Wednesday, June 7th, and Sunday, June 11th.

In addition to the usual high grade standard compartment drawing room sleeping cars from Chicago and Detroit to Traversa City, Charlevoix, Petoskey and Bay View, there will be a new sleeping car line established this year between Cincinnati and Toledo and Bay View via Detroit. The line will be operated daily except Sunday, leaving Cincinnati in B. & O. RR. No. 55 at 12:55 P. M., connecting with "The Resort Special."

The service of "The Resort Special" will also include a through sleeping car line from St. Louis to Bay View via Chicago & Alton Railway.

Missouri's June Schedule

The Str. Missouri of the Michigan Transit Co.'s lines, will leave Chicago every Saturday night during the month of June. On the return trip she will leave Charlevoix Monday evening. This information will be of great help to Charlevoix merchants in arranging shipments of merchandise from Chicago.

ADD TROPHY TO WINNINGS

CHARLEVOIX AWARDED FIRST PRIZE IN CONTEST

Local Knights of Pythias Win Fine Shield at Meeting of Pythian League

Members of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, added another trophy to their numerous winnings Monday evening at Traversa City, by defeating all contesting teams at the annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Pythian League held in that city.

The competing work was confined entirely to the third degree, the team composing of some sixteen members. For several weeks the boys have practiced on the work, the winning points being based on ritualistic correctness, pronunciation, and floor work.

The third rank team of Pine Lake lodge are not by any means novices in this work, having previously won over contesting teams at Traversa City, Manistee, East Jordan and other other meetings, and have now in their possession a trophy cup won two out of three times.

Lee R. Smith, a past Chancellor, was captain of the team, and with each individual member are to be congratulated on their success. The prize was a beautiful shield, with K. of P. emblems mounted thereon. It is now on exhibition in the window at the Central Drug store.

Individual prizes were also contested for other than the shield, which was offered to the team scoring the highest number of points, and Charlevoix's team brought home the largest number among these. Individual prize winners are as follows: A. L. Fitch, Prof. C. A. Rice, E. J. Hiller, F. M. Glassford, Bert Carey, G. W. Priest, Charles H. Emrey, O. D. Hammond, Orville Wright, Louie Hamlin, Morley I. Ochs and Lee R. Smith.

Traversa City has been chosen as the regular meeting place of the league, and meetings will be held there each year from now on. About thirty-five members of the local organization attended the meeting.

TAPS SOUNDED FOR EARL R. SOLOMON

Remains Laid to Rest in Brookside Monday Afternoon

With a military escort of American Legion comrades, Legion members acting as pallbearers, the remains of the late Earl R. Solomon were laid in their final resting place in the family lot in Brookside cemetery, by the side of his brother Ray, who also died while in the service, at 4:00 p. m., Monday. Services were held from the home of his father, O. A. Solomon, conducted by Rev. C. W. Long of the Congregational church.

Deceased was born in Manistee, March 11, 1894. His death took place May 24 at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas. He is survived by a wife, father, mother, three sisters and three brothers.

He was a member of Company 336, Fire and Guard duty, and left Charlevoix July 31, 1918. His release from service came in December, 1918. Shortly after his return he left Charlevoix for Detroit and stayed there for about a year.

It was about this time that the disease, tuberculosis, which caused his death, became apparent. He spent the winter of 1920 in this city and later was taken to Petoskey hospital. From there he was transferred to the Johnson City hospital at Johnson City, Tennessee, and then to Fort Sam Houston, at San Antonio, Texas.

STATE FREIGHT RATES SLASHED

Carriers and Shippers Agree on New Charges Between Cities

Following a series of private conferences between officials of railroads and shipping organizations, freight rates affecting inter-peninsula shipments in Michigan will be materially reduced it was announced Saturday at the freight rate hearing.

Thus, one phase of the freight rate case has been settled "out of court."

The carriers as have filed with the state a tentative schedule of rates which will be operative if approved by the commission. These new rates also are subject to any further reduction that might be made as a result of the present freight rate hearing.

The new rates, if approved, will be as follows:

From the Sault Ste. Marie group to points in the Grand Rapids group, which includes cities north and west of the Detroit group and including Ludington and Reed City, first class $1.031-2 per hundred, second class 88c, third, 70c, fourth, 51 1-2c, fifth, 36 1-2c, sixth, 29 1-2c.

STATE PLANS ROAD FINANCES

GOVERNOR NAMES COMMITTEE TO RECOMMEND PROGRAM

Legislation to Increase Revenue for Highway Construction and Maintenance Will Be Drafted

A committee composed of state administrative board members was named last Thursday by Governor Groesbeck to investigate the financial status of the state's highway indebtedness and determine accurately how much construction may safely be undertaken by the state in the future. The committee may also consider ways and means of increasing the revenue available to the department for maintenance and construction.

According to State Highway Commissioner Frank Rogers, the department now requires approximately $8,500,000 annually for interest, reserve for retirement of bonds and maintenance. This amount provides for no construction. When $10,000,000 in bonds are issued during the fiscal year starting July 1, the state will be carrying a highway bonded debt burden of $30,000,000.

At present the department receives about $3,500,000 from automobile fees and has available $1,500,000 from general tax levies. This amount, totalling about $5,000,000, will not be sufficient, after this year to meet the general carrying charges of the department. In this connection the committee may consider a gasoline tax of two cents a gallon, which, it is estimated, would net the state between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 a year.

It is understood the definite recommendations, with a view to, increasing the state revenue available to the highway department, are to be made to the 1923 legislature.

ROTARIANS ENJOY LAKE TROUT SUPPER

Express Thanks in Letter to Charlevoix Business Men

Members of Grand Rapids Rotary Club are profuse in their thanks to Charlevoix business men for the gift of several pounds of lake trout sent to that organization last week. The following letter is self explanatory:

May 27, 1922.
Members of Charlevoix Association of Commerce:
Gentlemen:

"Thursday at the Rotary Club we had the pleasure of eating fish sent to us in behalf of the Tourist & Resort Association and Business Men's Club of Charlevoix.

"We wish to state that we thoroughly enjoyed the fish and especially appreciated the sentiments which prompted the action.

"The Grand Rapids Rotary Club would always like to feel that they are in hearty co-operation with the organization from Charlevoix. We look to our member, Hugh J. Gray, to keep in touch with any opening for us to serve you.

"Whenever any of your members are in Grand Rapids on Thursday, be sure and drop in at the meeting of the Grand Rapids Rotary Club."

Yours very truly,

BEAUTIFUL CITY OF THE DEAD

BROOKSIDE CEMETERY AN ASSET TO CHARLEVOIX

Converted From a Brush Lot to a Place of Real Beauty—Other Improvements Needed

The coming of Decoration Day brings to many a picture of battlefields, and Old Glory waving in the breeze. To others it stirs tender memories of loved ones who have been laid to rest. People who have no reason to visit cemeteries where they happen to be temporarily located, usually join the Decoration Day throng and thus receive impressions of the community.

In Brookside cemetery the city of Charlevoix has an asset of incalculable value. Under the management of the Board of Cemetery Trustees, composed of John M. Ackert, A. L. Fitch, Frank G. Hyers, R. A. Emrey and J. B. Parsons, and Sexton Charles Hyers, it has been transformed from a brush lot to a splendid burying ground. Mr. Hyers is completing his eighth year as sexton, and is now building stone roads through the cemetery, which comprises a tract of sixteen acres at the end of State street on Stover Road, an ideal location.

The plateau level is broken by the banks of Wakefield creek, which winds about and crosses the cemetery obliquely. This is a beautiful little stream which "bickers" down the valley over a bed of pebbles and between banks lined with elms and cedars.

At the main entrance are two beautiful white birches of the "outlet" variety, which, with hard and weeping maples, with long slender pendant boughs, border the roads. A few scattering balsams, a lone some pine and some splendid red birches, a Carolina maple or two and the usual shrubbery add greatly to the beauty of the spot.

The G. A. R. plot is nicely decorated with a six-inch mounted canon that saw actual service in the Civil War, and a white pine flagstaff that was found on the Nicholls farm south of Charlevoix.

The sexton said that while the large field stones occasionally placed as monuments undoubtedly added to the artistic effect of the cemetery, they nearly always crack after a few years. The magnificent stones marking the Meech-Nash-Harris plot are good examples of this style.

The Baker monument recently completed stands close to the brook. It was designed by Mrs. Martha R. Baker, who died last winter, and is heavily walled on three sides, thus giving the effect of a terrace.

As the writer stood looking up at the lone Lombardy poplar, a silent sentinel, the murmur of the brook came to him. The sexton pointed to Mrs. Baker's grave and indicated the complete work with a gesture of his hand. "This is just how Mrs. Baker wanted it," he said.

The visitor was then taken across the "bridge to the Potter's Field on the hill above. The turf is kept cut and the field given the same care as the other plots receive. Here are buried the fifteen victims of the steamer Champlain that burned and was beached on south point years ago.

When asked what he considered the most needed improvement at the present time, Mr. Hyers replied that a good iron fence set in concrete posts would be most welcome. And if efficiency and enthusiasm count for anything, Sexton Hyers ought to have it.

CHARLEVOIX HONORS HER WAR HEROES

Memorial Day Ceremonies Were Largely Attended

Memorial Day, Tuesday, was uniformly observed in the city, and all places of business were closed throughout the day.

The program as published last week was carried out, members of the G. A. R., W. R. C., American Legion and school children forming in parade on Park avenue and marching to Brookside cemetery.

Hundreds of people were in attendance at the ceremonies at the cemetery, and took part in the decorating of the graves of deceased war veterans and loved ones.

Used Insects to Fight Insects.

Control of destructive insects by the introduction of their natural enemies has become an important technique during the last generation, writes Paul Popescu in Science. But if competent observers are to be trusted, the southern Arabs employed the same method more than 100 years ago in the culture of the date palm.

In his "Recherches d'un Voyage dans l'Yemen," P. E. Botta says: "I was able to verify the singular fact previously observed by Lerskal, that the date palm in Yemen are attacked by a species of ant which would cause them to perish if each year the growers did not bring from the mountains and fasten in the tops of the palm branches of a tree that I did not recognize, which contains the nests of another species of ant which destroys that of the date palm."

City's Name of Indian Origin. Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion of Canada, takes its name from the river on which it stands. And the river bears the name of a nation of Indians belonging to the great Algonquin family. The name is said to be derived from the Algonquin word adawak, to trade, to buy and sell, and was applied to this particular river because it was used for its trade in corn, meat, furs and tobacco.

THE SPIRIT OF NON-COMPROMISE

The failure of the Genoa conference was due primarily to the unwillingness of the nations to approach the conference in a spirit of friendship and mutual co-operation. Most of the nations sent their delegates there for the purpose of promoting first their own selfish interests rather than the welfare of all. Vastly different was the spirit of the nations that gathered at the Washington conference. Here the conference was opened with a carefully studied plan devised by the American representatives who proposed an absolutely fair international agreement for peace on the Pacific and for naval reductions in which the United States proposed to do more than its relative share. No one could doubt the absolute good faith of the United States. The program as outlined was not inflexible but there were few changes made. If the nations of Europe get together in a similar spirit, they can agree. If they cannot meet in such a spirit, the United States cannot help them, for there cannot be successful coercion.

cion. The power of the United States is great, but not great enough to maintain peace among nations that have no real desire for peace.

SAMMY ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

It was not to be expected that Samuel Gompers would have any praise for anything a White House meeting called by a Republican President might do. Mr. Harding has been holding conferences with leading steel men, for the avowed purpose of abolishing the twelve-hour day in some of the steel mills. The President has expressed confidence, that the steel men will revise their hours of work according to his suggestions. The same confidence, however, is not shared by Gompers, et al. The labor leader characterizes the White House meeting as "typical of present day effrontery of the big business, that it should use the White House as a rostrum from which to give the country what the American people are accustomed to call "bunk."

Regardless of what President Harding may be able to accomplish in the way of relieving wage earners of some of their burdens, Mr. Gompers may be depended upon to place it all in the "bunk" category. Unless the idea has been born in the Gompers mind, spread over the country through Gompers mediums of propaganda, and forced upon employers through destructive strikes or other coercive means, it is quite unworthy the grateful interest of workingmen.

How different would it all be had the White House conference been called during the last administration. Then Mr. Gompers with his entree to all Democratic councils, would have been called in. He would have told Mr. Wilson and the assembled steel magnates what their course should be, and he would have emerged from the deliberations with sounding interviews telling of his own great influence in alleviating the woes of the workingman.

SAME PREJUDICE HERE

The warning that Mr. Lloyd George sounded in his final address to the Genoa conference had a special application to the Russian delegates, but some of his remarks would be equally significant if addressed by a member of our own government to the nations that owe us money. "The first prejudice we have in Western Europe is this," said the British premier, "that if you sell goods to a man you expect to get paid for them. The second is that, if you lend money to a man and he promises to repay you, you expect that he will repay you. The third is this, that if you go to a man who has already lent you money and say, 'Will you lend me more?' he will say to you 'Do you propose to repay me what I gave you?' and if you say, 'No, it is a matter of principle with me not to repay,' there is the most extraordinary prejudice in the western mind against lending any more money to that person. Some of the countries heavily indebted to the United States have indicated little inclination to repay, while at the same time dropping broad hints that they would like even further credits from this country. Americans have a great prejudice against loaning money under such circumstances.

WILSON IN PETTICOATS

Lady Astor is not arguing with us—she is telling us. In a recent interview in Chicago she declared, "Every woman should fight for the league of nations." Now, you American women, who have never had the broadening influence that goes with a seat in the British parliament, do not assume to question the soundness of the advice of Lady Astor. Quit your reading the teachings of George Washington. Quit your study of American history. Quit your habit of independent thought. Why think at all, when Lady Astor has done your thinking for you, and has told you your duty?

LET JOHN DO IT

England now asks the United States to stop Turkish outrages on Christians. England for two centuries has been the protector of the Turk in Europe and the physician ever at the bedside of the Sick Man. If it had not been for England Turkey would have been ostracized by the civilized world a long time ago, and one of the promises made during the war was that Turkey should be placed under control. Why doesn't England take a hand? Are there no oil wells there?

LOQUACIOUS DEMOCRATS

With the tariff bill before the Senate, Democratic members insist upon spending hours and days in the discussion of every other subject under the sun just to kill time. Retiring a few more of them from seats in legislature halls would be good for the country.

WHY WORRY

Mr. Harding need not worry a bit over the Democratic rantings concerning his dismissal of incompetents from office. The public will assume that he can make a few mistakes in firing men who were high up in the Wilson administration.

TRYING TO BELL THE CAT

Democratic demands for the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty grow louder as the time for the prosecution of war profiteers approaches.

Work Progressing Rapidly

Work of excavating for the new water works extension is being rapidly pushed, and had it not been for the rain on Wednesday, which will naturally cause a loss of time, the foundation for the building would have been laid by Thursday evening. The plant will be completed within the terms of the contract.

DO NOT OVERCROWD POULTRY

Few Hens in Small Yard Do Better Than Larger Number in Same Space—Room for Each.

Better results will be obtained from a few hens in a small yard than from a larger number in the same yard. The backyard poultry flock rarely will consist of more than 20 to 25 hens, and in many cases only a half-dozen hens are kept. For a flock of 20 to 25 hens a space of not less than 25 by 30 feet is required. From 20 to 30 square feet per hen should usually be allowed.

LARGE BREEDS GROW SLOWLY

Brahmas and Cochins Are Profitable Where There Is Demand for Heavy Fowls.

The biggest breeds of poultry, like Brahmas and Cochins, grow more slowly than the medium-sized breeds and therefore are not ready for market as soon, but they weigh more and are profitable where the market demands a large-sized fowl.

NEEDED EXERCISE BY FOWLS

Hens Can Be Kept Busy by Scattering Grain in Litter on Dry and Clean Floor.

Be sure that the floor of the henhouse is dry and reasonably clean and covered with three or four inches of clean litter in which grain can be scattered so that the fowls can obtain exercise scratching for it.

BROOD COOPS FOR CHICKENS

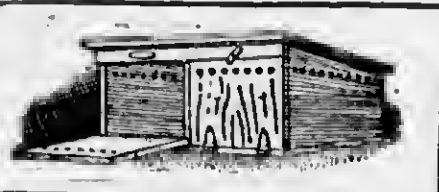

Directions Given for Construction of Cheap and Effective Pens for Little Chickens.

The accompanying drawing gives an idea of how quickly and cheaply any number of brood compartment coops can be constructed. It shows only two sections, but any desired number can be put together, saving material. We suggest that only three at the most be united, as they are easier handled when desiring to remove to new quarters, says a writer in an exchange.

The one section shows the door closed and button turned to hold lid up at night. The other section shows the door down for daytime to allow the hen and young free range in the orchard or pasture, wherever the coops may be located.

A very convenient size hoth for cutting material and the handling of completed coop has been found to be as follows: Twenty-four inches high in front, 18 inches high at rear, 18 inches deep from front to back. One-inch holes can be bored at each end and a line of them through the top of the door, as indicated by the closed door in drawing. Also, if the roof boards are allowed to project over back wall several inches it is not a bad idea to bore a few holes in the back wall. Some farmers have been very thoughtful and constructed similar coops during the cold, wet, sleety weather the last winter when nothing in the field could be done, and they are saved much when the fields demand so much time and attention at this season.

Shingles or prepared roofing, whatever is convenient, will make an ideal covering for the roofs. We have seen where a farmer having a half dozen such constructed coops used galvanized iron from an old shed in town that he obtained for the hauling.

AVOID HIGH-FLAVORED FEEDS

Onions Have Been Fed in Sufficient Quantities to Affect Eggs—Color of Yolk Influenced.

In extreme cases the flavor and odor of the feed have been imparted to the egg. Onions have been fed in sufficient quantity to bring about this effect. Those who desire to market a first-class article should not give feeds of high and objectionable flavor to their flocks.

In no case should tainted feed be allowed to enter the ration. Feed also has an influence on the color of the yolk, according to the United States department of agriculture. Corn fed exclusively will give a deep yellow or highly colored yolk, while wheat fed alone will produce a much lighter yolk. A fairly high-colored yolk is usually preferred and can usually be obtained by feeding a moderate amount of corn. Plenty of green feed also enriches the color of the yolk.

Pneumatic Tires Are Best.

According to the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, there is less wear on the roads when pneumatic tires are used on motor vehicles.

NO CURE FOR FOWL CHOLERA

Afflicted Birds Should Be Killed by Dislocating Necks and Carcasses Burned.

Poultry experts at Iowa State college are warning poultry keepers against fowl cholera which is a very contagious disease of hens often proving fatal without any previous indications of trouble. Indications include a slow movement of the animal, a tendency to crouch and ruffle the feathers, and yellow or bright green stools. Examination of the dead bird shows a congestion of the blood vessels in the liver, kidneys and intestines.

It is useless to treat sick birds. All that show symptoms should be killed by dislocating their necks. Burn the body with oil and bury at least three feet deep all dead birds and all excreta. Place one 7.3 grain chlorhydrate of mercury tablet in a gallon of drinking water in a nonmetal container or use a 30-gallon sodium sulphocarbonate tablet in every gallon of drinking water.

FROST COLLECTED ON WALLS

It Shows That There Is Not Sufficient Ventilation to Carry Off Moisture.

If frost collects on the walls of the henhouse, it shows that the walls are too thin or that there is not sufficient ventilation to carry off the moisture from the birds' breath, or that there are so many birds in the house that reasonable ventilation will not take care of this moisture.

PREFER TO REMAIN OUTDOORS

There Is Nothing to Worry About If Turkeys, Geese and Ducks Prefer Open Air.

Don't worry if turkeys, ducks and geese prefer to stay outdoors until snow comes, for they are often healthier if allowed to live in the open as nature intended they should. The greatest danger is from thieves and prowling animals.

The Prison System.

In ancient times prisons were private affairs, used to remove rivals or enemies. The first application of the prison system as a punishment for crime came in the establishment of workhouses in London, in 1550. Prisons started as reform institutions in 1704, when Pope Clement XI organized the criminal ward of the Hospital of St. Michael in Rome, as a means to aid the criminal rather than punish him.

Tuesday evening of last week, about nine-fifteen, N. Belsen of Boyne City, was thrown from his bicycle when a Ford car struck him. Mr. Belsen who has ridden a wheel for years was taking his daily exercise riding east on Main street. Mr. Taylor of East Jordan was driving past on Boyne avenue and turned the corner to go west on Main street and instead of driving close to the right hand curb as he should he made a wide turn which brought his car on the left side of Main street running head on into Mr. Belsen on his bicycle. John Perry was near the scene of the accident at the time and took Mr. Belsen in his car to a physician. "Auntie" on Fifth street on the left side and Mr. Belsen's head and arms were badly bruised. He was taken to the Lockwood hospital at Boyne City.

Firestone CORD TIRES

The section at the right was cut from a new Cord of the same size. Careful measurements show that only 1/3 of the tread of the tire on the Yellow Cab has been worn away after this long, grueling test. The carcass is intact after more than 11,000,000 revolutions.

Firestone Cords have averaged over 10,000 miles on Chicago Yellow Cabs (1,200 cabs all Firestone equipped). In thousands of instances, they have given from 15,000 to 30,000 miles.

Look at the tread—scientifically angled against skid, massive and heavy in the center where the wear comes, tapered at the edges to make steering easy and to protect the carcass against destructive hinging action of high tread edges. The carcass is air bag expanded to insure uniform tension and paralleling of every individual cord. It is double "gum dipped" to make sure that each cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber.

This is the reason why Firestone Cords unfailingly deliver extraordinary mileage. It explains the unanimous demand of thoughtful tire buyers for these values. The local Firestone dealer will continue to provide the personal service that makes Firestone tire comfort and economy complete.

PUREBRED STOCK IS AID TO PROSPERITY

High-Grade Herds and Flocks
Are Cause of Wealth.

Department of Agriculture Has Been Especially Interested in Survey Conducted in Tloga County,
New York.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How closely is the prosperity of a community related to the proportion of well-bred live stock in it? Frequently it is asserted that purebred and high-grade herds and flocks are the result of wealth rather than the cause of it. In its effort to throw light on this question the United States Department of Agriculture has been especially interested in a survey conducted in Tloga county, New York, as a part of the program of work of the farm bureau, which believes in purebreds as a contributing factor in farm prosperity.

According to data furnished the department by Harold B. Fuller of the farm bureau, the survey revealed the fact that only about 50 per cent of the sires used in the dairy herds of the county are purebred. The re-

About 20 per cent of the cows listed are purebreds. These animals are for the most part scattered through a large number of herds, showing that the average dairyman is working into purebreds as fast as financial conditions will permit.

In studying the census it is noticed immediately that the most prosperous sections of the county have high-grade and purebreds. This is not confined entirely to the valley farms, since the town of Tloga contains the largest number of purebreds—35 bulls and 1,220 cows of any town in the county. Newark valley is in hilly country for the most part, but it is a prosperous farming section. It boasts of 68 purebred bulls and 94 purebred cows among 1,603 animals or nearly 10 per cent. In another town in similar hilly country the agriculture is more backward. The purebred cattle are limited to 11 bulls and 18 cows out of 506 animals, which is but little more than 5 per cent. Similar differences were noted in six other townships surveyed.

The Tloga county farm bureau is starting on a campaign to eliminate the scrub sire from the herds of the county. At the fall county fair in September a purebred bull sale was held on the last day. The animals were sold to the highest bidder regardless of price. In some cases the farm bureau will arrange with men to own a sire as a community enterprise, and to exchange sires from one community to another as time goes on. Every effort is made to eliminate inferior stock and to place purebred bulls and heifers wherever possible on grade farms.

ICE FOR DAIRY AND FAMILY

Amount Necessary Depends Greatly on Number of Cows Milked and Ways of Handling.

The quantity of ice needed for a dairy farm with 10 or more cows depends on its location, number of cows milked, and methods of handling the product. In the Northern States, the United States Department of Agriculture has found that, with a moderately good ice house, where the shrinkage from melting is not more than 30 per cent, half a ton of ice to each cow is sufficient to cool the cream and hold it at a low temperature for delivery two or three times a week. Suitable cooling tanks, however, are necessary under this estimate.

The half-ton-per-cow estimate for ice to be stored allows for a reasonable waste and also for ordinary household use. If whole milk is to be cooled the quantity of ice stored must be increased to 1½ tons per cow in the North. To meet the needs of the average family on a general farm it will be necessary to store about five tons.

HAVE NOT "TAMED" LIGHTNING

Expression Is Common Since Franklin's Famous Experiment, but It Is Not Accurate.

When we wish to speak figuratively of our achievements in electricity we are accustomed to boast that we have "tamed the lightning," or something of the kind. But in reality we have done no such thing. Lightning is a well-known natural electrical phenomenon; but the electricity that we use is drawn from another source—it was "tamed" to start with. To catch a lightning discharge and reduce its voltage so that it may be utilized is a different matter. It may be suggested that the result might not be worth the trouble.

Ever since Franklin's famous kite was sent upon its flight certain optimistic individuals have thought that this pretty experiment was the key to untold power and wealth. The tumult caused by a severe thunder storm has evidently led them to believe that vast quantities of electricity are tumbling about in the upper air, and to render these available to man needs only some method of tapping the invisible reservoir. Now it has been said that the quantity of electricity taking part in a flash of lightning could be collected on a thimble; but the handling and restraining of this thimbleful of electricity present a problem which few electrical engineers would care to undertake. It is a great achievement to use the water at Niagara to drive a dynamo; but most of us would hesitate at the thought of employing a stream of rifle bullets for the same purpose.

TREASURE HIDDEN IN RUSSIA

Fortunes in Gold and Jewels Successfully Concealed From Soviet Officials.

Treasures of gold and jewels are still hidden in Russia, secure from Soviet requisitions and robberies, their estimated value amounting into the hundreds of millions of gold rubles. Russian families, especially in jewel collections, were far more wealthy than families of corresponding means in other countries, and it is certain that neither the Soviet nor refugees have taken all these gains for sale abroad. On several occasions, families have told the correspondent how they outwitted the Soviet agents. In one family, diamond and pearl necklaces were broken up and the parts hidden, at dead of night, in bed posts, in the tubing of electric light conduits, in garbage pails and even in paper weights lying exposed on a table. When Soviet agents came to make inspections they tapped the walls, tore up the floors and dug in the garden, but found nothing. With free trade, many of these hidden treasures are coming out, to be sold in the market, to tide the owners through the winter.

INVENTORY AIDS FARM BUSINESS

Assists Farmer to Determine Whether His Operations Are Profitable or Not.

MAKE LIST WHEN CONVENIENT

Go Over Farm Carefully and Note
Each Item as Found So Nothing
May Be Missed—Classify and Appraise at Same Time.

of Agriculture.)

Farming is a business, and like other businesses men the farmer should know which way he is going financially. To drift along year after year not knowing whether he is going toward success or failure is not the practice of successful business men, and it should not be the practice of farmers.

To gauge progress by an increase in cash in hand or to measure loss by additional debt incurred without taking into account decreases or increases in the value of all property owned, often leads to false conclusions. The storekeeper is well aware of this, and his annual "stock taking" is nothing more or less than the making of an inventory or list of property, without which he lacks accurate information concerning his profits and losses. Inventories are not difficult to make, and the United States Department of Agriculture has found that they are of great value to any farmer who is striving to better his condition. They overcome obstacles and place his business affairs on a secure basis.

Make Inventory When Convenient.

There is no best time of the year to make an inventory for everybody and under all circumstances. Each farmer must decide for himself the date most convenient. In deciding, however, the most important consideration is to select a time of the year before the season's work in the field begins. It will save estimating large quantities of farm produce on hand if the inventory is taken as late in the spring as possible before field work begins.

Although any day will do, it is generally found best to select the first day of some month, and a fairly good guide in any section will be the date upon which tenants customarily change farms. The best inventory date may vary from January 1 in the cotton belt, to April 1 in New England and other northern states, and for special farms special dates are often required.

If no list of the farm property has ever been made, it is well to start preparations by going over the farm, field by field, and building by building, taking each item as it is found in this way nothing is missed. The listing can be done in any memorandum book or on loose sheets of paper. All property owned comes under the head of resources or assets. These may be subdivided into physical or tangible property, and financial, or intangible. The value of the physical property must be estimated and appraised. The financial property has a face value, which under any conditions ordinarily met with on the farm needs no appraisal. The physical property may be grouped under the following heads: Land, buildings, other permanent improvements, work stock, cattle, swine, sheep, poultry, machinery and tools, farm produce, farm supplies, growing crops. The financial items include cash on hand, cash in bank, accounts receivable, and notes receivable. By receivable is meant debts owing to the farm.

Don't Overlook Debts Owed.

In no case should a list of liabilities—bills and accounts owed by the farm—be omitted from the inventory. Liabilities are an offset to the resources. When all the items with their valuations have been entered the work is finished by summing up the valuations. This is best done by adding each page separately and carrying the totals to the last page where they may be conveniently added to attain a grand total. The liabilities are summed up in the same manner. When the sum of the liabilities is subtracted from that of the resources the remainder is the net or present worth.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"Better Friendships," I Samuel 18: 1-4; 19: 1-7, is our topic for next Sunday evening. Mr. Verne Norton will lead. Owing to the Union services in the Methodist church at 7:30, the B. Y. P. U. will start promptly at 6 o'clock next Sunday evening. Remember—the subject and hour and come!

"You're my friend, What a thing friendship is, world without end! How it gives the heart and soul a stir-up!"—Robert Browning.

"Old friendships that have stood the test of years And not grown dim Are like the miracles with which our God endears

The autumn glory and the tender spring— Repeat ing o'er and o'er his promise rare—

True friendships is a mark of God—line within the soul— There's naught than man may know more fair, Nay, nothing lovelier written upon life's scroll."—R. R. Greenwood.

"The best cement of Christian friendship is nearness to Christ. As the spokes of a wheel, the nearer they approach the center, the nearer they approach each other."—Rev. G. S. Bowes.

At the usual hour Thursday evening we have prayer-meeting. We are about to take up the study of the book, "The Morning of Prayer," by Harry E. Fosdick. This is a wonderful book and everyone should see to it that he is present when the study should mean something to every prayer-meeting so as not to miss any of it or lose connections. This should mean something to every member of the church and B. Y. P. U.

"Would you do more than others? Then you must pray more than others."—Theodore Secker.

Last, but not least, is the social planned for the evening of June 2, at which time the Epworth League, Christian Endeavor and B. Y. P. U. members will meet and spend a social evening together.

Stationary makes an excellent graduation gift. We have a full new stock and its worth looking over. Metcalf Drug Store. Adv. 221

PYTHIANS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEPARTED MEMBERS

Services Held in Pythian Temple Followed by Decoration Of Graves

Sunday was Memorial Day for members of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias. Services were held in the Pythian Temple at 3:00 p. m. Following the services at the hall, the members rode to Brookside cemetery, where graves of departed members were decorated with flowers.

The Memorial address was given by Will E. Hampton, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the state lodge, who spoke as follows:

We are gathered here today, to pay tribute to the memory of our departed brothers; to renew the fragrant wreaths upon their tombs and to plant forget-me-nots upon their graves. It is a custom sweet with many wordless thoughts. To have our faults forgotten, and to have our friends recall only the good things that we did, is surely a consummation devoutly to be wished. For we are all but mortal, and the truly perfect man has not been born since Mary nursed her Holy infant in the manger. And being mortal, soon our time shall come, and we shall journey hence in answer to the summons none can deny. This being true, it behooves us all to so live that when the summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves to the pale realms of shade, where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death, we go not like the quarry slave at night, scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach the grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Pythianism teaches us to live; and if we are true to Pythian vows, the future can have no terrors we need fear. The sleeping brothers whom we honor here today, lived true to our Fraternity, and when a man so lives, death is but the crowning glory of an honored and a useful life.

During all the ages, men have theorized and philosophized upon those two great mysteries, Life, and Death. The earliest written records that we have today, are those of ancient Egypt. Eight thousand years before the birth of Christ, the Egyptians had their religion and their philosophy, and both embraced the belief that there was another life beyond the tomb. The civilization of Egypt perished from the earth—but that thought, implanted in the minds of men, has blossomed forth in each succeeding civilization, in a firm belief in the immortality of the soul—in a blessed hope of future life beyond the grave. This hope, this belief, has been a guiding star to mourning hearts through all the centuries of the past. Chas. Frohman, the great dramatist, who went down with the Lusitania, gave utterance to a wonderful thought, when he said—to comfort a friend who was waiting the final plunge by his side—"Why fear, death? It is the most delightful adventure of life?"

With those who think there is no life beyond the grave I deeply sympathize. With narrow creeds that cramp and bind mens souls I have no sympathy. The one would make of death a truly dreadful thing, a final and eternal parting from everything we love. The other would tear hearts asunder, and make eternal happiness or lasting misery, dependant on a choice of creed. Pythianism is not confined to any creed, but marches hand in hand with all

MONTHLY MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

The attention of Charlevoix business men and members of the Association of Commerce is called to the fact that on Friday evening of this week the regular monthly meeting of the association, postponed from last Friday evening, will be held in the Masonic Temple at the usual hour. Outside speakers will be present. Other important matters which have been worked out by committees will be announced.

A good attendance is desired. Its up to every red-blooded citizen of Charlevoix to make these meetings as snappy and entertaining as possible. Do your bit and be there at the opening hour.

good works, paying homage to the Great God of all, and reverence to his holy name. And when our work on earth is done, the angel of God will search our record here, and if, like Abou Ben Adhem, we have truly loved our fellowmen, we shall find our names transferred from Pythian roster to the angel's Book of Gold. For Pythianism stands for the brotherhood of man, the next of kin to the Fatherhood of God. And could the brothers whose memory we honor here, speak to us from the beyond, they would voice the Arab chieftan's sentiments and say—"Write me as one who loved his fellow men."

A great orator has said, that life is a narrow vale between the unseen peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud, and the only answer is the echo to our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unrepining dead there comes no sound. But in the night of death hope sees a star, and listening love can hear the rustle of unseen wings. The cold and voiceless forms of our departed friends lie silent in the tomb. That is the mortal part of man—the dust that must return to dust, the ashes unto ashes. But the immortal spirit, the soul that looked out on us with loving eyes in days of life—that undefeatable and unconfinable presence, is with us night and day. And even now, the car of listening love can almost hear the rustle of the unseen angel wings. For my friends, there is no death. What seems so is transition. This life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life elysian, Whose portal we call, Death.

MISS BARTLETT WEOS BOSTON MAN

CEREMONY PERFORMED AT HIGH NOON TUESDAY

Miss Benona Bartlett, only daughter of Mrs. L. B. Bartlett, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Carl F. Kohler of Boston, Mass., at 12 o'clock, Tuesday, June 6, Rev. C. W. Long of the Congregational church, officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the south-west room at the Bartlett home, which had been darkened and lighted artificially, and the fire place banked with deep red peonies and bridal wreath.

The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamphear, cousins of the bride, acting as best man and maid of honor, while little Miss Byrnee Lamphear, becomingly dressed and carrying a bouquet of lilies of the valley, was ring bearer. Mendelssohn's beautiful wedding march was played by Miss Adeline Holley.

The bride, who was gowned in jade green gaorgette and lace, carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Out of town guests were Mrs. George Hyers and Mrs. Glenn Ellis of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Smith of Boyne City; Miss Eva Adams of Ironton; Frank Lamphear of Clearwater, Florida; and Mrs. J. E. Mayer of Petoskey. Other in attendance were Rev. C. W. Long and wife, Mrs. Louise Elston, Miss Adeline Holley, Mrs. R. F. Sloan and son Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyers and daughter Hilda, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, and the Misses Eleanor Finucan, Gladys Livingston and Kathryn Gaskin.

Following the wedding a four course dinner was served the guests. At each end of the table a bouquet of pansies was placed, surrounded by bridal wreath, a larger bouquet of the same decorations appearing in the center of the table. Many useful and costly gifts were presented to the happy young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohler left in the late afternoon on a short honeymoon to points in the upper peninsula. On their return they will spend the summer in Charlevoix.

"BACK TO THE BEST LITTLE CITY"

COUNTY'S GOOD ROAD BOOSTER ON THE JOB

Hints That Younger People Are Better Judges of Good Roads Than Older Heads

"Uncle" George VanPelt says he is back to the prettiest little city in the world. The city that has water washed air (a name given it by one of Chicago's noted surgeons), a city that has pure water—and now the city officials are adding more pure water, making it purer than pure.

Back again to the prettiest county in the state of Michigan, or any other state for that matter. A county named from our city, "Charlevoix the Beautiful," where every child of school age can tell old road builders what kind of roads to build. "Children, both boys and girls, who have written better essays of the value and advantages of building good concrete roads than old and experienced road writers ever thought of writing.

These boys and girls know why concrete roads are the best. They have ridden over all kinds of roads—concrete, gravel, and soft stuff in their county and have observed the manner in which they wear. They have made observations and talked it over among themselves. They are fully aware they are the ones who will have to pay for the upkeep and rebuilding of all kinds. They have figured it out for themselves. They travel over concrete roads that have been built for twelve years and find them almost as good today as they were the day they were built. They have found that the upkeep on concrete roads has been only $14.00 per mile for the entire number of years they have been built. They know that $14.00 for twelve years means $1.17 per year and that the cost of upkeep of gravel and soft stuff roads cannot be told.

To illustrate how closely the matter of road building has been observed by the younger people, one stated in an essay written on the subject: "We know if they are going to build a strip of road other than concrete eight or ten miles long, they will be compelled to start repair work on the first mile built before they get the last mile completed."

One boy said, "It is no fault of the builders. They are good men, and they know how to build roads, but how can you expect any soft stuff to wear like hard stuff."

Another said, "The older concrete gets, the better it becomes. They had them in Roman's time."

The names of the winners and the amounts of the prize money appears in another column of this issue. We want to thank everybody in Charlevoix county, and the boys and girls in particular, who participated in this great effort to boost Charlevoix county, the most beautiful in the state of Michigan.

OPENING OF BASE BALL SEASON

FIRST GAME ON LOCAL FIELD NEXT SUNDAY

Charlevoix Will Cross Bats With Petoskey's Newly Formed Aggregation of Players

The local base ball season opens Sunday, when the newly formed Charlevoix team will cross bats with Petoskey's Northern Michigan League team at this place. The game will be called at the usual time, and it is expected that hundreds of fans will attend the opening game.

The Northern Michigan League is composed of eight teams, representing the live towns of this community, Boyne City, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Pellston, Mancelona, Gaylord and Charlevoix.

All league teams with the exception of Charlevoix have played a number of pre-season games. This might lead one to believe the local team will be at a disadvantage, due to the lack of practice, but the personnel of the home team is such that we believe they will put up as good ball playing as their opponents, despite the lack of practice.

The line up of the home team is composed of seasoned players, who have excellent records behind them: Pat O'Hara, U. of M. pitcher, will do the whirling at the opening game, the pitching staff will be increased as the season advances. Ray Bok, who played with the Loeb team last season, will be behind the bat. Hanna, Burden, Lewis, H. Cartier and C. Cartier, of last year's team, will occupy their old positions.

The local grounds have been put in good condition of considerable expense, and it is hoped that the fans will support the team with their money as well as their presence. With a little encouragement, Charlevoix stands as good a chance to win the pennant as any team in the league. They played good, clean ball last season, and will equal if not better their record this year.

Proceeds from every game played will be turned over to the Leslie T. Shapton Post of the American Legion, where it will be used to aid in the construction of Charlevoix's Community Memorial Hall.

FINE SPIRIT OF ENTHUSIASM

MANIFEST DURING COUNTY S. CONVENTION

Fourteen Schools Represented at Meeting Held in Boyne City—Officers Chosen

The fifteenth annual county Sunday School association was held at Boyne City, May 31st. Fourteen schools were represented. A fine spirit of enthusiasm was manifest all through the convention. The quota for the county was raised so the financial standing is on a solid basis. The morning session was presided over by Rev. R. W. Merrill of Boyne City M. E. church. Mrs. Malpas presented the "Primary work of the S. S." in a very fine paper, stressing the importance of memory work of the Bible in the early years of the children. Mrs. Selpron and Miss Sundquist sang a duet. Rev. Wm. Sidebotham of East Jordan gave a very helpful talk on "Recreational and Social Life of the Sunday School." Rev. Sidebotham thinks the social life of the church should include the whole family as the unit of society is the family.

At noon the ladies of the M. E. church served a dainty lunch to all delegates. Joe Eckstrom of East Jordan, presided over the afternoon session. Rev. H. R. E. Quant of Charlevoix led the devotionals; Mrs. Sidebotham of East Jordan pleased the audience with a solo. Rev. R. W. Merrill gave a short address on the "Importance of Bringing the Sunday School Scholars to Christ." Sixty per cent of the pupils come from non-christian homes. The church must stand back of the Sunday school and community life—back of it all. Rev. W. C. Palmer of Boyne Falls handled in a very able

HIGHEST WOOL PRICES IN TWO YEARS

Sheep Raisers Will Receive Fair Profits on Investment

Michigan wool prices reached a new high point for the past two years June 1 when Michigan Dolans were quoted at 51 cents f. o. b. Lansing, with lower grades shaded a cent or two down the list to rejections at 33 cents, said the State Farm Bureau. Wool consumers are still scrambling for wool, said the bureau. South American stocks have been cleaned up and comparatively little is coming into this country from overseas. According to the May business conditions report of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank the price paid many producers is about 100 per cent better than in April '21. The tariff situation, scarcity of good grades of wool, advancing foreign markets and recent improvements in woolen industry are factors that are adding strength to the market the Reserve Bank report said.

Michigan's sheep population has shrunk 94,000 since January 1, 1920, when the U. S. Bureau of Crop estimates reported 1,209,000 sheep in the state. January 1, 1922 the number was 1,115,000. No report has been made to the bureau on the number of spring lambs. Michigan wool is carrying an unusually small amount of grease this year, says the Farm Bureau wool pool.

The Farm Bureau will begin pooling at 37 points in the Thumb district June 19, advancing forty per cent to the growers. The bureau practically completed second payments of its ten thousand 1921 accounts this week.

TOWNSEND'S MICHIGAN CAMPAIGN

AS VIEWED BY BROTHER MICHIGAN PUBLISHER

Avers He is Ablest and Best U. S. Senator Michigan Has Had for Years

The Nashville News, in commenting on the senatorial situation, has this to say regarding Senator Charles Townsend:

"We hold no brief for Senator Charles Townsend of Michigan, and we have always rather liked Pot Kelley. But

"Senator Townsend is the ablest and best United States senator Michigan has had in many years. He is a worker. He never shirks. He refuses to neglect his duties in Washington to come back to Michigan and make a personal campaign for re-election, because he realizes that he is needed in Washington, and his first duty is there. That is what he is drawing a salary for, and he is earning it."

"He has a senatorial committee looking after his campaign, but the committee realizes as well as does the senator that his presence in the state would be a great help. Nevertheless he sticks to his job. His committee, through its treasurer, John S. Haggarty of Detroit, has just issued a sworn statement showing that they have spent during the first four months of the campaign, the sum of $3,010.97."

"In giving full publicity regularly to our campaign expenses," said Charles C. Simons, secretary of the committee, "we are actually taking the people of Michigan into our confidence and are giving them the information to which they are rightfully entitled. There is no secrecy about the Townsend campaign nor need there be any. We don't use and would not tolerate gumshoe methods; therefore, we have nothing to hide and nothing to be ashamed of." Senator Townsend's friends are engaged in a clean, conservative effort to bring about the organized expression of the will of the large majority of Michigan citizens, who are proud of their senior Senator and demand his re-election."

RESULTS OF ESSAY CONTEST

WINNERS OF THE $100.00 IN PRIZES OFFERED

Charlevoix County Good Roads Association Announces Those Who Get the Money

The Charlevoix County Good Roads association are ready to distribute the $100.00 in prizes offered this year for the best essays on the subject, "Why Charlevoix County Should Build Roads of Concrete Rather Than Gravel and Other Soft Material."

The contest was open to schools in the county, and was in charge of a contest committee composed of R. L. Lewis, Charlevoix, secretary, C. A. Rice, Charlevoix, chairman; A. J. Duncanson, East Jordan, A. A. Metcalf, Boyne City; E. C. Judd, Boyne Falls.

Frank Hamilton, chairman of State Highway Advisory Board, Traverse City, judged the papers from the high school section and awarded the following prizes:

First prize, $30 to the writer of No. 11.

Second prize, $20 to the writer of No. 16.

Earnest Peasley, clerk of County Road Commission, R. F. D. Charlevoix, judged the papers from the grammar school section and awarded the following prizes:

First prize, $15 to the writer of No. 19.

Second prize, $10 to the writer of No. 17.

Dwight L. Wilson, mayor of East Jordan, judged the papers from the rural school section. Because of the fact that only two papers were submitted from this section and both gave evidence of insufficient amount of thought and time spent in their preparation, Mr. Wilson recommended that no awards be made in this section, but designated No. 20 as the best and No. 21 second. The Association, however, have decided to overrule Mr. Wilson and awarded the following prizes:

First prize, $10 to the writer of No. 20.

Second prize, $5 to the writer of No. 21.

The judges were not informed as to the name and address of the contestants.

The Committee are pleased to announce the following prize winners:

No. 11 Robert Quigley, Boyne City High School.

No. 16 Hugh Mayne, Charlevoix High School.

No. 19 Joseph Quigley, Sixth Grade, Boyne City.

No. 17 Miss Helen Hooper, Seventh Grade, Boyne City.

No. 20 Forrest Griffin, Seventh Grade, Deer Lake.

No. 21 Miss Zola Barber, Eighth Grade, Deer Lake.

The essays and all correspondence incident to the conducting of this contest will be kept on file in the office of the secretary of the association. The prizes will be mailed in the near future.

Rapid City Dam Goes Out

Last Thursday the Rapid City dam went out, carrying with it the new bridge just north of town. Several automobiles passed over the bridge a few minutes before it collapsed. The pond was owned by Ricker Bros., who own a dam farther up the stream. It is doubtful if the bridge will be rebuilt. The loss is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000.

Height of Journalism

A resident of Clare owns a newspaper, issued 50 years ago, which shows the superiority of the newspaper of that time, in that a reader needed to read only the first sentence of a story in order to get the entire contents of it. For example, one of the stories begins: "And the genius of history, whilst truthfully penning down the events of this fierce and bloody war, which has leveled down old and established landmarks, and changed the destiny of states, pausing, will rise up to her loftiest standpoint, and bending down and invoking the spirit of the past, she will point her finger with admiration at this inland region, and trace out with her pencil the many devious and bloodstained pathways of her 300,000 loyal warriors, who would not bow the knee to the sanguinary Baal of Disunion but who, overwhelmed by the then resistless power of a military despotism, isolated and cut off from the world, bound by lofty mountains, fortified and guarded by vigilant troops, yet, with minds unconquered and hearts unappalled, rising up in the majesty of freeman, rather than surrender their manhood, they made their way in midwinter for hundreds of miles (and so on twice as much farther).—Detroit News.

New Ruling by Flint Judge

A Flint judge rules that it is a violation of the constitution of the United States to search a person on the street, merely on the suspicion that he is carrying liquor. It is just as easy anyway, to open some door other than that of his home and wait till he walks inside.

Why Not Send a Check?

An Escanaba editor complains that he daily receives many letters of thanks, for everything from dances to rummage sales, which he is requested to publish. Most people even enclose a letter of thanks to the editor for publishing the other letters, although a check would often do just as well.

AT THE MOVIES

It's no easy matter to raise ten thousand dollars on an idea, but Wallace Reid shows how it can be done in his latest Paramount picture, "The Charm School."

In the role of Austin Bevan, he inherits a young ladies' school from his aunt. He wants to change the institution into a "charm" school wherein all the pupils will be taught how to make themselves charming, instead of qualifying for the business world, but to put over the new idea, he needs ten thousand dollars. He gets the money and from the tightest man in town. See how he does it at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday. Lila Lee is leading woman.

"Stirring melodrama with all of the spectacular features and none of the crudities of this popular style of entertainment," is the classification that the motion picture officials have given to the new big Rex Beach production of his great Alaskan railroad story, "The Iron Trail," which will be featured at the Palace Theatre, beginning Saturday.

The new Beach production, was made under the watchful eye of the famous author himself. Every location was approved by him as being faithful to the Alaskan country in which the theme of his story is laid, and the all-star cast that portrays the leading roles and the incidental characters were approved by him before any of the scenes were made. In reproducing the spectacular railroad construction scene, Mr. Beach in close collaboration with Director R. William Neill elaborated on his original vivid descriptions, and the reported result is that the film version is twice as blood-stirring as the book.

Snow and ice, rain and thaw, and the feverish rush to lay the tracks of the pioneer railroad through the Alaskan wilderness before the terrible winter closed down on the workers, and the desperate opposition of enemies in human form a profusion of high spots that keep intense interest suspended from start to finish.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

If Lincoln Should Come to Washington

The great Lincoln Memorial was dedicated on Decoration Day. On a site that was a swamp when Abraham Lincoln lived in Washington there now stands one of the most magnificent edifices in all the world. For ten years this marble shrine, with its forty-eight massive Doric columns emblematic of the States, has been building. A few days ago 100,000 citizens assembled to witness the dedication of this structure, which has cost $3,000,000, and which 57 years after the death of Lincoln has been completed and will stand forever in mute proof of the words uttered by Stanton as Lincoln lay dead: "He now belongs to the ages."

Two of Lincoln's successors in office, President Harding and former President Taft, were the principal figures in the ceremony, and former President Wilson would also have been present had the condition of his health permitted. An old man in feeble health and who walked supported by two friends, occupied the seat of honor on this occasion. He was Robert Lincoln, the son of the great Abraham Lincoln. Joseph G. Cannon, who served in the official administration of Lincoln, was the lone survivor of that political period, and he was another guest of honor.

The great crowds assembled at the approaches to the Memorial, and many of them found shelter from the hot sun under the trees in Potomac Park. Though they were in some cases a quarter mile from the speaker's platform the amplifiers installed by the telephone company, and brought to a state of perfection as a result of former experiences, carried the voices clearly to the farthest listener. The amplifiers were inconspicuous, and the arrangement was so perfect that had there been a million people in the vast throng every one of them could have heard as perfectly as though stationed directly in front of the speaker. By means of further electrical arrangements the speeches were broadcasted by radio-telephone East, West North and South. There were no speeding couriers such as were used in Lincoln's day, and no one shouted "louder" at the speakers or complained that they were "too far away." The one feature that marred the ceremonies was a circling airplane flying over the Memorial while President Harding spoke. Of horses and carriages such as pulled through the mud in Lincoln's day there were none; but of automobiles—such as Lincoln never saw—there were thousands. They came over hard-paved roads from near and far. The three great wire-less towers at Arlington stood in sight of the assembled thousands. This station has been used in carrying on conversation with Paris, Panama and Hawaii. In strange contrast, all this, to runners on foot, and messengers and couriers who rode foaming steeds that carried Lincoln's orders!

The Lincoln Memorial gives to Washington three dominating structures. At the East is the Capitol with its imposing dome. To the West is the new Memorial. Between the two rises the Washington Monument. Each is magnificent in typifying its part in the institutions and sentiment of the nation.

There was no more impressive moment in all the Lincoln Memorial ceremonies than when Chief Justice Taft concluded his address in turning over the Memorial to President Harding, with the following words: "Not with the lowly only, but with all rich or poor, ignorant or learned, weak or powerful, untutored or of literary genius has this aura about Lincoln's head at his death grown into a halo of living light."

"Here on the banks of the Potomac, the boundary between the two sections, whose conflict made the burden, passion and triumph of his life, it is peculiarly appropriate that it should stand. Visible in its distant beauty from the Capitol, whose great dome typifies the union which he saved, seen in all its grandeur from Arlington where lies the nation's honored dead who fell in the conflict, Union and Confederate alike, it marks the restoration of this brotherly love of the two sections in this memorial of one who is as dear to the hearts of the South as those of the North. Here a sacred religious refuge in which those who love country and love God can find inspiration and repose."

Daugherty and the War Frauds

What is all this row over Attorney General Daugherty about? He asked for a special appropriation of $500,000 from congress to prosecute war grafters, and he got it. But before he commenced the prosecutions the Senate sneezed with denunciations of the Attorney General. Most of the attacks on him are based on the fact that he formerly represented C. W. Morse and obtained his release from the Atlanta prison. Morse was a millionaire convicted of crookedness, and as soon as he got out of Atlanta on the representation that he would die anyway, in a short time, he began to get well. Of course if Morse had died it would have been different—and saved trouble. The affair seems to be an old-law case in which no improper action has been proved against Daugherty. The Federal judicial grist will soon be grinding, and those who know war graft conditions pretty well recall immediately following the war that there were numerous investigations, many of which showed terrible waste of public moneys, but there weren't many instances where facts warranted laying charges of fraud to contractors. Daugherty is a fighter worthy of his ancestral name, but those who know how matters stand are very doubtful that he will secure any notable convictions, or recover any great sums into the treasury. Undoubtedly he will be able to stir up some large-sized sensations. If he gets more than that in the way of results he will surprise even his warmest supporters and defenders.

Mexico Trying to Qualify

Mexico has a foreign debt of $700,000,000 upon which it has made no payments of principal or interest since the murder of Madero. The present administration of that republic is seeking financial rehabilitation, and the Obregon government would do what most of the more advanced governments have been doing—borrow itself out of its bad debts and contract new ones. A billion or two would give Mexico all she needs with enough more to finance bull fights and other amusements that would divert the public mind from its revolutions. Undoubtedly the financial mission in this country could get all the money that it needs if it were not for a number of revolutions now going on. Felix Diaz is, as usual, at the head of one of these. The American government is not deeply concerned about these outbursts, but it is likely that recognition will be withheld until it is certain beyond all doubt that the Obregon government can handle the situation and carry its financial obligation into effect. President Obregon is regarded very favorably in Washington, and the government of the United States would undoubtedly get behind him if it appeared certain that he would be able to preserve and maintain the existing Mexican government. Mexico is no doubt trying to qualify, and she is making headway in that direction. The United States is indulging in a fresh form of "watchful waiting."

Bonus Bill in Senate

Persistency's name is "Bonus"—and now with the bonus bill before the Senate there is hardly anything left for the great legislative body to do except to pass this measure. The Senate bill is quite like the one that passed the House. It provides bonus payments by certificates maturing in twenty years, upon which money can be borrowed. The cash bonus under the Senate bill is to be paid only to those veterans to whom $50 or less is due. It has been rather generally understood that President Harding is opposed to any soldiers' bonus bill at this session of Congress, but the Republican leaders of both branches are positive that he cannot withhold his signature from the bill that now seems certain to pass.

If in the Senate

If Senator Lodge should be defeated Senator Borah would become chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations. If Senator McCum-bur should be defeated and Senator LaFollette retained in Wisconsin the latter would become chairman of the Committee on Finance. Such are the possibilities due to the plan of seniority in the Senate. Such a promotion would spoil the Senate for the "old guard."

The subject for next Sunday morning is, "God's Great Works in this Mighty Wealth." We will consider: His Fellowship, Righteousness, small agencies, abundant Grace and Inner life.

Sunday school at 12 o'clock. Splendid crowd last Sunday. Interest growing and singing good.

Epworth League at 6:30. Lessons of interest. The leader invites your attention and support.

Evening service at 7:30 p. m. sider: His Fellowship, Righteousness, ness. We will consider the conviction for My Brother, the conviction of a special call, the conviction of my own sin.

Opportunities are legion now for the Master's work. Christian folks must prove to Charlevoix's visitors that Christ is a real factor in their lives. Little kindly deeds and big kindly responsibilities, challenge the believers of Christ. Jesus said "Let your light so shine before men that they may see (not you) your good works and glorify (not you) your Father which is in Heaven."

IN DISGRACE

Again comes news from the south of lynchings. The sixth negro within a few weeks has been murdered by a mob. This time the black man was taken from a jail and riddled with bullets, and his body was burned. But where were the authorities?

Does the south admit there is no law in that territory for the negro? Civilization and Christianity are mocked by these community slayings. Perhaps the victim has committed a crime that stirs the spirit of the people, but that is no reason why they should take upon themselves the power of punishment. The law in the south moves swiftly and surely in such cases. There is little chance for the escape of the guilty when the officials know the sentiment of the public. But there is a very great chance that the innocent will suffer when the mob rules.

The question of lynching is a local issue, but is a national disgrace so far as it reflects upon any nation or people.

The senate sub-committee on judiciary will report unfavorably upon the Dyer anti-lynching bill, according to the latest report from Washington. This decision is undoubtedly based on the belief that the federal government could not legally go into any locality and hold that section responsible for the action of a few. There is a proper separation of rights as between the national government and states in America, and it would be a bad policy to break that down. Once such a step was taken there would be no end.

Under the Dyer act two or more persons might be regarded as a mob and any crime committed by a few might therefore come under federal rule. Heretofore the government has been unable to rule in purely local actions, and it would be unwise and probably unconstitutional to attempt it even in the movement against lynchings. Furthermore, the Dyer act would penalize the community as a whole for the guilt of a few.

The crime against the negro is a question for the south to solve. And it must find solution and stop these mob murders if that territory is to retain a place as a part of civilized humanity.

If the southern state cannot or will not end lynchings, then perhaps some federal means will have to be devised whereby the government can legally interfere, and erase the blackness below the Mason and Dixon line.

TRY IT YOURSELF

Of course you will be amused when you hear that a foreigner in taking his examination to become a full fledged citizen said, "Harding discovered America." He would have been nearer the truth if he had said, "America discovered Harding." Just the same, lots of times we don't know as much as we think we do. Just sit down and answer off hand without hesitation or "looking up" these questions:

Who is the vice-president of the United States?

Who is the congressman from this district?

Who is our state representative at Lansing?

Who are our United States senators?

Who is the lieutenant governor of Michigan?

Who is the American Ambassador to Great Britain?

K. OF P. MEMORIAL SUNDAY

A pagan race has set a custom we might well adopt. If you ask them about a departed friend they will answer you—"He fell asleep." They have no word for death. And so let us, in speaking of our departed friends, think not of death, but rather say of them—"They fell asleep."

In many castle halls throughout this broad domain to-day, the knights have gathered, as we have gathered here, to pay tribute to brothers sleeping peacefully beneath the sod. Their faults let us forget, as we would have our faults forgotten. Their virtues let us emulate. In this memorial service let us consecrate ourselves anew to Pythian deeds, and fill the lives of those we love, with the sweet fragrances of Pythian friendship. We can best honor those whose memory we reverse, by living true to self, to home and loved ones. Polonius most wisely said—"To thine own self be true, and it will follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." Let us live true to self, for then we shall surely prove true to our Pythian vows, and live an honored and a useful life, crowned by a peaceful and a welcome sleep, when we shall lower our visors here, to raise them in the presence of this Supreme Chancellor of All.

And while we pay our tribute to our local dead, let a small portion of our thoughts and flowers be dedicated to the memory of the great men now sleeping, the men the Knights in every castle hall have every cause to honor and revere. For, while this is Pythian Memorial Day, Pythianism is synonymous with Americanism, and we can well broaden our thoughts and words to embrace the men who have helped to make our nation great. Let us not forget the Father of our Country—the true Patriot, Soldier, and Statesman, George Washington. And Lincoln, the Martyr, the great-hearted commoner whose sympathies were always with the sorrowing and the oppressed. And McKinley, our Pythian brother, slain by the assassin's bullet, whose life was one long exhortation to honorable, upright living. And last, and in some respects greatest of them all, that dynamic, impulsive, forceful personality whom the nation still mourns, Theodore Roosevelt. The greatness of a man is measured not only by what he accomplishes in this life, but by the influence his words and deeds exert after his voice is silenced by death.

And the intense Americanism of Theodore Roosevelt will be an inspiration to better and purer citizenship in millions yet unborn, and his last words to the American people will ring like a bugle call through all the centuries to come: "There is room in America for but one language; one allegiance; and one flag—the stars and stripes." When the roll of the nations shall be called for each to name her favored son, nations long dead will rise from out the ashes of their past and sound the name of King or Conqueror. Nations of our later days will follow in their turn, pronouncing name of prince or potentate. Then, youngest but greatest of them all, Columbia will rise with proud but tear-dimmed eyes, and, dipping her pen in the star dust, she will write in the clear blue above them all, the name of the Soldier, the Statesman, the American, Theodore Roosevelt.

DEMAND FOR MICHIGAN GROWN SEED

Crop Improvement Association Revises Distributing System

Michigan grown pedigreed seeds have been in greater demand during the past season than ever before in the history of organized seed production by state farmers, according to H. C. Rather, extension specialist in farm crops at the Michigan Agricultural College. In many cases the supply of certified seed has been insufficient to meet the calls, which come from many points outside the state, as well as from Michigan growers themselves.

"More Robust Beans, the improved variety originated at the college station, were certified on Michigan farms this year than ever before," says Rather. "But the supply was entirely exhausted eight weeks before planting time. Pedigreed Wolverine Oats, Michigan Black Barberries, Barley, and soybeans also sold out early."

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—
B. O. Hegarman
Build Rogua's Gallery for Unadapted Seed

To inform Michigan farmers on alfalfa and clover seed coming into the state and to determine the alfalfa best adapted to Michigan conditions, the Farm Crops department of the Michigan Agricultural College is conducting a great series of alfalfa and clover test plots on the college farm. Visitors to the college are invited to inspect this plot. Call on the farm crops department.

As one of the largest seed distributing agencies in the state and a co-operative institution which believes the best seed is none too good for Michigan agriculture, the State Farm Bureau seed department is co-operating with the College Farm Crops department in tests by turning over the college for testing samples of all the Grimm, Cossack and Common alfalfa it obtains from the northwest seed growers' associations. The sample lots of seed undergo comparative tests under the careful observation of college specialists. Michigan produces but very little of the vast volume of alfalfa seed she consumes.

The Farm Bureau takes every precaution to see that the seed it buys outside the state is true to name, adapted, pure, of high germination and otherwise meets Michigan conditions. The bureau deals only with trustworthy associations of growers who stand behind their products. Even so the seed comes from different sections of the northwest country and the production conditions vary somewhat. One question to determine is "What is the best seed for Michigan conditions?"

Tests Tell Story

To answer the above question and also to demonstrate the unfitness of southern grown and most imported alfalfa and clover seeds for Michigan the college has laid out a series of test plots. A sample of every seed shipment the Farm Bureau brings into the state is tested there, ticketed down to the growers name. Sids by side with Idaho Grimm, North Dakota Grimm, Idaho, South Dakota and Utah common, Hardigan Alfalfa (the new Michigan variety), and Michigan and northwest grown clovers are test plots of Arizona, Turkistan, California, French, Italian, Spanish and Peruvian alfalfas and clovers obtained through the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The test has been running one year; so only the weakest strains suffered, for it is the second and third winters that are most trying on alfalfa. May 16 the plots, also the Michigan and northwest grown clover seed plantings were showing high, even, luxuriant and healthy growth. There was almost no winter killing and few foreign plants, such as red clover or sweet clover in the alfalfa.

The Arizona, California, Turkistan, French, Italian and Spanish alfalfas and clovers tell a different story. Even with the mild winter of 1921 they suffered considerable winter killing. Most of the plots were patchy. The California alfalfa looked weak. Peruvian alfalfa, much of which now finds its way north was almost entirely killed out. Absolutely worthless for Michigan.

Adoption is Guaranteed

There is just one way to make sure that one doesn't get any of this questionable seed and that is to buy seed from an organization that guarantees to the full value of the seed that it is Michigan adapted, northern grown, pure, of high germination test—an organization that can give you the name of the grower. Only the Michigan State Farm Bureau seed department makes such a guarantee in Michigan. The Bureau seed department is building its business on the distribution of reliable, clean, quality seed to Michigan farm bureau members. You can rely upon the department.

World Wool Scarcity Pushes Markets Up

Domestic and foreign wool markets added to their strength last week, according to D. W. Williams, manager of the State Farm Bureau's 1922 wool pool. Wool is scarce and the world knows it, said Mr. Williams. May 26, the 1922 pool sold a car of quarter-blood wool at 40 cents a pound f. o. b. Lansing. The Boston quotation on that grade of wool, dated May 20, was 38 cents delivered in Boston. Wool growers association in all parts of the country report a keen demand for wool and considerable pooling by growers.

Last week market interest was centered at San Angelo, Texas, where eastern buyers paid 45 to 50 cents a pound for a large block of Texas wool. Argentine has sold 21,000,000 pounds of crossbred wools. Heavy demands are rapidly reducing the few stocks still available there.

The State Farm Bureau was pooling and grading at local points in Kent, Monticello, and Ottawa counties the week of May 29, advancing 40 per cent to growers. May 29 the 1921 wool pool had mailed 4,980 final cash returns to 1921 poolers. Local banks at the following points received wool pool cash last week for distribution: Charlotte, Dowagiac, Howell, Buchanan, South Lyons, Eau Claire, Plymouth, Lawrence, Holly, Oxford, Martin, Caledonia, Grand Rapids, Coopersville, Greenville, Lakeview, Butternut, Hastings, Delton.

Mrs. Hyers gave the above statement October 5, 1916 and on May 4, 1920, she added: "The cure Doan's brought about in my case has proven permanent."

WOULD ABOLISH RED TAIL LIGHTS

YELLOW LIGHT SUGGESTED AS COLOR TO USE

Railroads Claim Too Many Red Lights Breed Carelessness and Result in Accidents

What is believed to be the first move toward abolishing red colored tail lights for automobiles, is seen in the last issue of the Railway Age. The magazine carries a story in which it is contended that too frequent use of red lights has lessened its value as a danger signal and has directly resulted in many railroad accidents.

The Railway Age cites the experience of a chauffeur, who having followed several automobiles one night for many miles suddenly came to a railroad crossing, and while he saw the red lights at the crossing, subconsciously took it for granted that they were auto lights; he turned to the side to pass the supposed machine, crashed into the crossing gates and was struck by a train.

Deploing the general use of red tail lights as a menace to public safety the article suggests the use of yellow lights. Green is not mentioned, it being implied that this light is used universally by the railroads and would become as conflicting as the red lights, its one redeeming feature being that it is not a danger signal.

While to effect a change in the color of tail lights would require the cooperation of every motor car owner in the United States, it is believed, the article states, that such could be done in less than a year, without the need of sweeping state legislation.

Yellow lights were the author's suggestion to abate the growing menace to red danger signals, but purple rays—as already tested for lighting purposes where diffused light is wanted—have been found to answer the purpose.

Primarily the movement is an outgrowth of the desire of the railroad companies to reduce accidents and their causes and it is their contention that this growing familiarity with red lights has bred carelessness which will grow as the number of automobiles increases each year.

PRIZE WINNING ROAD ESSAY

IN COUNTY GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION CONTEST

On Subject "Why County Should Build Roads of Concrete Rather Than of G. & S. S."

In last week's issue of the Courier announcement was made of the winners in the prize essay contest conducted by the Charlevoix County Good Roads Association. Robert Quigley, student in the Boyne City high school, was awarded the prize, $30.00.

Below will be found a letter written by an official of the roads association, complimenting Mr. Quigley, and following this is the winning essay:

Charlevoix, Mich., June 10, 1922.
Mr. Robert Quigley
Boyne City High School
Dear Sir:

It is with great pleasure and pride that the Charlevoix County Good Roads Association send you their check for the sum of $30.00, the same being in recognition of your having written the best essay from the Charlevoix County High Schools on "Why Charlevoix County Should Build Roads of Concrete rather than of G. & S. S. (Gravel and Soft Stuff)" material.

It is very much appreciated and we trust that you will devote a certain amount of time promulgating the great advantage concrete roads will be in our own, as well as adjacent counties.

Had you mentioned the necessity of good drainage, the saving of road tax by building concrete roads over that of G. & S. S. (Gravel and Soft Stuff) of any type, and the steady and sure advance that the building of good concrete roads bring to all farm values, your essay would have done honor to the United States Road Building and Agricultural Departments in Washington, D. C.

We earnestly wish you success and certainly expect to see your name before many years among the state highway engineers of the United States.

The Charlevoix County Good Road Association was born in 1916, when the United States government gave its first seventy-five million dollars federal aid, with which to build good roads. We were the first county in the state to bond for building good concrete roads, but unfortunately these bonds will be presented to you boys for payment long after the money spent and the roads built of G. & S. S. are worn out.

The Winning Essay
There are three fundamental factors at the basis of highway development and transportation; the wheel, the load and the road. Inventive genius in the application of motive power to the wheel has improved both wheel and vehicle which it conveys. Man by his industry has increased the load, while in certain localities roads remain practically in their primitive state.

Roads at all times should be ready and safe for all kinds of traffic, these must have the properties of rigidity and strength.

Your opinion may be that gravel or asphalt is the desired road, but let me state a test made by the University of California of the pull in pounds per ton of load, over the following roads:

ONLY ONE MORE MONTH OF GRACE

One more month of grace, then every motor car owner will be required to hold a certificate of title to his machine or leave it in the garage until he procures one. They will be required on July 1. Advice concerning the necessity of this has been given out repeatedly, yet comparatively few have given the matter serious attention and indications point to a flood of applications into the office of Secretary of State DeLand during June. Penalty for failure to comply with the law in this direction is fixed at a fine of $25 to $1,000. It is also claimed that parties who sell their automobiles frequently fail to fill in the registration cards, which are returned from Lansing with the notification of license registration and return them to the secretary of state with the data required by the state in event of such sale. These cards must be forwarded to Lansing within 10 days of the sale of the machine and failure to carry out this plan is punishable by a fine of $5 to $50.

Plain surface concrete, lbs. . . . 27.6
Asphalt, lbs. . . . 38.5
Gravel lbs. . . . 78.2
Dirt lbs. . . . 92.0

From the above it is easily seen that concrete is the desired road. A concrete road is a combination of clear sharp sand, crushed stone or pebbles and portland cement mixed with water, the most common proportion being 1:2:4. Concrete should not be mixed or deposited at temperature below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, unless water and aggregates are heated to 60 degrees Fahrenheit and means provided to insure the concrete against freezing during the period of initial set.

The thickness of the road should not be less than seven inches nor less than twenty-four feet in width, for a road less than this width will require gravel on both sides, where if it had been constructed twenty-four feet, it would pay for itself through service in a few years, minus the cost of gravel maintenance. California invested $1,500,000 in thirty miles of roadway known as the Ridge Route. This was an enormous sum, but motor car users saved $0.000 daily and the road paid for itself in two hundred days.

Concrete differs from other roads for they will pay for themselves in time, while others are only a mortgage on the county and community, they are always under the process of maintenance. Concrete wears only (Continued on page eight.)

HAPPILY WED AT NEWAYGO

CEREMONY HELD AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE

Wedding of Ray S. Hamilton and Miss Frances Bohland a Quiet and Informal Affair

Tuesday morning, June 6th, at ten thirty o'clock, Ray S. Hamilton of this city and Miss Frances Bohland of Newaygo were united in marriage. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride in Newaygo, the Rev. C. S. Minot, of the First Baptist Church of Newaygo, officiating.

The single ring service was used, the ceremony being made very impressive throughout by its simplicity and informal nature.

The bride wore a dress of beautiful white organdie, paneled with white grosgrain ribbon and artistically trimmed with sweetheart roses, while the groom was dressed in summer formal. Miss Carolyn Bohland of White Cloud, sister of the bride acted as maid of honor and W. K. Saunders of Chicago was best man.

The house was decorated throughout with roses which added to the beauty of the ceremony. It was a very quiet and informal affair attended only by the families of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends. Among the guests present were Mrs. A. E. Burnham and son, Howard of Newaygo, and the Misses Pearl and Donna Griffith of Grant, Michigan.

Immediately after the ceremony a bountiful dinner was served at the home of the bride. A dinner long to be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to attend. After dinner was served the bride and groom, accompanied by the groom's mother, left at once for Charlevoix, via automobile, where they will spend the summer and make their future home.

The groom is a well known young business man of our city and brings with him a bride whom we can all welcome heartily to our midst.

For the summer Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton at 229 Belvedere Avenue.

Rev. Holden A. Putnam, pastor of the First Congregational church of Ludington, formerly of Charlevoix, and Miss Jane K. Dingman of Pueblo, Colorado, were married Thursday, June 8, at Ludington by Rev. J. A. Mattson of Manistee, an old time friend of Mr. Putnam. The couple are now enjoying a motor trip through the northern part of the state and are visiting friends in Charlevoix.

Rev. Putnam left Charlevoix for Ludington about ten years ago, after occupying the pulpit at the First Congregational church here for a number of years. During his stay here his efforts were rewarded by an increased membership and the forming of friendships that have never been forgotten.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. D. F. MEECH

SUCCUMBS AFTER AN ILLNESS OF A WEEK

Announcement of Death Received (With Profound Sorrow By Friends and Relatives)

Death claimed Mrs. D. F. Meech Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, after an illness of a week. The news of her departure was received with profound sorrow by friends and relatives of the family, who were aware of her serious condition but were in hopes that a change looking toward recovery would take place and the danger point safely passed.

The life of Mrs. Meech was a model one, she being the embodiment of sympathy, love and self-sacrificing charity. Retiring in her nature, unswerving in her duties to her household and loved ones, to those who knew her well she was an unfailing inspiration by the richness of her mind and affections which made her friendship invaluable.

Mrs. Minnie Lewis Meech was born in Palmyra, New York. In her early childhood her parents moved to Whitewater, Wisconsin, where her father, C. C. Lewis, died. In 1871 her mother married John Nicholls, and the families of these two grew up together with ties as strongly united as though of the same blood. In May, 1887, she married Darwin F. Meech, and one child, Mrs. Caro Warren, was born to them. Surviving members of her family are two grand children, Betty and Bobbie Warren, and her sisters, Mrs. Bessie Mason, Mrs. Celia Bridge and Mrs. Mary Paddock, and her brother, Harry Nicholls, besides her husband and daughter.

Not one of her acquaintances but feels a personal share of the grief which her death has caused, not one but finds it hard to reconcile the taking of a beloved one. An admirable character, in the passing of a night, is become a revered memory. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been definitely made, awaiting the arrival of members of the family. It is expected however, burial will take place Saturday.

GARDNER-SHERMAN WEDDING WEDNESDAY

Former Charlevoix Girl Weds Detroit Business Man

Wednesday, June 7, at 3:00 p. m. at the home of the bride's father, R. S. Sherman of Eveline township, occurred the wedding of Vera Sherman, lately of Detroit, to Roy A. Gardner, son of John R. Gardner, also of Detroit. The groom is a telegrapher, employed by the Associated Press company, with offices in Detroit, and the bride has been employed as telegraph operator with the same company.

The bridal couple left immediately on a wedding tour by auto, to be gone about a week. The wedding was performed by Rev. Clarence W. Long of the Congregational church of Charlevoix, and witnessed by about twenty near relatives and friends.

The wedding was performed and lunch served on the lawn under the shade of the old apple tree, with banks of beautiful flowers on every side.

The happy couple have the best wishes of all their friends.

ONAWAY MAN HAS NEW OAT PLAN

Gives Field Top Dressing and Then Rolls it a Second Time

Producing double the average yield of oats is easy, according to Anthony Esh, a farmer of Presque Isle county, who says he is getting 80 bushels per acre every year. Mr. Esh does not plow manure under but, after sowing oats he rolls, thoroughly, puts on a top dressing of manure with a spreader and then rolls again. "I tried both methods on a 20-acre tract one year," he said. "The 10 acres on which the manure was applied before plowing yielded a little less than 40 bushels per acre and the other 10 acres gave 80 bushels per acre. I have had equally as good results when I have applied commercial fertilizer in cases where I did not have sufficient stable manure."

PLANT WILL BE COMPLETED ON TIME

Work Progressing Nicely on New Water Works Extension

Unless seriously delayed by the non-arrival of necessary materials for the building of Charlevoix's new water works plant, the project will be completed and water from the new galleries turned into the city mains prior to the terms of the contract.

The lower half of the receiving well, made of reinforced concrete, has been built, trenches for the filtering galleries, four hundred and seventy-five feet long are dug, and with the arrival of the steam dredge and piling, the work will be rapidly going forward.

The new combination pump, purchased from the Manistee Iron Works, has arrived and was unloaded last week, and is now on the grounds ready for installation.

E. B. Ward is superintending the construction work, and R. A. White, engineer, representing the firm of Hunt, Hoad & Decker of Ann Arbor, is looking after the technical part of the construction.

Charlevoix's new water supply station and equipment will have no equal in northern Michigan when completed, both in regards to construction, capacity and purity of water.

FAIR CROP OF FRUIT IN STATE

REPORTS INDICATE JUNE YIELD CLOSE TO NORMAL

Total Production of Apples Is Expected to Be About Ten Million Bushels

All fruit crops in Michigan give promise of large production but slightly under the average, according to the June 1, estimate issued last week by Verne H. Church, crop statistician, and J. A. Döelle, commissioner of agriculture.

Apple prospects vary widely between different localities, ranging from about 50 per cent up to a full crop. Early varieties and some winter varieties have set good crops. Baldwins bloomed very little and will be a light crop in many orchards. Spies bloomed more freely but are reported as setting rather tightly. Present prospects indicate a crop of 80 per cent, although it is too early to determine what portion of the set will remain on the trees. If the present outlook were maintained the crop would aggregate 10,070,000 bushels. A condition of 78 per cent is the average of the several hundred reports received on peaches and indicates an approximate production of 1,076,000 bushels. Leaf curl has been quite prevalent in portions of southwestern counties and the buds were killed in some orchards by freezing during the winter.

A pear crop of 573,000 bushels is indicated from the present condition of 88 per cent. Berries, the leading county in production, reports 87 per cent of a crop.

Cherries: Trees bloomed heavily but did not set as well as expected and the fruit in many orchards was dropping at the time of report. Many growers stated that the condition was uncertain at that date. The average condition reported is 72 per cent. Grand Traverse county's report is 10 per cent above the state average.

In other fruits, plums show a condition of 82 per cent; grapes, 92 per cent; strawberries, 90 per cent; blackberries and raspberries, 90 per cent.

SHUT-OUT BALL FOR 17 INNINGS

CHARLEVOIX LOSES OPENING GAME OF LEAGUE SEASON

Combination of Errors is Severe—teeth Lining Allow Visitors Four Runs—Big Attendance

Pitching shut-out ball for seventeen innings, Pat O'Hara, in the box for Charlevoix's representatives in the Northern Michigan Amateur League, lost the opening game through a combination of errors by his supports, the final score being 7 to 3.

Twenty-six strike-outs, only one pass, six hits and no earned runs by his opponents shows how effective O'Hara was pitching.

In the last four innings the sun shining in the catcher's and batter's eyes, placed them at a disadvantage. The game was the longest ever played in Charlevoix, and set a record for the league. Outside of O'Hara's brilliant pitching the playing of Hanna at third, Boak's catching and Cobble Burden's hitting were the features of the game. Cobble making three successive doubles and Hanna a home run.

For the visitors, King behind the bat and Mitchell at first, played star games, and Colby's pitching was the best he has ever shown in his many seasons at the game. He passed but two men, one of these intentionally.

While the loss of the first and opening game was somewhat a disappointment to both fans and players, every one of the seven hundred people present were well satisfied that with new players in some of the positions, Charlevoix will be able to compete with the best teams in the league.

The local team plays in East Jordan Sunday, and the following Sunday meets Gaylord here.

Other Games Played

Other league games were played and won as follows:
Boyne City 6, East Jordan 1, at Boyne City. Batteries—Boyne City, West and Bradley; East Jordan, Johnson and Conrad.

Mancelona 3, Gaylord 1, at Mancelona. Batteries—Mancelona, Chilson and Barber; Gaylord, Fluelling and Ogden.

COUNCIL PASSED ANNUAL BUDGET

Tax Rate for 1922 Fourteen and One-half Mills

Charlevoix's city tax rate for 1922 will amount to fourteen and one-half mills on each one thousand assessed valuation. The annual appropriation budget was passed at the regular meeting Monday evening of the council.

Of this amount, eleven and one-half mills will be used for general running expenses of the city, and three mills for the sinking fund to be used only for the payment of the city's bonded indebtedness.

The amount to be raised is one mill per thousand valuation less than last year, the rate for 1921 being fifteen and one-half mills.

Charlevoix's tax payers must bear in mind that if public improvements are made, such as water and sewer extensions, there can be no appreciable reduction in taxes, despite the fact that the city's assessed valuation has been raised some $839,000. However, the cut of one mill was made possible for this reason.

PYTHIANS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEPARTED MEMBERS

Services Held in Pythian Temple
Followed by Decoration
Of Graves

And my friends, let us not forget our Brothers, who during the terrible war in Europe, died that America might live. 'Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend.' And let me add, 'for his country.' Some seventy Pythians from Michigan made the supreme sacrifice that democracy might not perish from the earth. We were all crazy with joy at the victory which they helped to win, but joy at the victory blends with tears. There's a break in our voice despite our cheers.

For some of our Brothers will not return.

For their cheery smile sad hearts will yearn.

They sleep in a soldiers grave in France.

Their glory, no words of ours can enhance.

They died that bloody wars might cease.

And the world forever might live in peace.

Their names we'll inscribe in letters of gold.

And our love for them shall never grow cold.

Hats off, my friends, to our Pythian dead.

Asleep in France in a soldier's bed.

And there is another who sleeps the peaceful sleep beneath a Pythian monument in the Empire State. No deeds of valor or of high emprise were his. And yet, the good he did will live long after monuments of stone have crumbled into dust. He was a Michigan boy some sixty years ago, and lived among the pine-clad cliffs of Keweenaw Point, on the shores of Lake Superior. While teaching school at Eagle Harbor he received the inspiration that materialized a few years later in the foundation of this great fraternity—a fraternity destined to endure throughout all time, and to make dear to the hearts of a million now living, and of millions yet to come, the principles of Friendship, Charity, and Benevolence. The world builds monuments of stone to the great generals who excel in arts of war, but to the man who gave the world a great impetus toward universal brotherhood, we build a more enduring monument of living flesh and blood, in every Pythian knighted at our altars. And as for me, I would rather be Justus H. Rethbone, the founder of our Order, with his living, breathing monuments, a daily, hourly testimonial to a work well done, than the greatest conqueror of history, with his bloody deeds emblazoned on monuments of inarticulate marble.

The only thing that walks back with the mourners from the tomb and refuses to be buried, is character. What a man is, survives him. It never can be buried. It stays about the home when his footsteps are heard there no more. It lives in the community where he was known. Hence we should have a care to build into our character only beautiful things. My brothers, let us honor the memory of all whom I have mentioned here, and let us honor ourselves, by living true Pythian lives, for thus will we build up a character that shall be an influence for good, long after we have gone beyond.

It is a sweet and beautiful thing, these ceremonies in honor of our departed friends—and while we take a sad delight in calling back to mind their good deeds and their virtues, let us not forget our duty to our living friends. In the hurry and hustle of these too strenuous twentieth century days, we oft forget to say the little things that should be said, and to do the little things that should be done. Too many times we put them off, until alas it is too late, and tears of vain regret end

BRACE UP

Do you feel old before your time? Is your back bent and stiff? Do you suffer urinary disorders? Don't despair—profit by Charlevoix experience. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's a Charlevoix resident's statement. Hubert Ackert, mason, 107 W. Garfield Ave., says: "There was a constant ache in the small of my back and nights I couldn't get any sleep. My kidneys were sluggish in action and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Metcalf's Drug Store and they fixed me up in fine shape. I haven't had any trouble since Doan's cured me." 80c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

fragrant flowers are all that we can give our sleeping friends. I beg of you, do not postpone your kindly acts and generous deeds too long. We do not know how soon our dearest friend may go beyond. Our own lease of life may be cut short within a moments time. We pass this way but once. Let us sweeten our path with the flowers of love. Kind words cost nothing. Generous deeds will live, long after we have passed away. The fragrant flowers that we strew upon the casket of our dead, may be a token of a love too long repressed. Keep not your roses and your lilies until it is too late. Hoard not your love until it rusts the hinges of your heart.

One rosebud to the living, a smile, a kind word said,

Is worth a ton of roses, at the funeral of the dead.

Let us take our Pythianism and our Pythian teachings into our daily lives.

If we can say a kindly word of praise or appreciation of a friend let us say it now while ear can hear and heart heat quicker in response.

The plaint of the poet is too often true:

If I should die, how kindly you all would grow,

In that strange hour I would not have one foe.

There are no words too beautiful to say.

Of one who goes forevermore away,

Across the ebbing tide that has no flow.

Ah, friends, before my listening ear lies low,

While I can hear and understand, bestow

That gentle treatment and fond love, I pray;

The luster of whose late though radiant way,

Would gild my tomb with mocking light I know—If I should die.

Let us say the kind words and do the generous deeds to-day. Tomorrow it may be too late. Let us carry our flowers to the living as well as the dead. Our living friends will bless us for the fragrance we bring into their lives. Our friends above, I have no doubt will look down and thank us with a smile.

But their troubles now are o'er, and in a land where flowers bloom eternally, they do not need the fragrant offerings of our love, as do our living friends.

In speaking of the world to come, I love to think of it as the borderland so near our shores, that it is but a step across the River of Sleep, to that new land where pain and sorrow and suffering are no more.

To me, the dear ones who have gone before, are only travelers on a journey that I, too, soon must take. And so let us think of those dear friends whose memory we honor here to-day. They are but pioneers to blaze the way; the pilots, to aid us to that better brighter land. Let us emulate their virtues, that we may prove worthy of companionship with those who have but transferred to a Grandeur Jurisdiction than that of ours, but who still are living, in a land that lies but just beyond.

"It seemeth such a little way to me Across to that strange country—the Beyond;

And yet, not strange, for it has grown to be

The home of those of whom I am most fond.

They make it seem familiar and most dear,

As journeying friends bring distant regions near.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread,

When from this dear earth I shall journey out

To that still dearer country of the dead,

And join the lost ones, so long dreamed about.

I love this world, yet shall I love to go

And meet the friends who wait for me, I know."

I never stand above a bier end see

The seal of death set on some well loved face

But that, I think, "One more to welcome me

When I shall cross the intervening space

Between this land and that one "over there;"

One more to make the strange beyond seem fair.

And so for me there is no sting to death,

And so the grave has lost its victory.

It is but crossing—with a bated breath

And white, set face—a little strip of sea

To find the loved ones waiting on the shore,

More beautiful, more precious than before."

Labor Unions are an Institution
A feature of the growth of our large industrial institutions has been the melting together of labor groups into unions. The old policy of "firing" a man has passed, and to-day millions of American workmen carry on their negotiations with their employers through their leaders, thus giving them representation in groups. During the war the government gave full recognition to labor unions, and in the handling of the affairs of railroad operators the railroad owners and the government have dealt with the unions, or "brotherhoods," as they are called. All will admit that the system is proving satisfactory.

A decision by the United States Supreme Court holds that labor unions are an institution. Originally the unions were a sort of society or a band of workmen grouped together for a common purpose. But if this was once the case, it is no longer so. In deciding the celebrated Coronado coal case the Supreme Court held that labor organizations, although unincorporated, are amenable to the Sherman anti-trust act, and that under it such organizations may be prosecuted for restraint of interstate commerce. The Court also held that labor unions are subservient. Chief Justice Taft announced the decision for the full bench, and there was no dissent.

The Price of Gasoline
"Gas" sold for practically half the price six or eight years ago that it brings today. There is an old joke that gas goes up a cent a gallon every time the Rockefeller family announce another benefaction. According to that the Rockefellers must have been very generous in giving away their money during recent years, because in places where gas sold for from 12 to 16 cents before the war the price is now around 28 cents.

There is such a strong suspicion that there is profiteering in gasoline that the United States Senate is going to investigate the situation. Reports from the Geological Survey show that the stocks of gasoline on hand have been yare and that the production has been amply sufficient. During the war the stocks were constantly depleted and the production was insufficient to meet the demands. At one time the users of fuel oil had a hard time to get their supplies. The results were particularly disastrous to the manufacturers of illuminating gas. While this condition existed the prices kept going up gradually until a figure but little above the customary price of today was reached. But there has been but little price reduction; and in consequence the Senate is turning loose the anti-trust cyclone, Senator LaFollette, as its chief investigator.

Plenty of Gas
The daily average consumption of gas in the United States in 1921 was 12,375,638 gallons. The average production for the same period was 14,119,313 gallons. For the first quarter of 1922 the daily average consumption dropped to 10,289,441, but this falling off is explained by the fact that the demand for gas is somewhat seasonal, the winter months being light. However, the production did not lessen, and the figures show that there was an excess of production over consumption, for the same period, amounting to nearly 3,000,000 gallons a day. The Bureau of Mines also keeps statistics about gasoline, and their figures show that on March 1, the stock on hand in the United States was 854,000,000 gallons, which was a greater supply than ever before in the history of the industry.

The Senate Manufacturers Committee has these figures, and they have been discussed somewhat in the Senate. The committee will seek an explanation from oil producers and dealers for the continued high price of gasoline, and they will inquire into the possibilities of a collusion and conspiracy having been effected that has resulted in boosting the price of gasoline, and keeping up the price. According to the best information that is given out through the government agencies an increase of a cent a gallon on the price of gasoline means a tax of $50,000,000 a year upon the American people.

Fiddling With Ford
Anyone who has followed the up-building of the war plants at Muscle Shoals knows that the completion and operation of these projects promises a real industrial rejuvenation of the south. There seems to be no question in the mind of anybody about the desirability of the Government finishing the project. But instead of going ahead and doing it Congress plays with the political situation that has developed by reason of the Ford offer. In the meantime nothing is being done to place Muscle Shoals in condition so that the Government, or anybody else, can make it an asset to the south. Mr. Ford's offer provides that the Government shall complete the Wilson Dam and the rest of the plant, and his interjecting himself into the proposition has had no real effect upon the situation except to tie up the work and prevent congress from going ahead with the completion of this most important industrial enterprise.

The Economical Contest
The railroads uttered a piercing yell of protest when huge reductions in freight rates were recently ordered. There followed a reduction of wages of thousands of railroad employees—and there was immediately another yell accompanied by threats of a strike. Then ensued quiet! The whole transaction is only another chapter in the economic contest that is designed to lower all values. The same method that shows up so conspicuously in the railroad situation is operating in every other phase of economic life. By its progress we trace the reason for cheaper clothing, cheaper food, and reduction in most of our expenses. It is the process which President Harding refers to as "normalcy."

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"Cultivating Contentment," Phil 4:10-20, is the topic for June 18. Beulah Schweitzer will lead. Happiness comes through things that happen to us. It is dependent upon circumstances and is easily disturbed. Contentment is a condition of mind. It is not dependent upon external conditions although they may help or hinder.

Happiness or contentment, which is yours?
"My crown is in my heart, not on my head."

Nor decked with Indian gems;
My crown is called content;
A crown it is that seldom kings enjoy."

Be on hand Sunday evening at 6:30.
Last Sunday evening we had a very interesting meeting on "Team work: Helps and Hindrances." If you are beginning to get out of the habit of coming, be sure to come next Sunday and every Sunday after. We miss you when you are absent. If we are to have true team-work, we need you and your help.

Are you a help or a hindrance?
On June 2, the Christian Endeavor, Epworth League and B. Y. P. U. had a very pleasant evening together. About sixty were present.

On June 20 the B. Y. P. U. will serve a supper at the usual supper hours from 5 to 7 o'clock. The B. Y. P. U. is giving this supper for the purpose of raising money to send delegates to the Kalamazoo Summer Assembly at Kalamazoo College. Come, get a big supper, and by doing so, help us.

Chippewa to Run

The Arnold line steamer Chippewa which has been out of commission since a year ago last September, is now being fitted out at Mackinac Island by Captain Duncan McGregor who will sail her this season. It is understood that the Chippewa will take place of the steamer Islander on the Mackinac Island and Les Cheneaux route during the tourist season and on Sundays will extend her trip to Cheboygan possibly carrying excursions out of Cheboygan, during the summer.

Bumper Cherry Crop

Traverse City cherry growers have published predictions that the probabilities are that the cherry crop will not be more than sixty per cent of an average crop. It looks as if they were manipulating the market. In this neck of the woods indications are that the crop will be about normal. We never saw the trees carrying such a load of fruit as is the case around here. If anyone doubts our statement we ask them to pay a visit to the cherry orchard of James Dean. There they will find the trees seemingly overloaded with perfect half developed fruit, with leaves as glossy as in early spring. He has six hundred cherry trees.—Elk Rapids Progress.

AT THE MOVIES

D. W. Griffith's picturization of "Way Down East," based on the stage play by Lottie Blair Parker, which for the past twenty-two years was one of the rural classics of the American theatre, will be presented at the Palace Theatre on June 23 for three days with the following cast: Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Creighton Hale, Mrs. Morgan Belmont, Kate Bruce, Edgar Nelson, George Neville, Viva Ogden, Porter Strong, Josephine Bernard, Mrs. David Landau, Patricia Fruen, Florence Short, Emily Fitzroy and Myrtle Sutch.

Mr. Griffith's production of "Way Down East" represents ten months' work of the most exacting character, for in his screen version of the story he has endeavored to follow closely the narrative of the stage play, with here and there a digression for the purpose of dramatic value or elaboration.

"Way Down East" is the biggest production Mr. Griffith has made. Several Griffith innovations are promised, including a thrilling snow-storm and a genuine New England ice break on the river.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

By
B. O. Hagerman

Wool is hard to get and the price is still going up.

Many local buyers have not yet heard that Michigan delaine wool is quoted at 51 cents a pound f. o. b. Lansing, and that rejects have been sold by the pool at 33 cents f. o. b. Lansing.

Wool consumers are still scrambling for wool. South American stocks have been cleaned up and comparatively little is coming into this country from overseas. Foreign countries report a tight market situation.

According to the May business conditions report of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank the price paid many producers is about 100 per cent better than in April 1921. The tariff situation, scarcity of good grade of wool, advancing foreign markets and recent improvements in the woolen industry are factors that are adding strength to the market, the Reserve Bank report said.

Last week Michigan wool was worth as follows, f. o. b. Lansing: Delaine, 51c; Fine clothing, 46c; Half staple, 45c; 3-8 Combing, 43-44c; 3-8 Clothing, 40c; 1-4 Combing, 40c; 1-4 Clothing, 38c; 1-4 Low and braid, 34c; Rejects, 33c.

The wool grading date for Charlevoix County will be July 5th, at the Charlevoix Co-Operative Association building, at Charlevoix. A 40 per cent advance of estimated value will be made that day.

Final settlement on all 1921 checks is expected to be made within the next ten days.

Don't sell your wool at reject prices.

Harvesting Sweet Clover for Hay

The stage of growth at which sweet clover is cut determines very largely the quality of hay secured. Sweet Clover Should Be Cut Just Before the Blossom Buds Appear. If allowed to come into bloom, stems become woody, the leaves fall off and a very poor quality of hay results.

The height of cutting is very important. The second year sweet clover does not propagate from a crown as does alfalfa, but propagates from buds in the axils of the branches and leaves on the lower portion of the stalk. If the first cutting of the second year is made below the young branches, which bear the leaves, the stand will be destroyed and the second crop will not be secured. Tests show that the best height is from six to eight inches high.

Curing Sweet Clover Hay

Sweet clover is more difficult to cure into hay than either alfalfa or red clover. This is largely due to the large amount of moisture contained within the plant at the time of cutting, causing the shattering of the leaves from the stems before the stems have cured out.

One of the most successful methods of curing sweet clover hay is to allow the plants to wilt in the swath, then windrow with a side delivery hay rake and a few hours later place in small upright cocks. The hay should be in cocks before the leaves have dried out sufficiently to crumble or shatter. The hay is then left in the cock until cured sufficiently to put into the barn or stack. This may be only two or three days or may be two weeks depending upon weather conditions. The small cocks may be handled with practically no loss of leaf.

Everybody should have a hobby but he need not ride it in the public square.

1-16 of an inch every three and one-half years.

Concrete roads have great reserve strength. In Bellefontaine, Ohio, concrete roads laid in 1893 are still in good condition, having outlived a gravel road ten times and maintained at one tenth the cost.

The annual upkeep of a twenty-four foot road is $50 to $100 per mile, age apparently making concrete only a matter of history; the old being as good as the new.

Some farmers complain of the roads. They do not wish to put a good road through, paying out daily and getting nothing when they can pay yearly and have a good road.

Following is a fuel consumption test made by five two-ton trucks at Cleveland:

Plain surface concrete, mi. per gal.	11.78
Brick pavement, mi. per gal.	9.88
Bituminous macadam, mi. per gal.	9.48
Gravel, mi. per gal.	9.39
Dirt, mi. per gal.	5.78

Bridges should also be made of reinforced concrete instead of wood. Tests made by the C. B. & Q. R. R. proved concrete to increase strength when in water, while wooden structures rot and are destroyed by marine borers, wasting time and money for maintenance. Also considering that steel and iron corrode and rust in water, concrete is the best investment.

After construction they need to be maintained, but only by expert engineers as it is one of the easiest ways to waste money. Just what to do to a road in certain stages of deterioration is a difficult problem even for experienced engineers to determine.

What will our county use? Concrete that helps social life and business, or the primitive dirt roads decreasing the value and beauty of our community.

BOYNE VALLEY VOTES TO CONSOLIDATE

Proposition Carries at Election Held June 5

At the election held in Boyne Falls on Monday, June 5, to determine if the schools of Boyne Valley township should be organized into a single school district, the proposition received a sufficient number of favorable votes and will go into effect at the beginning of the next term.

This will mean an enrollment of about two hundred twenty five students for the Boyne Falls school, and the children from the outlying territory will be brought to the centrally located schools in seven busses.

The schools will be organized into twelve grades, from the kindergarten to the fifth grade will be taught in the Catholic school building which has been leased for the purpose, the higher grades will be in the new brick building which will serve as the high school.

As a twelve grade school the newly consolidated organization will be entitled to $1,000.00 yearly as State aid, and $400.00 per year on each bus kept in operation. The new plan is expected to prove highly satisfactory both from a standpoint of economy and efficiency.

WINNER OF SECOND PRIZE

IN CONTEST FOR BEST ESSAY ON CONCRETE ROADS

Hugh Mayne Says Traffic in Charlevoix County Demands Roads Built of Concrete

Hugh Mayne, student of Charlevoix High School and winner of second prize in the county good roads essay contest, brings out many good points on road building, especially along lines of permanency. He says, and his statement is true, that the initial expense of building concrete roads is more, but figuring their lasting quality and the small expense of upkeep, they are the cheapest in the end. His essay, and the letter received from officials of the county association follows:

Charlevoix, Mich., June 10, 1922

Mr. Hugh Mayne
Charlevoix, High School
Charlevoix County, Mich.
Dear Sir:

It is with great pleasure and pride that the Charlevoix County Good Road Association send you your check for the sum of $20, the same being in recognition of your having written the second best essay from Charlevoix County High Schools on "Why should Charlevoix County build G. C. R. (Good Concrete Roads) rather than C. & S. S. (Gravel and Soft Stuff) Material."

And you shown the fact that the raise in values and the great saving in road tax would be forthcoming by building good concrete roads instead of gravel and soft stuff, you might have secured the first prize, but you have shown sufficient intelligence in this subject for us to suggest that you take an engineering course in road building.

Road building is becoming a national business and it will run into billions of dollars a year in the future. Every state, county, township, and all cities and villages need good concrete roads, but do not be set up in your mind that you will not be susceptible to any other type of road material, (should such a thing be discovered) and fail to endorse it.

What we want for all time is a road that will last for all time. Concrete is the only thing now, but chemistry may discover something as good or better. We live in the advancing age and predict that you will advance with it.

Second Prize Essay

Charlevoix County being a resort and agricultural region, should have roads of best material. I believe that the best road material is concrete. If the county is to keep their summer visitors here they must furnish them with roads to travel on as well as to furnish them with pure water and abundant electricity.

First let us take into consideration the farmers of the county because they are making their permanent home for the purpose of making a living. During the late fall the majority of farmers have had a great deal of heavy hauling to do. The hauling of sugar beets, which is done in the late part of the fall when we are having our fall rains will cut thru the dirt and gravel roads no matter how much time is spent in repair. With this kind of road a farmer can haul only half as large a load as on concrete roads and besides it takes more out of the horse than hauling a full load on concrete.

Second, let us take into consideration the hundreds of tourists from all parts of the United States who visit Charlevoix and the immediate

CITY WATER TO BE TURNED OFF

The water in all mains in the city will be entirely turned off at 7:00 p. m., Thursday evening, June 22, and will probably be off the remainder of the night.

The shutting off of the water is caused by the installation of new valves in the mains near the plant, this being a part of the work in connection with the construction of the new water extension.

Every housewife in the city should prepare for this shut-off period. Fill enough receptacles to last at least 12 hours. While the repairs may not take this length of time, it is far better to have plenty of water on hand than to find yourselves without any.

Remember the hour of shutting off and prepare yourself for the short drouth.

vicinity. When people go out for pleasure in automobiles they do not want to go bumping along over a gravel and dirt road, and when it rains, the ploughing thru the mud up to the axles. While the tarvia road holds up for a few years it is constantly in need of repair. The holes which are worn in tarvia roads are not large, but the edges are sharp and a motorist who goes over and hits these sharp edges is very likely to ruin a tire. Gravel and Tarvia cannot hold up Puckards and Pierce Arrows that go thru the country not less than forty miles an hour.

Which will be cheaper in the long run, concrete or gravel roads? The cost of constructing one mile of concrete road nine feet wide and eight inches thick is seventeen thousand four hundred dollars, while the cost of gravel roads is thirteen thousand five hundred dollars; a saving of four thousand dollars in construction.

The concrete pavement on Dixon Avenue, Charlevoix, has been built twelve years with a total wear of three thirty-seconds of an inch. At this rate of wear it would take 128 years to wear it down one inch or over one thousand years to wear out an eight inch road. The streets of Charlevoix built of tarvia have had to be rebuilt twice at the cost of fifteen thousand dollars a mile, or the total construction cost of thirty thousand dollars a mile. Each spring the streets have to be resurfaced.

All the usual features of a Fourth of July celebration have been included and some features which will be new. There will be street and water sports, two big base ball games, two bands, free coffee at noon hour, a big street parade and at night the most wonderful fire works display ever shot off in northern Michigan.

The main business blocks in the city will be roped off. It is planned to import shade trees for the day on these blocks. The pavement will be given a good bath. Sets will be provided under the shade and everything done to provide for the comfort of the city's guests.

STATE'S RESORTS TO BE INSPECTED

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH TO START LATE IN JUNE

All Cities to Be Investigated and Placed in Four Classes—
Have Portable Laboratory

Final preparations for an open and Co-operative inspection of Michigan summer resorts by officials of the state health department have been made and it is expected that an assistant engineer will leave Lansing during the last week in June in charge of the laboratory truck on the annual tour. The route will extend northward to Mackinaw and thence along the eastern side of the state.

All resorts inspected by the "portable laboratory" during the coming season will be placed in one of four classes; excellent, satisfactory, dangerous or unsafe, and the names of the resorts and responsible officers together with its health classification will be published, Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, announces.

Classifications will be based on the water, milk and food supplies, sewage and garbage disposal, housing conditions, bathing beach sanitation, drainage and mosquito control, neatness and general appearance of the grounds. In 1921 the health department representatives discovered in many resorts an absence of food and milk control, inadequate sewage and garbage disposal, and stream and lake pollution. Proprietors were warned and ordered to improve conditions.

"Resort sanitation as conducted by the Michigan Department of Health does not consist necessarily of mere inspection of garbage cans and the prying into nuisances, Dr. Olin said. "It consists of carrying on in the field the functions of the department," he added.

All laboratory examinations are made free of charge by the laboratory bureau. Reports of the findings will be made to Dr. Olin at the close of the inspection tour and advice and recommendations will be meted out accordingly by the department.

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT IN POLITICAL CONTEST

Fred J. Coon of Charlevoix a Candidate for Sheriff

Prospective candidates for county offices, at the September 12 primary who have been pussy-footing and hanging off in making announcement for the office they seek, will probably come from under cover within the next few days and give the voting public an opportunity to give them the once-over. All, and we are of the opinion there are many, seem to have been waiting for the "other fellow" to announce himself.

Fred J. Coon of Charlevoix, is out of the office of sheriff. His announcement will appear in all county newspapers this week. This will be Mr. Coon's maiden break into the political arena. However, the duties of being sheriff are not new to him, as he has held the position of deputy sheriff and turn-key for about eight years, and from all we can learn, has been a very efficient officer. He asks the support of the voters of the county, and states that if nominated and elected, will attend to his duty and see that the law is enforced.

Now that the "ice is broken," our readers can look for further announcement of candidates for the numerous offices to be filled at the November election.

Charlevoix won from East Jordan Sunday at East Jordan, by a score of six to three in an eleven inning contest, the second extra inning game of the season, having gone seventeen rounds with Petoskey the previous Sunday.

The game was a pitchers' battle from start to finish between Johnson for East Jordan and Pat O'Hara for Charlevoix. Neither pitcher allowed any more than a single off his delivery, and were at no time in trouble, except through faulty support.

Willis, batting as pinch hitter in the eighth, started a rally with a single and again in the eleventh drove in two runs with a timely single. Charlevoix plays Gaylord on the home grounds Sunday and a record crowd is expected. The following Sunday the team plays at Harbor Springs and on the Fourth of July, meet East Jordan again at East Jordan.

Other games played by Northern Michigan League teams are as follows:

Boyer City, 7; Caylord 4, at Caylord.

Harbor Springs 11; Mancelona, 9, at Harbor Springs.

Petoskey, 5; Pellston, 3, at Petoskey.

DAMAGE FOLLOWS FRIDAY'S RAINSTORM

Heavy Downpour of Rain Washes
Out Crops and Roads

Charlevoix and vicinity was visited Friday evening between six and eight o'clock with a severe wind and rain storm which resulted in considerable damage to growing crops and country roads.

Shortly after seven o'clock the wind changed from the north east to the south west, and for half an hour blew a hurricane, while the rain came down in sheets for at least an hour.

In many sections crops were washed out, especially on hillsides. Fruit trees were blown down and windows in houses broken and doors from barns blown off. Several instances have been reported where the smaller out-buildings were leveled to the ground.

The city's Bellairs transmission lines were put out of business shortly after seven o'clock, three poles being blown down and a tree blown across the lines.

NEW POWER PLANT SHOWS EFFICIENCY

Single Unit Carries City Load Friday Night

Charlevoix's new electric power plant showed its real worth and efficiency Friday night of last week, when the terrific wind and rain storm put the Bellairs transmission line out of business.

The storm reached its height shortly after seven o'clock, and the high wind blew down three poles and at another place a huge tree was uprooted and blown across the lines, completely cutting the city off from its source of supply.

Fortunately during the day city employees had been testing out the equipment at the new plant, and had banked the fires under the boilers. Within fifteen minutes after the lights went out, a single unit at the new power plant took over the load and carried it until about nine o'clock the following day. And only the smaller boiler was under steam but proved to have sufficient capacity to carry the entire load.

In an interview with C. N. Wood, chairman of the electric light committee, he stated that in the future banked fires will be kept under at least one of the boilers during a storm, and if the Bellairs transmission line is put out of commission by the elements, the load can be taken over by the local steam plant.

DIAMOND ROBBERY STIRS PETOSKEY

Stones Valued at $1,200 Stolen from Indiana Girl

A diamond robbery at the Braun Hotel, Petoskey, Friday afternoon, which involved the loss of three rings valued at $1,200, has stirred the police department and aroused interest and investigation at the Petoskey postoffice.

The loser is Miss Roxie Dillon, pretty, 21-year-old summer visitor from Logansport, Ind., who passes all her summer vacations in Petoskey, and this season decided to pay her way by waiting table at the Braun instead of being a mere guest.

One of the rings is a cluster and is worth $1,000. It was given to Miss Dillon as a joint remembrance from her father and two uncles. The others were solitaires.

Miss Dillon, who felt that wearing such expensive adornments while in such a lowly occupation, would be out of place, kept the gems in a tiny leather pocketbook fastened under the lining of her vanity case. Friday afternoon she set the case on the safe in the corner of the dining room while she performed her duties, and later, when she went to the postoffice, she forgot about them until her return. A look into the box revealed that the lining had been torn and that the little pocketbook containing the rings had vanished.

Leaves the Linda Vista
Mrs. Belle Thornton Dick of Louisville, Kentucky, has leased the Linda Vista dining hall of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Saunders, and will conduct it during the summer months. Changes have been made that have greatly improved the appearance of the hall, making it about the most attractive place of its kind in the city.

Announcement

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate at the September 12 primary for the office of sheriff of Charlevoix county. Having served eight years as deputy sheriff and turnkey, I believe my services and experience has been such that fully qualifies me for the position of sheriff, if elected. With this experience behind me, I ask your support at the primary.

The untiring work of Mrs. Cora Willis not only in the school but in the church, is highly appreciated by the parents, and everyone in Norwood and vicinity. Lack of thorough instruction by former teachers made it doubly hard for Mrs. Willis, but by diligent work she mastered the situation and the splendid instruction she gave the children is entirely satisfactory to all. Mrs. Willis created influence to bring about the reorganization of the Sunday school. Will some one kindly volunteer to take Mrs. Willis' place and keep up the much needed Sunday school. On Friday night, June 16th, all of the pupils and their parents gathered at the town hall to extend their good will and best wishes to Mrs. Willis, and a splendid pot-luck dinner was enjoyed by all. A BUSINESS COUPE OF STEEL

Dodge Brothers offer to the business public of America an entirely new principle in Coupe body construction.

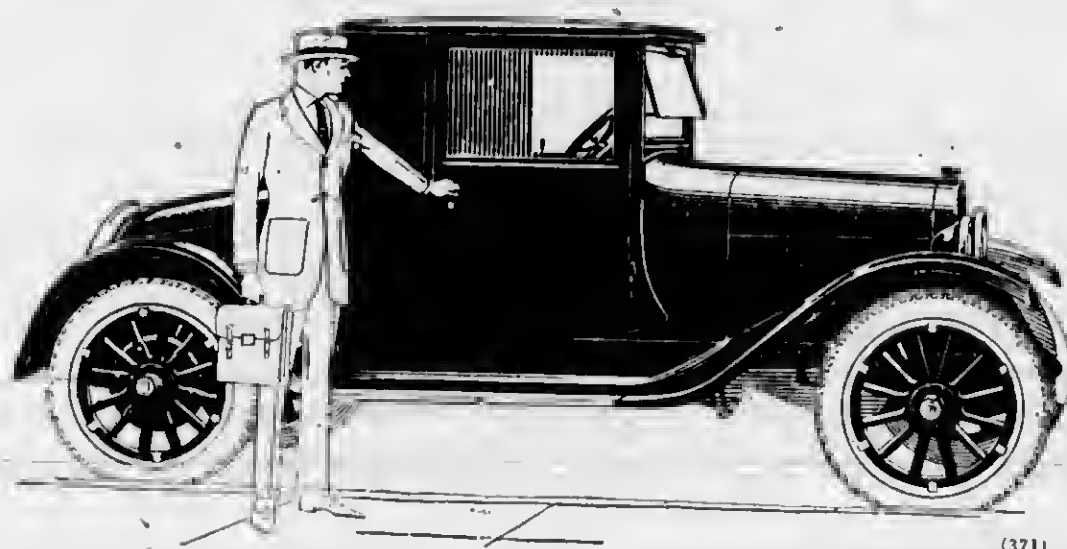

From framework to window mouldings the body is built of steel. It is the first all-steel closed car ever marketed. This design anticipates every possible requirement of commercial travel. It insures unusual quietness—unusual grace—unusual stamina. It has made it possible to give the Coupe that same lustrous baked-on enamel finish for which Dodge Brothers open cars have long been famous.

The upholstery is of genuine leather—leather that will wash and wear. The seat is wide and comfortable. Carrying compartments are accessible and spacious. The car is equipped with a heater, dome light, window levers, windshield cleaner, cord tires, Yale door locks, and every other appointment necessary to the owner's comfort and protection.

Built inside and out to withstand the wear and tear of everyday use, it retains the same lightness and beauty of line which you are accustomed to look for in Dodge Brothers cars.

It is the Business Coupe which business people the world over have been expecting—from Dodge Brothers.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

A Row in the Administration

It was the original policy of the United States government to vest the control of the public lands in the Department of the Interior. Secretary Fall of that department, has asked for the transfer of the Forest Service from the Department of Agriculture to the Interior Department. There are 120,000,000 acres of minerals and timber lands in the Forest Service, and the Department of Agriculture boasts of the fact that this service pays into the United States treasury nearly $3,000,000 annually. The Department of the Interior is chided because it has no appreciable revenue from the handling of public lands.

President Harding has indicated that he approves of the transfer of the Forest Service to the Interior Department. The Secretary of Agriculture has been threatening to resign if this "indignity" is placed upon him. It has also been reported time and again that the Secretary of the Interior is chided because it has no done. These gentlemen, Messrs. Fall and Wallace have many supporters, and considerable of a political issue has been made out of the controversy. The fact that this is one of the biggest matters that was contemplated in the readjustment of government bureaus in connection with the plan of the administration put into effect when the budget system was adopted, appears to have been lost sight of. One would suppose from the reading of the daily press reports that nothing was involved except the personal feelings of the cabinet officers. It is believed that the President is looking at the matter wholly from the point of view of obtaining the best results in the manner of administration irrespective of the personal feelings of his cabinet ministers. But congress is not so liberal, and the debates bristle with charges and counter charges about attempts to "steal the natural resources of the country," "manipulation"—even "graft."

Locking Up Natural Resources

Secretary of the Interior, Fall, has been accused by careless politicians and writers of being unfaithful to his trust, because of the leases of naval oil reserves, and an investigation has been started in the senate. Inasmuch as it will proceed under the direction of Senator LaFollette it is certain that the "worst will out." President Harding has endorsed the action of Mr. Fall, and this has apparently served to break the force of the attacks upon the Interior Department. Evidently Secretary Fall is willing to accept every responsibility that falls to the head of the Interior Department. If the Forest Service properly belongs to his department then he insists that it should be lodged there. Not only does he demand these things for his department—but having them, he wants these resources "put to work." He believes that simply because oil lands belong to the government is no reason why they should not produce. This same frame of mind caused him to make an exhaustive report some months ago favoring the super-power proposition that would harness the waters along the Atlantic coast and put them to work in producing power.

For half a century most of the natural resources of the country have been successfully kept under lock and key by men in public life who professes so much honesty—on their own behalf that they could not permit these resources to be utilized since if they were, the resources were sure to be stolen by somebody. In consequence Alaska was not "looted"—it was depopulated and ruined. Therefore the great natural water-powers have been undeveloped, and the waters are still singing their sweet songs in competition with the birds, instead of turning water wheels to relieve the coal situation.

Whatever else one may think of Mr. Fall there can be no doubt that he has constructive plans. Apparently he will insist on a showdown.

Reading Mr. Gompers

Samuel Gompers is a stubborn gentleman! His best friends admit that. He fights the "vested interests" and the Bolsheviks. He fought Taft and Wilson, and now he is fighting Harding. Strangely enough he lauds Mr. Wilson now that the ex-President is out of power. But at a critical period of Mr. Wilson's career when as President he had called an industrial conference that promised to settle for all times a policy beneficial to capital and labor, Mr. Gompers ruthlessly threw a monkey-wrench into the machinery of the conference and broke up the proceedings. Mr. Gompers fights every form of suggested control over the affairs of labor unions by the federal government or the states, and he has nothing but contempt for compulsory arbitration, or courts to settle labor disputes. He sees red when injunctions are issued, or other attempts made to regulate the labor unions by law. Unless the unions are left to run themselves, and incidentally to take the advice of Mr. Gompers, when he believes that American liberty is beginning to crumble.

The Supreme Court decisions in the Coronado and the child labor cases are particularly offensive to Mr. Gompers. Having found that they were also offensive to Senator LaFollette he has joined forces with the latter in attacking the Supreme Court. Chief Justice Taft is the particular nversion of both these gentlemen, and after telling why they think he should not be at the head of the great tribunal, they wind up by demanding the adoption of a constitutional amendment making nullification of any law by the Supreme Court non-effective if congress re-enacts a measure after it has been once set aside. By this remarkable process there would be established the method for vetoing a Supreme Court decision.

It is rather hard to follow Mr. Gompers at times. One thing however, always seems plain—and that is that so long as he is alive and in the harness he does not propose to let any other individual take the management and control of the American Federation out of his hands. And when it comes to making the rules for dealing with the public and the government, then Mr. Gompers will always be found insisting that he is the head of all the works. It seems rather an untenable position at times, but people have learned so much to respect Mr. Gompers, and believe in his honesty of purpose, that no serious attempts are made to challenge his methods. Besides, in former years, the people who challenged Gompers were usually whipped.

The Persuasive Mr. Hoover

Objecting senators have decided not to interfere with Secretary Hoover's efforts to hold the coal profiteers in check. Mr. Hoover has made it plain that he has no power of law to control the prices of coal. Nevertheless he has called the men who sell coal into conferences and he has persuaded them to abide by a basis of price fixing that will be fair to them and to the public. Just how he has succeeded in getting the coal people to agree to his proposal has not been disclosed. Possibly there was ready assent. That would not be unlikely, since the coal men know that when Mr. Hoover was food administrator that the different groups who were called to their place on his carpet found it to their advantage to agree to reasonable suggestions for the protection of the public. Hoover deals gently, but often this gentleness has been supplemented by a firmness that was unmistakable, that it is not likely that the coal men will attempt to break the arrangement that has been made with them. It can hardly be said that Mr. Hoover has ever resorted to drastic proceedings in dealing with any industry which he has sought to regulate. But several times during the war he was known to have issued ultimatums in such a way as to convince the recalcitrants that they would do well not to risk the wrath of Mr. Hoover. The Secretary of Commerce is a persuasive gentleman, and it is his persuasiveness with which he has always seemed to win.

Barach Bill is a Dead One

It is evident that congress is unwilling to curtail the powers of Federal judges and to stipulate that certain classes of cases should be taken from them and placed within the jurisdiction of the State courts. Arguments for "state rights" are evidently considered, as antiques in Washington.

Ought to Be Preserved

The proper technique for dealing with a property owner when you wish to stop on his land was illustrated recently by three men whom we shall call A, B, and C (although those are not their real names, you understand) who entered the domain of an Oakland county farmer named X. Farmer X appened irate, called their attention to the trespass sign, and ordered them off. A, piqued at his tone, told him that if he became any more offensive he would push his face in. "You aren't big enough to push my face in," retorted Farmer X, and advancing threateningly. Thereupon, B spoke up, "You'd better stop where you are, or I'll help support of his fellows: "Say, you up a stick. At this C came to the him push your face in." And having approached quite close, he picked drop that stick, or I'll help them push your face in." "Huh!" snorted farmer X, "all three of you together can't push my face in," and came on briskly with his club. "O well!" said A, B, and C, reflectively, "a face that can say that ought to be preserved as a curiosity anyway. We wouldn't push your face in even if you asked us to." And just ahead of the stick they vaulted over the fence. — Detroit News.

SOME NECESSARY CHANGES

We have already gone much too far. Whether the idea originated with Gov. Groesbeck or elsewhere, we do not care a rap, we believe that the people of Michigan are still capable of electing their own officials. Here are a few things which we believe the next legislature should do, and we say this with the full conviction that it will be a republican legislature. We want the reformation to come from within, and we are pretty certain that if it does not come from within it will eventually come from without.

Lop off about one-third of the state officers.

Abolish the state administrative board and hold each officer personally responsible for the administration of his office.

Do away with a large part of the uniform accounting system which was devised and foisted on the state in part at least, by the advice and assistance of a few big job printing houses, who expected to materially profit by making the necessary forms so big, so complicated and difficult that local printers could not handle them.

Do away with the army of inspectors of various kinds, tax experts and investigators whose principal business is to draw their salaries.

Does this sound like treason?

To us it seems good sense. If the republican party of Michigan does not institute some radical changes, it will be guilty of the biggest kind of a political and administrative blunder.—Gratiot County Herald.

THE GASOLINE STEAL

The following quoted from a southern Michigan exchange expresses the sentiments of every automobile owner in the country. The gasoline steal which is now being put over on the people is an outrage. No wonder congress is talking about a probe. There ought to be some way to prevent this wholesale sandbagging of almost every other family in the United States. Is there any reason except profiteering for the increase in gas? There is more gasoline on hand now than was ever before reported, so the raise cannot be due to under-production. Government figures show that on April 1 there were on hand stocks of $54,232,000 gallons. The experts say that a billion gallons will soon be stored in reserve. The number of operating refineries in the country increased from 296 to 306 during the month of March. Is this any reason for an advance? The prospect of thirty cent gasoline by the middle of June is enough to make everybody fighting mad. There seems to be no reason for such a scraper price. If congress wants any help in stopping the bold-up, they can get lots of aid by calling on the folks back home.

There is no class of men who appreciate a favor more than the poor down-trodden newspaper man. This is due, perhaps, because the knocks he gets so completely overshadow the occasional kindness thrown to him like the biblical crumbs from the rich man's table. Here is a case in point. When Arthur Brisbane, the highest paid editorial writer in America today, was 19 he was reporter on Chas. A. Dana's New York Sun. One of his early assignments was to interview Lillian Russell, then in the height of her operatic career. He was cordially received and when she came to die the other day this paragraph, by Mr. Brisbane, appeared at the head of the editorial column of the string of the great Hearst newspapers:

Lillian Russell is dead, and upon her tomb might be written: "Here lies one that made the world happier by her talent, beauty and kindness."

DODGE BROTHERS BUILD NEW COUPE

Closed Car For Business Men is Distinct Achievement

Behind the simple phraseology of an announcement which Dodge Brothers, Detroit automobile manufacturers, are publishing today in every important city and town in America, lies the story of a new achievement in automobile development. "Dodge Brothers announce a business coupe; conservative changes in the body design of all other types," the advertisement reads.

The business coupe is the first all-steel closed car ever marketed. In this respect it takes a new and distinct place in automobile history, for it involves an entirely unique principle of coupe body construction. The steel body not only practically eliminates the problem of limited production, due to the tedious and costly individual workmanship required on wood bodies, but also enables the manufacturer to give the coupe the same lustrous baked enamel finish which has already contributed to the reputation of Dodge Brothers' open cars. This process in itself will also facilitate quantity production, as an enormous amount of time was consumed heretofore in applying the numerous coats of paint required on wood.

Naturally these are important factors in the determination of the selling price, resulting in economies which Dodge Brothers are passing directly to the purchaser. "Wood is practically eliminated from the construction of this car," said H. B. Wood, the local dealer. "Even the framework and panels are of steel, and the natural result is a lighter, quieter and more durable car. Steel prolongs life and reduces the possibility of squeaks and rattles."

SPLENDID FEED FOR HOGS

Experiments Have Shown That There is Nothing Better Than Rape to Produce Results.

Rape has proved most valuable of spring-sown forage crops for swine at the Ohio experiment station. It furnishes a palatable, nutritious feed throughout the season, if not pastured too closely. In one experiment lasting 119 days this crop had a value, as forage for hogs, of $77.57 an acre in replacing concentrates in the ration, corn being valued at $1.12 a bushel and tankage at $60 a ton. In addition to this pasture the hogs received a daily grain ration amounting to 2.8 per cent of their live weight. The crop may be seeded from April to the middle of July, either broadcast or drilled solid or in rows 24 to 28 inches apart. Five to eight pounds of seed are needed to broadcast an acre, and from two to three pounds if the rape is to be grown in rows. On good soil and with early cultivation the crop is ready to be pastured in six to ten weeks from planting.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"Making America Christian." Gen. 12:1; Heb. 11:10. Christian Americanization is a process that must begin within the breast of native Americans. It is born of such a love of humanity, regardless of racial origin, as Jesus revealed in his relationships with the Samaritans, the Syrophenician woman, the centurion, and the Greeks—the "foreigners" of his country.

This topic will be discussed next Sunday evening, June 25, under the leadership of Veda Hawkins.

On Saturday, June 24, the B. Y. P. U. will hold a baked goods and candy sale at Mason's store. Come, buy some candy for yourself and kiddies and let the B. Y. P. U. do your Sunday baking.

B. Y. P. U. prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30. Let us see you there.

A tree toad loved a she toad
That lived in a tree;
She was a 3-toed tree toad,
But a 2-toed tree toad was he.

The 2-toed tree toad tried to win
The she toad's friendly nod;
For the 2-toed tree toad loved the ground
That the 3-toed tree toad trod;

But vainly the 2-toed tree toad tried.
He couldn't please her whim;
In her tree toad bower, with her V-toe power,
The she toad vetoed him.—(Ex.)

No matter how well your store room is stocked, a few cans of good things always come in handy. There is no better way to provide for emergencies or running short, because food kept this way never spoils.

Just think how handy it is to bring out a can or two of salmon, sardines, tuna fish or lobster for the main dish. With that as a basis, the meal is half prepared. Only the best is today canned for use. And improved methods of putting up insure an exceptional flavor.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

By—
B. O. Hagerman

The Grasshoppers Are With Us

Reports have been brought in from several sources that the grasshoppers are working quite extensively. And especially so in young alfalfa seedling. Last year the Board of Supervisors made it possible for each and every farmer in Charlevoix county to effectively fight this pest by making an appropriation to defray the greatest proportion of the expenses which is incurred in combating this nuisance. The money appropriated was used in buying white arsenic. (Do not confuse this white arsenic with arsenate of lead.) The method of procedure of last year will again be followed this year. The Co-operative association will handle the white arsenic and will only charge two cents a pound for the same which only covers cost of handling. We don't wish to be an alarmist but forewarned is fore-armed, and as the white arsenic is practically given away, I feel that each and every farmer should avail himself of the opportunity and secure a sufficient quantity of this poison so that it will be possible for him to mix up the poison and apply it at the first indications of the grasshoppers becoming a serious menace. Following are three recipes which may be used for this purpose:

Cuddle Mixture

Cuddle-mixture is horse-manure mixed with an arsenical, and slightly salted. It is to be distributed about the field in small masses, and is especially useful in combating grasshoppers, as it takes advantage of their well known love of salt. The proportions are as follows: White arsenic, one pound; salt, two pounds; fresh horse-manure, 100 pounds; or five three-gallon pailsful. The salt is dissolved in a pail of water, the poison stirred in, and the whole mixed with the horse-manure in a half barrel.

DOES YOUR PIANO NEED TUNING?

I will be in Charlevoix after June 20. Any orders left at Hotel Bartlett, phone 234, Miss Adeline Holley's, Gift Shop, phone 520, or W. C. Bellinger will receive the same prompt and careful attention as in the past. Electric Vacuum Cleaning System used if desired. E. V. Smith, the Piano Tuner who always comes back.

mixture made as follows: one gallon of water, one pound of white arsenic, (not arsenic of lead or calcium), a cup of molasses and one pound of salt. Add one ounce or so of either ethyl acetate or amyl acetate—the former has the odor of bananas, and either one is attractive to grasshoppers. Add enough water to produce a good stiff mash and broadcast. The ethyl acetate and amyl acetate are not absolutely necessary but they do make the bait attractive.

Wheat Bran Formula

Wheat bran, 25 lbs; White arsenic, 1lb; cheap molasses, 2 quarts; amyl acetate, 3-4 ounces; water, about 3 1-2 gallons.

Cow Testing Pays

Your herd ought to be a better and more profitable herd this year than last. It can be if you would have it so. Do you know your cow? Do you know those giving you the largest returns, and if so, are you rearing heifer calves from those cows? You can't keep the best heifer calves without knowing something about the mother. In short, ask yourself this question? "Am I keeping my cows, or are they keeping me?"

The scales and Babcock test tell the cow secret you need to know. The more you use these, the more profitable cow milking will be. If possible join a test association. A cow testing association brings home the fact that there is a wide difference in the individual production of dairy cows, and that this variation in production is also largely dependent upon many conditions under the control of the farmer himself.

A cow testing association is organized by a group of about 25 dairymen in a community who hire an experienced dairyman to spend one day each month at their farm. He is called a tester. The tester weighs and tests butterfat, the milk from each cow; determines the value of food consumed; and is able to show each member the income per cow and the profit from each.

The following is a list of benefits derived by the farmer from a cow testing association: 1st, you know what every cow produces, cost of feed and the profit she makes over the cost of food. 2nd, you increase profits by disposing of poor cows and feeding your good cows, according to their production and ability to convert food into money. 3rd, the production of your good cows is definitely known and their selling value is greatly increased. 4th, you can get many good suggestions from your "tester" who is a man of practical experience and who is constantly observing the methods of the most successful members of the association. 5th, you can have the tester skim milk and cream, getting a check on your separator and the cream market. 6th, the association leads to a stronger community spirit essential to the development of all farm communities. 7th, the association leads to the buying of pure bred sires and the numerous advantages occurring therefrom. If 25 dairymen in Charlevoix county want an association your County Agent with the State Agricultural College will be glad to help you organize. We already have about one-half of the required number to complete the organization.

The subject is altogether too big and too important to do justice to it in this small space. However, further information on this or any other dairy subject that you are interested in will be supplied to you free upon request.

AT THE MOVIES

In the motion picture production of "Way Down East," which will be shown for the first time in this city at the Palace Theatre, beginning Friday for a run of three days, David W. Griffith spent ten months of laborious endeavor and a vast fortune in the creation of wonderful scenes, said to be by far the most pretentiously ambitious that this unusual maker of screen classics has yet attempted.

It is stated that "Way Down East" represents Mr. Griffith and his art at their heights. The film even after the cutting and editing procedure yet entails twelve thousand feet of footage. The producer has followed closely the original stage drama tale of Lottie Blair Parker and Joseph R. Grismer, but his elaborations occur in the visualizing of big scenes and spectacular incidents that in the spoken play were made known only through dialogue. The monster production is the most expensive that Mr. Griffith or anyone else ever made. It represents a total cost of more than eight hundred thousand dollars and should anyone be sufficiently concerned as to this feature, they can secure for the asking a sworn statement from the leading auditing corporation in New York City which looked after the financial computation of the undertaking. Mr. Griffith wishes it stated that all this has nothing to do with the merits of production as regards the audiences who view it. He takes more pride in the work he accomplished in elaborating upon the tender love and subsequent sufferings of Anna Moore, the wronged girl in the story. Griffith has struck with both hands and he brings home with telling force a lesson for men as to the need of a single standard for men and women assails the narrowness of smug people who overlook in their Scriptural readings that which has to deal with "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone," and sets forth compelling truths which in times gone by have been foolishly hushed.

May Murray—as a fascinating dancer of a New York Club is the heroine of "The Gilded Lily," which is scheduled for a showing at the Palace Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Miss Murray wears some sensational costumes and does some of the most beautiful dances of her career. Lowell Sherman, celebrated villain of "Way Down East," is the leading man.

Many a speaker thinks that because of the applause he has made a convincing argument when he only has made a funny one.

Use Hygrade, gas filled electric light globes. Everybody is talking about how long they last. Any kind you want. Charlevoix Hardware Co. 5tf.

ELLSWORTH VISITED BY SEVERE STORM

WIND PLAYS HAVOC WITH TREES AND BUILDINGS

West Wall of New Garage Blown in And Windows in Farm Houses are Broken

Ellsworth was visited by the worst rain and wind storm last week which has been experienced here in years. The storm which luckily was a short one, occurred at about seven o'clock on Friday evening, and left a trail of damage which will cost hundreds of dollars to repair. Fruit trees were up-rooted, windows broken, and out buildings toppled over in the approved Kansas style, while many fields and roads are deeply washed by the heavy rain-fall.

The most damage in the village was at the new concrete garage, where a section of side wall about seventy feet long and sixteen feet high went down, ruining nearly every block as well as the window and door frames. The loss will be between six and eight hundred dollars.

Several windows were broken at the Gerrett Rubingh farm, one mile north of town, and a barn on the Miner Heeres farm west of town was damaged considerably.

Milton's Mulberry Tree.

A cutting from a mulberry tree planted by John Milton at Oxford has been planted in the grounds of Milton's cottage at Chalfont. It is a pretty sentiment which inspired such a net; a tribute to the great poet which he would have been the first to appreciate. Having fled from London to this quiet Bucks village, he there put into the hands of friend Ellwood the completed "Paradise Lost." He had him take it home, "read it at my leisure," says Ellwood, "and when I had so done, return it to him with my judgment thereon." Leisure is the spirit of this quiet cottage, with its wealth of climbing roses; the mulberry tree from Oxford will be an added charm in the coming years in this place of literary pilgrimage.—Christian Science Monitor.

Concrete is the hardest material for road construction. It does not become its hardest until after two years of setting, and therefore concrete does not become its best until after it is two years old, while gravel roads are in need of extensive repair after two years of travel. One square inch of the best concrete can stand a pressure of four thousand pounds. The average cost of dirt, gravel and tarva roads is between four and five hundred dollars a mile, a year, while the upkeep of concrete roads is less than one hundred dollars a year. On the Charlevoix and East Jordan road it is necessary to have two men and a horse and wagon each, to keep the road in repair. On the Norwood road, which is dirt with a little gravel, the county commissioner must keep a man and team on the road all of the time and sometimes two and three teams with four men. All they can do with this road is keep it passable and after a heavy rain the road is full of holes and is in as bad a condition as it was before they started the work.

The only way in which soft material roads are the cheapest is in the first cost, or the construction. After from ten to fifteen years gravel roads must be reconstructed, while with the concrete roads there is only three thirty-seconds of an inch worn away.

If a person is looking for a sanitary road there is nothing that will surpass the concrete roads for there is practically no dust flying from the concrete road. It is not a very pleasant thing to have a puncture or blowout in the hot summer weather while travelling over roads built of tarva, because tarva is softened by heat and makes it stick to the tires and makes them a very dirty mess to handle.

If a county must bend to build roads, why not build roads that will outlive the bonds they are built with, instead of building a road worth less than the money put into them?

MICHIGAN WETS FACE HARD FIGHT

HAVE LITTLE CHANCE TO PUT OVER WINE-BEER LAW

Should Such an Act Be Adopted
There Would Yet Be Unsurmountable
Obstacles in Way

Writing from Washington to the Grand Rapids Press, Mark Foote, widely known political observer and writer, says that the wets are making what is considered in Washington a practically useless fight for light wine and beer.

He outlines the situation as follows:

The anti-prohibition forces which will submit a light wine and beer proposal to the voters of Michigan at the fall election and put up wet candidates against members of congress who voted for the Volstead act have a long, hard row to hoe. The proverbial rocky road to Dublin is a smooth highway in comparison. Well informed opinion in Washington is that light wine and beer is a delusion, a chimera and a snare to catch the unwary.

The optimistic bibbler who votes for this proposal with any idea that he soon may be able to quench his thirst for the old, mild, alcoholic beverages stands about one chance in one hundred of having his dream come true. The odds are all against him.

Michigan adopted prohibition before women voted and long before the war by a majority of 154,000 votes. A year later the state voted down the proposition to allow the sale of light wines and beer by a majority of 207,000. Has disgust over lack of enforcement and difficulties over the enforcement of the law proceeded far enough to overturn this great majority, especially now that the women have the franchise?

Suppose Michigan should vote for light wine and beer. Then Uncle Sam's statute, the Volstead law and the Constitution would step in to turn hope to ashes. The house of representatives as at present constituted is overwhelmingly against light wines and beer. Only 50 of 435 members favor it. If the unexpected happened, and the house was overturned, then the senate must be reckoned with. Only one-third of the senators are up for re-election this year. It would be necessary for almost all of them to be displaced by "wets" to get action from the senate.

If a bill to legalize wine and beer passed both houses of congress it would then require the signature of President Harding. He is on record as opposed to light wines and beer. But if the president, by any chance, withheld a veto then the Supreme court of the United States would have the last say in the matter.

The vast weight of authority leans to the opinion that to get any practical effect from legalizing light wines and beer not only the laws and constitutions of some 32 states must be changed, but the laws and Constitution of the United States must be altered. To alter the federal Constitution is a long, tedious process, requiring usually from seven to ten years. First a resolution must pass both houses of congress by a two-thirds vote submitting the amendment to the states. Then the legislature of three-fourths of the states must adopt the amendment.

Some job, which these wets have undertaken to put over.

LOCAL CREAMERY DOING EXCELLENT BUSINESS

Products of Dairymen and Farmers Being Marketed Locally—Make Additions to Plant

Milk and cream that hitherto has been shipped outside of Charlevoix for manufacture into butter and other dairy products is now being handled by the Northern Creamery and Cold Storage company at their plant on Clinton street.

It is generally known in the dairy industry that Charlevoix county, especially in the territory adjacent to the City of Charlevoix, produces a large amount of milk and cream, and outside of the months of June, July, August and September, a greater portion of this product has been shipped outside.

However, since the establishment of the creamery company here some two years ago, this practice has undergone a gradual decline, until at the present time a greater portion of it is marketed locally.

"Gold Coin" butter is at present the chief product of the creamery, while "McCool's Famous Ice Cream" and sweet cream is disposed of locally. Cream purchased of farmers and dairymen amounts to from $950 to $1000 a week. The weekly butter production will average better than 3,000 pounds, and practically every pound of it is consumed by the home market. Outside of the amount of cream purchased locally mentioned above, purchases running from three to four hundred gallons per week are received from outside sources.

The business of the creamery has increased rapidly and at present six men are employed besides the local manager, John Hartwick. At least one churning is made daily, and at times it is necessary to make two.

At present a new refrigerator is being installed, the only one of its kind north of Traverse City. The inside measurements are 20x20x10. Cork five inches thick is being used throughout, under cement floors and on walls and ceiling, which are to be plastered with cement, insuring an air-tight compartment. An ice making machine is being considered, and without doubt will be installed in the near future.

With the addition of the refrigerator, to the other numerous improvements recently made, the plant will be one of the finest in this part of the state and will not only give the company adequate storage facilities, but assure its patrons an up-to-date and sanitary cold storage.

SPEED LIMIT IN TOWN 15 MILES

Villages Cannot Change Rules Attorney General's Dept.

The automobile speed limit in cities and villages in Michigan is 15 miles per hour and cannot be changed, Col. Roy Vandercok, commissioner of the department of public safety, was advised Friday in an opinion by the attorney general's department.

Recently Vandercok received complaints that some towns had posted notices of a speed of only 10 or 12 miles. He asked for an opinion on the state law. Motorists may drive 15 miles an hour in these towns, notwithstanding the posting of the other signs, according to the opinion.

CARELESSNESS MAY RESULT IN DEATH

The narrow escape from death or serious injury of little Floyd Eccleston Sunday afternoon emphasizes the necessity for constant care in crossing any street, highway or in front of any garage fronting on streets.

Stop, look and listen is a slogan that can be very profitably adopted every time you cross a street as well as approaching a railway crossing. Parents should constantly warn their children to look in every direction and then to never take a chance on the speed of any car that they must reckon with in crossing the street.

Drivers of automobiles should exercise every caution in driving, especially when they approach children at play. Charlevoix has several bad garage exits. Caution must be exercised here when cars enter or leave. Sound a warning—not once but continuously. Play safe. Be sure no children are near the garage entrance.

You cannot overdo these warnings. The next victim may be your child, so teach them by precept and warning never to take chances.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT NARROWLY AVERTED

Ford Car Strikes Small Boy When Leaving Garage

What easily could have resulted in the serious injury or death of Floyd Eccleston, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Eccleston, occurred Sunday afternoon at the Clinton street entrance of the Northern Auto Co. Garage.

The little boy was riding on his tricycle, accompanied by his father and mother. As they were passing the north entrance to the garage, he was struck and knocked over by a Ford car, which was leaving the garage.

The car driver had the car well under control, and by quick work managed to stop the car before running over the child, but not however, until the car wheel was pressing against the child's leg.

No injury was sustained by the child, but the escape was very close. Auto drivers upon leaving garages should sound sufficient warning. The danger of being run over can be averted by grown-ups, but in case of children, who have not the presence of mind to realize the danger, it is the duty of the car driver to see that the walk is clear.

CHARLEVOIX WINS SECOND GAME

RAKES GAYLORD INTO CAMP ON HOME GROUNDS

Over Eight Hundred Enthusiastic Fans Witness Game Sunday—Features of the Game

Playing to about 800 enthusiastic fans, Charlevoix held Gaylord scoreless up to the fifth inning, when an error by Charlevoix allowed them to score. Another error in the sixth gave them two more, making the final count 6 to 3 in favor of Charlevoix. Had it not been for these errors, O'Hara would have scored a shut-out, Gaylord being unable to solve his delivery. Five hits was all he allowed them.

Burden at short, featured with two fine stops and several throws to first, also getting several hits. Hannan also had his batting clothes on, sending in the first run for Charlevoix. Cole, a new man at second, showed fine form and undoubtedly will develop into one of the best second basemen in the league. Cartier's running and base stealing was in a class by itself and something seldom seen at a game.

The next home game is with Mancelona and it is hoped the crowd will turn out and make Charlevoix lead in attendance. The boys appreciate your support and are going to do their utmost to put Charlevoix as leaders when the season closes. Turn out and help the team.

Sunday July 2nd, Charlevoix will meet the strong Harbor Springs team at Harbor Springs. The home team look for a hard fight, as the present Harbor Springs team is composed of five of the crack Loeb Farms team of 1921, and the fastest players of the 1921 Harbor Springs aggregation. They are conceded the best in the league up to the present time and perhaps will until Charlevoix gets at them, as the home team has been materially strengthened by the addition of Bobbie Cole, one of last years stars. Duncan, a new man, and H. Cartier are expected to make a good showing. Charlevoix fans are assured that all members of the team are going to play ball every minute and are out for the pennant. Let's go to Harbor Springs next Sunday.

NEW TITLE LAW AND ITS INTENT

MUST HAVE TITLE TO OBTAIN AUTO LICENSES

County Clerk Richard Lewis Gives Information Concerning Certificate of Title Law

Automobile owners who have failed to obtain title to their cars stand a fine chance of disposing of same in case they should desire to sell, according to the following bulletin received by County Clerk Lewis.

After July 1 no person can dispose of his car unless he has complied with the new certificate of title law. Nor can any person obtain a license to an automobile unless he has a title (bill of sale) to the car. The bulletin received by Clerk Lewis relative to the new act follows:

1. Act No. 46, P. A. 1921, (Certificate of Title Law) provides as follows:

"After July 1, 1922, no certificates of registration of any vehicle, or number plate therefor, whether original issues or duplicate issues, will be issued by the Secretary of State unless the applicant therefor shall, at the time, make application for, and be granted, an official certificate of title, or the applicant shall present satisfactory evidence that such a certificate covering the motor vehicle has been previously issued to the applicant."

The above quoted section is the "Teeth" of the Title Law and in order that the law prevail and its intent, which is the prevention of motor vehicle thefts, be carefully carried out, we shall require that its provisions be strictly adhered to.

2. On and after July 1st, 1922, all applicants for motor vehicle licenses who have already obtained Certificates of Title for the car for which they require plates, will be required TO PRESENT TO YOU their Certificate of Title and YOU are required to compare same with application for license plates. If after comparison you are satisfied the certificate of title and the application for registration are for the same car you will write in red ink in the space provided therefor, certificate of title number. If applicant has already written in his or her title number, you will re-write the same in red ink, not from any number that is given to you by the applicant from his or her certificate of title but taken by you from the certificate of title itself. Do not issue a license without strict adherence to the above requirements. To do otherwise will defeat the object of the title law.

3. On and after the above named date require all applicants for license plates for motor vehicles for which certificate of title has not been obtained, to make out an application for title at the same time application is made out for license plates. Check both applications carefully to see that items above mentioned agree; then write an application for license plate in red ink in the space reserved for certificate of title number the words "title applied for this date." Plates may then be handed applicant, but not until then.

4. After July 1st all applications for transfer of license plates must be accompanied to this office by assigned certificate of title belonging to the car which is being transferred.

5. It is required that the instructions in this bulletin be carried out without exception. You may publish such parts of it in your local papers as are pertinent to the public in general, if you so desire.

NEW BOAT HOUSE IS NOW COMPLETED

Wonderful Improvement to South Shore of Round Lake

The new boat-house, owned by Logan Thompson of the Belvedere, and which will be used for his new 100 ft. cruiser, is about completed, and is not only a credit to J. M. Saunders, the contractor, but a valuable asset to the city and a wonderful improvement to the south shore of Round Lake.

The building is of steel construction, 37 ft. wide, by 125 ft. long and 45 ft. high. The approximate cost is about $30,000.

Capt. C. C. Geiken and Roy Ranger are expected to arrive with the boat some time this week.

FARM BUREAU WILL ENLIST MEMBERS

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO BEGIN FIRST OF AUGUST

Heads of Bureau Recite Accomplishments of Organization During Past Three Years

A second membership campaign for re-enlistment of the thousands of Michigan farmers who built the Michigan State Farm Bureau has been announced by Clark L. Brody, secretary-manager of the bureau. The campaign will open in Allegan county August 1. M. L. Noon, prominent Jackson county farmer and vice-president of the State Farm Bureau, will direct the membership drive. He is one of the state's leading dairymen.

Accomplishments of the bureau in the past three years as cited by Mr. Brody include construction of the most powerful farmers' organization Michigan has ever known. It has co-operated with other farm organizations in the state so successfully that the four great commodity marketing exchanges—the Potato Growers, the Milk Producers, the Live Stock Exchange and the Elevator Exchange—have affiliated with the Farm Bureau in the working out of common interests.

Within the past two years the Farm Bureau has also given great stimulus to the co-operative marketing movement in Michigan. It has built the greatest co-operative seed handling agency in the nation, an agency that is a pioneer in guaranteeing all its seed. The bureau also built the largest and most successful state Elevator Exchange in the United States. It consists of 101 local elevators marketing through a central agency. The bureau's purchasing department, transportation, taxation, and legislative departments are declared to have been of great service to Michigan farmers. The Michigan Farm Bureau blazed a path in co-operative marketing by being the first institution of its kind to work out a state-wide farmers seed and supplies purchasing agency and put them on a successful basis.

STATE INSPECTOR W. J. GALLAGHER

Visits City and County Performing Official Duties

W. J. Gallagher of St. James, Beaver Island, is in the city this week attending to his duties as state inspector of public, private and parochial schools, and meeting the board of supervisors as representative of St. James township.

The work of inspector takes Mr. Gallagher to all sections of the state, and his time is occupied the year round. The appointment was tendered him in May of this year. "Bobby Bill" Gallagher known in every section of northern Michigan, has occupied a prominent position in both state and county politics for a number of years. He was state oil inspector during the years 1907 to 1913, and has been supervisor from his home township, St. James, for 23 years.

We believe those who selected Mr. Gallagher for the position as state inspector of schools made a wise choice, and that he will fulfill the duties of the office in a prompt and satisfactory manner.

A Correction

In the Courier's write-up of the list of teachers employed by the Board of Education, published last week, we were misinformed as to the name of the teacher of second, third and fourth grades in the Washington school. The information given was that Miss Naomi Carpenter had been engaged, and should have been Miss Elizabeth Klebe.

JACKSON AXEMAN IN PETOSKEY JAIL

Speeds Night in City on Way to Marquette

Sex avenged the wrongs against sex Tuesday night of last week when Mrs. Will H. Purples hands closed the door of the steel cell in the Emmet county jail at Petoskey, on George Straub, convicted in Jackson of the atrocious murder of Miss Alice Mallett, matron of the Florence Crittenden Home for Girls in that city, and who immediately was railroaded out of Jackson by eight deputies enroute to Marquette to serve a life sentence at hard labor and in solitary confinement.

Straub, who was tried, convicted and sent as far as Petoskey on his way to prison all in one day, was smuggled to the Jackson railway station for fear of the fast growing crowds, and was taken off at Petoskey because there was no boat across the straits that night and no safe place in Mackinaw City in which to keep the prisoner.

Sheriff Purple, who was sick in bed, did not see Straub; Mrs. Purple acting for him. All but two of the deputies returned south on the late night train, and those two went to a hotel, leaving Mrs. Purple custodian of the prisoner.

OFFER REGATTA FOR YACHTSMEN

C. A. of C. and Citizens Back of Movement

Proposed to Hold Big Regatta Here at Termination of Chicago-Mackinaw Race

The Charlevoix Yacht Club is anxious to get the Chicago yachts to come to Pine Lake for a regatta following the sailing of the Mackinaw Cup Race.

The Chamber of Commerce has appropriated $500 for prizes and a citizens committee is planning to give the sailors a gala time for three days, if they come to the lovely resort for the occasion.

It is proposed to run a series of three races on three successive days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 27-28-29 following the end of the Mackinaw race.

The first day of race would be sailed around a triangular course in Pine Lake. The second day would be a race to Boyne City at the other end of Pine Lake, which is 12 miles long and 4 miles wide at its widest point. The third day would be another triangular race at the Charlevoix end of the lake.

Prizes to be awarded on the highest percentage, shown in the series of three races. Social festivities for the occasion would include a dinner or luncheon at Boyne City and a dinner and dance at Charlevoix the closing day, with award of prizes.

The proposition was submitted at the meeting of the Boat Owners Association on the "Carrier," May 26th, by Don Prather, who has been in communication with the Charlevoix people behind the movement. The yachtsmen present approved of the idea and referred it to the regatta committee for action.—Lake Michigan Yachting News.

The above article tells the story. Charlevoix, backed by the Association of Commerce and business men, stand ready to put this meet across and assist in financing it.

It means the bringing of hundreds of people other than the many who spend the summer season here, and if once established, will be an every year event.

Present indications are that the landing of this most important meet will come to a successful termination, and the event will prove successful beyond all expectations.

GYPSIES ROB BAY SHORE MAN

TAKE GROCERIES AND TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS FROM HIM

Mackinaw Police Catch Them, Release Them of Their Booty and Let Them Go

Five large automobile loads of daylight bandits are unusual even in these strenuous days of outlawry, and in peaceful Emmet county they are rarer than purple monkey, but they arrived yesterday.

The cars were filled with itinerant gypsies, mostly men, and as they drove up from the south and reached a point two miles north of Bay Shore they encountered a Charlevoix county farmer who had just bought a consignment of groceries in Petoskey and was jogging his tired horse homeward.

Two of the cars passed on, but the other three stopped, one directly in front of the astonished farmer, one beside him and the third behind him. The occupants searched him, took $25 in cash and then relieved him of all the groceries. He went to Charlevoix, notified the police there, and they informed the Petoskey authorities who sent the alarm out all along the line to Mackinaw City. The five cars had been seen just before this, running through Petoskey in a great hurry. All bore Massachusetts license plates, and they split up before passing through this city. It was known that they were bound for Mackinaw City because they asked traffic officers in Petoskey if they were on "M 11."

In Mackinaw there was another robbery, but it was by the police there who were awaiting the gypsies' arrival. The outlaws were searched and all their money taken from them in settlement, it being considered cheaper to arrange matters thus than to incur the expense of shipping the crowd back to Petoskey, getting the actual thieves identified, and holding a trial. The gypsies were glad to admit their guilt and give up the loot.

The above was clipped from the Petoskey Evening News, issue of Wednesday, June 21. They have told the story as it was given them. The gypsy outfit passed through Charlevoix Tuesday, but were not allowed to stop. The hold-up took place after they had passed through the city.

The bunch has left a like record all the way up the southern part of the state. They have been driven from place to place, arrested, and then some. But still they manage to keep on the way to some place not revealed.

STEAM HAMMER DOING THE WORK

Work on New Water Plant Progressing Nicely

Work on the new city water plant is progressing rapidly. All machinery and pumps are now on the ground. Pumps working 24 hours to keep the water down. Sheet piling for the basement of the building is being driven, a steam hammer doing the work.

The reservoir is well under construction and is being sunk. Practically half of the 10 inch distributing main is in and under favorable conditions, we may expect water from the new plant within the allotted time.

SPEED LAWS ARE BEING VIOLATED

Charlevoix police should sound a warning to careless auto drivers and then if violations do not cease, arrests should follow with fines or imprisonment according to the seriousness of the offense.

Pedestrians are claiming that recklessness is endangering their lives and that the parking rules are being violated. Complaints are made that street crossings are sometimes clogged, drivers even parking their cars directly across alley entrances and upon the area marked off for street crossings for pedestrians.

Few violations for speeding are noticeable on Bridge street, but little or no attention to speed laws is made on side streets. Cars are driven at from 20 to 35 miles an hour and at times it is hardly safe to cross the street, especially for children.

Someone is bound to be killed or severely injured unless the speed laws are observed. Why not enforce the law NOW.

Jewish Physicians Honored. During a long interval the popes were attended by Jewish physicians. In 1385 the Roman senate reduced the amount of tribute payable by the Jewish community because medical men of that race had refused to charge poor people for their services. Strange Idea of Gratitude. As a sort of manifestation of gratitude combined with self-sacrifice and self-abasement the Tamil Hindu when he recovers from a serious illness sometimes makes a vow to do something entailing discomfort and pain to himself. These vows take different forms, such as rolling over and over on a hard metal rod, lashing himself or being lashed on the back, or wearing a hair shirt, but walking over live coals is the means most commonly chosen by the devotee, this being often accompanied by other forms of self-torture.

NO POLICE IN GREENLAND

Country is So Law-Abiding That Officers of the Law Would Find Nothing to Do.

The only country in the world that has not a single representative of the law is Greenland. Here dwell 22,000 Eskimos and 240 Danes in settlements scattered along the coast. Eskimos manage their own affairs. Any grievance they may have is settled by the head man of the tribe. There has been no serious crime in the country for the past hundred years.

The Danish government allows no one to land there without permission, which is only granted to bona fide explorers and scientists. The sole object of this seclusion is to prevent liquor and disease reaching the Eskimos.

All Eskimos are Christians, and in the larger settlements there are fine churches, with steeples, organs, and oil paintings. Here you will find Eskimo ministers and physicians, as well as native newspapers, and an illustrated journal produced entirely by Eskimo labor.

During the short summer vegetables and various kinds of fruits are grown, and even strawberries, under glass. The coastal areas are a blaze of color from the wild flowers that abound. Then comes winter, when the whole of Greenland is cut off from the world and buried in snow and ice.—Detroit News.

WHOLE DISTRICTS IN TERROR

Wild Beasts in Central Provinces of India Practically Have Inhabitants at Their Mercy.

Wild beasts are committing havoc in some of the mission stations in the central provinces of India.

At one of these stations at Sirachin, a wild jungle district at the junction of the Godavari and Prunthia rivers, conducted by the Women's Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, there are four missionaries, all women; and they look after 170 girls, 100 boys, numerous babies and 45 widows, many of them famine victims. Work of such a kind is the raison d'être of the mission, but in addition the women have lately had added to their duties the responsibility of preserving themselves and their charges from attacks by wild beasts.

Six persons have been killed and twenty seriously injured, in addition to many animals, during one month, by panthers and leopards in Sirachin. Every day lately brings its tale of visitation, attack and loss of some kind. The villagers, and their children especially, are never safe. The beasts tear down the thatched roofs of the village houses and get inside before the occupants are even aware of their nearness, they are so stealthy.—Exchange.

Wild Men in Himalayas.

Wild snow men exist in the Himalayas and the tracks in the snow of some of these men were discovered by the Mount Everest expedition. As a result of the publication of the information much comment and interest has been aroused in London among explorers who have been through the trails of the northern Himalayas. Several of them have written to London newspapers corroborating the existence of these wild men, one former officer in the Indian service declaring that while journeying on horseback through British Sikhim, at a height of about 18,000 feet and resting his horse, he saw one. He described him as about six feet tall, wonderful muscular development, very brawny and virtually naked in spite of terrific cold. The snow man, according to the officer, carried a primitive bow and arrow. They are known to the Tibetans as "abominable snow men."

Racing Pigeons.

The year 1922 is to see a boom in pigeon racing, we are told; a form of sport that is quite modern, although the use of the pigeon as a messenger is at least as old as Solomon. It was a little over a century ago that long-distance flying began with a race of a hundred miles in Belgium. This was soon followed by a race from London to Belgium, but even then it was not until 1861 that regular races were begun in England. In the early days the birds averaged about 1,250 yards a minute, but training has raised their speed now to something over 60 miles an hour.

Three Crops of Corn in Year.

On account of excessive rains oats cannot be grown in the Philippine Islands; rust affects it. Corn grows well; Filipino farmers can harvest three crops a year from a single piece of ground. To keep it, it is necessary to leave it in the husk, otherwise weevils destroy it. It is tied in bundles and hung on bamboo poles and husked and shelled as needed. Corn mills are now being established in the Visayan Islands, where the natives prefer cornmeal to rice as a staple food.

It wouldn't be the same...

"If every woman on the street Should make a loaf of bread, They wouldn't be the same at all." The Master Baker said, "Some loaves would burn and some would fall And some would not be good, Though each one used the self-same flour And did the best she could."

And there's no secret about making Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. We tell what we put in it. Other manufacturers know all the ingredients we use. They can buy most of them.

But they don't make Clicquot Club—any more than a woman with good flour and a recipe can make bread that tastes like her neighbor's bread made with the same flour and recipe.

Ask your grocer to send you a case of Clicquot Club. Keep a few bottles on ice or in a cold place. Serve it any time to anyone. They all like it.

Senate Sticks to the Tariff
The Fordney tariff bill passed the House of Representatives on July 21, 1921. The senate found it a pretty good bill except in 2,000 exceptions, where it made changes. The bill was reported by the finance committee to the senate April 11. Prospects for passing it immediately are not bright. Likely it will be fall before the bill gets through the senate and the differences between the upper and lower houses are adjusted. Most people are not bothering their heads about the different provisions of the bill. Senator Broussard made the debate of popular interest the other day when he told how his State of Louisiana worked for a hundred years to establish the reputation of Louisiana molasses, only to be defeated by the Cubans who substituted blackstrap for the genuine article, and then profited in it. New Orleans molasses and blackstrap recall past experiences for all of us, and as the senator spoke everyone had visions of a barefoot boy returned from the afternoon session at school holding in his hand some bread and butter smeared over with molasses and happy in the devouring of a "piece." But most of the tariff items are not sweet, nor even interesting. The country looks upon the tariff as the cause of the economic upset, and in the popular mind we will never get back to "normalcy" until the tariff is out of the way and business knows, as Grover Cleveland used to put it—"where are we at."

The republican party is pledged to enact tariff law. In fact the party has been pledged so long on that score that the leaders are getting sensitive about being twitted with delays. Quite recently many attempts have been made to lay aside the tariff bill, and to take up other legislation. The soldiers bonus was picked out by some of the leaders as a sufficiently important measure to replace the tariff bill. But the caucus of republican senators overwhelmingly agreed to stick by the tariff. And "stick" they will until they pass it.

Bonus Bill to Come Next

The Washington Post says that "nobody has any license to say that the president is opposed to a bonus or to the bonus bill as it passed the House of Representatives. The president has said, 'adds the Post, 'that he was opposed to a bonus bill calling for a large immediate cash outlay unless the bill carried tax provisions to meet the expenditure.' The Post believes that the president's objections have been pretty well met by the bill as it now appears in the senate, and the editor adds by way of further comment: 'Until the president says so himself, therefore, no one can say for him that he is opposed to the bonus bill as it passed the House, or that he will be opposed to the bonus bill as finally agreed upon by the two Houses.' There are plenty of inferences that may be drawn from this statement. In the first place if there is such a thing in existence as an "administration organ" it is the Post, owned and edited by President Harding's personal friend, E. B. McLean. It is evident that the president is not going to be held responsible for the fate of the bonus, or permit a condition that would justify saying that it was passed "in spite of him." The fact of the matter is that the president has tempered down some of the effervescence of politics that bubbled in the bonus measure. Having accomplished this he will likely be content to let the bill take its course when its place is reached in the regular proceedings of congress. That place, it now seems, will be when the tariff bill is disposed of.

Inland Waterways Sidetracked
There is disappointment in store for people who live on the Great Lakes and who have been expecting early action to bring about the deepening of the channel in the St. Lawrence River to permit of a deep waterways route connecting the Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean. While the deep waterways advocates were fighting opposition from New York state it appears that in Canada there was an ever-increasing opposition to the use of the St. Lawrence. For just as New York thought it would be affected in dominating the shipping business so Quebec figures it out that it, too, would get the worst of it if the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River were used as the channel for world commerce. New Yorkers worked to hold up legislation at Washington, and while that was going on a genuine blockade has been the declaration of the Dominion government to negotiate a treaty between the two countries in order to clear the way for the lake-to-the-ocean route. As matters stand the United States is powerless, thwarted by a friendly foreign government, and is therefore unable to go ahead.

There is no exception even among the all-American route is feasible, and they would cut across New York state with a canal that would connect the Great Lakes with the headwaters of the Hudson River. But this plan has not yet won popular approval, and is not known as is the St. Lawrence project. As a result the inland waterways appears to have been "sidetracked."

The American Merchant Marine
It is hot and sticky in Washington, and lassitude and latitude are getting in their deadly work as the arch-enemies of progressive politics. The weather makes loafers of us all, and there is no exception even among the statesmen who yearn for their neighbors and the comfortable comforts for them "back home." But the mills of congress have been grinding exceedingly slow, and there is still lots to be done before the cares of the government can be laid aside by those who are the chosen representatives of the sovereign people. Where presidents get all their energy has long been a mystery and a woe to the five hundred "elect" on Capitol Hill, who, just as they are preparing to get away every summer, are told that there is still another big job to handle. This year it is ship subsidy. President Harding went off for a week-end on the Mayflower and when he got back to Washington the dearest thing he could think of was the task of saving the American merchant marine.

Of course congress has long known that there is a problem to meet with regard to the merchant marine; but congress thought next winter or next year would be soon enough. Even now they cannot understand why, after waiting a half century for a merchant marine, that there should be such a hurry about the matter just when the weather began to get so hot. But the president says that the present session must dispose of the matter. He has reviewed the building of our ships during the war, when anything that could float was contracted for. And then he recites the story of the slump in foreign shipping, and the shrinkage of the value of our great fleets. He emphasizes the fact that we are in possession of a great merchant marine, and he makes it clear that it is a good deal of a "white elephant" on our hands in view of the fact that it is running behind $50,000,000 a year. Such a deficit is practically a subsidy, he points out; and in view of the fact that we are making a failure of operating these ships he demands legislation that will make it possible to dispose of them to American interests in order that our shipping may have back of it the incentive that characterizes private enterprise and endeavor, and which is always woefully absent in government operation. Congress and the country knows that the preservation of our merchant marine is a vital question. But congress would be so much better pleased if the matter could be put off until the ice-burgs began to interfere with shipping along the northern "banks."

Women in Congress

Women may have secured their "rights" by reason of having won their franchise, but they are still under a terrible handicap. When a woman breaks in among the sages the things that are expected of her are quite beyond human limitations. Miss Janet Rankin and Miss Robertson measured up to the average standards possessed by men, but that was all the poor girls could do. And now Mrs. Olson is in the limelight because she has been nominated for senator in Minnesota. If she is elected she will have to be another Lady Astor to succeed.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN

HAVE APPENDICITIS
Medical reports shown men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-I-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-I-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. B. A. Herman, Druggist.

Wisdom is comparative. Her grandmother couldn't drive an automobile but she could ride a horse which the modern girl who tries it is unable to do. Still, her grandmother had to, and the modern girl doesn't.

CHINESE SENSE OF GRATITUDE

Bandit Saved From Death by Japanese General Eager to Offer Assistance in Misfortune.

The bandit's gratitude is the gist of a story that comes from Tokyo, Japan. The widow of the Japanese general, Salto, who has been left practically penniless after the recent death of her husband in Siberia, was astounded a few days ago to see a richly dressed Chinese sailing and howling on her doorstep. "You do not know me, madam," he said, "but your husband saved my life, and naturally my life belongs to him and his. I have heard of your need of assistance. I have made arrangements with my banker to forward you $100 monthly, and if that is not sufficient for your needs more will be added." His then departed before the widow could realize her good fortune. The tale dates back to the Russo-Japanese war. The Chinaman was head of some bandits whom the Russians used for spy work. He was captured by Salto and sentenced to death. His mother heard of this and pleaded, "Who will worship at the grave of his ancestors? He is my only son and I am old." Salto, sympathetic, agreed to spare the bandit's life on condition that he guided the Japanese troops to a point near Port Arthur. After the war the bandit "retired" and was granted a concession for the bathhouses in the Chinese quarter of Tokyo, where today the one-time bandit is a wealthy and respected citizen.

FAMOUS OLD ESTATES PASS

Time's Changes Wreak Havoc With Some of the Finest Places Known to English History.

Historic estates of England are still being sold under the auctioneer's hammer. One notable example is the sale of the Bradgate estate, in the heart of the Charnwood forest district of Leicester, formerly owned by the seventh earl of Stamford and Warrington which was the birthplace of the ill-fated Lady Jane Grey, the old hall, which was destroyed by fire, having been built by her grandfather, Thomas Grey, second marquis of Dorset. It includes the ruins of the ancient Unverscroft priory. The priory was founded by Robert Blanchmains, earl of Leicester, in the reign of Henry II for Augustinian hermits, and the priors became persons of great importance, with evidently strong sporting proclivities, for it is said "they kept their hounds and hawks; they employed a ranger, a huntsman, and a falconer; they had seven woodmen constantly employed in cutting firewood for the house; they brewed ten quarters of malt weekly; they kept open house for all visitors and wayfarers and maintained all the poor in the surrounding parishes."

Teacher of Writing Complains.

The writing teacher sighed. "Yes, writing is a hard subject," she said. "The difficulty lies in the chaotag of systems. It is not as had just now as it was a few years ago, but there was a time when a child began to write by learning the vertical system, changed to a slantag style, changing to a fowtag style, etc. By the time he finished school his writing was a conglomeration of all styles, and very unsatisfactory. "Even now a child seldom is taught the same style of writing straight through the grades and junior high school. He gets discouraged and so does the teacher. Another discouragement is that when a pupil graduates from school he reverts to his own particular style of writing, no matter how well he has been taught."—Springfield Mirror.

White Caps and Gowns.

Candidates for degrees from the University of the Philippines will wear white caps and gowns at the next commencement exercises, which come in April. This adaptation of traditional academic costume to the needs of the tropics was made by the board of regents of the university with little or no thought, probably, for the Fu Kiu Klan, yet there were members of the faculty and the student body who demurred. They had not forgotten the masquerade possibilities of sheets and pillow-cases. Yet the University of the Philippines is doubtless right in making the change; instead of following unquestionably the clerical traditions of the Middle Ages, it is going back to the simple precedent set in the grove, Academia.

Mozart's Youthful Opera Given.

Mozart's comic opera, "La Finta Semplice," written when he was twelve years old, has been given a first performance in Karlsruhe in a textual rearrangement by Anton Rudolph. The opera was performed but once, in Salzburg, sixty years ago, and then was completely forgotten. The Cologne Gazette says that for the original silly and unenjoyable text Rudolph has substituted something reasonable, at the same time maintaining the strictest respect for the music, which is full of melody and youthful freshness, though passionless.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"Better Praying", Matt., 7:7-11 is the topic for next Sunday evening. Mrs. Walter Smith will lead.

"Prayer is the soul of religion, and failure there is not, a superficial lack for the supply of which the spiritual life leisurely can wait. Failure in prayers is the loss of religion itself in its inward and dynamic aspect of fellowship with the eternal."—Fosdick.

"Prayer is the hand that moves the world but the fingers of that hand are consecrated men and women." Robert Moffat.

"Prayer is and remains the native and deepest impulse of the soul of man."—Carlyle.

Let every member of our society try to be present at this consecration meeting.

Do not neglect to attend prayer meeting next Thursday evening. Next Friday evening the B. Y. P. U. will hold a business meeting in the church for the purpose of electing officers for the next six months. We earnestly request and urge every member to be present.

The B. Y. P. U. netted $20.57 from their baked goods and candy sale last Saturday afternoon and we wish at this time, to thank those who donated goods and those who patronized our booth.

ENTER THE GALLOWES
Capitol punishment is on its way in Michigan.
It is as plain as day that there has been a widespread change in sentiment during the past two years. Every indication points to the passage of a bill by the next legislature providing for hanging or electrocution.

Prominent men, prominent newspapers, members of the legislature and leaders in nearly every county who were in doubt on the subject two years ago when the topic was up for discussion as well as those who were mildly opposed give evidence of having changed their minds. The clear logic of events and the cogent reasons advanced by those most familiar with the criminal classes have had their effect. That they will bear fruit at the coming session in Lansing seems assured.

Attorney General Merlino Wiley, points out that during the period from 1912 to 1918 there were 58,377 murders committed in the United States, which is 8,050 more than all the American soldiers killed in the world war.

The mob squad and those eternally prepared to apologize for the murderers cannot escape from the most significant fact in connection with the situation. It is contained in the following simple sentence:

Murder in the larger cities of the country increased 150 per cent between 1910 and 1921.

In spite of the perfumed penologists and all that busy line of vindicators, advocates and defenders, who volunteer on behalf of the murderers, the people of Michigan are awakening to the fact that society is entitled to the best protection that it is possible to provide.

As the Attorney General aptly and succinctly states the case, "three things stand out prominently as deterrents of crime—certainty of apprehension, certainty of conviction, and certainty of punishment."

If the hold-up men and the automobile bandits have accomplished nothing else they have shaken the citizenship of Michigan out of the lethargy in which it was nodding. Homicide upon the slightest provocation as a result of robbery and crime has engendered a firm resolution and a definite determination to face the situation with hemp rather than with posies.

Residents of Michigan are beginning to consider the lamentable situation of the widows and orphans left by the sanguinary trail of blood incident to the activities of the criminaloid. Heretofore the discussions have dealt almost exclusively with the fate of the murderer. Decent men and women and innocent children are now to have their inning.—Pontiac Press.

An Arms Cache in Crater.
A weapon storehouse in the immense crater of extinct Haleakala, where the natives of Maui many years ago made their last stand against the all-conquering king of Hawaii, has been discovered, according to Emil A. Berndt, a business man of Honolulu, says a dispatch to the Cincinnati Times-Star.
Mr. Berndt says each of the three white men with knowledge of the cave stumbled across it when wandering aimlessly about after losing their way in the crater. He reports that it contained crude stone hatchets, immense quantities of slingshot stones, spearheads and other implements of ancient warfare.

Bad Fire at Traverse City
Catching from an overheated journal or a spark, fire Friday destroyed a warehouse containing stock and one manufacturing machine belonging to the Traverse City Mattress & Bedding company.
An employee of the firm was in the building and saw the fire start. He attempted to put it out with his hands and thought the had succeeded. The next moment, however, the room was in flames. The loss is estimated at $1,000 with no insurance.

George Bennis, a widower with four children, one of them crippled, living on Lindell avenue near Kalamazoo avenue, Petoskey, was buried alive Thursday afternoon at about 5 o'clock in a clay pit just north of the Resort town hall and died before he was missed and dug out just before 8 o'clock.

Bennis went to Peter Cantile yesterday morning and said he needed a job, and Mr. Cantile put him to work with one of his teams hauling clay to the new Petoskey baseball field at the county fair grounds for leveling and hardening the diamond. When the team was discovered standing near the clay pit in the evening without a driver in sight an investigation was made and the cave-in discovered.

When a rescue party reached the place they found the men hard at work with shovels, and they assisted at the work. It required only a short time to dig the body out.

A peculiar feature of the tragedy was that its victim had been struck on the head by a large boulder, and that, were it not for that mischance, it was probable that Bennis would have been able to remove the six or eight inches of clay that covered his head. He was struck by the great stone on the cheek, which was badly bruised, and it is believed that the slide was precipitated by it and that he looked up at it when it began to topple downwards.

Family Had Narrow Escape

The wooden store building on Main Street between the Temple Theatre and Malpass Hardware, together with their contents, were badly damaged by fire, and smoke at an early hour Wednesday morning, at East Jordan.

The buildings which are owned by T. J. Wood were occupied by Mr. Wood with his Second Hand store, with his dwelling above; a barber shop conducted by Clifford La Clair; the Sanitary Meat Market owned by Kit Carson, the second floor residence occupied by Charles Dennis.

The fire was first discovered about 1:30 a. m., which seemed to originate ate at the rear of the La Clair barber shop. The fire department immediately responded, and their efficiency is attested by the fact that the buildings, badly damaged are still standing.

The Dennis family miraculously escaped death. The fire started directly beneath a bed-room occupied by the children, and this caused in a few minutes after the family were awakened by the intense smoke. That all the family are alive today is indeed fortunate.

Use Hygrade, gas filled electric light globes. Everybody is talking about how long they last. Any kind you want. Charlevoix Hardware Co. 517.

AT THE MOVIES

Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers" Coming July 8 and 9

Predictions made are that the screening of Alexander Dumas' immortal story, "The Three Musketeers," by Douglas Fairbanks will stand forth in motion picture history as an epochal event and that it will popularize for all time the costume photoplay.

Productions of this sort, even when based on the fictional writings of such masters as Dumas, have always been considered to be in "the danger zone," because it has never been established beyond question that the American public would receive the costume play with the same enthusiasm that has been accorded features more modern in locale and setting.

It has always been Fairbanks' contention, however, that any story sufficiently powerful and gripping in drama is bound to succeed.

The best talent procurable has been called upon to help transcribe this great story to the aluminum sheet. Edward Knoblock, one of the greatest of contemporary playwrights, is responsible for adaptation, research and costumes, while to Fred Niblo goes the honor of directing the piece. Niblo, a born adventurer, has won distinction as a master in guiding the destinies of this type of play; he is said to have no peer. Arthur Edson, rated as a genuine lens artist, is credited with the photography and is said to have achieved some effects which hitherto have been considered impossible.

In the face of the business readjustment that the country has been facing, Fairbanks has spent more money on this production than on any picture he has ever undertaken, all because he has confidence in the vehicle and in the amusement-seeking public. "The Three Musketeers" is said to be the greatest picture of its kind ever made. It is ten reels in length and cost a million dollars. United Artists Corporation is releasing the film.

The following facts about the Grand Canyon of Arizona and Tom Mix, as seen in the sensational Fox picture "Sky-High," at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday, will enable prospective patrons to enjoy even more fully this superb production.

About the Canyon

It was discovered in 1540 by G. L. Cardenas, famous Spanish explorer.

It is one of the wonder places of the world.

It is 283 miles long and from 2,000 to 6,000 feet deep.

The rush of air down the canyon sometimes reaches 200 miles an hour. Thriver falls 2,330 feet and has a current velocity of 20 miles an hour.

Its treacherous air pockets make practically impossible navigation of the canyon by plane.

The first and only aerial motion pictures ever taken of an air plane flight through it were made by William Fox cameramen.

The earliest form of ballroom dancing was the quadrille, started about 1815. This was followed by the tancera, invented in 1836. The polka was adopted in 1835. The waltz, which came from Germany, in 1793, did not become popular as a ballroom dance till later. The two-step is an American invention.

Game of Draughts is Ancient

The game of draughts is known to have existed long before the time of the ancient Egyptians.

Making Library Helpful

Presuming that a public library is so well conducted that its custodians are able to direct applicants promptly to the volume asked for, the next step for an ideal institution would be to advertise the treasures which it holds in trust for all citizens. It would appear that the Newark (N. J.) library has reached the second stage, for it has been distributing circulars telling how the ambitious worker may educate himself by reading, and how the library can help him to find just the right things to read. Taking a cue from the methods of writers of eye-catching advertisements, the library entitled the circular in large type: "Get Wise Quick."—Christina Science Monitor.

Proud South American Cities

If Caracas claims the title of "The Paris of the New World"—and so they called the Venezuelan capital in the century past—we ought to remember that Bogota, Colombia's capital, was early in the sixteenth century famed as "The Athens of South America." This city, founded in 1538, was a center of culture, before Harvard university had been thought of. Cartagena, Colombia, is fondly known as "The Heroic City," or "The Cradle of South American Liberty."—New York Evening Post.

Engine Wrongly Blamed

A very nervous man bought a motor car and a friend asked him to give him a lift. They found themselves in a crowded street.

The friend said: "Jim, your engine is knocking badly." "No, it's not," was the reply. "That's my knee."

Looking Just Ahead

Hydro-electric developments, totaling 13,500,000 horse power, and a doubling of the present ratings of central station plants, are regarded as probable within the next four years by some American authorities.

Green Cloud Over Coral Island

It would be difficult for sailors to locate the low-lying coral islands, or atolls, of the Pacific but for the fact that over each of them there generally hangs a cloud of a characteristic green hue. After one of these green "atoll clouds" has been seen, the phenomenon is always easily recognized. The cloud is due to moisture evaporated from the warm water of the shallow lagoon. The smooth surface of the lagoon acts as a mirror and throws a greenish reflection on the cloud.

Inveterate Punster

Thomas Hood, the poet, was the prince of English punsters, and found his own name a fruitful subject of his wit. On being shown a portrait of himself very unlike the original, he declared that the artist had perpetrated a false hood. When near his end he said he was dying out of charity to the undertaker, who wished "to urn a lively hood."

THAT MORNING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious trouble, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on Charlevoix testimony.

Mrs. Leo Allard, 210 W. Upright Ave., Charlevoix, says: "Kidney trouble had me feeling miserable. There was a constant, dull, heavy ache in the small of my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I purchased at Metcalf's Drug store cured me in a splendid manner."

James Deevy, for County Clerk. We are reliably informed that James Deevy will be a candidate at the September primaries, Sept. 12, for the renomination for County Clerk.

We believe that Jim will have but little difficulty in being renominated and elected. It is the general sentiment throughout the county, that his experience with the many duties of this office is invaluable, and he is courteous and obliging to the limit.

The Torch will support him, because he has proven by his tenure in office, that he is made to order for the job.—Central Lake Torch.

Breathe Through the Side.
The caterpillar has no nose yet he does a regular A No. 1 job of breathing. He has a mouth, but nature has so arranged it that he can utilize this organ exclusively for feeding and doesn't have to breathe through it. He does all his breathing through special apparatus consisting of nine holes on each side of his body.

EXAMINE FEET OF HORSES

Their Condition is a Marked Factor in the Capacity of the Animals for Work.

In breeding horses, stress should be laid on having sound, well-shaped feet in both mares and stallions, so as to ensure this desirable quality in their progeny. Poorly shaped, weak and flat feet in the parents, or in one of them, are readily transmitted in the offspring in the same way as any other bad quality. Although poor feet are found in most breeds of horses, they are more frequent in certain breeds than in others. This is due largely to climate influences and the nature of the soil. It may be broadly stated that dry, high-lying soil and a comparatively dry climate favors the production of horses with strong, tough, sound, well-proportioned and rather small feet, while horses bred on low-lying, marshy land and in a damp climate have soft, spreading and often flint feet of an inferior quality as regards ability to stand work.

SHOULD NOT MATE TOO SOON

For Best Results, Angora Goats Must Be Allowed to First Attain Full Maturity.

Angora goats of both sexes will sometimes mate when five months old and often at six months, but from the fact that they are at this age but a month or two from weaning time, and are not nearly full grown, it is obvious that they should not be permitted to mate. They reach maturity when about 10 or 18 months old, and they ought not to mate before that time. If mated earlier the kids will not be so strong or so well developed. They are in their prime when two or six years old, but with proper feeding in winter they have been known to breed regularly until 15 years old. The average life of a goat is about 12 years. There should be no tendency to keep does until they are very old, unless they bring extra good kids.

SALT ESSENTIAL FOR STOCK

Dairy Cow Requires Ounce or More Daily—Best Plan to Let Animals Help Themselves.

Salt is required by all animals. The United States Department of Agriculture says that the dairy cow requires an ounce or more a day and, while she should be given all she needs, she should not be forced to take more than she wants. It is best, therefore, to give only a small quantity on the feed, and to place rock salt in the boxes in the yard, where the stock can lick it at will.

Chair Silencers.

In rooms where the floor is not covered with a soft carpet the moving of chairs is often the cause of a good deal of noise. The trouble may be remedied in this way: From thick felt cut small rounds to glue on to the feet of the chairs. These can be secured from an old hat or cut from an odd piece of floor covering. The chairs can then be moved about quietly even on the hardest floors.

A Pointed Question.

Billy, age five, noticed a picture of "Darby and Joan" and asked who they were. Mother told him they were two who never quarreled or were never cross with each other. After a moment's reflection he said: "Do you suppose there are people like that?"

An Asinine Ad.

FARM STOCK

BEST LOCATION OF HOG LOT

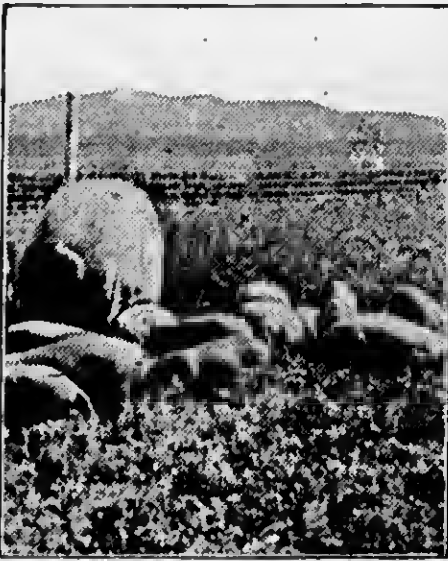

Simple Precaution May Be Means of Preventing Spread of Cholera—Isolate New Stock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When hog cholera sweeps through a neighborhood, causing the death of hundreds of animals, a simple precaution, as the proper location of the hog lot, may be the means of preventing infection. Where not to have the hog lot is pointed out and other suggestions on the control and eradication of this disease are given in a leaflet published by the United States Department of Agriculture. Hog lots should be located away from streams and highways. Free range, streams, irrigation canals, etc., help in the spread of cholera outbreaks. Don't visit neighbors' hog lots or allow neighbors to visit yours if they have sick hogs. Infection may be carried by teams and wagons from highways; don't drive in to hog lots. Isolate for at least two weeks all new stock hogs and those just returned from exhibitions and sales. Don't borrow or lend hogs for breeding purposes if cholera is in the community.

Burn to ashes or bury four feet deep all animals that die on the farm and the unused internal organs of slaughtered animals, since they attract dogs, which may carry infection. If cholera appears in the neighborhood, confine your dog and encourage others to do likewise. Immunize herds located dangerously near infected centers. Careful attention to the feeding and handling of the herd after immunization is an important matter. Mange, lice and worms lower the vitality of hogs and render them more susceptible to disease.

If cholera appears in the herd, post warning notices so your neighbors will know about it, suggests the department. Have all susceptible hogs immunized at once by some one with special training and experience, preferably to a competent veterinarian. Insist that the temperature of all hogs be taken at time of treatment and an increased dose of serum given to those showing a temperature of 104 degrees F. or over. Confine all treated hogs to limited, clean quarters; keep on light, restricted diet for at least two weeks.

A Healthy Pork Family in the Alfalfa Field.

and give plenty of pure drinking water. Anti-hog-cholera serum is not a cure, but when used as soon as cholera appears in a herd it seems to have a favorable effect on some animals in the very early stage of the disease. Don't rely on serum to cure sick hogs; it is primarily a preventive.

If the disease comes to your farm and runs its course, disinfect thoroughly afterwards all places where sick hogs have been. First, remove all infected manure and spread on fields inaccessible to hogs. Burn all litter, rubbish and old troughs from infected pens and lots. Turn over portable hog houses, exposing the interior to sunlight. Thoroughly clean pens and buildings in which sick hogs have been kept, and disinfect by spraying with compound cresol solution, one part to 30 parts of soft water. In summer, pastures and lots are usually made safe within three weeks by the action of sunlight. Fill, drain, or fence off mud wallows. Disinfect and board off all runs underneath buildings. Destroy hogs that don't fully recover; they may carry cholera infection.

Traced Through Correspondence.

Lawyers and others whose business it is to find missing heirs to unclaimed fortunes declare that women are much more difficult to trace than men, owing to their change of name at marriage. They are, however, more ready to keep up correspondence with girl friends of their youthful days, and they often have cause to bless these old remembrances.

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS INCREASE

Figures Show More Children Than During Year 1921

The final compilation of the school census for this year has recently been completed and shows an increase of 56 children of school age in Charlevoix over the figures for 1921.

In 1921, Charlevoix registered 660 young people of school age; in 1922, the census shows an increase over the previous year's figures.

This census is taken annually to determine the amount of state primary fund due Charlevoix in the maintenance of the public schools. If the same pro rata prevails this year, as last, namely $10.50 per child, the city will receive nearly $8,000 of this fund.

LET'S SEE WHAT CAN BE DONE

TO UNRAVEL LOCAL HOSPITAL AFFAIRS AND FINANCES

Entirely New Board of Trustees Elected at Regular Meeting Held Monday Evening

The Board of Trustees of Charlevoix Hospital held a special meeting at the hospital on July 3rd, last, for the purpose of discussing the affairs of the hospital association, and changes of marked importance were made. Trustees present were Pres. H. L. Oldham, Treasurer Ira Adams, Secretary Lisle Shanahan, and Robert F. Sloan, Frank M. Glassford, Richard C. Hammet together with a number of original incorporators and members of the advisory board. A report of the treasurer was read showing receipts amounting to $22,281.48 and disbursements totaling $22,110.48, leaving a balance in the treasury of $171.17. It developed that the indebtedness of the hospital is around $6000, the exact nature of which we have been unable to learn.

In the course of the proceedings a recommendation was made by men interested in the association that all of the present trustees resign and turn the business management over to an entirely new board of trustees. A resolution following out this recommendation was adopted and the trustees immediately submitted their resignations to take effect July 6th, the date set for an adjourned meeting of the board. The following men were thereupon elected to the board to hold office until the next annual election: Harry Craig, Floyd J. Fessenden, Myer A. Levinson, George Glados, Clarence Bridge, Louis Orlowski, and Simon M. Rose. Miss Boss, the hospital superintendent, made a statement of the cost of operating the hospital per month.

We are not entirely familiar with the affairs of the hospital association. We do not know exactly just what kind of an organization it is, except that many of our citizens and summer visitors during the year 1920 contributed liberally to a fund for building and equipping the hospital and became members of the association which elected a Board of Trustees to have charge of the management. For some reason it has developed that matters were not progressing as smoothly as they should, and the hospital was temporarily closed.

There is no doubt that the institution was well-equipped and that it was a well-considered enterprise so far as the needs of Charlevoix were concerned. It has been reported that close attention to details, limitation of expenses, safe-guarding of funds contributed solely for the hospital, with other essential matters of importance, escaped the careful scrutiny of the management, so that affairs were not in the best possible shape. This is an unfortunate thing. We do not know who is at fault, but fault exists somewhere unless it be that a hospital cannot be maintained in Charlevoix, which we do not believe.

This information is not printed as a criticism. We have often stated our views on the subject of knocking, and indiscriminating criticism of persons holding positions of public trust. We do not believe in it. We prefer, rather, to encourage and help every enterprise or undertaking intended to advance the material interests and welfare of our home community and unless there are valid and sufficient reason for doing otherwise, we will be found boosting every minute. We don't know very much about hospitals and hospital management. We aim to keep just as far away from the necessity of hospital ministrations as possible, but unfortunately it is quite frequent that we do not have full control of such matters. That being the case, we desire to make a few observations of our own on the present situation.

STRICKEN WITH AP-PENDICITIS FRIDAY

Archie Livingston, cashier of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, was suddenly taken ill with appendicitis last Friday. Archie is a member of the City Council, and as chairman of the water committee, was observing the progress being made at the new plant, when stricken, and had to be assisted to his home.

He was rushed to the hospital at Petoskey by Dr. Armstrong, where an operation was immediately performed. The operation was successful and from latest reports, the patient is doing nicely and well on the road to recovery.

First, we believe that Charlevoix needs a hospital. Secondly, we believe that a hospital of proper size can be maintained here. With some few exceptions, we believe that these two propositions are conceded to be true by a large majority of our citizens.

We do not mean that this hospital of ours should be a summer hospital. It should be, and must be an all-the-year-around institution, and we think that is the view of all of those who assisted in promoting the undertaking, particularly the many summer residents who gave so enthusiastically toward its foundation. We have little use for any other kind of a thought in regard to it.

We have never understood some of the things which have occurred in the conduct of the hospital during the past year or two. We have heard complaints of high charges; of preferred treatment of one kind and another; of dissatisfaction on the part of physicians from outside points, and other things of that sort, which doubtless could have been easily explained by those who knew the true facts. We don't care much about these things, for they are easily remedied. What we do want to know is just how such an institution (Continued on page four)

LOCALS SUFFER TWO DEFEATS

LOSE TO HARBOR SPRINGS AND EAST JORDAN

Costly Errors and Loose Playing Results in Bringing Home Small End of Score

The Charlevoix team journeyed to Harbor Springs last Sunday with the avowed purpose of bringing back the scalp of the Harbor Springs aggregation. In the second inning, Harbor Springs scored two runs, which Charlevoix tied in the third. Neither team scored again until the last half of the fifth, when through several errors, Charlevoix allowed the Harbor gang to score four more runs. In the sixth we accumulated two more, while Harbor Springs annexed two in the seventh, taking the game by a score of 8-2.

Charlevoix outthit their opponents and should have won the game, but through countless errors, were unable to stop the fast Harbor Springs team.

Suffer Second Defeat

Charlevoix went down to defeat for the second time this week, when the hard hitting East Jordan boys whalloped them to the tune of 10-7. Willis started on the mound for Charlevoix, but on account of his wildness, was relieved in the fifth inning by O'Hara. Pat was unable to stop the heavy hitting of the East Jordan team, who added six more runs to the four already made off Willis. While all of the regular Charlevoix team did not play, and with less errors than at Harbor Springs, had their hurling staff been more effective, Charlevoix would have returned winner.

Mancelona will meet the regular Charlevoix team on the North Side grounds, Sunday July 9th.

IS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

CHEBOYGAN MAN WILL ENTER CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Frank B. Aldrich, State Representative from Cheboygan County Gets in Line

Frank B. Aldrich, a resident of Long Point, Cheboygan county, has announced himself as a candidate for the office of congressman from this district, and will oppose Frank D. Scott of Alpena, present incumbent, in the September primaries.

Mr. Aldrich is a farmer and conducts a resort at Long Beach. For the past two terms he has represented his district in the state legislature, and has proven himself capable of further honors by his soundness of position on all the great issues of the day, and by actual experience has been found equal to every emergency.

He is the father of the Aldrich Good Roads bill, now effective in this state, and fathered the soldiers bonus bill passed to compensate the boys who took part in the recent World War.

Mr. Aldrich visited this city last week on his way to attend the Antrim County Republican banquet held at Fisherman's Paradise, Thursday evening. He does not claim to be an orator, but despite this handicap, is able to give a good talk. At the banquet he spoke as follows:

"Being a farmer, I am of course not versed in oratory, and to bear me out in this statement I want to cite a little incident that came up when I was seeking re-election to the legislature. I asked a friend of mine what he thought of my chances for winning out, and he seriously replied that he believed if I would quit making speeches, that I might have some chance."

In Mr. Meggison's introduction he spoke about my being in the legislature, which reminds me of a story that of course does not apply to our able townsman, who, when I first saw him in the legislature, appeared to me to be out of place. Mr. Aldrich proceeded to tell a couple of very amusing stories about legislators.

In speaking of the legislature and legislators, continued, Mr. Aldrich, we laugh and joke about the subject but, legislation, folks is the most important and foremost thought in the minds of every thinking American today.

Legislation makes taxation and taxation today is the thing weighing upon the minds of every one of us because taxes have reached staggering proportions and something must be done.

An illustration of why your state taxes have mounted is explained in an incident which happened during the last session of the legislature. Through a resolution, introduced and passed, a committee was appointed to investigate means of increasing revenue for the state, this report of this committee to be read at the next legislature. Now the expense of such a committee will run into thousands of dollars and I doubt if the next legislative body will even listen to the report with any interest, let alone taking any action on the matter—but the taxpayer pays the bill. Before the appointment of the members of this committee, the speaker of the house came to me personally and asked me, as chairman of the general tax (Continued on page eight.)

MOTHER OF FOUR BREAKS BOTH ARMS

Falls From Load of Hay While Helping Har Husband

Mrs. Joseph Soltes, living south of Charlevoix on the Norwood road, suffered a most unfortunate accident Tuesday shortly after the noon hour, when she fell off a load of hay, breaking both forearms and badly cutting her face and shoulders. She was helping her husband with the hay and was on the wagon. In some manner she became overbalanced and fell to the ground with the above result. She is the mother of four children, the youngest but four months old. Dr. F. F. McMillan was called and reduced the fractures. The accident will result in a great handicap to the unfortunate woman and family.

Attention! Local Epworthians. Be on hand next Monday night at 8 o'clock in the church parlors to greet our summer visitors at the first social of the season. Adv. 2761.

MEET THIS YEAR AT MACKINAC

MICHIGAN PIONEERS AND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Commemorate the 250th Anniversary of the Pageant of St. Lussion July 27, 28, and 29

The Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society will hold its annual Upper Peninsula meeting this year at Mackinac, according to its secretary, Dr. George N. Fuller, of the Michigan Historical Commission, Lansing.

The dates of the convention are July 27, 28, and 29, on each of which days a program of music and addresses will be given at Mackinac Island, St. Ignace and Mackinaw City.

During the convention, several trips will be made by steamer and launch to historic and scenic spots in the straits of Mackinac and vicinity, for which reduced rates will be secured for all who are interested and desire to join in the state's historical work. It is probable that reduced rates may be secured for this event over the main water and rail line reaching Mackinac from Michigan and Canada.

Starting from convention headquarters on the first day it is planned to visit the points of interest on Mackinac Island, and a basket dinner will be served in the open near British Landing. Harold Titus, story writer of Traverse City, and Lew Allen Chase of the Northern State Normal College will speak at the dinner, and there will be community singing led by Mrs. Rose Webb of Mackinac Island.

In the historic old Fort Mackinac, Perry G. H. Robinson, rector of Trinity church on Mackinac Island will tell the story of old Trinity where thousands of visitors in summers past have worshipped.

A trip to St. Ignace will be made in the forenoon of the second day, where a memorial program will be given, commemorating the 250th anniversary of the founding of the Mission of St. Ignace by Father Marquette. The addresses of the occasion will be given in Marquette Park. Co-operating in this portion of the convention's program are the University of Detroit, Notre Dame University, and Marquette University at Milwaukee.

It was in the spring of 1671 that Father Marquette crossed to St. Ignace from Mackinac Island where he had spent the winter. His remains in part lie buried at St. Ignace on the site of the Mission church, which now forms the center of the park.

In the evening, at Marquette Park on Mackinac Island, Charles J. Johnson of Marquette will tell the story of the famous "Pageant of St. Lussion, 1671," on which occasion St. Lussion took possession of all the vast region tributary to the Great Lakes in the name of the French King, Louis XIV.

The closing event of the meeting will be staged in the state park on Wawatam Beach, the site of the fort at Old Mackinaw where in July, 1762 took place the famous ball game and subsequent Indian massacre of the garrison. Mr. Stanley Newton of Sault Ste. Marie will tell the story of Alexander Henry, the English trader, who narrowly escaped death on that occasion. Mr. Brayton Saltontall of Charlevoix will tell the story of old Chief Kishkauko, famous in the early history of the north country.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR MODERN FLAT

SMALL DAMAGE RESULT OF FIRE

Efficiency of Fire Department Again Demonstrated

Immediate response to fire alarms and quick and efficient work upon their arrival at the scene of the blaze was most apparent, and Charlevoix's fire department demonstrated its ability at Monday and Tuesday evening's fire that won the approval of both citizens and summer visitors.

Monday night the alarm was sounded at 1:30 from the home of Sam Levy, known as the Young ston cottage, on Park avenue. The fire started from the fireplace, a spark apparently having been sucked through the mason work and lodging in the wood work back of the fire place. The fire was well under way in the side walls from the basement to the roof, but was soon under control, and resulted in small damage to the house.

Tuesday evening about 9:30 a blaze was discovered in the east house at the summer home of Windsor Aldrich, on Belvedere avenue. The fire started some distance from the boat house and within a few minutes would have had a good start followed by heavy property loss. The fire ladders were soon on the job and had the blaze under control. The loss was nominal.

JULY 6 IS LAST DATE FOR PETITIONS

FOR AMENDMENTS TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION

Candidates for State Offices Must File Petitions Prior to the 12th of August

Petitions to have Constitutional amendments submitted to the voters at the general election Nov. 6, Chas. J. Deland, secretary of state, announced Saturday. The state law stipulates that all amendment petitions must be filed at least four months prior to a general election.

Candidates for state offices, including Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and members of the Legislature, as well as candidates for the United States Senate and House of Representatives have until Aug. 12 to file petitions. Under the law, the time for filing these petitions closes a month before primary election day, Sept. 12.

Petitions already have been filed for a vote on four amendments. These are a parochial school amendment similar to the one defeated at the general election in 1920, the legislative reapportionment amendment, the so-called country home rule amendment and the amendment providing for the appointment of the state superintendent of public instruction by the State Board of Education. None of these petitions has contained enough signatures to put the amendment on the ballot, Mr. Deland said.

State Senator Herbert F. Baker, of Weadock, who was named as the choice of a farmer-labor organization for the nomination for United States Senator, but declined to run last week filed incomplete petitions for state senator to succeed himself.

CONSERVE BEACH FOR PLAY GROUND

Horseback Riding Should be Placed Under Ban Immediately

Complaints are being registered by north side residents regarding the habit of a few people, especially among the younger class, of riding horses on the beach between the Beach Hotel and the Bromley cottage.

The beautiful beach is usually thronged with children, who have played in the sand with comparative safety, being brought there by their parents and nurses and allowed to amuse themselves as they saw fit.

Recently the habit has been formed among a few of riding horses up and down this short stretch. This practice should be stopped at once. There is plenty of room for horseback riding on the beach north of the Bromley cottage, or on the numerous roads about the city.

Charlevoix is sadly in need of public play grounds for children. Numerous automobiles make it unsafe for them to even cross the streets, without the thought of playing on them. This short stretch of beach is an ideal and safe place. Let them play here to their heart's content without danger from horseback riders.

CRUISING SPEED OF 14 MILES

MAGNIFICENT CRUISER ENTERS HER HOME PORT

Sylvia III Owned by Logan G. Thomson, Arrives From Bristol, R. I.—A Credit to Owner

Captain G. C. Geiken and engineer, Roy Rancor entered Charlevoix harbor at 7:00 p. m. Saturday with the magnificent cruiser Sylvia III, owned by Logan G. Thomson of the Belvedere resort and Cincinnati, Ohio.

Built by the Herreshoff Manufacturing Co. of Bristol, R. I. and measuring 99 feet long with a 19 foot beam, she has a tonnage of 83 gross and 58 net tons. Two Knight type special motors of 140 h. p. each, the only two of this design ever built, gives this fine boat a cruising speed of 14 miles an hour.

Luxurious accommodations prevail throughout. Upon entering the after companion-way, an elegantly furnished drawing room greets the visitor, which opens into three double state rooms and bath. Amidship is a modern and fully equipped kitchen, or galley, and is easily accessible to the spacious and wonderfully furnished dining room. A companion-way from the galley reaches the fore-castle containing captain, engineer and crew quarters and is adequate to take care of 10 or 12 persons. These apartments have shower bath in connection. The entire boat is finished on the inside with black walnut, while the outside is of mahogany.

A modern refrigerator is directly below the galley, which is supplied by an ice-making machine, located in the engine-room. A fully equipped lighting system is used, giving service such as light, heat and power to all parts of the ship.

In addition to two dingies or small boats, she is equipped with an auxiliary motor boat 20 ft. long with a 10 h. p. motor. A radio outfit will be installed, giving her ample protection at all times.

Starting from Bristol on June 16, the Sylvia made her first stop at New York City. Albany, N. Y., was next, where she entered the Erie Canal for Lake Erie. From Detroit she came directly to Charlevoix and although she encountered heavy fog, the crew report a very pleasant trip.

This fine new cruiser will occupy the boat house on the south shore of Round Lake, recently completed by J. M. Saunders, and as Charlevoix is to be the Sylvia's home port, we wish to congratulate Mr. Thomson on his purchase and assure him the citizens of Charlevoix are proud of this new addition to the already fine class of boats here.

Mr. Thomson has been the owner of several very fast boats in the past, but has now decided that comfort is what he wishes, rather than speed, and we are certain that the Sylvia III will meet all requirements.

CHARLES H. EMERY FOR COUNTY CLERK

Popular Treasurer Announces Candidacy at Primaries

Charles H. Emery, for the past four years treasurer of Charlevoix county, has announced his candidacy for the office of county clerk at the September primaries.

Mr. Emery is the youngest man in years to fill any county office, but as to his ability to handle the work there is no question. His services as treasurer has proven that he is sound in judgment, courteous and obliging, and that during his tenure of office the management of this most exacting and difficult position has been filled to the satisfaction of every voter in the county.

He believes that his close attention to the position he has occupied is deserving of further consideration, and ask the support of all in his candidacy for clerk.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW WATER PLANT

Work on the new water plant continues to progress satisfactorily. The pumping outfit is working night and day, delivering about 1600 gallons per minute, to keep the water down as low as possible in order to set the foundation of the building.

The reservoir is down to a depth of six feet, which is practically one-third of the estimated depth. The laying of the distribution main is proceeding nicely and no doubt will be completed within a short time.

Basic Principles of Conservation

"Conservation" and "Pinchot" are almost synonymous in some parts of the country. Pinchot is finally being understood in his own State of Pennsylvania where he is the Republican nominee for Governor. And it may be that the "Ford offer" will serve a very useful purpose in vindicating before the country the Pinchot principles of "conservation." Philip T. Wells, president of the Connecticut Forestry Association, is the man who wrote the two famous vetoes of President Roosevelt on the water power bills of 1908 and 1909, and he has stated before the senate committee that the Ford offer violates all the basic principles for which conservationists have fought for so many years. Mr. Wells and Mr. Pinchot wore the same armor in the famous political battles when "conservation" was a bigger issue, and less understood than is the Ford offer at the present time. Mr. Wells defined what he called the "Roosevelt water policy" to the senate committee on agriculture and forestry. "There were certain principles of of that policy for which we contended all those years," he said. "The first one was that there should be no grant of water power privileges for more than fifty years. The second was that there should be some rental paid to the government for the raw water power. The third was that there should be public control of the rates charged to consumers, and the service rendered to them by the lessee. It was always assumed that the lessee was going to risk his own money in building the works, and take the risks of any disaster that might come to it; then there was the further principle which we contended for, and which was finally embodied in the water power act, that excess profits, if any existed after regulation of rates and service, should be paid to the government." According to Wells: "The Ford proposal seems to violate every one of those principles. There is no pretense of any rental for the raw water power. There is no fifty year limit." He commented on the fact that there is no proposal to furnish public control of the rates Mr. Ford would charge or the services he might render. There is likewise no provision for the return of excess profits to the federal treasury.

Incidentally, Mr. Wells pointed out that the personal representative of Mr. Ford in Washington in the matter is the identical individual who led the fight for the "big interests," as they were called, in opposition to the "Roosevelt water policy." He likens the Ford offer to the old fight and says that the representative of Mr. Ford is "consistent," since the demands made for many years by the "Wall Street men, and so forth, as we call them, are pikers in comparison to Ford in this matter." Mr. Ford has never personally appeared before committees of the house or senate in support of his proposition, although he has frequently been invited to do so. His personal attitude in the matter conforms to the observation of Oscar Wilde who described a character: "He knew the precise psychological moment when to say nothing."

Asking the Government to Intervene

In urging a conference between the warring coal mining interests, and the intervention of the government, one of the leaders in the strike complains that "it appears impossible to make people understand in July that there must be a December." This observation is not cryptic, since this public has grown to expect a coal strike some time between July and December. The coal barons and the miners are always solicitous about the public getting hurt by reason of these annual industrial rows, and all parties concerned have grown into the habit of "concerting public opinion"—as a former president expressed the process to a crowd of women suffragists. When public opinion is sufficiently "concerted" the combatant miners and their lordly masters always find a way to get together and keep the nation's home-fires burning.

Labor and capital no longer dispute the right of the public to enter into its controversies, and whenever the shoe begins to pinch, the employers and employees just naturally ask the government to intervene. The coal miners are insisting that the whole trouble is that the operators are determined to crush the miners organizations. This is undoubtedly true. The coal operators are now refusing to enter into the suggested conferences with the miners because conferences would be a recognition of organized labor. The employers figure that sooner or later they will be forced by the government to submit to some kind of compulsory settlement of their differences with their men, and they class this as a victory because it relieves them from "recognizing" the strikers. Thus we have each year a "patched-up peace," and the war between the unions and the anti-union employers goes merrily on except for the interruption during the strike. Of course coal has gone higher and higher year after year, in consequence; but what of that as long as the public pays the bill! Unquestionably the government will eventually intervene, since the flow of coal to its natural uses compels Uncle Sam to take a hand in order to protect the public.

More Intervention

It does not take long for a threatened railroad strike to reach Washington. In the coal industry the belligerents spar for time because of a lack of direct contact between employers and employees. That is the way where labor lacks organization. But in railroad affairs it is all different. Any breach of railroad employees are able, through their Brotherhoods, to definitely state what they want. If they make a demand the employers, through their associations, can return an explicit answer. Or the communication can go the other way around, and the process is the same. It doesn't take long for them to "get down to business." When a difference exists the representatives of the different groups can get together, and in most cases there is an adjustment. In such instances the public has no particular interest. Further along in their affairs we find the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board, with broad powers to meet most situations. This would be all-sufficient except for the fact that the railroad managers and the railroad employees do not always agree to the awards of the government. Then they talk about strikes and lockouts, and display unreasonable symptoms characteristic in all cases where someone wants a "scrap." In order to prevent a tie-up of the industrial affairs of the country it has frequently been necessary for members of the cabinet, and even the president, to "intervene," and arrange terms of peace. One sometimes wonders whether there is ever to be an end to these disturbing strikes, and threats of strikes. There is no positive answer. Attempts are always being made to set up courts and arbitration boards with "teeth" in them. Industrial conferences have been held at which the leading men of the country have sought solutions of the problem. The government has on file a complete report which seems to provide a remedy for the situation, and to furnish a way to prevent all strikes. This report bears the signature and approval of W. B. Wilson, recent Secretary of Labor; Herbert Hoover, Martin H. Glynn, Thomas W. Gregory, Oscar S. Straus, Owen D. Young, and a number of other great leaders in national thought. It is as fine a piece of constructive work as has ever been submitted to congress. But like John Brown's body it "lies mouldering in its grave"—all because it does not suit Samuel Gompers, the one great power in industrial warfare who insists through all seasons, through fair weather and foul, that the "right to strike must not be abridged."

Kidnapping in Mexico

Mexico is developing the industry of kidnapping Americans and holding them for ransom. The Mexican government has been trying to explain it all to the United States as an attempt to discredit the Oregon government, which is seeking recognition. If some way is devised to check the kidnapping business it is likely that Mexico will not suffer much in the eyes of other governments since it is known the new "industry" is no more lawless than Mexico has been accustomed to tolerate under the most advantageous conditions the country has ever known.

can be best managed to meet the requirements of Charlevoix and vicinity.
In the first place, whoever is in charge of the hospital should be manager. This manager should be a person who knows the business, of course, but most of all should know the needs and conditions of the people whom the hospital is intended to serve. We have many people who cannot afford to pay high hospital charges, but their life and health are as precious to them and their loved ones, as the life and health of the man or woman of ample means. There should be some provision for ascertaining these conditions and providing for them. We have been opposed all along to the idea of the city owning and operating the hospital. We believe a private institution will better serve our needs and be more efficient. Yet we do think that the people generally, the tax-payers as a whole, should bear a part of the cost of maintenance. Some determinable and fixed amount, call it a subsidy or what you will, that will bring the hospital closer to the people and make it a beneficial institution that will take care of all no matter what their financial circumstances may be. Now we are not saying that the hospital, in the past, has failed altogether in these matters, but we do know the feeling which exists.

We are of the firm opinion that a layman board vested with the management of the hospital, if given or assuming control of the details of management will make a fizzle of the whole thing. In our judgment, this board should confine itself to looking after the financial end of the concern and leave all other details to the experienced manager or director whom it employs. We commend this statement to the consideration of the new board for what it is worth.

Another matter which we would suggest to the new board is the matter of published reports. This is an institution of the people and the people will be interested in scanning these reports and will appreciate the confidence. Publication of these matters costs nothing, and a newspaper is glad to get them.

We are not informed as to the indebtedness that is outstanding. It looks like a formidable amount, but that should not be deterrent. It should be met and paid, if it is a legal liability, and there is no way of paying it except to buckle down and get the money. We await the report of the new board in this matter.

Our diagnosis of the situation at the present time (that word "diagnosis" seems applicable) is that the hospital needs only closer association with the people, the public, and a conservative, hard-headed, practical management. We have understood that it is planned to secure the services of a superintendent who is well known locally and who has had a large and varied experience in this work, who knows the conditions here and who would put her heart and soul into the task of making a success of the institution. We hope that this arrangement may be made.

Let us all take an interest in this subject and see what can be done.

EAST JORDAN WANTS NEW LIGHTING PLANT

Will Vote on Bonding Proposition at Special Election

East Jordan is confronted with a lighting proposition similar to the one which Charlevoix has but recently overcome. Their present system has, basing our statement from the present situation, proven inadequate for their urgent needs, and now they propose to vote at a special election to bond for $70,000 for a municipal plant.

The East Jordan Herald, in its issue of July 1, has this to say about the matter:

"At a meeting of the Common Council of the City of East Jordan, held last week, it was decided to present to the electorate of the City of East Jordan a proposition to bond this municipality in the sum of Seventy Thousand Dollars to own and operate an electric lighting plant and distributing system."

"The vote on this will be held on Monday, July 17th, and it is hoped that every voter in the city will, on that date register his or her affirmative or negative opinion on this proposition."

"This question has been agitated for a number of years, and it is gratifying to know that it has finally come to a head."

"East Jordan has had for years an electric lighting and power system, under private ownership, second to none in the state."

"The crux of the whole proposition lies in the question of whether or not the citizens of our city are being charged an exorbitant rate. In interviewing a number of our citizens, opinion seems to be somewhat divided on the question of bonding."

WAS TAKEN ILL OVER A YEAR AGO

James T. Mitchell Dies After Long Period of Illness

James Frazier Mitchell was born Sept. 1st, 1850 in Milton, Drumloch, Perthshire, Scotland. In the fall of 1874, when still a young man, he came to America and located at Grand Rapids, Michigan. Three years later he made a visit to his old home and in a few months returned and settled in Eveline township, near Ironton, where he spent the remainder of his life. Mr. Mitchell was united in marriage to Sarah Lavina Stevens, April 15th, 1879. Mrs. Mitchell died October 1st, 1907. To this union, nine children were born, Frederick who died in infancy, Mrs. Edward Cunningham of Marion township, Harry of Flint, Walter of Holland, Mich., Clarence of Lacener, Wash., Earnest of Manson, Wash., Joseph of Sturgis, Mich., Mrs. Earnest Spencer and Vern Spencer of Libby, Mont.

There also lives to mourn his loss one sister, Mrs. James Walker of Blairgourie, Scotland, one brother, James Frazier Mitchell of Charlevoix, and 25 grand children. Mr. Mitchell was taken ill a year ago, and never fully recovered. Death came to relieve him Friday, June 30th, at Lockwood Hospital, Potoskey, Michigan, where he had been for several months. The funeral took place from the home of Mrs. Edward Cunningham on Monday, July 3rd. Interment at Brookside Rev. K. E. Quant, officiating.

JULY 10 ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING

But One Change to Be Made This Year

The annual school meeting of Charlevoix city and township will be held in the high school room, Monday evening, July 10, at 8:00 p. m., at which time one member of the school board will be chosen, to fill the position now held by Mrs. Lisle Shanahan, elected last year to fill vacancy.

All qualified voters are eligible to cast a vote at the school meeting for the election of officers, but when it comes to raising money, only tax payers can vote.

Every citizen, especially those who have children attending school, should have a voice in school affairs. If you do not attend the meeting, and officers are selected to conduct school affairs whom you do not deem efficient, the fault is yours and you have no right to criticize. If school affairs are not run to your liking, or you have a grievance, the place to voice it is at the annual school meeting, not among your immediate neighborhood.

The school board is one of the important bodies conducting public affairs in this community. It cannot successfully operate the school system unless it has the support of the community. Members of this body should be chosen who have the ability to handle all matters in connection with conducting the school system. It is one of the most important duties of a citizen to attend this meeting, and a representative body of citizens should be present.

MOONLIGHT ORCHESTRA ARRIVES IN CITY

Produce Dance Music Full of Pep and Vim

With the arrival of the "Moonlight Orchestra," composed of six young expert musicians, under the personal management of Frank B. Winegar of Grand Rapids, those among our summer colony and local residents who delight in dancing will have the opportunity of doing so to music that is an inspiration to dance to.

The leader, Mr. Winegar, is a graduate of Peddie University at Hightstown, N. J., whose home is in Grand Rapids. This is not the first visit to Charlevoix, as last season he was here with a similar musical organization.

The orchestra is composed of six members, Retting (a blind musician), piano; Winegar, tenor banjo; Spencer, saxophone and clarinet; Brosey, soprano saxophone; Leland, drums; Metzgar, trombone.

The orchestra is open to engagements and will be heard at many leading social functions during the present season.

Let's go! Where? To a social at the Methodist church next Monday night, July 10, at 8 o'clock. Everyone welcome. Adv. 27tl.

Will Spend the Summer Season in Charlevoix

We are advised from a reliable source, that our popular Oriental Shopman, A. S. Mussellam, was quietly married at 4:00 p. m. Saturday at the home of his bride, Miss Olga Balish, in Chicago.

Miss Balish was a childhood friend of Mr. Mussellam in his native land, and the Saturday event was the culmination of this friendship.

They are spending a few days at Chicago and Grand Rapids before coming to Charlevoix for the summer, where they will occupy the H. B. Jacobs cottage on Clinton street for a few months.

RESORTERS MAKE BIG FISH CATCH

Spend Several Days on Base Grounds at E' Poufette

A record catch of small mouth black bass was made last week by A.
W. Goldsmith, Medford Fox, Wm. J.
Schroder and Jack Plaut, members of our summer colony, who made the trip to E' Poufette, on the northern shores of Lake Michigan, in the pleasure boat Jap, owned by Mr.
Plant.

Some thirty-five bass were caught, ranging in weight from one and one-half pounds to three pounds. The largest fish caught was a Northern pike, weighing between twenty and twenty-two pounds, 38 inches long, and one of the largest of its kind caught in Lake Michigan waters for some time.

The party left Thursday morning, returning Saturday afternoon. Numerous parties make the trip to this point each season and record catches are usually made.

Get rid of that indigestion, stomach trouble and nervousness, build up your system and regain that lost weight. Take Tania. F. J. Fessen-

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—
B. O. Hagerman

Method of Making Bordeaux Mixture

No doubt there will be a number of Charlevoix county farmers aside from the ones growing certified seed who will want to use Bordeaux mixture with their napsack sprayers or wheel sprayers they use for bugs. Bordeaux mixture spreads your arsenical poison better and keeps it from washing off the vines. The man who will use Bordeaux, even if he has no power sprayer, will get results. We are giving the ways and means of Bordeaux mixture for the assistance of those who desire to use it. This method is used by Dr. D. L. Nixon. Dr. Nixon is an authority on potatoes and spraying them. Following is his method of procedure.

"Bordeaux mixture is easy to make either by the gallon or by the hundred gallons. All it requires is (a) copper sulphate (blue stone), (b) stone lime (caustic lime, lump lime) and (c) water. This last ingredient (water) is usually found in great abundance on or near most farms, and fortunate is the potato grower who has an abundant supply near the potato patch. Now it doesn't require a hundred dollar building to make Bordeaux mixture. Two fifty gallon barrels (whiskey barrels serve the purpose very nicely) is all the building equipment that is necessary. Place these two barrels beside the water supply. Nothing is better than right on the bank of a running stream or pond. Weigh up fifty pounds of copper sulphate in a burlap sack, and fasten as near to the top of one of the barrels as possible. This is accomplished easily by pulling the top of the sack over the edge of the barrel and nailing, then fill the barrel with water. The above operation should be done a few hours at least before the spraying begins, so that the copper sulphate may have time to dissolve. This is perhaps, best done the evening before. It works while you sleep. Don't put the copper sulphate into the bottom of the barrel and expect it to dissolve.

"Dump fifty pounds of stone lime into the other barrel, and add water slowly at first sprinkling evenly over the lime, and as the chunks begin to dry, add a little more until a vigorous heat begins to generate. Then add the water rapidly enough to prevent the formation of dust, but slowly enough to keep the consistency of thick mud. Let it cook until when stirred from one side to another it is as smooth and about the consistency of butter. Next fill the barrel with water. You now have fifty pounds of lime in fifty gallons of water, and fifty pounds of sulphate in fifty gallons of water. This will make 625 gallons of bordeaux mixture, and is enough to spray six acres once. The remainder of the operation is also quite simple. Place the spray rig most conveniently for filling. Fill about one-third full of water and add, (assuming that the tank holds 100 gallons) eight gallons from the lime barrel (stir well). Then add more water until the tank is about three-fourths full, and add 8 gallons from the copper sulphate barrel, (stir well), and fill the rest of the way full with water." The tank now contains 100 gallons of bordeaux mixture, of the standard 4-4-5 formula or 8-8-100 and costs about 80 cents. The above operation sounds long and tedious, but it makes for efficiency and takes about thirty minutes. It makes spraying a one man job. There is no mixing and stirring to get the material into the tank. It runs like water. There is no clogging of nozzles. It is cheap. It controls foliage diseases of the potato and never burns. It is a splendid carrier of insecticides, e. g., paris green, the arsenicals, or nicotine.

"What potato growers most need is a demonstration to show that real spraying is practical, that it will work in with their other farm operations, that it is the most profitable operation in the production of potatoes."

Fungus Injures Cherry Trees

Damage to the Traverse City cherry crop from shot-hole fungus disease is said to be fully 25 per cent of the crop. The fungus made its appearance only a few days ago and passed from orchard to orchard with considerable speed. Orchard owners have been directed to use Bordeaux mixture spray. Leaves of trees in many orchards have been almost entirely stripped from the trees.

Met Terrible Accident

Saturday afternoon Bernice Hoeklin, young son of Dorm Hoeklin of North Milton, met with a terrible accident. He attempted to stop the one and one-half h. p. gasoline engine. Instead of turning off the gas, he tried to kick off the belt, which passes through the side of the building. His foot was caught by the belt and his leg was drawn through the narrow opening through which the belt passed to the inside of the building. His leg was broken in three places and badly mangled, the bone protruding from the flesh for eight inches. He was taken to the hospital at Traverse City and the fracture reduced and a steel jacket made to hold the bone in place. An attempt is being made to save the injured member, but the outcome is problematical.—Elk Rapids Progress.

Not After the Widows

A robber taken at Saginaw protests that his motives are not bad, as he steals only from the rich, and wouldn't for a moment think of going out on the street and holding up a poor starving widow, and taking the last $5 with which she was going down town to buy a pair of silk stockings.

AT THE MOVIES

"The Son of Wallingford," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday cost over three-quarters of a million-dollars to produce. A whole town of 5,000 population in addition to 3,000 actors was engaged for the big scenes. A lake 500 x 2,000 feet was constructed at a cost of $20,000. Upon this was poured 15,000 gallons of crude oil. It was set afire and burned for ten days. Huge whirlpools of flame leaped hundreds of feet into the air, while players and cameramen in boats risked life and limb to get action never before shown upon the screen. The fire scenes have been pronounced the greatest of their kind ever filmed.

Fairbanks Spent a Million Dollars

For the first time since he became a screen actor, Douglas Fairbanks spent a cold million dollars in order to make "The Three Musketeers," which has proven to be the film sensation of the picture world, and which was adapted by Edward Knoblock from Alexander Dumas' famous novel, and directed by Fred Niblo.

I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they completely and permanently cured me of this trouble." 60c at all dealers. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Never before in the history of the motion picture industry was a photograph produced on so lavish a scale as was this forthcoming Fairbanks offering. Nearly a hundred thousand dollars was spent on costumes alone, and more than half that amount was expended in the building of exterior sets, not counting the ship and the pier which cost a small fortune besides.

More women play with Doug in important roles in "The Three Musketeers" than ever before appeared with him in any feature. Marguerite De La Motte, Mary MacLaren and Barbara La Marr, all stars in their own right, who are among the highest paid photoplayers on the screen, take the leading parts.

All told, there are on hundred and sixteen persons in the cast not counting the extras, and the weekly payroll for "The Three Musketeers" reached the staggering figure of over $50,000 a week.

Coming to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

sold under the old saloon system and would be a clear case of nullification of the constitution.

What would you think of a candidate for congress who after the adoption of the 13, 14, and 15th amendments, declared he would vote to nullify these constitutional amendments which declare that "neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as punishment for crime shall exist in the United States?" Yet the proposal of the liquor forces is no less illegal, no less a violation of the highest and most sacred law of the land, the constitution, than would have been the proposal to nullify constitutional amendment in reference to slavery. If we are to enforce the liquor law "a little," or "in part," or "in moderation" so that the old soaks can get used to it by degrees, why not have enforced the slavery amendment "in part" or "in moderation" so that the slave holders and slaves alike might have gotten used to it by degrees. Yet no one proposed such a silly idea. If the pup's tail must be cut off, better do the job at once than inch by inch and in this case the best place to cut it off is just behind the pup's ears.

WITTY EVEN IN DREAMLAND Rev. Washington Gladden Was Able to Recall Humorous Response He Made During Sleep.

Many of us have dreamed of writing a poem, delivering a speech or making a witty remark, that seemed at the time wonderfully brilliant, but that, recalled on waking, proved to be either commonplace or wholly meaningless. That is not always the case, however, as a story once told by the Rev. Washington Gladden proves.

He dreamed that the old house that formerly stood near his church was still there, and that old Mr. Deshler, who had been dead many years, still lived in it. Doctor Gladden also knew that his old dog, George, who never failed to bark at the minister when he passed the house, still lived. In the dream Doctor Gladden was passing the house when the door opened and the old gentleman came out, followed by George, who, as usual, rushed barking up to Doctor Gladden.

"Now, now, George," said the old man, "you ought not to do that. You know that's a friend of ours; that's Doctor Gladden."

"Oh! I have met George before," responded Doctor Gladden in his dream. "In fact George and I have for some time had a how-wowing acquaintance."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Farms Supply Wild Life Loss. According to figures supplied by the Dominion bureau of statistics, losses to the fur industry of Canada caused by the spread of civilization in the North are more than made up by rapid development of the fur farming industry.

In 1920 there were 587 fur farms in Canada, 578 of them foxes, six mink, two raccoon and one karakule sheep. The animals on these farms are valued at a little less than $5,000,000, silver foxes leading.

The industry commenced on Prince Edward Island and has worked west into British Columbia. By provinces the farms are distributed as follows: Prince Edward Island, 299; Nova Scotia, 55; New Brunswick, 57; Quebec, 80; Ontario, 42; Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 4; Alberta, 15; British Columbia, 11 and Yukon Territory, 14.

ation committee, if I desired to act on this committee and I emphatically refused.

Another illustration of where the money goes is the junket trips where members of the House and Senate investigate the different state institutions. First the House appoints committees to investigate each state institution, then the Senate appoints similar committees, following their investigation, the Ways and Means committee of both the House and Senate appoint sub-committees to investigate those same institutions. We, therefore, have four committees to do a job that the Ways and Means committee could care for themselves. All the additional expense of these extra committees could be eliminated and the legislature could continue in session, if the proposition was properly handled, but—this condition continues to exist and the tax payer pays the bill.

Another illustration is our penitentiary at Jackson, with 11200 able bodied men, manufacturing merchandise in competition to honest American labor, receiving only as compensation, their meagre support. Each year they turn out thousands and thousands of dollars worth of merchandise, which is sold on the retail market at regular prices. The manufacture of this merchandise, with such small pay roll, should produce for the state an enormous profit, but—what happens? Every year the state turns over to this institution from $100,000 up, to help support an institution which at least should be self-supporting, and the tax payer of the state pays the bill. How long would we last if we ran our business on the same basis. But the state goes on in the same manner year after year and the tax payer has to dig down.

Another instance is the prison at Marquette. My recollection of a report is, that there was hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of raw material bought at the peak of war time prices, with the tax payer's money, and left upon the shelves when the slump came. What was the result? The goods were sold at greatly lower prices and the state took an enormous loss and the tax payer paid the bill.

I have just outlined a few of the loop holes where money slips through. As they come to my mind as I talk on this all important subject of taxation, there are many others which cost the taxpayer equally as much, and perhaps more.

Folks, there is only one way to reduce taxation and that is, thru legislation, and legislation is made by the men you elect to represent you.

Of course we must expect a certain higher tax than before the war because conditions are different; we live differently; we demand more. Before the war we were satisfied to drive to town in a horse, and buggy, spending hours and hours to go there and back. Now we ride to town in our automobiles, in about the time it takes to harness up the horse. We used to haul produce to town in a wagon over sandy roads, dusty roads, muddy roads and bumpy roads, taking a whole day for the trip. But now, we travel over paved roads, down and back, before breakfast. Good roads have brought this about and folks I take a great deal of pleasure in saying at this time that I introduced the trunk line bill in the house which provides that your county pays only a small portion of the cost of building these roads.

On the face of it, it might appear that eventually your country would have to pay the balance, but, folks this is not the case, because, take for example, Wayne county, with one-third of the state tax to pay and probably no more trunk line mileage than in your own county. They pay one-third of the state's bond issue because they have one-third of the state's valuation. This enables the sparsely settled counties of the Northern part of the state to build roads which would be financially impossible without the aid of the state through more valuable Southern Michigan counties.

Good roads spell Northern Michigan's development and prosperity, but there is a large stumbling block before us. It is the broken link in our highway system and that is the water which divides the upper and lower peninsula.

Do you folks know that the excessive rates charged for transporting automobiles across the Straits of Mackinac is sending through the State of Wisconsin, seventy-five per cent of the auto travel that should rightfully come up through our own state. The result is that land values in Wisconsin are from fifty per cent to two hundred per cent greater than our own, although Michigan land is equal if not superior in quality.

Why not have a nationally owned and operated ferry at Mackinaw City to transport autos across the straits the same as the locks at the Soo pass boat gates, with only a nominal charge for each passenger to take care of the operating cost.

AUTO STOLEN AT KANSAS CITY

Thieves Make Way With Dr. Wilkinson's Buick

While visiting at an amusement park in Kansas City, thieves made way with a seven-passenger Buick car owned by Dr. A. M. Wilkinson of this city.

Dr. Wilkinson and wife and four children were on their way from Douglas, Arizona, to Charlevoix, where they intended to spend the next six weeks at their home on the north side. They left Douglas on the 20th of June, arriving at Kansas City on the 26th. They were viewing the beauty spots of that city when the car was stolen. After spending three days in the city in hopes that the car would be recovered by the police, they proceeded on their way here by rail, arriving Saturday morning.

To date no trace of the car has been found. It was valued at $1,800 with an insurance coverage of $1,200. The above amount did not include some $200.00 in extra tires and other equipment.

STEAMER MANITOU RAMS WILBUR DOCK

Flagship of Michigan Transit Co. Has Difficulty in Landing

The steamer Manitou, in port last Thursday evening, on her south-bound trip, experienced considerable trouble in trying to land. Upon approaching the dock, the captain evidently mis-judged the speed and distance of the boat, with the result of striking the dock apparently head on.

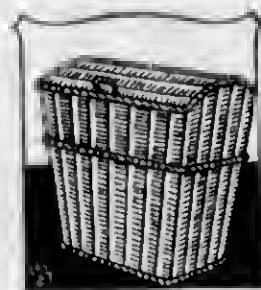

Aside from wrecking a large portion of the dock owned by O. E. Wilbur, no damage was done the boat and she sailed on time.

STOP IT BEFORE IT HAPPENS

SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENTS ARE BOUND TO HAPPEN

The Wild Delivery Boy and His Wild Light Delivery Truck are Proving a Menace

Charlevoix is making little progress in the solution of its traffic problems, we say problems, for we have many of them, which daily are becoming more serious, and which if not handled with dispatch, will assume proportions that are a menace to the city and its inhabitants.

Hardly a day passes when several narrow escapes from collision are reported. Bridge street is usually crowded with traffic with little or no regulation. Drivers that surely observe traffic regulations in other cities, upon their arrival here, assume the attitude that we are a "hick" town, the police department is a joke, and they drive about as they please. And we have become convinced, from personal observations, that there is more truth than fiction in this conclusion.

The handling of tourists and local touring cars could be made an easy matter, but what about the "flivver-boob?" By this word we refer to the wild delivery boy in his equally wild light delivery truck. Endowed with the recklessness of youth in the first place, and with a light car that is early managed in the second place, these boys and young men are literal sore spots in the city. One cannot expect the city to be thoroughly policed insofar as this reckless element is concerned. If we had a dozen traffic policemen they would not be found on side streets or streets where there are the greatest number of homes and children. And it is in these sections of the city that the "flivver-boob" greatly thrives. Here he actually menaces the life and limb of mothers and children. He swings corners at 20 and 25 miles an hour. He swerves and he darts with expert control of his car. He is in a hurry because he is anxious to "clean up" his deliveries, he is inconsiderate and thoughtless and foolhardy. He is everything that youth is, plus a sturdy little motor of many horses. That he doesn't kill and maim more frequently is because he has the populace bluffed—the populace in this instance being principally women and children. But he is wild, wild, and soon there will be a real accident and then a big holler.

Let's stop it before it happens. Let's watch the streets off the beaten track and hold the shop keepers responsible.

FRIENDS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Remains of Mrs. H. A. Carr Laid to Rest at Brookside

Mrs. H. A. Carr, a resident of Charlevoix for the past 30 years or more, died at the Petoskey hospital Friday of last week shortly before being placed on the operating table, the direct cause of her death being due to cancer.

The remains were taken to the home of her son, George A. Carr of East Jordan, at whose home she had been visiting when taken to the hospital.

Deceased was one of the pioneer residents of Charlevoix and enjoyed the respect and confidence of the entire community, and her death is deeply regretted by her numerous friends. She was 68 years of age, and had been in poor health for some time.

Funeral services were held from the home of her son in East Jordan, Monday, at 2:00 p. m., conducted by Rev. H. R. E. Quant of the M. E. church. The remains were brought to this city and laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Virginia Tubbe, expert bridge teacher of Chicago, is at the Inn again and is prepared to give lessons, either private or in class. Elementary or advanced pupils invited. Adv. 2812.

USUAL ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOL MEETING

Mrs. Lila Shanahan Re-elected on Board of Trustees

The annual school meeting of School District No. 1, Charlevoix City and Township, took place in the high school assembly room Monday evening, with about the usual attendance as in former years.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, as was a lengthy and comprehensive report from the librarian, which were approved and accepted. Each report were complete and showed the various amounts of money received and expended during the past school year.

Mrs. Lila Shanahan was re-elected as a member of the board of trustees to succeed herself.

After routine business had been completed, various school problems were discussed, among which was a ruling adopted and for a time enforced, in an effort to check tardiness. From our observation, we assume that from a teacher's viewpoint the ruling was a complete success, while from the parent's standpoint, it was a total failure and entirely unnecessary. A motion was made and carried whereby the board was "requested and instructed" to revoke their previous action and do entirely away with the matter.

A complete audit of the books, covering a period of five years was suggested and carried by motion.

After getting away to a poor start, Charlevoix came out winner 13 to 5 in a league game played with Mancelona at the North Side park Sunday.

Mancelona succeeded in collecting three runs in the second and two in the third innings through six singles and a couple of walks, but after that "Pet" O'Hara, in the box for Charlevoix, had them in hand for the remaining six innings and never was in danger of being scored on.

Charlevoix scored two runs in the third, four in the fifth, three in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Cole at second end McFall, catching for Charlevoix, starred for the winners. Gufford of Mancelona pulled down a line drive of Bob Cole's in the fifth that looked like a home-

LAND SURVEY WELL STARTED

HAYES TOWNSHIP IS PRACTI-CALLY COMPLETED

Survey Involves Features of Economic and Agricultural Importance—Co-Operation Wanted

The economic soil survey for the State of Michigan, fostered by the State Department of Agriculture, the Michigan Agricultural College and the University of Michigan, which is starting in Charlevoix county, is well under way. When it became known that this survey was to be started somewhere in the upper portion of the state, several counties, realizing the intrinsic value of such work, were anxious for the first efforts to be made in their immediate vicinity. However, due to several reasons, Charlevoix county was chosen as the starting point. The present headquarters of the camp is in the grove opposite Susan Lake, north and east of Charlevoix. There are about twelve men working at present, but this number will soon be increased and two camps established. It is the plan of the State Department to use this survey when completed as a model for the remaining counties in the state. Consequently, although this is the first work of this nature to be conducted throughout the state, we are sure that every effort will be put forth to make it complete and authentic.

Hayes township is now practically completed. The investigators will go from this township into Bay. Here the experience obtained in Hayes township will be taken advantage of in this and the remaining townships of the county.

The survey involves factors of agricultural and economic importance. Some of the most outstanding factors of agricultural importance are brought out by securing information regarding soil type, location of marl beds, mineral resources, if any, drainage, basins, gravel pits, kinds of sub-soil, natural vegetation, location of cut-over lands, merchantable timber, kinds of timber soil is adapted to, whether or not land is fit for agricultural purposes or should be reforested, size of farms, kinds and types of land cleared, amount of livestock, and much more information which is not only valuable to the present farmer, but is of great importance to the prospective purchaser as well as the pioneer settler.

There is also at the same time a survey taken regarding lakes, rivers and streams. The water of all rivers and streams is noted, kinds of vegetation growing on banks and bottoms, depth of water, temperature, whether clear or muddy and recommendations are made as to the kinds of fish with which they should be restocked.

Factors effecting wild life, as well as the presence of any, are noted, such as deer, beaver, partridge, etc., and tabulations are made accordingly.

These last few items are of such nature that they should appeal to the resort, fishermen and sportsman. Charlevoix county receives thousands of dollars revenue yearly from these kinds of people and if these assets of the county are widely advertised not only from a state standpoint, but over an area of several states, the income will be much greater.

It is the urgent wish of the writer that whenever farmers see khaki clad men with soil-auger and knapsack over their shoulders that their mission will be understood and it is further hoped that the farmers will realize that they are working in an attempt to further the interests of Charlevoix county. The information given these men regarding crops and livestock will be used only for their best interests.

The men heading the work of this survey are Prof. Schuman, of the University of Wisconsin, and Prof. Young of the University of Michigan. Mr. Schuman has charge of the soil survey and Mr. Young of the forestry survey. Any co-operation and accommodations that can be given these men which will further the efficiency of the work will not only be greatly appreciated by them, but will be of a benefit to every business man, tourist, resorter and farmer of Charlevoix county.

GIRLS CAPTURE COUNTY HONORS

EACH IN SAME CLASS AND RANK 1, 2, 3 AND 4

Taught by Dominican Sister, and Examiners Are All Protestant Church Workers

There are no sleepers on Beaver Island. Knee skirts, rouge and face powder are not in evidence, nor is there a moving picture house. Edward H. Webb, special correspondent for many of the leading dailies of Michigan and other large cities, sizes up the situation in Charlevoix county in the following manner. Mr. Webb is a teacher himself, and assisted Commissioner Belding during the many school day meetings held in the county at the close of the 1922 school year.

Perhaps these are the reasons why four eighth grade Beaver Island girls who constituted the entire graduating class at the one-room Sunnyside school, two and one-half miles out of St. James on the picturesque shore, ranked one, two, three and four among the many scores of Charlevoix county pupils that took the state examination the other day, and it may also be the reason why Beaver Island schools have no superior in all the county when it comes to awarding prizes for exhibits of school work done during the year.

Dominican Sisters Teach

And it may be that there is still another reason in the fact that Beaver Island public school pupils are taught by women who have dedicated their lives to the education of the young. They are all Dominican sisters, dressed in the regulation white, with black veil suspended behind, and all have passed the required state examination and taken normal school training. It was Sister Urban who taught the four girls graduates, and it is worthy of mention that the examining board that marked and graded the papers of all the Charlevoix county aspirants consisted of three protestant church workers, Archie C. Belding, county school commissioner; H. A. Craig, former superintendent of the Charlevoix city schools, and A. A. Metcalf, superintendent of the Boyne City schools.

Here are the girls and their stand-

- 1—Elizabeth Callagher, 91.4

- 3—Lillian Green, 90.
- 4—Geraldine McCafferty, 89.

No Failure in Fifteen Years.

No Beaver Island eighth grader has failed to pass the state examination for the last fifteen years, and this is attributed by Commissioner Belding to the fact that changes in the teaching force there are rare. In all his talks at graduating exercises this year he has stressed the need of continuity in teaching, and said that the average duration of service of Michigan's rural teachers is only two and one-half years. This he stated, is injurious because in one-room schools containing all the eight grades close tab should be kept on the pupil's progress from year to year. Cold weather, deep snowdrifts and long distances are handicaps enough, said the commissioner, without adding teachers of no experience whose only object in teaching is to work a year to obtain money with which to buy wedding clothes. Instances in which teachers have broken their contracts and left their brood of pupils teacherless are not rare in northern Michigan. The writer of this article, who was judge of the Beaver Island exhibits, finished out the year in a Charlevoix county school where the pretty girl teacher's fiancée had come with a car and absconded with her before she had fulfilled her contract.

Only three of the Beaver Island group have schools. Three of these schools are on Beaver and total more than 200 pupils. The High Island school enrolled thirty-two this year, and the one on Garden Island might have enrolled eleven Indians if a teacher could have been found to take the job.

NOTED SPEAKERS WILL BE PRESENT

At Annual Meeting of Co-Ops Held
On June 20.

Henry Curtis, president of the Michigan Potato Growers' exchange, and W. C. Cribbs, formerly county agent of Antrim county, have consented to attend the fourth annual meeting of the Charlevoix Co-Operative Association, July 20, at the new warehouse in Charlevoix.

Mr. Curtis has been associated with the farmers' marketing movement since its very beginning in northern Michigan, first as a director of the Lake City local and, when it was organized, a director and officer of the central exchange. Mr. Curtis is a successful farmer in Milwaukee county, and for many years has been superintendent of the Mitchell Brothers' lumber business in Jennings. He is an interesting and forceful speaker, and every farmer in the community who is interested in the new marketing movement should come out to hear him.

Mr. Cribbs is one of the best informed men in the country on the benefits of co-operative marketing. Every farmer near Charlevoix should come and hear this interesting and convincing speaker. He hits the old marketing system hard, and he will show why everyone who is interested in better farming, from President Harding down is now plugging for co-operative marketing.

Petitions For Change in State Constitution Got Too Few Names

There will be no constitutional amendment on the ballot in the general election in November. The time limit of filing petitions expired at 4 o'clock Thursday.

Not one petition had sufficient signatures to get on the ballot. The petition for an amendment to make the superintendent of public instruction an appointive rather than an elective position came nearest to making the goal.

CROPS ABOVE 10 YEAR AVERAGE

EXCESS OF RAINFALL MAY RE-SULT IN DAMAGE

Rainfall During June Evenly Distributed But Conditions in July Are Bad

The condition of every crop except spring wheat is above the ten-year average in Michigan according to the July report issued by John A. Doelle, Commissioner of Agriculture and Verne H. Church, Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The rainfall during June was very unevenly distributed and some southeastern and southwestern counties were in need of more moisture during the latter half of the month. On the other hand, there was an excess of rainfall in the Seginaw valley and portions of the upper peninsula that caused some injury to beans and rotting of seed potatoes in the ground. Cool weather has aided in preventing the ground from drying rapidly in the sections with deficient moisture.

Corn: There was a slight increase in the acreage of corn planted this year, the estimate being 1,737,000 acres as compared with 1,737,000 last year. The stands are generally good except in some northern counties where cut-worms have necessitated more or less replanting. A normal growth has been made in most sections although many fields are uneven. The condition is reported as 90 per cent, three percent lower than last year but seven per cent higher than the ten-year average.

Wheat: Cutting commenced in southern counties during the closing days of June. The condition figure of 85 per cent is one lower than that of last month, but represents a production of 16,154,000 bushels. Red rust is prevalent in many districts. While the condition of spring wheat is good in the upper peninsula, the state average is only 84 per cent or two per cent below the ten-year average.

Beans: There has been a phenomenal increase in the acreage of beans planted. The preliminary estimate is 429,000 acres as compared with 263,000 last year, an increase of 63 per cent. The present outlook is for a crop of 4,773,000 bushels, the final output being greater or less affected by future conditions.

Potatoes: The acreage shows a considerable increase in southern counties and portions of the upper peninsula, a small increase in the central and some of the northwestern counties and a decrease in portions of the Grand Traverse and Oceana districts. The estimate of 364,000 acres is an increase of seven per cent over last year. As planting is only just completed, the condition is not relatively important at this date. It is 92 per cent, or nine per cent better than one year ago, and represents a production under favorable future conditions of 35,162,000 bushels.

Oats: The crop has improved considerably during June in some sections, and deteriorate in others. The condition is 87 per cent and the prospective crop, 52,897,000 bushels.

Rye: The outlook for the crop is 90 per cent of normal, the same as last month and one point above the ten-year average. The forecasted production is 9,649,000 bushels. Harvesting is under way in the southern and central counties.

Hay: The good crop of hay, estimated at 93 per cent normal which is 13 per cent better than the ten-year average, promised a production of 4,399,000 tons. This is the second largest crop ever produced in the state.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW WATER PLANT

Work on the new water plant was somewhat delayed this week on account of the weather. A night crew was put on Tuesday and will continue until the well, which is down eight feet, is completed. An additional pump, throwing an eight inch stream has been added and water is kept sufficiently low. The distribution main is in and connected, as is the sewer system.

FINDS FINLAND A FAIRYLAND

American Traveler Has Nothing but Praise for the People of the Northern Country.

In Petrograd, Arthur Ruhl relates in "New Masters of the Baltic," he had landed over his bag and overcoat to be checked. The functionary in charge secured a great label covered with meaningless paste on his suitcase, and then proceeded to duplicate the operation by marking his coat in the same way. Dismayed at his protest against sticking so much Soviet grime on his good American clothes, the old gentleman finally agreed to stick the label on the book.

Thirty miles out from Petrograd you cross the Finnish border. Mr. Ruhl stepped into a station restaurant, deposited a small coin in an automut, turned the crank, and out came the best of coffee with cream and sugar on a neat metal tray. His luggage was cured for as it would be in the best American hotels. Instead of befurred Russians, there were dapper young men outside the station and charming young women inside, each dressed in the immaculate uniform of the Finnish waitress. "One went about," he says, "nibbling here and there as a child in a dream nibbles from a castle made of chocolate."

Her Probable Intention.

Wright had been sent to the bank with his weekly amount, and when he returned he did not have his hook. His mother asked him where it was. After quite a little hesitation he confided to her in a whisper, "Well, mother, the girl took it and kept it. I think she wanted to weigh it."

The Prettles of Children.

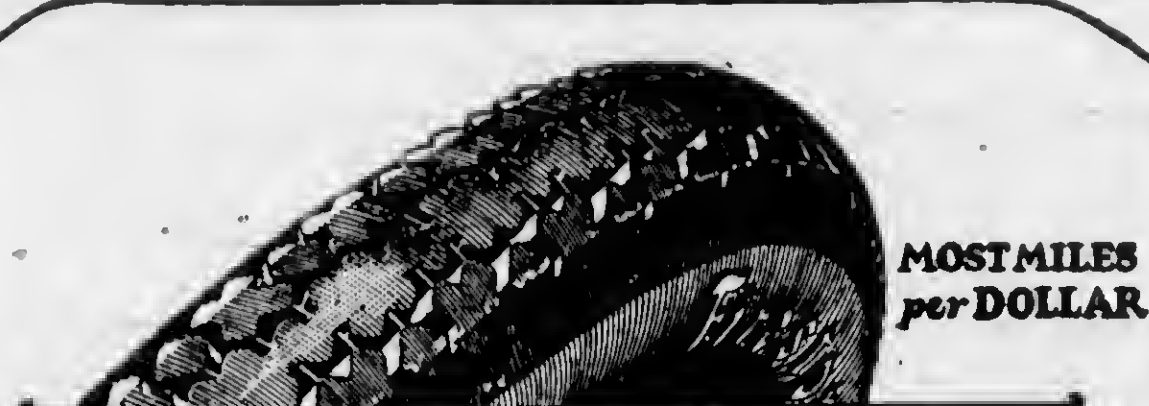

Four-year-old John W., when visiting his grandparents, was taken to Sunday school. The lesson of the day was the ever interesting story of "Daniel in the Lion's Den" and the teacher presented it in a manner to keep the interest of all the children. But during one of the intervals John W. spoke up, saying, "Yes, and I saw six little pigs at the very same circus."

GUM-DIPPED CORDS

-and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

Island of Ceylon.

Ceylon is an island in the Indian ocean off the southern end of Hindustan, constituting a British colony. The raising of coconuts is the principal pursuit. Rice and other crops are grown. The chief mineral for export is plumbago. Some gold is mined. The manufactures chiefly consist in the working of agricultural products, as the making of coconut oil.

to the Flying Rollers of Beaton Harbor. There are 150 of them on the island, and one of their number, Mrs. Della Wyland, is the school teacher. The exhibits of school work still cover the four walls and are second in excellence only to those on Beaver Island. Mrs. Wyland's father is Jeremy Ross Martin, bewiskered keeper of the Israelites' community store. The first year of this school was taught by an Israelite girl for $15 a month, but the pay now is higher, although still considerably lower than the average on the mainland. And here it might be inserted that the sisters on Beaver Island are not working for money or fame, "but each for the joy of the working," as Kipling puts it. Their compensation is about half the average paid on the mainland, and some citizens of St. James are expressing the belief that they should be allowed more in view of the fact that most of them go away to summer school and have other expenses in further adding to their efficiency as teachers.

Squaw Got Hungry

Last year there was an Indian treasurer of the High Island school fund and the teacher had to wait months for her money because he had used the money for his own home needs. When asked where it had gone to he shrugged his shoulders stoically and remarked tersely, "Squaw got hungry."

The High Island school and the one on Garden Island are worth a second look. The former has all hand-made seats, the work of Indians. The latter has stood cold and desolate all through the last winter for want of a teacher; and it is not strange that there has been none. There is no place where the teacher can find either board or room excepting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mads Jensen, Norwegians, who settled there thirty-seven years ago. This home is so far from the school that it is difficult to reach when the snow drifts are high, and the Indian residents have no fit accommodations. Therefore the teacher lives on one side of the school room and conducts her classes on the other, with only a curtain between. She must cook her food on the school stove and be entirely cut off from the world all winter because navigation is closed. And even in spring and fall she cannot get away unless somebody happens to be making the trip. Last fall the salary offer was $60 a month for seven months, with no takers.

Is "King" of Garden Island

Mads Jensen is widely known as the king of Garden Island, and is one of the men who has made the Beavers famous for their output of fish. When he came to the island he found that the Indians could not talk, read nor write the English language and declared they should have a school, and a school they got. He has been school director ever since, and now all the aborigines can speak fair English and all but the youngest can read and write, and those will soon, declared Jensen. Garden Island is a real beauty spot, and were the school term from spring to fall there would be no dearth of applicants for the teachership. But the Indians go away for the summer to work at fishing and other jobs and return before the big freeze-up with boatloads of provisions and hibernate until the ice goes out again.

School Commissioner Belding had given much attention to the difficulties of education on the lesser islands of the Beaver group and is endeavoring to get the entire group under one board of five members, three to be from Beaver, one from High and one from Garden Island. There are in the group half a dozen islands of lesser importance.

Kiddies Fought Snow Drifts

All through northern Michigan the desire of the farmers and educators to consolidate the schools is being battled by the elements. There can be no gainsaying the truth that eight grades to one teacher is an injustice to the pupils and a strain on the teacher. Forty classes a day allow only an average of nine minutes each, and children sometimes have two miles' walk to school, and the average distance probably is a mile. Last winter there was four or five feet of snow on many roads for a long time, and little legs are too short for such conditions. And even after consolidation the transportation buses cannot get through.

But, in spite of the many untoward conditions, northern Michigan kiddies are getting as good an education as are their city cousins, for there aren't any more flappers, rouge or moving pictures in the mainland rural districts than there are on Beaver Island.

GLANDS FOR GLADNESS

In America we say: "Good morning, how are you." In England one says: "Good Morning, how's your liver." In America we talk of our stomach without embarrassment, but we consider the liver rather indelicate. In England it is just the reverse.

Be that it may, it appears the time is soon coming when one will greet his fellow man, to say nothing of his female acquaintances with, "Ah, good morning! And how are your glands this morning."

"Glanding," so they say, is becoming popular. A man arrives at middle age, and starts sliding. He feels himself slipping. He steps into his physician's office and asks the doctor if he has any nice glands for sale this afternoon. The medical man says that he hasn't any right now, but that he expects a couple of young fellows to drop in about Friday who have been pestering him to buy a couple they own and seem to have no use for. The man then tells the doc to have a look at said glands and if they are all right to ring him up and he will come down and stand for a little transplanting.

Years ago it was fashionable to be operated upon for appendicitis. But, my dear, there's nothing to that any more. Why, even the proletariat now have operations for the removal of the appendix. Being appendixless now is no more cause for undue social recognition than eating an apple, or getting a divorce, or dyeing one's hair in henna, or wearing a short skirt, or a silk sweater with nothing underneath.

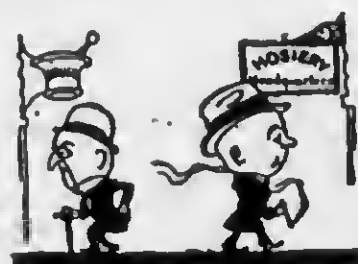

But the operation which removes old batteries and installs new ones is another story all by itself. Here indeed is social distinction. Oodles and gobs of all kinds of distinction. Here is an A-1 rating, the coming fad, the last word in ultra-youth.

Of course, the daring picnecers will receive their share of the world's laughter, but it will come, it will come.

Science is a wonderful thing. So is youth, if you know what we mean.

CONTROL OF UNRULY HORSES

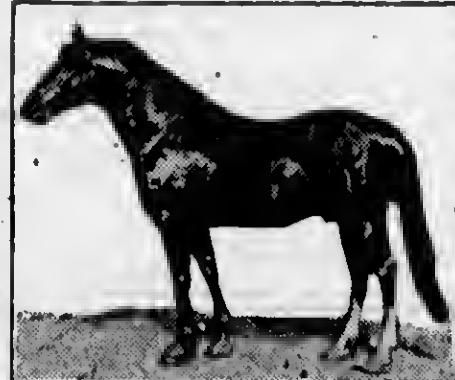

As Balking is Largely a Nervous Disorder, Quietness and Kindness Are Essential.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Some work horses, although a little cold shouldered, will pull when once started. As balking seems to be largely a nervous trouble, quietness and kindness must be used at all times, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Before any persuasive treatment is tried the bearing of the harness should be examined to determine if it is hurting the horse and thus causing the balking. If nothing is wrong, place a rope or strap around the knees of the horse and pull straight to the front, which will generally induce him to move a step or two, and thus gradually resume his work. Where it is repeated several times this persuasive treatment is usually sufficient to get the horse to pull.

In case the horse is a confirmed balker, throws himself, and refuses to get up, something out of the ordinary must be done to attract the animal's attention. The horse should be hitched with a good pulling animal and when down should be held in that position by having two men sit on his head and neck. Then take a bucket of water and pour a very small stream on the animal's nose, occasionally allowing a little to fall into the upturned nostril. The animal will struggle to rise, but he should be held down for about two minutes, with the water trickling on the muzzle all the time. The horse then should be permitted to get on his feet, and if he goes down a second time the treatment should be repeated. It is only rarely that a balking horse of this character will throw himself a third time where this treatment is followed.

If the animal still refuses to move forward, however, a loop should be dropped under the tail as a crupper, extending forward through the halter ring, and fastened to a good pulling horse. As the word is given, the horse should be started, the wagon being pulled by the mate of the balking horse and the balking horse being pulled by the horse at the end of the rope. As soon as the balking animal shows an

Work of Petty Thieves

Several complaints have been recently made of petty thievery. Sunday night a valuable tire was taken from a car owned by Aug. Schlafly, who occupies the Rosenbaum cottage on the Belvedere resort. Recently a bicycle was stolen from the Fessenden home on Mason street. Other small thefts also have been reported. Every effort on the part of the police department is being made to apprehend the culprits.

It's a happy drink

There never was such a friendly drink as Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. Day after day, in summer or winter, in Boston or Los Angeles, the taste never varies. It's a man's drink and a woman's. Little children love it, and it is kind to them. The fussiest people accept it gratefully and are perfectly satisfied. There is the secret of Clicquot's popularity—they all like it.

Buy Clicquot by the case for the home. Take it with you on your picnics. Drink it for its own good self or mix it with any fruit juice when you desire a change.

We also make Clicquot Club Sarsaparilla, Birch Beer, and Root Beer. They are worthy companions of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale—which is the highest praise we can give them.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—
B. O. Hagerman
Charlevoix County Will Get Clean
Bill of Health

After August of this year Charlevoix county is to be one of the cleanest in Michigan as far as tuberculosis in cattle is concerned.

Starting in August, between fifteen and twenty state and federal veterinarians are to make a thorough drive throughout the county, city and towns, examining every head of stock for bovine tuberculosis, culling out those affected, and giving a clean bill of health to those free of the disease. When this has been completed the entire county will be tightly quarantined against the importation of any but T. B. tested stock.

Rules Are Rigid
Drastic measures will be used on those stock owners who refuse to have their herds tested, according to state and federal government information. All stock farms, where the herds are not tested, may be closely quarantined, and no stock will be allowed to leave such farms until tests are made. Such stock owners will then have to pay costs of tests, and receive nothing for condemned stock.

Following is a copy of a letter received at the county agent's office from Dr. B. J. Killham, chief veterinarian, which conveys an idea as to the methods which will be used in order to make the campaign complete and efficient.

"As you probably know, it has been decided that whenever an obstinate owner is encountered in the area work and he has refused to have his herd tested, that steps will be taken to compel a test upon such a herd.

"All of the details in connection with the plan have not yet been worked out but we believe that the matter should be given some publicity in your county in view of the fact that a drive is about to be conducted.

"It would be my suggestion that the fact that this department has the power to compel a tuberculin test be not emphasized but the herd owner should be given to understand that all the cattle must be tested and no exceptions will be made unless cattle are used for feeding or grazing purposes only, and are not allowed to contact breeding and dairy cattle in any way whatever.

"It is our intention to give each herd owner reasonable opportunity to have his herd tested before applying quarantine. Once a quarantine is applied it will tie up the milk supply as well as the herd."

Charlevoix County Appropriates $1500

The Charlevoix county board of supervisors at its June session has appropriated $1,500 to pay the expense of the workers while in the county, the salaries of the veterinarians are paid by the state and federal departments.

Michigan cattle from sections free of T. B. are bringing premium prices in the east where stockmen are replacing their herds with fine stock.

Somebody always has the goat of a sheepish man.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

July 16. "Earnest or Triflers." Amos 6:1-8; Eccl. 12:13,14; Matt. 12:36. Leader, Gale Chew.

What constitutes earnestness? What constitutes a trifter? Have we any triflers in our society? Are you one? Come next Sunday evening at 8:30 and find out.

We had a very interesting meeting last Sunday evening in spite of the fact that the storm kept many away. We will be glad to see you back next Sunday evening and plan to bring someone else with you.

We should like to see more of our young people as well as the older members of the church present at prayer meeting next Thursday at 7:30. Why not plan to be there?

Speaker and Lord Chancellor.

One difference between the speaker of the English house of commons and the lord chancellor, who occupies a similar position in the house of lords, is that while the speaker cannot take part in debates and can vote only when there is a tie, the lord chancellor is entitled to speak and vote on all occasions.

A good deal of the time you are judged by your family's appearances.

The only rules of the Library are those made for the greater convenience of its patrons. Each book may be kept two weeks, excepting those in great demand, which may be restricted to one week. Each book may be renewed, however, for even or fourteen days. Fine of one cent a day is charged for overdue books.

Once in three years all cards are withdrawn; original applications, however, are on file. This is to correct names, addresses, and avoid handling unnecessary cards. On Sept. 1st, 6,207 cards were destroyed.

Reference work has increased greatly during the past year, due to rural teachers, local clubs, and school children calling for material, much of which cannot be found in books. In order to meet this demand we have filled twenty-four files with clippings from extra magazines, pamphlets, etc. Reference work is the most important part of library work, also the most enjoyable.

We are in need of local history. The history "Father Charlevoix," by Mr. Sisson, published in our local papers some time ago, has been in constant demand. Historical magazines and books contain very little of Charlevoix county.

Children under ninth grade must bring written permits from teachers or parents in order to enter the library during evening hours from Sept. 1st to May 30th.

In order that all high school students may have access to the library

A BUSINESS COUPE FOR BUSINESS MEN

This car represents a new and important achievement in commercial transportation.

For the first time in motor car history, business men are enabled to buy a closed car, the body of which is built throughout of steel.

The advantages of this all-steel construction—reserved until now to open cars—are particularly marked in a coupe built to weather the wear and tear of hard commercial usage.

Immediately you will be impressed with the beauty and lightness of this coupe. Time will convince you of its unusual stamina. The doors snap neatly shut. Body squeaks are eliminated. Dodge Brothers enamel is baked on the surface of the steel—a permanent lustrous finish, impervious to wear.

The interior is roomy and thoughtfully equipped with every appointment necessary to the owner's comfort and all-weather protection.

Business houses that equip their salesmen with motor cars have been quick to recognize in this coupe a very unusual investment.

Investigation However, Revealed That It Had Come to Stay

Tuesday morning as Will Patterson entered the barn to do his fathers chores he was surprised to find a cow in the stall left vacant by death of Mr. D. Patterson's cow earlier in the week.

His first impression was that it was a cow that had been in someone's garden and the person finding it, thinking it belonged to Mr. Patterson, tied it in his barn.

Later it turned out that the cow was right at home and had been put in the barn by patrons of the rural route and other friends.

Mr. Patterson wishes to take this chance to express his thanks to the patrons of his mail route and all his friends who, during his sickness, have been so thoughtful, generous and kind-hearted.

BETTER SHEEP IN KENTUCKY

Breeders Improving Their Flocks by Use of Purebred Rams—Sires Recently Bought.

In several Kentucky counties where sheep raising is one of the major farm projects sheep breeders are improving their flocks on an extensive scale, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. One of the outstanding developments is that purebred rams are being widely used. This indicates the increased interest apparent in many sections of the country in the improvement of the home flock by the use of better sires. Recently a special "better-sire" sale was held at Louisville, where 250 purebred rams of Hampshire, Shropshire, and Southdown breeding were sold and distributed in flocks throughout the state.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

PUREBRED HOGS ARE BETTER

Much to Be Learned Concerning Relative Merits of Scrub and Cross-bred Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Although there is a higher percentage of purebred hogs in the country than of any other class of live stock, there is still much room for improvement. And there is much to be known concerning the relative merits of scrubs, crossbreds and purebreds. To make some of the points clearer, the animal husbandry division of the United States Department of Agriculture, is starting a breeding and feeding experiment that will contrast the results of using scrub, crossbred and purebred hogs on scrub and crossbred sows. If appropriations provide sufficient money

Purebred Duroc-Jersey Boar.

It may be that the effect of using crossbred and scrub hogs on purebred sows will be studied.

Ten crossbred sows, of various breed mixtures, and ten scrub sows of the razor-back kind will be used. Half of each of those groups will be bred to a crossbred, and half of the other group will be bred to a scrub. This same scheme of breeding will be carried on from generation to generation. Some of the offspring will be fed out and some of them will be kept for breeding before being fed out. Shoats from the different lots will be put in feed lots together and fed alike, so that a fair comparison can be made. Some of these scrubs and crossbreds will be compared in feeding trials with purebreds, raised on the department's experimental farm at Beltsville, Md. Some will be put into different experimental lots on various feeds.

Nearly everybody thinks the purebred is superior to the scrub, but there is a disagreement among farmers about the merits of purebred and crossbred feeders. The department hopes that in due time its experiments will give results that will answer any doubts.

KELLEY VOTED FOR SEN. NEWBERRY

TOWNSEND RIVAL, QUOTED IN WASHINGTON DISPATCHES, EXPLAINS SUPPORT.

FRIENDLY BEFORE SEEKING JOB

Visited Detroit Three Times to Express Hope Latter Would Be Seated by Senate.

Declaring that Representative Patrick H. Kelley not only voted for Senator Truman H. Newberry in the 1918 general election, but was extremely friendly toward him during more than three years that elapsed before he himself became a senatorial candidate, and extremely solicitous that he be seated by the senate, managers of the campaign to re-elect Senator Charles E. Townsend have exploded a bomb under the Kelley campaign.

The revelations followed Washington dispatches quoting Representative Kelley, in a formal statement, as admitting that he voted for Senator Newberry in 1918, and asserting also that no Republican could have done otherwise unless he preferred to see one of the two Michigan senatorships go to a Democrat.

Republicans generally in the Detroit district accepted the revelation of Kelley's right-about-face in his attitude toward the Newberry election as a vital inconsistency in his campaign. Senator Townsend's defense of his colleague on the senate floor is practically the only issue his Republican rivals have raised against him so far.

Friendly to Newberry.

"This admission by Mr. Kelley, recalls a bit of recent history," said Carl B. Fritzsche, executive chairman of the Townsend state committee, "which will prove very helpful to the citizens of Michigan in appraising the true worth and character of Senator Townsend, and his opponent."

"After the Republican primary of 1918, which resulted in the nomination of Senator Newberry, Congressman Kelley publicly endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Newberry in speeches made during that campaign."

"In November, 1918, by his own admission, Kelley voted for Newberry."

"During last December and January, when the Newberry case was being debated in the senate on three separate occasions, Kelley visited Senator Townsend's office in Washington and in the most sympathetic and solicitous manner possible, inquired as to the probable determination of the case and expressed the hopeful desire that the junior senator from Michigan would be seated."

"I am reliably informed that among the many hundreds who extended their congratulations to Senator Newberry when he was seated, January 12, 1922, was none other than Congressman Kelley."

Changed Front Quickly.

"It will be remembered that a few weeks after the decision of the senate to seat Newberry, Kelley came to Michigan and announced his candidacy in opposition to Senator Townsend on an anti-Newberry platform."

"Now, what the people of Michigan wish to know is what happened during those intervening weeks to change Kelley's attitude. Had Senator Townsend voted against the seating of his colleague, there are many who believe that Kelley would now be running for the senate just the same, only on a different platform, campaigning up and down the state of Michigan and denouncing Senator Townsend for not having the courage and manhood to defend and uphold the good name of the state, when it was slandered on the floor of the senate by the Democrats of the south, where they have not had an honest election since the Civil war."

"The people of Michigan will not forget the inconsistency of Kelley when they vote in the Republican primary on September 12. Above all things they admire a man who has the courage of his convictions and who reaches his conclusions honestly. When it comes to choosing a United States senator, they seek ability, experience, and fitness to serve the public well."

"Mr. Kelley voted to send Senator Newberry to the United States senate. Senator Townsend voted to seat in the United States senate the man Mr. Kelley helped to elect."

"Not only did Congressman Kelley vote to send Truman H. Newberry to the United States senate, but in October, 1919, he made a special request that his son be appointed by Senator Newberry to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Senator Newberry immediately complied with this request."

"When a man, in seeking public office, courts the favor of public opinion, above all things, he must be able to demonstrate integrity in both thought and deed."

Political Announcement
To the Electors of Charlevoix County: I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Charlevoix county, on the Republican ticket, at the September primaries. I have held the office of County Treasurer for four years. My record as a county officer will speak for itself. If nominated and elected I will devote my entire time to the office. Your support will be appreciated.

ISLE DE LUZON SOON TO ARRIVE

Giant Sea Plane to Make Hourly Flights All Week

Seaplaning is a new method of traveling and sight-seeing rapidly gaining in favor among the more progressive people who live in communities bordering our lakes, rivers or either ocean.

Many pioneers have already experienced the joys and conveniences of traveling over land in the air. A smaller number have flown over both land and water in seaplanes.

A large number of people in each generation like to "point with pride" at their early achievements of days gone by. Verbal enthusiasm flows freely regarding the first ride in a railroad train, the first bicycle trip for Mother, the first automobile ride—and all such accounts are spoken with the justifiable pride of the hardy pioneer.

Standpatters of every age have sought to camouflage their lack of courage by an appearance of wisdom and an intense desire for safety. Residents of our city who have achieved unusually in any line have had to overcome such arguments. Those who fly in the Isle de Luzon will have survived similar arguments here, this week.

The six-passenger sea plane will be in Charlevoix before July 29, the exact date of arrival being unknown at present, and will probably make its headquarters on the beach of Pine Lake near the Inn.

Gibbs of the State Marketing Department, and others will make him a better farmer for "being in attendance."

At the business meeting five new directors must be elected. Members are especially urged to come and attend to the important business of the meeting.

LOCAL HOSPITAL SOON TO OPEN

New Directors Engage Services of Superintendent

Charlevoix's local hospital will soon open its doors to the public. Such is the information given out by S. M. Rose, president of the association.

At a meeting of the board of trustees held on Thursday evening of last week, plans were outlined and other matters of financing the project were completed.

Miss Carrie Geiken, well known local nurse, has been engaged by the board as superintendent. The hospital is being placed in condition for opening, and as soon as sufficient help can be obtained, the opening date will be announced.

Cranking a Lizzie is a dangerous feat, especially for a milk man whom, we presume, has other urgent work for his good right arm.

TOWNSEND ENFORCEMENT AMENDMENT

Gives No Encouragement to Wets Want to Repeal the Volstead Act

"When Michigan wets asked Senator Townsend where he stood on the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment he did not dodge or hesitate. Here is what he said:

"I am very much in favor of a strict enforcement of the prohibition law as already existing on our statute books. It has not been given a fair trial and, strange to say, there seems to have been a very strong organized effort to violate a law which was not only provided for by the federal constitutional amendment but by a Michigan constitutional amendment after a very fair referendum, and by federal and state legislative enactments."

"I am glad the backers of this movement are not going to submit an amendment to the Michigan constitution this year to provide for the use of light wines and beer."

"Not that I am not favorable to referendums on matters of this kind, whenever there seems to be a sufficiently strong sentiment to favor it, but now, when organized efforts, I have mentioned, seem to exist and so soon after our state has passed on the question, it seems not only unwise but foolish to re-submit the question.

"That alcohol, as a beverage, is an economic waste there can be no possible doubt and while it is true that there are very many people who believe that their personal inherent rights are interfered with, yet this is a government by majority and the majority must prevail."

CHARLEVOIX WINS FROM PELLSTON

IN A HARD FOUGHT GAME LAST SUNDAY

Visitors Scored in Sixth and Seventh Innings as Fluke Plays—Usual Crowd Sees Game

Charlevoix won from Pellston last Sunday in an exciting and hard-fought game by a 5 to 4 score.

Charlevoix started scoring in the first, when Burden singled and O'Hara doubled, scoring Burden, and before the inning was over, Hanna and Boak each crossed the plate with a run. In the third and fourth innings Charlevoix scored one run each.

Pellston scored their runs in the sixth and seventh, getting two in each frame.

Johnson, a new man recently added to the Charlevoix line-up, is about the best bet in the outfield, and with a couple of more games will be one of the most valuable men on the home team.

Miller of Pellston pitched a nice game, but the Charlevoix sluggers were too much for him. Pat O'Hara was in real form and Pellston got but five singles, three of these being scratch hits.

Charlevoix is out to beat Boyne City next Sunday, the 23rd, and would like to see a lively bunch of local fans at the game, so follow the team next Sunday. The distance is short and the game will be worth the trip.

LOCAL PEOPLE ENJOY AIR-RIDES

View of City From High Altitude Said to Be Wonderful

Charlevoix citizens as well as our summer visitors enjoyed daily flights over the city in the staunch air-cruiser Saladin, and are highly pleased with the safety of the ship and the ability of Pilot McGregor in flying.

Several good views have been taken of the city and surroundings. At present the Saladin is at Harbor Springs and Petoskey for a few days.

FIRE DESTROYS FINE SUMMER HOME

Saturday, during the noon-hour, the local fire department responded to an alarm on the Belvedere resort, for a fire of unknown origin, which practically destroyed the summer home of Prof. Beeman of Ann Arbor and occupied by E. F. Voss and family of Cincinnati, Ohio. Occupants of the home were absent at the time and lost all their personal belongings in the blaze. The alarm was sounded too late and the fire beyond control when the fire boys arrived.

BOOSTER CLUB FOR TOWNSEND

Organization to Have Units in All Parts of County

Friends of Senator Charles E. Townsend, interested in his candidacy and who realize the great necessity of returning him to Washington as senator from Michigan, met at the Wolverine Hotel, Boyne City, Monday evening for the purpose of forming a Townsend Booster Club, the object of which will be to enroll membership and assume charge of his political campaign in Charlevoix county.

Representatives were present from East Jordan, Boyne Falls Charlevoix and Boyne City. Clubs will be organized with headquarters at Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan, each city taking care of townships contiguous thereto.

It is the belief of the originators of this movement that Sen. Townsend should be returned to the United States senate. His commanding position in our highest legislative body, obtained by reason of his integrity and ability, his grasp of national affairs, coupled with his intimate knowledge of conditions in Michigan, aided by his wide acquaintance and influence with men of national standing, together with his experience in legislative matters, will insure the enactment of legislation of supreme importance to the people of Michigan, and especially the Great Lakes region instituted by him. A vote for Townsend, and his subsequent return to the senate, means that the interests of Michigan will be properly looked after.

DRIVE ON FOR LOCAL HOSPITAL

WILL MAKE A HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS

New Board of Trustees Determined to Raise Sufficient Funds for Maintenance

The new board of trustees of the Charlevoix Hospital have instituted a drive, not only for the raising of funds, but in an endeavor to obtain the signatures of a majority of the citizens of Charlevoix as members. Since the opening of the hospital there has been a deplorable lack of interest shown by the local people, and but a small percentage of our citizens were enrolled as members. There might have been sufficient reason for this, and the result was that the hospital was forced to close its doors for lack of funds.

We are pleased, however, to announce that the present board of trustees are men of high integrity and are worthy of the trust placed in them. Moreover, they represent the leading business interests of the city and should have the support and backing of our citizenry.

M. A. Levinson and George Glados, with others chosen, will have charge of the drive. A house to house canvass has been decided upon. The membership fee is $5.00, which entitles one to vote at all annual or special meetings. Liberal donations have already been subscribed which indicates that sufficient funds will be raised to keep the hospital open the year round.

A detailed report of the audit of the books of the association will be given the public as soon as prepared, and regular financial statements published, thus keeping the public in touch with the situation.

It must be remembered by all that only by co-operation will it be possible to maintain the hospital. We believe, as stated before, that it can be operated at a less expense. If this can be done, the present board of trustees will do it. It must, however, have the support of all, and we are of the opinion that the matter will be brought to a successful issue.

STATE GIVES OVER MILLION DOLLAR

TO AID THE UNFORTUNATE IN THE FAR EAST

200,000 Are Pleading for a Chance to Live—Hundreds of Them Are Dying Daily

Over a million dollars constitutes Michigan's contribution to the Near East relief fund since November 24, 1918. This vast amount has been given to the salvaging of these unfortunate people, who are dying by the hundreds daily.

This amount has been given without thought of profit, dividends in the form of little children have been the compensation of the contributions. The unselfish ministry to these children across the seas has brought many a benediction unto the hearts and homes.

The Near East relief is an organization made up of the men, women and children of America, that like the Samaritan of old are binding the wounds and sores of an unfortunate people who gave their mite to the cause of liberty.

The Near East relief is acting under the authority vested by the congress of the United States and represents you in Armenia. Sixty-three hospitals and 128 clinics are being maintained in an effort to check the spreading of disease and pestilence.

Eleven rescue homes and 23 industrial shops are busy centers of activity, where boys and girls are taught their native industries by Armenians who are expert in their various arts and trades.

Based on population, wealth and valuation of property, Michigan's part is $446,500.00. Interpreted in terms of children's lives that means 6,465 children who depend upon the people of Michigan for a chance to live.

The Michigan committee is headed by Gov. A. J. Groesbeck. Other members are among the leading citizens of the state. The drive is on and the people of Michigan are asked to contribute freely to this great and just cause.

On Friday evening of this week, a motion picture play, "Alice in Wonderland," will be thrown on the screen at the Palace Theatre. The picture shows actually the conditions in the far east.

Those desiring to contribute funds may leave them with W. S. Richardson, cashier of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, who has been named local treasurer. See the picture Friday evening and give as your heart prompts you.

COAL SHORTAGE HITS PERE MARQUETTE

Discontinue North and Southbound Train Today

Due to the present coal strike and their inability to secure sufficient coal to operate with, the Pere Marquette railway has been forced to discontinue two daily trains on the northern division.

An order taking effect Wednesday morning, discontinues indefinitely the train leaving Charlevoix southbound at 2:20 p. m., and also the north bound train arriving daily at 8:50 p. m.

Hundreds of trains in all sections of the country are being discontinued, not only on the Pere Marquette system, but on all railroads.

The shortage of coal due to the strike is being felt more at the present time than any since the strike order took effect, and no relief is in sight.

FARMERS' PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

MEETING TO BE MADE AN ANNUAL EVENT

Many Gather to Hear Fine Speeches And Witness Program of Sports—Well Attended

If enthusiasm and spirit is any criterion, the Charlevoix County Farmer's picnic, held last Friday at Horton Bay, was a success.

Due to weather the fore part of the week, Friday was an ideal day for the belated hay-farmers to harvest the crop which had been so seriously menaced by rain for the past week or ten days, still with this as a limiting factor in the size of the crowd, many were there to mingle with friends and neighbors and to listen to the fine talks and speeches given by Mr. Bagley, D. L. Hagerman and Dr. Mumford.

Mr. Bagley with the Hascrot Canning Company, painted very vividly the possibilities for Charlevoix county in the cherry industry if the growers will but produce and market a quality product.

D. L. Hagerman, agricultural agent for the Mackinaw Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, reminded us in an extremely pleasant and emphatic manner of the many dormant possibilities in Charlevoix county, only lying in waiting for development by some one who has confidence in the community and faith in the task he undertakes. Referring to the natural alkaline soil of the county and the abundance of marl deposits which gives us a great advantage over the down state farmers in the production of alfalfa and other legumes, which should be the basis of present day farming, he said, "With the many natural blessings bestowed upon you by the Divine Creator all you have to do is to take advantage of them and make for yourself an agricultural which will compare very favorably and which will be as remunerative as any in the state."

Dr. Mumford of the Agricultural College in his address, "The Outlook for Agriculture," with his frequent bursts of humor, certainly convinced his hearers of the value of the farmer and the Federal Farm Bureau as a stabilizer to the great wheels of industry which makes ours the greatest nation in the world. He said, "Until the farmers prosper there will be no prosperity. The Farm Bureau with its units of state and county farm bureaus is obtaining national legislation which will not only favorably effect agriculture but will be of a benefit to the whole nation. When the farmer's buying power is decreased the economic scales are out of balance and until they are re-adjusted and put back in balance, and the farmer is re-established, the nation's industries will be out of harmony."

The dance in the evening at Dilworth's was enjoyed by many. The light was furnished by a Koler Automatic Farm Lighting Plant through the kindness of Wood Brothers of Charlevoix.

Ladies' Guild Meets The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Emery, July 12. Mrs. Datson of Petoskey gave a very interesting talk on "Missionary" work. The Guild meets with Mrs. O. E. Wilbur July 19.

WANT PARTRIDGE SEASON CHANGED

Sportsmen of Michigan Will Recommend Change

When the state legislature convenes for its next session it will be presented with a draft of proposed game and fish law changes that will embody recommendations of the Congress of Michigan Game Associations, an organization which, since the June meeting in Petoskey, is representative of sportsmen's clubs in every section of the state.

One of the most important recommendations, from the standpoint of upper peninsula sportsmen, will be a proposal to close the season on Wednesday October 31, instead of allowing it to extend into the deer season in November.

Recommendations of the state organization will be presented in Lansing by a committee of ten men, five of which are representatives of the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's association, George Shlras III, and Mr. Richards, of Marquette, C. B. Randall, of Ishpeming, and E. C. Vought, of Escanaba, are on that committee.

"We believe the legislature will be bound to give weight to the requests of our committee," said Mr. Richards in discussing the Petoskey meeting, "because we will go to Lansing as the representatives of an organization which covers the state. We will be the mouthpiece of Michigan sportsmen, not those from one section, and we will present recommendations for legislation which meets with the approval of sportsmen throughout the state."

REGATTA PLANS ARE COMPLETED

FIRST RACE TO BE SAILED ON JULY 27TH

Eighteen Chicago Boats Will Participate in Events Besides Those From Neighboring Towns

Plans for the Pine Lake Regatta given under the auspices of the Charlevoix Yacht Club are now complete and all arrangements made for the largest and best series of races ever held on the beautiful waters of Pine Lake.

Thursday, July 27th, will witness the opening with free-for-all sailing, speed-boat, out-board motor, and swimming races, with a reception for yachtsmen at the Inn.

Friday, free-for-all sailing race to Boyne City with dinner at the Wolverine Hotel. Cruisers will also race this day.

Saturday, the final day, will be given over to sailing, speed-boat, canoe and row-boat racing, with a banquet at the Inn, when prizes consisting of sterling silver cups will be awarded the winners.

Eighteen Chicago yachts will participate as will boats from Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Walloon Lake and Charlevoix.

Charlevoix is very fortunate in securing these Chicago boats, as the winners of the hard-fought Chicago-Mackinac Island race will again show ability and skill in handling on Pine Lake. Should they be fortunate in having a good stiff breeze on these days, Charlevoix will witness an interesting event as has ever occurred here. To those not familiar with yachting, we would say there is nothing more interesting or more full of keen excitement, than a race between yachts equally matched and with lots of wind. We suggest that all Charlevoix "Land Lubbers" be on hand and witness some real excitement.

TELEPHONE RATES CUT IN STATE

SLASH ORDERED BY UTILITIES COMMISSION

Charlevoix Gets Reduction as Some Areas-While Others Are Given Slight Boost

Telephone rates were reduced throughout Michigan on Wednesday of last week by the Michigan public utilities commission. The reduced rates will go into effect August 1 and will mean a saving of approximately $1,125,000 a year to telephone users.

One hundred and forty-seven cities and villages are affected by the new rate order. In 130 of these the rates either were reduced or left as at present. In the other 17, slight increases were made in various class rates, other classes remained the same, while still others received reductions.

Detroit is the beneficiary of the largest reductions, the total saving to that city's telephone users being estimated at $1,000,000.

The commission's order reducing rates is in the face of a request for increased rates made by the Michigan State Telephone company. The telephone company, by its petition for increased rates, would have increased its revenues in all of the exchanges affected, outside of Detroit, by approximately $708,000 per year. Instead of this the revenue will be decreased by $124,331 per year, a decrease of approximately five per cent.

Here are the new rates as announced for the Charlevoix group:

Charlevoix—Group eight: Business telephone, one party, $2.50, old rate $2.88.

Business telephone, four party, $2.25, old rate $2.30.

Residence telephone, one party, $2.00, old rate $1.75.

Residence telephone, four party, $1.50, old rate $1.45.

Business farm telephone, within six miles, $2.00, old rate $2.25.

Residence farm telephone, within six miles, $1.50, old rate $1.75.

Business farm telephone, more than six miles, $2.25, old rate $2.50.

Residence farm telephone, more than six miles, $1.75, old rate $2.00.

Business extension telephone, not more than 660 feet, 75c, old rate $1.00.

Residence extension telephone, not more than 660 feet, 50c, old rate 50c.

SHOOTS AND INSTANTLY KILLS MAN

Chas. Tyrell of Epoufette Again in Serious Trouble

Crazed by drinking too much moonshine, it is said, Charles Tyrell, formerly of Charlevoix, shot John McLeod of Epoufette, through the heart with a high-powered rifle, killing him instantly, officers reported, last Wednesday.

Such is the report from Epoufette appearing in all the state dailies on Wednesday of last week. Tyrell, with his father and mother, left Charlevoix some 16 or 18 years ago. While a resident here his escapades were numerous, and when full of liquor was considered a bad man.

He had been living at his summer cottage at Epoufette, and according to neighbors had quarreled with McLeod some time ago.

County officers immediately took Tyrell and he is now being held in the county jail at St. Ignace.

YACHT RELEASED FROM REEF BY COAST GUARDS

The local coast guard crew, in response to an S. O. S. call from Cat Head Point, 20 miles south of this port, made a run with the power life boat last Saturday and succeeded in releasing a yacht belonging to C. F. Mesasager of Chicago. Evidently the boat was off her course, as she went aground on a shallow reef, projecting a long distance into Lake Michigan. After considerable delay the yacht reached Charlevoix under its own power, none the worse for the experience.

PLAN OF BULL ASSOCIATIONS

Modifications of Ideas Suggested by Dairy Division Have Been Tried and Fixed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Modifications of the bull-association plan advocated by the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture are tried frequently. Most of these plans consist of loose agreements between two or more breeders. In some cases a bull is purchased by a group of men. Sometimes two or more breeders exchange their bulls. The idea in this case to do close inbreeding, and yet avoid inbreeding. A specialist of the department who has had extensive opportunity to observe the working of most of these methods, when asked about their success, replied that some of them would give excellent results if carried out, but it was generally impossible to get them to function, for lack of the driving power and balancing influences that are found in the regular bull association.

By Breeding to Superior Sires Milk Production Can Be Greatly Increased in Single Generation and Greater Economy Effected.

"These ideas," he said, "are all right, but they have no working agreements nor plans of procedure to properly regulate their operation. The experience of the department is that such attempts are useless for general adoption, unless organized in a practical, definite, businesslike way by a person of experience who can break down the prejudices of individuals. When such a person undertakes the organization of a co-operative breeding enterprise in a given locality, he generally finds it easier and more beneficial to form a regular co-operative bull association than a partnership of the type indicated."

"When attempts are made to organize a bull association it is nearly always the case that most farmers agree readily, on general principles, that the plan is excellent for the other fellow, but no so good for himself. It is necessary to have a community thoroughly interested in the plan, and familiar with its method of operation. Some leader must bring these things about, and it is most unusual if anyone other than an extension specialist will do this work. Even a partnership of two men is frequently found to meet with the same difficulty. "After a properly organized association has been perfected, it has in it the necessary conditions for permanence. Yet a directing supervision is necessary to its fullest success, and this can best be given by the regular extension organization of the department co-operating with the state agricultural colleges, and the amount of help that can be rendered will depend on how well the form of organization fits in with the other work of the extension forces."

"The plan of action embodied in the regular form of co-operative bull association is a plan approved by experience. It does better than any other plan in use. It has been tried, and it works. Some sort of co-operation for the maintenance of better sires is essential to the fullest development of the dairy industry, and I should advise any who are interested to stay with the regular association plan and carry it through without compromise."

Premium for Graded Eggs. Fact is Due to Strict Grading Practiced by Shippers of Far West, Say Specialists.

Eggs from the Pacific coast in large amounts were first shipped across the continent to the New York city market two years ago. Now they are bringing a premium of from 1 to 2 cents, according to market quotations.

That this is due to the strict grading practiced by the shippers of the far West is the belief of men in the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. The reputation for careful grading which the Westerners have attained in other products shipped East has spread to include eggs.

Perverse Human Nature

Six months ago the United States government was pushing plans and schemes in every part of the country to get jobs for the unemployed. The problem today is to get the employed back to work. Somewhere between a million and a million and a half men have been on strike. Very few of them have faced privations for themselves or families; but they have struck just the same.

For years the railroad workmen strove to perfect their unions and to secure the recognition of the federal government. It will be recalled that on several occasions former president Wilson intervened to prevent railroad strikes. In those days the unions were but partially organized, and when the executive threw his power into the balance, the railroad managers complained most bitterly about the "interference." These rail disputes had more to do with developing government "control" than anything else. The Transportation Act recognized the new conditions that had been a long time in forming, and with this act there was created the Railroad Labor Board. This board was made up of representatives of the employers, the employees, and the public. It furnished a tribunal for the settlement of wage differences as well as conditions governing and affecting employment. Practically every time this board has rendered a decision its terms have been disputed. When the railroad operators were dissatisfied they sought to nullify the acts of the board. In this, however, they used a good deal of care and avoided open conflict with the authority of the board. But the union leaders were not so discreet, and they learned only when President Harding issued his proclamation declaring that "the maintained supremacy of the law is the first obligation of the government and all the citizenship of the country," that they had carried the perverseness of their human nature to the point where they had placed themselves in open opposition to the National Administration.

Defying the Government

Anron Burr was arrested for treason because he ignored the policies of the government when he started out with the idea of conquering Mexico. Burr got out of it, but his troubles served to warn others, and now whenever Americans want to upset the Mexican situation they do it more craftily and keep within the pale of the law. Defying the government is a bum policy—to which statement even Eugene V. Debs and a lot of other misguided gentlemen will—or ought to subscribe.

Of course there was nothing treasonable about the strike of the shop craft employees. Neither is the contract system of shop work with outside agencies a crime. But President Harding in his proclamation points out that the railroad operators and the railroad employees have in these specific instances defied the orders of the Railroad Labor Board, and that in so doing they have also defied the government.

The issue was made clear-cut by the president, and in defining the situation in his proclamation he had the advantage of finding the employers and the employees equally to blame, inasmuch as both sides had attempted to annul the rights of the public.

"Public" is the Real Boss

The public interest jumped distinctly into the first place when President Harding issued his proclamation concerning the railroad situation. By it he pointed out very clearly that the decisions of the government, as the arbitrator of differences in railroad management and operation must not be lightly cast aside. A few stubborn railroad operators and a few pugnacious labor leaders were faced with a new situation when they found the president challenging their right and good faith in defying the Railroad Labor Board. The board itself has no power to make its decisions mandatory. But public opinion can do that little trick, just as it did in sustaining the Supreme Court in its earliest days, even when men like Thomas Jefferson, as president of the United States, attempted to tell chief justice John Marshall to "go way back and sit down."

The president has the best of any controversy when he shows that the "intent of the law" is to prevent just such interruptions in the mail service and the flow of interstate commerce as had been occasioned by the latest strike. And when he adds that the operation of the railroads is necessary to "preserve the public peace and to facilitate those operations in safety which are essential to life and liberty, and the security of property and our common public welfare," he is talking a language that all can understand. It needed something dramatic like this to demonstrate conclusively that in the new triangle that is to rule with reason the transportation affairs of the country, that in the final analysis the public is the real boss.

A Little Senatorial Gossip

According to the "seniority rule" the successor of Senator McCumber as chairman of the Finance Committee of the senate will be Senator Smoot of Utah. This chairmanship is the most important one in congress, and when it passed by reason of the death of Senator Penrose to Senator McCumber, the ultra-conservatives were alarmed because McCumber was supposed to be "too liberal." But the minute he got into the Penrose shoes he was classed as "too conservative" for North Dakota, and accordingly the AI hard voters of that state turned him down for renomination.

The first thing they did to Smoot when he came to Washington many years ago, was to "try him." He was acquitted of the charge of polygamy, but though he has been classed as a great senator of the "conservative" class, he has never lost any of his zeal for the Mormon church. The latest word is that he may be chosen as its head, a position he is said to prefer to that of being senator.

The senate might get along without Smoot or any other individual, but it never has gotten along without its "seniority rule." It is a plan that usually works; but right now it is a Jonah. The reason is that Senator LaFollette has been gradually moving up a peg at a time by reason of continued service in Washington, until he is now eligible, if re-elected, and with Smoot out of the way, to the position of chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Senator McCormick of Illinois, has proposed that the "seniority rule" be abolished in the senate. He bluntly says that the reason for his suggestion is to avoid giving the place to LaFollette. The Wisconsin senator is as unpopular as ever in the senate, and if the "seniority rule" could be gotten rid of there would be no chance that he would secure the great prize of the senate. As remarked above: The rule is a Jonah, and the senate would swallow a whale to get rid of the possibility of LaFollette being chairman of the Finance Committee.

Patriots or Pirates—Which?

There is a lot of smoke about the seizure of German dye patents and the formation of the Chemical Foundation, with Francis P. Garvan as its president. Garvan was former Alien Property Custodian under President Wilson, and succeeded former Attorney General Palmer in that position. Garvan and Palmer have issued statements showing the patriotic purposes that actuated them to build up the American dye business and to promote the interests of humanity through the advancement of chemistry. But the government is "after them," and President Harding, Attorney General Daugherty and Alien Property Custodian Miller are engineering a prosecution which not only deals with the civil features concerned, but in which criminal prosecution is threatened. According to their statements there is likely to be developed from these circumstances "the greatest scandal of the war." Surely, the thing looks promising.

ECLIPSED EVERY THREE DAYS

Astronomers Have Just Discovered Why the Star "Algol" Disappears at Regular Intervals.

There is a star that winks every three days. Algol is its name, meaning the "Demon Star," by which name it was known to the ancient Arabs. It was visible in July.

Ordinarily, it is quite a bright star, but at intervals of every three days it slowly sinks almost out of sight, and then just as slowly brightens again. The process takes about nine hours to complete.

Why it winks was for a long time a profound mystery. At last some one discovered that a dark, or nearly dark, star regularly passed in front of it and partially eclipsed it, as the moon sometimes does the sun.

Neither a telescope nor an opera glass is needed to see these nine-hour winks of Algol, although the writer has found that an opera glass is an advantage if the night is rather hazy. It was one of the most wonderfully impressive sights to be seen in the sky.

No one knows how the star that makes Algol wink has come to be so dark. It may be a dead or dying sun. It approaches our own sun in size, but Algol itself is much larger.

Ancient Chinese Fable.

In a story in the Saturday Evening Post by Henry Leon Wilson, one of his characters relates the following Chinese fable: "About 1,700 years since, a politician named Sa Tol was one day advising the King of Chao to put an end to his ceaseless hostilities against the Yen State. 'This morning,' said he, 'when crossing the river I saw a mussel open its shell to bask in the sun. At once the bird called an oyster catcher thrust in his bill to eat the mussel, but the latter closed his shell and held the bird fast. 'If it doesn't rain today or tomorrow,' said the oyster catcher, 'there will be a dead mussel.' And if you do not get out of this by today or tomorrow,' replied the mussel, 'there will be a dead oyster catcher.' Meanwhile came a fisherman and carried off both of them.'"

Appeal to Hotel Guests.

One New York hotel has explained why it is forced to ask incoming guests to wait until evening for a room even though they have telegraphed ahead for reservations. It is because other guests persist in hanging on to their rooms until just before they rush off for their trains for home. A business man who is leaving in the evening packs his baggage in the morning when he goes out to clean up his odds and ends of business, comes back in the evening, grabs his baggage, pays his bill, and dashes for a taxi. Now this hotel, in the interest of efficiency and the newcomers, is asking its guests who plan to leave during the day to pack their baggage and check it, appealing to their sense of fair play to help out the other fellow.—New York Evening Post.

Camera in Surgical Operations.

Moving pictures of surgical operations have heretofore not been completely successful, owing to the inability of one of the surgeons getting in front of the camera, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A recently developed camera is reported to have overcome this difficulty. The camera is completely inclosed in a globular metal case, which is located in a tube projecting from the ceiling, directly over the operating table. By means of a motor located outside of the room, the camera may be raised, lowered, or turned at any angle. A telescope attachment makes it possible to adjust and focus the camera promptly. It has recently been tried with great success.

Oil From Grape Seeds.

Grape seeds, generally thrown away after grape juice has been made, are wasted to the quantity of 1,100 tons a year, according to Frank Rabak of the bureau of plant industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Mr. Rabak says that from them can be drawn about 13 per cent of an oil that is excellent for cooking and for use in salad dressings.

Embarrassing Situation.

My most embarrassing situation happened when I was a young girl. Our Sunday school gave a picnic in the woods and I attended, wearing a white dress, and carrying a green silk parasol. Unfortunately, a rain came up and after it was over my dress was as green as my parasol.—Chicago Journal.

"The Sheikh's Wife" Has Many Beautiful Scenes of Arabia

"The Sheikh's Wife," one of the biggest French motion picture productions ever made, will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday.

The scenes were actually filmed in Arabia. "The Sheikh's Wife" is regarded as the very cream of big foreign film creations now available for American marketing.

"The Sheikh's Wife," by its very nature, would have been next to impossible to film to the best advantage in this country. A troupe of players and technical men made the voyage from Marseilles to Arabia, and then made the journey to the deserts of the interior by caravan. There a countless number of distinctly beautiful and really unique "shots" were made. The undulating sand-hills, the bare, treeless mountains in the hazy distance and the palm-studded oases make fitting background for this great story of love and lovers.

Alice Terry, the peach orchard heroine of "Turn to the Right" stepped from obscurity into the screen spotlight by her wonderful portrayal of Marguerite in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all. HELPING LAW ENFORCEMENT

An event remarkable in the annals of automobile traffic occurred in an eastern city the other day when a reckless automobilist dashed along the street at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and a watchful motorcycle traffic policeman took after him, almost every car in sight followed suit. Soon the chase became a long procession, all rushing through the crowded thoroughfares and around corners at risk of their lives and everybody else's, in a frenzied effort to help that solitary officer apprehend the offender.

When the law-breaker, after a long chase, was finally crowded into the curb and arrested at the point of the policeman's revolver, 20 motorists swarmed out of their cars armed with wrenches and hammers, to make sure that there would be no escape, and offering their names as witnesses. And some of them shouted, "Lynch him!"

Those pursuing drivers really did more harm than good, as far as the ease in hand was concerned. They thoroughly disorganized traffic for a couple of miles, and some of them were arrested themselves for breaking the speed law. But the incident nevertheless is instructive and wholesome.

It shows how motorists have changed their own attitudes toward the law. From the half-contemptuous defiance of traffic ordinances which was all too common a few years ago, they are coming, as a class, to regard the breaking of those ordinances with as much seriousness as the police authorities do. What is more important, they themselves are beginning to use their best efforts to help in the enforcement of traffic laws, and to punish and ostracize those who will not acquiesce. When this comes about, the battle for traffic safety is almost won.

ROAD BOOSTERS VISIT CHARLEVOIX

Members of the West Michigan Pike Association, headed by President Wm. H. Loutit of the West Michigan Pike and President W. S. Gilbreath of the Pike Association, with some twenty-five cars loaded with good roads enthusiasts, visited Charlevoix between two and three o'clock Monday, on their way south after a tour of the state.

The West Michigan bunch were joined by members of the Pike association, who came from the Soo, at Bay View in the forenoon, and together made the return trip south to their destination.

The bunch were met by representative citizens, and the short period spent here was made as enjoyable as possible. They were accompanied by the Ford hand of 25 pieces, who enlivened the stop here with enjoyable music.

Among those who were in the bunch were State Commissioner of Highways Frank F. Rogers, Hugh J. Gray, secretary-manager of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association, and other men interested in the advancement of good roads. The party left here shortly before three for Elk Rapids and Traverse City.

CHARLEVOIX CONSISTORY ENTERTAINS

Affair to Be an Annual Event From Now On

The Charlevoix Consistory of the Masonic order, with their wives, spent a most pleasant and enjoyable evening Wednesday, July 12th, at the Masonic Temple, where they entertained several members of the DeWitt Clinton Consistory of Grand Rapids. Among the out of town guests were, E. S. Rankin, Clarence N. Clark, Spencer T. Ethridge and C. F. E. Luce with their wives, all of Grand Rapids.

Wild flowers of unusual beauty were in evidence as decorations, while the supper was one long to be remembered. The ladies are to be congratulated on this feature of the occasion, which was the first ever held in Charlevoix county. The local Masonic building is one of the finest in this part of the state and the members are proud to welcome gatherings of this kind. Undoubtedly this will now be an annual event.

STATE WORKERS TO RAISE SEEDS

Buy 600 Acre Farm for Alfalfa and Potatoes Near Mancelona

Three men prominent in Michigan agricultural circles have just purchased a 600-acre farm, five miles from Mancelona, and will raise certified alfalfa and potato seed. The men, W. C. Cribbs, of the bureau of markets, M. A. C. W. Drake, county agent of Antrim and Kalkaska counties, and A. Moore, state potato specialist at M. A. C., are said to have secured the farm for a very modest sum, sale being necessary to close the estate of the former owner.

It is the plan of the specialists to raise 100 acres of certified seed potatoes, and 500 acres of certified alfalfa each year, getting an entire new seedling of alfalfa each five years.

NOBLE EXILE ON BEAVER ISLAND

COUNT PROTAR HAS NOT LEFT THERE FOR 30 YEARS

Hates Wealth and Political Influence, But Is Friend and Benefactor of the Poor.

Few folks on the mainland know much of Count Fedor Protar, exiled Russian nobleman, who secluded himself on Beaver Island thirty years ago this summer and has not left it since.

There are Beaver Islanders to whom the feed-in winters are irksome, but not so Count Fedor, who finds plenty to do helping the needy. He eschews "society," and scorns the wealthy summer cottagers whose curiosity sometimes prompts them to seek an interview or an inspection of his premises or farm.

Turned Osborn Down
Count Fedor hates wealth, aristocracy and political influence. Recently Chase S. Osborn was a visitor on the island, and, having heard of the gentle old nobleman, attempted to visit with him, but the Russian cut the erstwhile candidate for nomination for the United States senatorship short, and turned away from him when he approached.

But, despite these peculiarities, Count Fedor is greatly loved on the island. He visits the needy and the sick and carries to them medicines and other necessities paid for out of his own purse. It is said that he was very wealthy before being exiled from his native land, and that all he had was confiscated because of his democratic beliefs. Then he went to France and published a newspaper in the German language, and from there to Rock Island, Ill., where he prospered in a similar venture. But in France and in America he always saw around him persons of wealth and political influence, and they disgusted him. Therefore, in 1892 he went into seclusion.

Now 80 Years Old.
Count Fedor now is 80 years old, but is well and strong. Despite the fact that he once was wealthy in the matter of property he never had much money because he always found persons who needed it more than he did himself. Although known as a recluse, he is no recluse to the simple, humble fishermen of the island and their families, and his knowledge of medicine and his tender heart have made him both physician and nurse to those in need. A new grief came to him at the time of the world war when all other members of the noble family to which he belonged were exiled and had their estates destroyed or confiscated. Up to that time he was in receipt of considerable quarterly income, but since then has received nothing.

The farm buildings of the count are constructed in Russian style with a high, palisade-like fence enclosing them. He is graciously agreeable to those of lowly station, and the only person he hates more than a millionaire is a photographer. Written by Ed. H. Webb, special correspondent.

FARM STOCK

WOOL AND MUTTON COMBINED

Experiment Station Established at DuBois, Idaho, to Solve Sheep Problems.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sheep breeders, ranchmen and animal husbandmen from six or eight states went to the United States sheep experiment station near Dubois, Idaho, this year for the annual shearing. Keen interest attaches to the work done by this station, especially by those who are alive to the importance of grading, if possible, a breed that shall combine weight in mutton and excellence in fleece, with special reference to market demands for fine or coarse grades of wool. In the shearing this year, just reported to the Department of Agriculture, the Rambouillet scored highest. The report shows these results:

Average Weight of Wool per Sheep.

Rambouillet 11.14 lbs.
Columbia 10.85 "
Corriedale 10.08 "
Corriedale grade 10.00 "

The station at Dubois was established by the bureau of animal industry in 1917 to conduct experiments with which it was hoped to solve some of the big problems in range sheep business. With only a little more than three years' experience the specialists do not consider the results sufficiently conclusive to warrant definite assertion in favor of or against particular range practice, but the work has attracted the attention of sheepmen everywhere, and is expected to become increasingly important as the experiments develop.

"It is quite generally agreed," said one of the sheep husbandmen, "that for the main part of the range sheep country of the northwestern states the type of ewes obtained in the first cross between the long wools and the fine wools is a very desirable stock ewe. We appreciate the fact that fine wool rams were most popular in 1919, and that this was due in part to the high price of fine wool. Even should fine wool continue to sell above coarser grades, which is doubtful, we still could not afford to neglect the lamb side of the business that has been the cause of such large use of crossbred stock."

With the Coming of Cool Weather Healthy Ewes Will Have a Better Appetite and If Fed Liberally Will Gain in Weight.

Sheepmen concerned in the business of producing sheep that shall combine mutton and the right kind of fleece watch with interest the development of the Corriedale grades and the Columbia. The Corriedale was imported from New Zealand in 1915 by the bureau of animal industry for this work. The Columbia is the Lincoln and Rambouillet cross interbred.

Men Killed by Dynamite

Peter Miller, of Boyne Falls, about 28 years of age, was instantly killed at Cobb and Mitchells Camp No. 48 in Chandler township, at nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

Miller with others, was using dynamite in removing stamps, the report of Dr. W. M. Boylan, corner, states that death was caused by a premature discharge of dynamite, but it is supposed the man went to examine a charge which had not exploded in the time set for it. The whole upper and left side of his head above the eye was crushed in by the concussion and other scars were found on the body.

Boy Drowned at Boyne City

While swimming in Grand river, about a quarter of a mile above the tannery, Sunday afternoon, at Boyne City, Lester Burden, 17, of Ottawa St., was seized with cramps and sank beneath the waters. Burden had gone swimming with some companions when the tragedy occurred.

The accident happened about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and it was not until two hours later that the body was recovered by deputies sent out by the sheriff's department.

Fell and Broke Ankle

While driving a flock of turkeys from the granary at her home at Bay Shore, Saturday evening, July 13, Mrs. Henry Blair, 47, fell and broke two bones in one of her ankles. The bones were broken entirely in two. The injured woman is at the Petoskey hospital.

Don't worry, but if you do, don't worry others with your worries.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

Next Sunday evening, July 23, at 8:30, under the leadership of Mrs. Geer we will study the topic, "Crow." 11 Peter 3:18. The word "grow" means increase, enlargement, advancement, development, progress toward maturity. "If you are growing, you are pushing outward, upward and forward. Growth must be for something. We must grow in order that we may serve."

Paul said, "I press on, onward and upward to he transformed from glory to glory," was his idea of growth. "Crow in grace and knowledge," was the way Peter put it.

To read, study, pray do these are the steps in the pilgrim's progress. To read God's word, to study God's will, to pray to God for strength to do his will are the marks of a growing Christian.

Come to prayer meeting on Thursday evening. This invitation includes you.

Our delegates to the Baptist Summer Assembly at Kalamazoo College, Ruby Hull and Alice Chew, left on Wednesday of this week. They expect to return in about ten days, better equipped to do the work of the Master, and bring a message to the rest of us.

GIRL'S STATEMENT WILL HELP CHARLEVOIX

Many Women will profit by the following statement of one of their sex: "I was afraid to eat on account of stomach trouble. Even rice did not agree. After taking Adler-Lika I can eat anything." Adler-Lika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing foul matter which poisoned stomach. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach or sour stomach. Guards against appendicitis. It brings out poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. B. A. Herman, Druggist. Adv. 291t.

GRAIN FEED NOT ESSENTIAL

Sheep Will Do Well Where Leguminous Roughage and Corn Silage Are Available.

Grain feeding of sheep during the early winter months is not absolutely essential where a leguminous roughage and good corn silage or roots are available; but the best results are obtained when a small amount of grain is fed regularly throughout the winter and increased just previous to lambing. Two parts whole oats and one part wheat bran, by measure, make a good mixture. If some grain is fed during the winter, less will be required near lambing time. Old ewes, especially, need plenty of good feed to bring about maximum results.

HOG SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Too Many Farmers Have Idea That "Any Place Is Good Enough" for the Animals.

Most farmers have the idea that any place is good enough for a hog. This is a mistake, for the hog is more susceptible to cold than a horse, a cow or a steer, because he is not so well protected as are the larger animals. The minute a hog is put into a house where drafts blow on him he is almost sure to contract pneumonia or some other similar trouble. If he is kept in a dry, well-ventilated place, where he can stay in comfort, he is not apt to become diseased.

WAY TO PREVENT PNEUMONIA

Pens Should Be Warm, With Dry Floors and Beds Free From Dust and All Mouldure.

Warm houses with dry floors and beds free from dust and mouldure are necessary to prevent pneumonia among pigs. Ventilation must be provided so the house will not steam up, but the pigs should not be forced to sleep in a cold draught.

In men's work clothes we have the size you want and you can't equal the quality of materials at the price we ask. Benj. Brown. Adv. 261t.

Starlings Renew War.

Following the frost line down from Canada and the Maine mountains, the starlings are beginning to return and droves of them may be seen flying about the suburbs, says the New York Sun. From their posts in the trees and along the telephone wires they whistle to their fellows and hurl defiance to the English sparrow.

The starlings, introduced into this country several years ago from northern Europe, have proven popular birds. They are industrious bug catchers and are said to be the only bird that will pick a fight with the sparrow. The latter, learning through bitter experience, give their dark-colored rivals a wide berth.

The starling, being a cold weather bird, generally departs for the North late in the spring. With the first cold snap they are back for another season's frolic in New York's snows.

Talking Movies Possible.

Though "speaking films" were first made about 1900, their combination with picture films has just been successfully accomplished for the first time, by two Swedish scientists, and the talking movie seems about to become a reality. The method, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, employs the fundamental method of earlier developments, which makes use of the property of selenium for controlling a telephonic current when actuated by variable illumination. The novelty of this latest work seems to be in the successful combining of picture-bearing and sound-record-bearing films by running them on the same shaft, while taking and reproducing the double record, and in making selenium-controlled electric currents operate a loud-speaking telephone.

Gold Hard to Get.

Alaska prospectors, who were able recently to work, for the first time, Turnagain arm, a branch of the sea, on the government land near Anchorage, report that the body of water is almost literally "paved with gold." For years, until the railroad penetrated the section, the six-foot tides that rush up the arm, swamping small boats, have kept miners out. Now they are going in over the railroad and report several rich finds made in the arm at low tide. Rich gravel, it is said, lies offshore. One vein near Oldwood, assays $100 in gold a ton. The vein is covered by high tide.

Disappointed.

Jlm—Why did every one cry during the death scene at the theater today? They must have known that the actor wasn't dead.

Jake—That was just the reason.

Bring in your Kodak films 24 hour service and the very best pictures guaranteed. Metcalf's Drug Store. Adv. 281t.

Mending China.

Absolutely Logical.

A man who was negotiating for the purchase of a house suggested that the price was a little "steep," but the owner, with an insinuating smile, replied: "Ah, but you overlook an important point—there is room to build another house in front."

"But if I do so, I spoil this."

"Well, you needn't build it unless you want to."

"Then how do I get the advantage?"

"Because you can build if you wish."

"But don't I tell you that if I build another house I spoil this?"

"Then why build it?"

"I should have to build it to get the advantage."

"Then build it."

"But—"

"No buts about it—you can do just as you please; you have the advantage either way; you are master of the situation."

Select Furniture for Use.

Furniture is not a decoration. Its purpose is to fulfill a need. A chair is first and foremost something to sit on in comfort. A sofa is something to lie on in comfort. A table is a convenient object to place things on. A cupboard is a series of inclosed shelves on which to place dishes and utensils. All this may seem trite, but it is necessary at times to recall the functional ideas in furniture in order to restrain the decorative idea. In selecting furniture only that which fully and satisfactorily fills the purpose for which it was intended should be accepted, and that purpose is use. That it may and should be beautiful is the second, but not the primary consideration.

Fish Fight to Reach Headwater.

In the absence of a stream to reach the spawning grounds, the salmon have some hard traveling and some painful experiences, but all the same they persist until they attain their object. When salmon are going up a river they nearly all have hit themselves against rocks, when attempting to leap some rapids or small waterfall. Professor Seton in "Wanderings of a Naturalist," points out that the fish must hurt themselves a good deal when attempting these leaps, as they sometimes lose direction and fall with a thud on a rock. The fish which seem to be most successful in gaining the high and calm waters are those which bore their way through the rapids instead of making many and often fruitless attempts to leap them.

Use Hygrade, gas filled electric light globes.

Everybody is talking about how long they last. Any kind you want. Charlevoix Hardware Co. 51t.

Dog Tax

Nineteen twenty-two dog tax is past due. The County Treasurer will accept dog tax until the first of August but not later. Owing to the fact that there were forty-two arrests made last year I am making this statement that you may have due and timely notice.

Yours truly,
Charles H. Emery,
County Treasurer.

Sealed Bids Wanted

The Charlevoix Agricultural Society will receive sealed bids for the rental of the dining hall on the fair grounds at East Jordan, up to August 15, 1922. Mail all bids to Frank F. Ird, Secretary, Rt. 3, Charlevoix, Michigan. Adv. 281t.

Political Announcement

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the office of County Treasurer at the September 12 primary. I believe I am fully qualified to handle the business of this office, and if nominated and elected, will devote my entire time and ability to the performance of the duties involved as treasurer. The work of twenty-six years as supervisor from Bay township has given me considerable information concerning county affairs. Your support will be appreciated. E. C. Chew, Boyne City, R. F. D. No. 2. Rapid City annexed a 10-9 win from Ellsworth on the Park grounds last Sunday, eight of the total of ten runs coming in the first two innings. Wilson, pitching for the home team pitched a good game, but his support was poor in the early innings. Ellsworth plays Central Lake here, on Thursday afternoon of this week. Game called at 2:30. ROCK ELM

The grange held its regular meeting Saturday night.

The rainy weather, while helping corn and oats, has been bad for hay-making.

E. H. Hutton, who has been quite ill, is able to be out again, though still in poor health.

Mr. Danforth received quite a shock during the storm of the 9th, when the lightning struck the kitchen door as he was closing it, splitting one of the panels and knocking him against the wall. He was stunned for a little while but came out of it all right. Lee, who had gone to bed, was also shocked. The trouble was caused by an ungrounded telephone wire.

The annual school meeting was held at the school house Monday evening, July 10th. The meeting was called to order by moderator Danforth. Director E. H. Hutton being absent it was moved and carried that Mrs. Hutton act as director pro tem. Director's report read and accepted. Mr. Earl Danforth was re-elected Moderator for the ensuing 3 years. There were eleven applications for high school tuition. The district voted to raise the necessary amount to meet it, and also voted to raise an $800 general purpose fund. Moved and carried that the next meeting be held at the grange hall. Adjourned.

POULTRY IN PUREBRED CLASS

Entry of Pafowia Received From South Dakota Farmer—Also Turkeys, Ducks and Geese.

The first pafowia have been entered in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" crusade of the agricultural colleges, the United States department of agriculture, and co-operating agencies. The entry comes from Butte county, S. D., and the owner is J. L. Jones. He is using purebred sires in breeding horses, cattle, swine and poultry. Among his poultry he records a pencock and two penhens, also a liberal number of turkeys, geese and ducks. The campaign already is giving valuable facts and figures regarding the classes of live stock most commonly kept together on farms.

DAIRY FACTS

BETTER COWS HELP PROFITS

High-Producing Dairy Animals Make Best Market for Different Home-Grown Feeds.

Hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of feed is consumed annually by our dairy cows. The net income is large or small, according to the way that feed is used. When production is increased through feeding and breeding, the income rapidly expands, yet a few real scrubs on any dairy farm will deflate the net income.

Farmers of the United States furnish feed and care for 23,000,000 dairy cows. Because of low-producing cows a large part of that feed is wasted. Weighing out expensive feeds to a low-producing cow is like shovelling costly coal into the fire box under a leaky boiler.

Like a Factory, the Dairy Cow Transforms Raw Materials Into the Finished Product—Milk.

boiler; and the farmer who keeps such cows seldom has to pay any income tax.

Like a factory, the dairy cow transforms raw materials—silage, hay, and concentrates—into the finished product, milk. In this way she furnishes a market for the feeds. Whether that market will be good or bad depends in part upon the way the cow is fed, and in part upon the cow herself. There is no better way to market the feeds grown on the farm than to feed them to a herd of high-producing dairy cows. The cow takes corn silage, grain, and hay and converts them into a product for which there is always a ready sale.

It is much easier to send the milk or cream to the creamery than to haul the hay to town. In the long run it is generally much more profitable, because it keeps the soil fertility at home.

In selling feeds to dairy cows the farmer has a wide choice of markets—bud, good, and very good. Few men discriminate closely enough between these markets. If a wheat buyer offers 1 or 2 cents a bushel more than other buyers he gets the wheat; if a wool buyer offers half a cent a pound more he gets the wool. But if one cow returns $3 from a dollar's worth of feed and another only $2, it is scarcely noticed. There is a difference of a dollar in the income every time each of these two cows eats a dollar's worth of feed.

According to estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture, the average dairy cow in the United States produces annually about 4,000 pounds of milk and 160 pounds of butter fat. According to 40,000 yearly individual cow records recently tabulated by the department, the average cow testing association cow produces 5,890 pounds of milk and 248 pounds of butter fat a year. The world's records are 37,381.4 pounds of milk and 1,205.09 pounds of butter fat in a year. There is plenty of room for improvement, it would seem, in the average production.

The keeping of individual cow records is easy. To test a half dozen samples of milk for butter fat, requires about half an hour. Weighing the milk, estimating the weight of roughage, and weighing the concentrate requires but little time. The testing of a composite sample of each cow's milk from two consecutive milkings once a month furnishes the figures from which the yearly production records can be computed. Any man competent to care for a dairy herd can easily learn to make the butter fat test and to keep feed and production records.

Most men would be fine fellows if they had their theories amputated and real facts substituted.

BEAVER ISLAND FOLKS VIGOROUS

TAKE A MILLION POUNDS OF FISH EVERY YEAR

Another Interesting Story From the Pen of Edward H. Webb,
Special Correspondent

The Ulsters haven't driven their foes out of Ireland yet, but they drove the Mormons out of Beaver Island more than 60 years ago. They shipped King Strang to Wisconsin, there to die in the arms of his first wife, and now the kings of the island are the Gallaghers, the Boyles, the McCanns and the McCaffertys.

They are a hardy race, these islanders, and they ship close to 1,000,000 pounds of lake trout and whitefish out of St. James every year. Nobody goes fish hungry on Beaver Island, for fish may be had for the asking if one is in need, and even hundreds of seagulls are passed a "hand-out" to supplement the tons of entrails they consume during the year. They are a greedy lot, these seagulls, and will swallow a fish as long as themselves and then fly about with the tail sticking out. And as soon as the tail disappears they will grab another.

First Arrived in 1856.
It was in 1856, the year that King James J. Strang, who modestly named St. James and the island's most beautiful highway after himself, was slain, that the first band of Irishmen arrived on the island. More came in 1857 and the rest in 1858. All were Ulsterites who first had settled in Canada.

At St. James we find the elder McCann, now 84 years of age, who lived on Mackinac Island from 1850 to 1856 excepting when he was seafaring, and who frequently visited Beaver Island during that period. He settled on Beaver Island in 1856 and knew Bedford and Wentworth, who killed Strang. He owns the largest store at St. James, is strong and well, and his son, Mike, is postmaster.

Tug Brought 7 Tons of Fish
And then there are Hugh and Dennis Boyle, fishermen, who always are ready and willing to take you to any of the other islands of the Beaver group, and Mike Cull, whose long nets contribute much to the million-pound output. One day a tug came into St. James with seven tons of fish piled high on her deck.

Mr. McCann's story of Mormon days is intensely interesting, but it is known to most people in the Petoskey region. The Petoskey public library contains several good accounts in historical works, and also two pieces of fiction which relate the thrills of those stirring days. They are "The Courage of Captain Plum," by James Oliver Curwood, and "A Child of the Sea," by Mrs. Daniel Williams, whose family kept the Beaver light during the Strang regime and who later was keeper of the Harbor Point light for many years. She is now a resident of Charlevoix. The books tell much of Strang, who was the only king, who ever sat in the Michigan state legislature.—Petoskey Evening News.

FARM BUREAU NOTES
—By—
B. O. Hagerman

Have We Over-production?
The following clipping from a recent copy of Hoards Dairyman, aims directly at a point in dairying which is deserving careful consideration in Charlevoix county today:

One of our subscribers in Connecticut writes as follows: "The present conditions in marketing milk at wholesale would not seem to me to justify your continual praises of the advantage of keeping cows as a source of income from the farm, if keeping cows only means a continual round of toll 305 days a year. I am informed that about Cleveland, Ohio, the price of milk to producers is 3 cents per quart. In this section we have a price that at least is sufficient to pay cost of production."

As near as can be calculated, about one-third of the cows kept for dairy purposes yield a profit, one-third pay the cost of feed consumed, and the other third are kept at a loss. If the milk producers in sections where there is an over production of milk, were students of their business, they would not be keeping so many unprofitable cows and in many instances they would not be devoting their entire efforts to milk production. We have tried in various ways to interest our readers to the necessity of knowing the cost of production, for we appreciate that when a farmer takes sufficient interest in his business to know what it costs him to produce 100 pounds of milk, the poor cow will find her way to the slaughter house and there will not be any over-production of milk. In many cases in communities there is really no over-production of milk at the present time, but rather an under production, because people do not know the food value of milk and that it is the cheapest animal food offered to the consumer.

Dairymen have two objects to accomplish: They need to get rid of the poor cow and teach the consumer the value of milk, so that he will pay a reasonable price for it and its products.

It might be said that we need a better distribution of cows, for there are sections of the country that do not have a sufficient number of cows. During the years of high prices of grain, cows in many sections were disposed of. We find the farmers from these communities coming to dairy sections for the purpose of replenishing their herds.

Alfalfa hay in certain western states is selling, in the stack, as low as $3.00 per ton, while in the dairy sections it has brought from $20.00 to $25.00 per ton. Cheap corn in the middle west has prompted more dairy activity, for not withstanding the present price of milk and butter, the cow furnished a better market for the feed grown on the farm than could be found elsewhere. The farmer who marketed his products through the cow received a larger return from his farm than the man that had no cow to market his products. The good dairy cow has always been a splendid market for farm products and we do not believe there is any danger of getting too many good dairy cows on our farms. The losses and so-called surplus are produced by the unprofitable dairy cow and, to avoid this, she should be eliminated." From Hoards Dairyman.

Our observations on this matter are that "Over Production" is seldom what the expression implies. Over production is usually the production of an over supply of poor stuff. Sometimes what appears to be over production is really under production.

Our cherry growers last year had no wholesale market for their cherries and many spoiled because of no outlet. This year's crop is much larger and yet they are all finding a ready market, with every prospect of continuing, and by increasing our acreage and production we may have a cannery located in our own city.

Over production, then is either caused by producing crops which are poor in quality and which no one wants, or not producing them in quantities large enough to attract buyers or give sufficient volume to co-operative organizations to keep them alive.

A cow testing Association in Charlevoix county would eliminate many costly cows and give encouragement to the dairy man in it because they would be ridding themselves of their poor cows and building their future herds from high producing profitable individuals.

Let us quit talking over production until we produce efficiently and in quantities, and to this add some time and energy in finding markets.

In this county's dairying the only present over production is in the number of boarder cows kept at a real loss. Cow testing associations have proven this where ever they have been organized.

DAIRY HINTS

SANITARY HOUSE FOR DAIRY

Necessary Where Milk Is Handled, Because of Its Susceptibility to Contamination.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

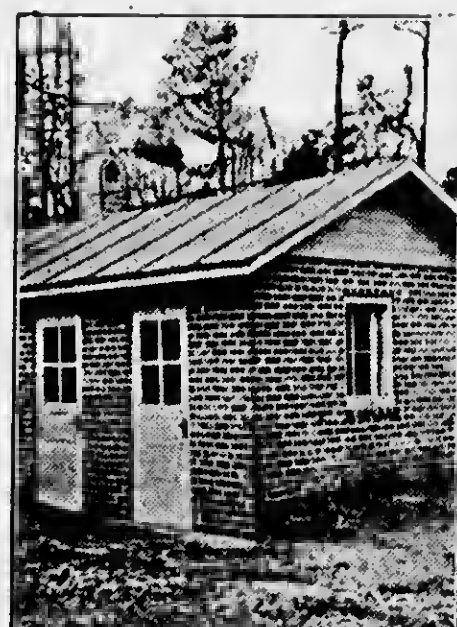

Because of the delicate nature of milk and its susceptibility to contamination by dirt and odors, dangerous to the health of the consumer and likely to cause loss to the producer, a dairy house constructed on sanitary principles and properly located is a necessity on every farm that sells milk.

The regulations of the different states vary, but it is usually found desirable to have such building a short distance from the barn, or if it adjoins the stable, to have only an outside entrance. Prompt removal of the milk to facilitate cooling and prevent contamination is always necessary. A concrete, brick or tile house with asbestos or slate roof, although comparatively costly, is fireproof, durable and sanitary and requires few repairs. Other materials that may be used are stone, cement blocks and wood.

The floor of the milk house is particularly important, and concrete, because of its ability to withstand moisture, decay and wear, is the best material. Although dressed tongue-and-groove lumber may be used for the inside walls, cement plaster makes the best finish. Light is important, and window-space should be equal to at least 10 per cent of the floor space. To keep the air sweet and dry good ventilation is needed. In some climates windows and doors will provide it, but in most localities other means, such as a ventilating flue, will be found necessary. Flies and other germ-carrying insects must be kept out with screens so arranged that they will not interfere with the operation of the windows and doors.

Plentiful supplies of cold and hot water, for cooling and for cleaning and sterilizing, are a necessity if a high-class product is to be turned out. The unavoidable spilling of milk and the use of quantities of water demand an adequate drainage system that will carry the waste well away from the house. Most local and state health departments have specific regulations on this subject.

All of these problems of dairy-house construction are discussed in detail in Farmers' Bulletin 1214, "Farm Dairy Houses," just issued by the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture, copies of which can be obtained free of charge. In this bulletin plans and pictures are given of nine types of houses, suitable for farms having from ten to several hundred cows; for dairies where milk is sold in cans or bottles or is made into butter; and for those using hand or power machinery. Those who are interested in any particular plan may obtain blue prints from the division of agricultural engineering, bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SOY BEAN HAY AS ROUGHAGE

Tennessee Station Finds it Superior to Corn Stover in Producing Milk and Butter.

The Tennessee station compared soy-bean straw and corn stover as roughage in the production of milk and butter. The ration containing soy-bean straw was found superior to that containing corn stover. This ration produced more pounds of milk and butter fat and produced them more cheaply than the cornstover ration. In every case there was less loss in milk and butter fat during the feeding of soy-bean straw than during the feeding of corn stover. It was concluded from these tests that soy-bean straw is a valuable addition to the roughage in the feeding of dairy cows.

PEARSON ENTERS SENATORSHIP RACE

SEEKS POST VACATED BY HERBERT F. BAKER

Made Envious Record State Legislator and Former Head of State Forest Fire Department

The year 1922 gives every evidence of political unrest and sad changes in the line-up, which has resulted in bewildering the average voter to the extent that he or she, as the case may be, is compelled to scan the columns of newspapers closely or lose track of those who seek to fill the various offices to be voted on at the September primary.

The last of these sudden changes is the retirement of Herbert F. Baker of Weadock, Cheboygan county, from the race for state senatorship. On Saturday of last week Mr. Baker announced his entry in the race for nomination for United States Senator. As Mr. Baker had no opposition for state senator the field was left open.

On Monday, William J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, prominent lumberman and farmer of this county, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state senator for the 29th district.

Mr. Pearson needs no introduction to the voters of this county. He was a member of the 1909-1911 Michigan legislature, making an enviable record at the state capital, where he was considered one of the most able and efficient men of that period.

It was chiefly through his efforts that the present forest fire organization was established, and as chief warden his practical knowledge of forest products and fire risks resulted in an administration that was marked with efficiency and a general reduction of fire losses.

In Charlevoix county he has always been one of the mainstays of the Republican party and is one of the hardest workers for the party he was affiliated with in this section. In political circles his candidacy was urged some months ago, and the retirement of Senator Baker made the way clear.

At the present time, Mr. Pearson has no opposition. His candidacy has been received with great satisfaction and his friends and supporters see no obstacle in his election at the primaries.

GEORGE W. WEAVER FOR COUNTY CLERK

Present Sheriff Announces Candidacy at Primary

George W. Weaver, for the past four years, sheriff of Charlevoix county has announced his candidacy for the office of county clerk at the September primary.

Mr. Weaver has served four years as county treasurer and is closing out his fourth year as sheriff. While in public office he has always shown marked ability and was always faithful in the discharge of his duties. Should he be elected to the office he now seeks, the public can be assured of the highest possible service.

"ROASTING" IS NOT THE ISSUE

The sins that Mr. Newberry may have committed, but of which none were proved, are not what we are concerned in regarding the gentlemen who want to be United States senators in Michigan. What the voters want to know is of the rare qualifications these gentlemen have for the job. Going about the country roasting the Newberry campaign isn't what we are concerned in. In other words what particular equipment have Mr. Kelley or Mr. Emory for the place. We know about Charley Townsend, having tried him and found him there with the goods in every case. Any windjammer can roast Newberry. That takes no brains, and isn't the issue in this campaign, either, no matter how much these anxious ones try to make it such. There is real business to be done in the United States senate and we ought to send a man there who can represent us forcefully and intelligently—Inbepmng Iron Ore.

STRIKE DOES NOT AFFECT TOURISTS

Hundreds Continue to Arrive by Car, Train and Boat.

From the number of people arriving daily in Northern Michigan resorts, it is quite apparent that little or no attention is being paid to the industrial unrest, especially the coal and railroad strike.

Every day large numbers of automobiles are arriving from the south, many making the trip by car for the first time. Charlevoix's free auto camp is a lively place and each day sees an increase in the number of tourists stopping over night or spending several days in the city.

Hundreds of train and boat passengers are coming and appear to give little serious thought to the railroad strike, knowing, some of them say, that trains, boats or automobiles will run when they wish to return to their homes in the city. There appears little uneasiness regarding the rail strike among tourists of the region, and few if any are returning home or planning to go soon because of this present difficulty.

INTREPID FIRST TO REACH MACKINAC ISLAND

Yacht Vandalia Loses Sails Near the Manitowish—Final Outcome of Race Not Yet Known

Latest reports available, declare the yacht Intrepid, winner of the Chicago-Mackinac Island race, eight boats left Chicago Saturday to compete in the annual cup race over a course of 330 miles, the above mentioned yacht finishing Tuesday.

The yacht Vandalia, one of the contestants encountered some heavy weather while off the Manitowish Islands and with part of her sails blown away, she was forced to abandon the race and arrived in Charlevoix Wednesday morning.

The balance of the fleet will reach here in time for the Pine Lake races which start Thursday. F. R. Evers of Chicago, chairman of the regatta committee, is expected Wednesday to complete details for the local races.

Thursday at 1:45 p. m. the warning gun will be fired, followed at 1:57 by the preparatory signal, which will start the largest fleet of yachts that has ever competed for prizes on Pine Lake.

At 8:30 p. m. the yachtsmen will be tendered a reception at the Inn. Friday at 10:00 a. m. the Charlevoix-Boyne City race will be run and the contestants will be the guests of the chamber of commerce of that city at a dinner at the Wolverine Hotel.

On Saturday the final races, consisting of free-for-all sailing, canoe and row-boat races will occur and the regatta will close with a banquet and presentation of prizes at the Charlevoix Inn.

TITLED SALESMAN IN COUNTY JAIL

"EARL OF DUNBLAYNE" ARRESTED IN MONTREAL

Loaded by Sheriff After Long and Strenuous Chase—Much Wasted for Alleged Shortages.

With the arrest of A. J. W. Greig at Montreal, Canada, last Friday by County Sheriff Geo. Weaver, the much-tangled business interests of the Title, Guaranty and Casualty company of America, will come to light. Greig was arrested for embezzlement on complaint of Mary E. Miller of this city, who alleges he swindled her out of $500.00.

The Sheriff had been after Greig for some time, who is also charged with misuse of funds belonging to the company, and also is in contempt before the Michigan securities commission for skipping to Canada when ordered to appear before that body with the company's books so they might be examined.

Monday he was taken before Justice H. C. Cooper, where he waived examination and was bound over to circuit court on $7,500 bonds, which he claims he will furnish. Attorney Lisle Shanahan appeared for him and Prosecuting Attorney E. A. Ruegger for the people.

Greig was deposed from the presidency of the company by the stockholders who took the business out of his hands last January, and since he was taken in Canada he has been held by the authorities there for peaceful return or extradition. He chose the latter alternative. Three audits of the company's books have been made, one by the state insurance department, one by the securities commission and one by a private auditor. It was just after he was deposed and the securities commission instructed him to appear with the books that Greig left the country.

The offices of the Title, Guaranty and Casualty company of America were in the Michigan Trust company building in Grand Rapids and the Campau building, Detroit. Authorized capital was $500,000 and authorized surplus the same. Shares were sold at $100, the first $50 being paid in surplus and the other $50 being the par value. Twenty-five dollars in cash was accepted as the first payment per share, the balance being covered by promissory notes.

Greig, when arrested, was known by the name of "Earl of Dunblayne" as well as many other aliases. He is said to be one of the slickest stock salesman traveling on the road.

BAKER IS OUT FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP

Quits State Race to Make Run for Bigger Job

Herbert F. Baker, of Cheboygan, state senator from the 29th district, Saturday announced his entry in the August primary for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. This swells the list to four active candidates, Senator Charles E. Townsend, present senator, Congressman P. H. Kelley and Major John C. Emery.

Senator Baker had petitions filed for state senator, for which nomination he would not have been opposed, and his entry into the larger field comes as the result of repeated urging from the farmer-labor bloc which has circulated his petitions for United States senator without consulting him.

Baker entered state politics in 1907 when a member of the state legislature from Cheboygan county three consecutive terms, being speaker of the house of representatives in 1911. In 1917 he was elected state senator from the 20th district, holding the same honor a second time.

His prominent connection with farm organizations has brought him a strong following, and his entry into the August primary is expected to upset the three-way alignment that existed prior to his candidacy.

Entertains with Dinner Party Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamlin entertained with a dinner party Wednesday evening for Miss Cable of the Charlevoix hospital. Those enjoying the excellent dinner were, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cook, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Krull and Miss Cable.

COUNTY I. O. O. F. FORMS A CLUB

AT RECENT MEETING HELD IN EAST JORDAN

Annual Picnic to Be Held in Park at Charlevoix, Monday August 31—A Day of Fun

Delegations of Odd Fellows from all parts of the county met at East Jordan July 14 and were most royally entertained by the lodge at that place. The purpose of the meeting was to consider the advisability of organizing a county association and to decide upon the date for the annual picnic.

After due discussion a committee consisting of A. L. Fitch, Newton Jones, C. F. Benham and E. E. Ormsby was appointed to draft by-laws for the new association. The by-laws submitted and adopted provide in part: The association shall be known as Odd Fellows Social Club of Charlevoix County; its purpose to promote social Odd Fellowship in the county. The executive board shall consist of twelve directors, 3 from each of the four lodges in the county. From the directors shall be elected a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The directors are elected for three years while the officers may be changed each year.

The directors selected at the meeting were: From Boyne City lodge, E. E. Ormsby, E. J. Davis and Floyd Morton; from Charlevoix, John H. Bugbee, Roy Ripley and L. S. Ranney; from East Jordan, Newton Jones, Robert Atherton and Henry Westjohn; from Horton Bay, E. E. Stroud, Joseph Shaw and Floyd Bartholomew.

The combined lodges then proceeded to elect E. E. Ormsby temporary chairman, giving him power to set a date and call the directors together for the first election of officers. At the meeting of the directors it will also be decided which lodge will entertain first, as it is expected each lodge in the county will provide entertainment at least once a year to all members of the club. The directors will also pass upon the amount of the per-capita tax each lodge will be assessed.

The date and place for the annual picnic was fixed as follows: The picnic will be held on Thursday, August 31, at Charlevoix, in the park fronting Lake Michigan. Each and every Odd Fellow and Rebekah and all members of their families, are expected to be present, and visiting Odd Fellows will be welcome.

PLANS UNDERWAY FOR COUNTY FAIR

Annual Event This Year September 11 to 16

Frank F. Bird, secretary of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society, has entered upon his official duties with an enthusiasm that augurs happily for the success of the annual fair to be held at East Jordan September 11th to 16th.

Mr. Bird is all optimism. He declares that only bad weather can interfere with a week of pleasure, and that while he has not consulted the almanac or one of those slickers who can tell you the number of your watch before seeing it, he nevertheless feels that we will have a week of good weather. The affable secretary further states that his associates have endorsed his policy of conservative press notices.

"It is our desire to have patrons of the fair pleasantly surprised with an honest program and not go away feeling they have been misled by flowery promises of attractions which do not appear," said Mr. Bird. "We expect to deliver the goods, keep the amusements clean and thereby justify the support of all classes."

Several new features have been added to amuse and instruct fair visitors, Mr. Bird believing that the educational side should receive more consideration. It is his plan to arrange these exhibits so that they will prove as popular as the sports.

Mancelona Quits League Ball

Mancelona has decided to withdraw from the Northern Michigan base ball league as they have no pitcher and the expense of securing one is too great. We are extremely sorry to hear this. While Charlevoix won the only game played with them, they are good clean players and will be greatly missed in the league.

Following is a report of the doings in the office of Prosecuting Attorney Ruegger for the first half of 1922: Total number of cases prosecuted in which arrests were made was 67. Of this total there were found guilty a total of 60. Convictions were had in every case tried. Of the above total, after investigation 6 cases were dismissed. Settlement had by agreement, 1.

Besides the above number of cases brought to a final conclusion, there were a larger number of other cases which were investigated both before and after complaint was made and either warrants were not issued or arrests not made on account of the disappearance of the accused. The above does not include several cases now pending in circuit court, which will be ready for trial at the coming term in August. E. A. Ruegger.

TAKES OVER COAL AND RAIL CONTROL

COMMERCE COMMISSION EXERCISES ITS POWER

Food, Live Stock, Perishable Products, Coal, Coke and Fuel Oil Given Preference

A national emergency exists, because of the rail and coal strike, the Interstate Commerce Commission declared Tuesday, says a Washington dispatch.

The commission took this extraordinary action in accordance with the provisions of the Esch-Cummins law and vested itself with powers equaling those in force during war time to prevent profiteering and to control distribution of coal and other necessities.

The commission ordered that each road should give preference and priority to each of the following commodities:

Food, food for live stock, perishable products, coal, coke and fuel oil.

The commission also ordered that priority be given interchange and return of empty cars intended for transportation of these designated necessary commodities.

The commission classified the manner in which coal cars are to be supplied to mines, giving it practically complete control over the movement of such cars.

Strike Situation in Michigan

Governor Alex J. Groesbeck left Lansing Tuesday for Saginaw to take over control of Michigan's coal mines. The governor was accompanied by Attorney General Merin E. Wiley and Fred B. Perry, secretary of the state administrative board. Colonel Roy Vandercreek, commissioner of public safety, will meet the party there.

Groesbeck will make a last effort to induce the union miners to go back to work at the old wage scale, pending national strike settlement.

Whether or not he is successful in his efforts to get the men to go back to work, state operation of the mines will be announced later, it was said in official circles there. Perry, it is reported will act as fuel administrator.

STEERING WHEEL LOCKS—AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Marmon Sedan Rolls Over on Road Near Bay Shore

A large seven passenger Marmon sedan, owned by David Salinger, one of our summer visitors and driven by his chauffeur, met with what might have been a serious accident, while returning from Petoakey.

When leaving the Emmet county road at Bay Shore, the steering wheel of the big machine became locked in some unaccountable manner, forcing the car to leave the road and turn turtle in the ditch. The driver was very fortunate to escape without injury to himself and with minor damage to the car.

SOO MAN HAS NEW ROAD PLAN

ASKS LINES TO CONNECT ALL COUNTY SEATS

Also Suggests that State Operate Ferry Lines Across Straits of Mackinac to Carry Auto

The Detroit Free Press in a story reporting the various activities of the Around-the-Lakes tourists, says that Fred S. Case, of Sault St. Marie, has two new ideas for the betterment of motor travel.

It is his belief that Michigan should construct a system of roads that will connect up the county seats of every county in the state. He points out that the original idea of the Townsend highway bill was to join up all the state capitals of America in this way, and he believes that the same plan should be adopted by Michigan in extending its highway system. County seats, Case contends, are the main center to be included in a practical road system.

He would have these roads built first, and then let the townships put in their own side roads as required. He is certain this plan could be carried out without hindrance by politics or pull.

That Michigan should also establish car ferry service for motor cars between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City is another idea that Case is fostering. For years the railway companies jointly have enjoyed a monopoly of this business for which the public has had to pay dearly. Recently some modification was made in the rates, but it is still contended that they are excessive, particularly in the case of trucks.

Some of the latter vehicles are forced to pay $25 and higher for the short haul across the Straits.

Case says the state could construct and operate a ferry for what it would cost to build seven or eight miles of highway. With such a line in commission the revenue from it even at $2 a car would pay both for maintenance and, in time, the entire cost of the boats and docks. With a fair rate being charged, the Sault St. Marie man is sure 25,000 cars would cross into the upper peninsula each summer, as compared with some 7,000 for last year.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR TREASURER

Grover C. Geneit Latest to Enter the Contest.

Why there should be more men seeking the nomination for county treasurer than other county office is beyond our comprehension. But nevertheless this is a fact. Possibly they imagine the position is a snip, but if so, the winner at the primary will soon awaken to the fact that there is more real work connected with this office than any in the county building.

Grover C. Geneit of Charlevoix, is the most recent one to file his petition for this office. He is a bookkeeper by occupation, served two terms as alderman from the first ward of the city of Charlevoix, and during the last half of his second term was acting mayor.

Outside of local politics, this will be Mr. Geneit's maiden venture in the political arena. He is fully qualified to handle the work, and if he is the choice of the voters at the September primary, will prove an efficient and obliging county official.

AUTOS COLLIDE—DAMAGE SMALL

Leo Allard, driving a Buick owned by H. B. Wood, collided with a large car owned by one of our summer visitors. The accident occurred on Dixon Avenue and aside from broken fenders, neither car was damaged to any extent. The visitor's car was attempting to make a turn in the center of the block when struck by Allard. It might be well at this time to inform the summer people and the citizens as well, that there is no public intersection on the south line of Dixon Avenue between the corner of Bridge and Dixon and Burns Street, four blocks to the east, and cars wishing to make a turn must go to a street intersection, otherwise they are in danger of collision. Dixon Avenue is busy thoroughfare at this time of the year and care should be exercised by our motorists.

Area of a Triangle.

Where the altitude and base of a triangle is known, the area of the triangle is found by multiplying one-half of the base by the altitude. Where the lengths of the three sides of the triangle are known, the area of the triangle can be found by the following rule: From half the sum of the three sides subtract each side separately. Multiply together continually the half sum and the three remainders and extract the square root of the product which will be the area of the triangle.

These Nettles Deal Death.

Any species of nettles is unpleasant enough to handle roughly, but some of the foreign ones are most formidable plants. Several of the East Indian forms are truly dangerous, for, after the first itching sensation has passed away it is often followed by that of hot irons being rubbed on the flesh, and the pain increases to such an extent that after hours—and sometimes days—the patient is seized with symptoms like those following influenza and lockjaw, while sometimes death results.

Trivial Accident Brings Disaster.

The gypsy moth has caused a great deal of trouble in this country, and much money and energy have been spent in the effort to exterminate it. The trouble started when a French naturalist named Trouvelot, residing in the town of Malden, Mass., left a paper box containing gypsy moth eggs on a window ledge and it blew off. That was in the early eighties, and he was making experiments with various kinds of caterpillars as silk spinners.

On May 4, 1920, Mrs. Cowen said: "I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they certainly are a fine kidney medicine. FARM POULTRY

ROOST WILL DESTROY MITES

Plan Outlined for Completely Clearing Poultry House of All Thirsty Blood-Suckers.

One successful way to rid poultry houses of mites is to use a roosting pole that will harbor them during the day, so that it can be soaked with hot water to destroy them. The roost shown provides a place on the underside where they may hide. It consists of a lath held under the roost with small nails to make the hiding place inviting for them. You simply lift the roost from the holders, slightly loosen the pieces of lath, and pour boiling water between the lath and the roosts. This will kill all vermin and destroy any eggs that may be there. The roosts will quickly dry if the water is hot.

In this way a poultry house can be completely cleared of all blood-suckers.

A Hiding Place is Provided for Vermin in This Poultry Roost to Catch Them During the Day.

on the place. The flea cads are colder than the wood, and the vermin will not crawl over them.

Mites do not attack fowl in the daytime, and it is difficult to discover their presence. Body lice remain on the fowl all the time, and they may be exterminated in the following way: Haag the fowl head downward in a barrel and rub a small amount of flouride of soda well into the feathers for half the length of the fowl. This is a harmless powder and it can be used on chicks as well.—George W. Smith, in Popular Science Monthly.

It would be better to teach some old dogs to forget their old tricks than to try to teach them new ones.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

Responsibility for National Service

H. B. Thayer, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, calls attention to a fact that must have been known to most people though it is questionable whether very many have stopped to mentally digest its tremendous significance. "The Bell system is the only organization, outside the Federal government, which carries the whole responsibility for national service," says Mr. Thayer. He defines the difference in the case of the telephone service by showing that there is more than one company. The railroad, he points out, covers only certain sections of the country.

Just as the post office department reaches out into every section of the country so does the Bell system serve the most populated as well as the most remote regions. In accepting its responsibility for national service the post office department places its facilities within reach of all. Practically every annual report made by a Postmaster General has contained an explanation for the postal deficit for the period it covers, and a complaint from the head of the department that such should be the fact. But the case is different with the telephone company. Listen in: "Every business enterprise must make money if it is sound," observes president Thayer. Imagine what the 200,000 stockholders of that company would say to their executives if there was a deficit year after year, as is the case with the post office. "Is there any difference in interest between the public and our stockholders?" asks Mr. Thayer. "I cannot see any," he answers in the next sentence. "If we serve our stockholders wisely and efficiently, we shall render the largest benefit to the public. The success of the company depends upon the measure of good-will of the community which it can get and hold." After recounting how the company must keep pace with every need of the country for telephones, he adds: "We must make our charges low enough to enable every person who ought to have a telephone, to have one, and at the same time we must earn enough to attract capital to take care of this growth."

It requires no supporting proof to make it certain that the Bell system does all the things that are stated above. It sounds simple enough of achievement to a body of less than half a hundred executives in control of a private business like the telephone. Why then, cannot the government do as well? Echo answer—why! Dame Experience points to the Shipping Board with its boats wallowing in stormy financial seas that are threatening to wreck the whole American merchant marine unless it can be unloaded onto private ownership by aid of a ship subsidy. And history fairly cackles at the mention of Mr. Burleson, who as Postmaster General, ran the telephone and telegraph lines at a loss; and Mr. McAdoo, who kept raising rates and running farther and farther in the hole all the time that the government operated the railroads.

The "responsibility for national service" is filled with peculiar problems, and it is interesting to find out how private concerns are able to meet their responsibilities to the public.

In contrast to this optimistic document from private business life are the floods of cases wherein congress is constantly being told of the failures under the political system. It seems to all harken back the sentence in one of President Harding's first messages in which he agreed that "what we need is more business in government and less government in business."

The Post Office Rent

The Postmaster General rounded up his inspectors the other day, and among the other things in the way of instruction imparted to the eluents was the warning that "great pressure must be brought to bear to keep the rentals within bounds until such time as the government, by appropriation and enactment, shall entirely do away with the policy of leasing."

At the present time there are several considerations that influence the location of a site and the building of a local post office building. Receipts of the office must total a sum sufficient to put the office in a certain "class." After that the congressman needs a certain amount of cajoling, and then he proceeds to exercise whatever pull he may possess to get a bill through congress. If he belongs to the majority party there is a probability that he may work the bill past the legislative pitfalls and keep the proposition from being buried in the pigeon-holes of the Post Office, Treasury and other departments.

But that is not all of the story. The custom is to build all new post office buildings "in keeping with the dignity of a rich government." This custom is so rigidly observed that most of the new buildings are a thousand per cent more commodious than the rented quarters they replace, and if 5,000 of them were built throughout the country the $10,000,000 that is now paid out in rent would be consumed annually in the additional cost of upkeep. On the other hand, people everywhere are asking, why should the government pay out rent for all these post offices, since the post office business is in no sense a transient enterprise? To which the answer is always voiced by the minority party in power at the time in the nation, that "these buildings are political pork."

Doubtless what Postmaster General Work has in mind is an entire reform in methods by which the "pork barrel," and the abuses incident to the public buildings policy in the past, may be overcome. It has frequently been argued in the halls of congress that the government could solve the entire problem by putting up "standardized" buildings, the same kind in each community. Of course everyone would expect that these public buildings would be attractive and creditable to the government and to the community. General Work knows that he will never be able to get many new post office buildings until some such plan as the above is adopted.

A Texas Oil Bubble

The Federal Trade Commission has issued what amounts to "fraud orders" against S. E. J. Cox and wife, and their oil promotion scheme. Cox made several bold, successful strikes in the oil business in Texas a few years ago; and this so turned the head of this young man that he and his wife started in to promote all sorts of dry holes in the possible belief that the magic of their association with these various enterprises would produce a gusher for every acre of stock. If all their plans for the past three years had succeeded they would have made John D. Rockefeller look like a piker by this time. They traveled in air planes, and their schemes and their bodies floated into the clouds. To add to their troubles they are now being sued for payment by the manufacturers of two of their racing air planes. The fables of Aladdin, and the experiences of "Coal Oil Johnnie" are hardly less exciting than the tales of the meteoric career of this young Texas couple, who have finally hit the cold, solid ground with a force that has produced a dull, sickening thud.

There is no wonder that thousands of people are in search of the prizes of the oil fields. Oklahoma is producing 400,000 barrels of oil a day, California is not far behind; and Kansas and Texas are among the other great leading states. Nearly a million and a half barrels of oil come out of the ground in the United States every day. Oil production and the oil business is as legitimate as farming. The actual oil producer is seldom less careful in his business methods than the farmer. But just as there are spectacular methods for gambling in "trading" in farm products, so are there even more daring ventures being constantly retorted in the business of producing oil. But farming or oil production are nonetheless respectable because there are so many reckless gamblers attaching themselves to these basic industrial pursuits.

Every newspaper in the land occasionally devotes space to published warning against promoters of worthless oil stocks, but just so long as a new customer "is born every minute" just so long will reckless promoters and schemers continue to defraud the public. It takes a long time for the government to hunt down all the "get-rich-quick" promoters who live by fleecing the innocent public through selling fictitious oil stocks; and until the people with a little spare money on their person learn how to take care of it there will be repetitions of heart-breaking performances such as have just been staged by Mr. and Mrs. Cox—whose plane has fallen.

MYSTERY OF MOUNT EVEREST

Finding by Explorers of Imprint of Human Foot on Mountain Given Various Explanations.

The progress of the Royal Geographical Society's expedition to Mount Everest, under the leadership of Col. Howard Bury, was watched with keen interest by scientists, especially at the Natural History museum, South Kensington, to which the spoils were to have been brought for study and classification on the return of the party.

One statement in a dispatch received from Colonel Bury excited special curiosity, and it is hoped that this will be satisfied by further discoveries in the course of the expedition.

"Even at these heights (more than 20,000 feet)," writes Colonel Bury, "there were curious tracks in the snow. We distinguished bare and fox tracks; but one mark, like that of a human foot, was most puzzling. The guides assured me that it was the track of a wild, hairy man, and that these men were occasionally to be found in the wildest and most inaccessible mountains."

Naturalists here are by no means prepared to scout the idea of a human race living in such an altitude. The probability is, however, that the supposed "wild, hairy man," is in reality a bhutia, known as a Marapu, which is known to live at great heights on the Himalayas, and the footprint would be very similar to the human foot.

PARIS PLAGUED BY WILD CATS

Really Serious Situation Caused by Hundreds of the Animals Infesting Bois de Boulogne.

Hundreds of wild cats running loose in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris, and actually proving a menace to peccable pedestrians, may sound like an excess of imagination, but it is really a fact. Moreover, their existence has provoked a conflict between the Society for the Protection of Animals and the Bird Lovers' society, the latter declaring the wild felines must be shot by police agents, while the former insist that the police have no right to capture them by any other means than box traps. The cats, however, refuse to enter the boxes, and are so enraged by the continual attempts to lure them into nets that they now show fight whenever nurses or children approach during their morning strolls. The Seine prefecture is taking the problem so seriously that a special committee has been appointed to investigate, and is preparing a report to show that unless the cats can be ousted from the city's biggest playground the succeeding litters of kittens will be more savage than their parents and the Bois de Boulogne will become as dangerous for humans as some of the forests in northern Russia.

Color Revived.

If magenta is to be the new fashionable color, it will be the return to favor of the crimson-purple over which Europe went mad 60 years ago, observes a correspondent. It is dated by its name, for in 1850 the French and Piedmontese under Napoleon defeated the Austrians among the rice fields and vineyards of Magenta, near Milan. A crimson-purple aniline dye being discovered about the time, it was named after the famous victory, which everybody has now forgotten, though the color is to be revived. Magenta was then the very acme of beauty. But its glory soon faded, and Charles Reade, the novelist, wrote of his villas: "He wore a magenta tie that gave Zoe a pain in the eye," while Barrie in "Margaret Ogilvy" epitomized the age of a heroine in the fact that she wore a magenta frock.

Woman in British Commons.

Lady Astor no longer occupies the proud position of being the only woman member of the British house of commons, for Mrs. Wintringham, who was elected to succeed her husband in the representation of Louth, has taken her seat. They differ in this important political respect—while Lady Astor is a devoted follower of the coalition, Mrs. Wintringham is one of the Free Liberals, who acknowledge the lead of Mr. Asquith. The two women members share the same private room at the house; they dress alike in plain dark workaday clothes; but their seats in the house are not together. Lady Astor sits in the second row immediately behind Lord Robert Cecil; Mrs. Wintringham sits two rows further behind.—Christian Science Monitor.

DODGE BROTHERS COUPE

You will realize, the moment you see this coupe, how perfectly it fulfills a very real need.

It was designed and built by Dodge Brothers in response to that need—long-standing and often-expressed by people in all parts of the world.

With Dodge Brothers chassis as a starting point, it only remained to create a coupe body which would unite the usual coupe refinements with greater lightness, hardihood and economy.

The world now knows how this was accomplished. An entirely new precedent in closed car construction was established. The body is built of steel.

Moreover, the deep comfortable seat is upholstered in genuine leather. The doors are exceptionally wide. The rear compartment will hold a small steamer trunk and other luggage. The enamel, baked on the steel at high temperature is readily restored, after hard usage, to its original lustre.

In every detail the car reflects the purpose of the builders—to make it a practical car of universal appeal.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS A BAREFOOT BOY

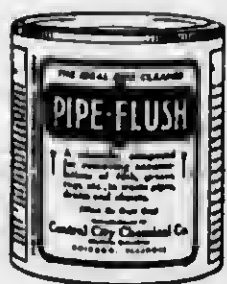

Every scrap of printed paper that came to his hands was a treasure trove. He read it eagerly—conning every line—getting every worth while word.

What a harvest he could have gathered from a modern newspaper! And not the least interesting to him would have been the advertisements, with their stories and their pictures of products, appliances and services that have smoothed the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable in the rough pioneer days.

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all. And advertising that has made it simpler to make and distribute profitably innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our life so eminently easy to live.

Read over the Courier advertisements and try to think what the things you see there would have meant to our forefathers. Then you'll realize what a service and what a convenience advertising is to you.

COST OF LIVING JUMPS IN JUNE

The cost of living is again on the rise.

It took another jump in June, the department of labor announced today in reporting that wholesale prices for June were 1.3 per cent above May. And May prices had increased 3.1-2 per cent over April. Largest price gains were reported for fuel and building materials, in each of which groups the June level was over 4 per cent higher than that of May. Food articles averaged nearly 1.2 per cent higher and clothing prices were more than 2.1-2 per cent higher than in the month before. Metals showed an advance of three-fourths of 1 per cent. No change in the price level was shown for chemicals and drugs and home furnishing goods.

Farm products, on the other hand, due to declines in grains, hay and eggs, decreased three-fourths of 1 per cent in average price from May to June, while the group of miscellaneous commodities, due largely to the drop in cattle feed prices, decreased 1.3-4 per cent.

Of 404 commodities for which comparable data for May and June were obtained by the department's statisticians, increases were found to have occurred for 132 commodities, and decreased for 106 commodities. In the case of 166 commodities no change in average prices were reported.

Comparing June prices with those of a year ago the figures show that the general level has increased over 5.1-2 per cent.

WILL NOT TOLERATE EXCESSIVE USE OF MONEY

Those who are inclined to listen to the insinuations and guesses of the opponents of Senator Townsend in reference to the excessive use of money in his campaign should read the following. In a speech made directly to the community having his campaign in charge July 6, he said:

"Objection is raised to the possibilities of corruption arising thru the use of excessively large campaign funds. Undoubtedly this possibility exists but the best cure or preventative of corruption is full publicity of all expenditures made. This is being done at regular intervals by the voluntary committee that is endeavoring to place my record before the people of Michigan. An honest man, and an honest committee need not fear the spotlight of publicity."

"If gross extravagance in expenditures on the part of one candidate continues to the point where it works to the serious disadvantage of the other candidate, all things being equal the demand for fair play will assert itself at the ballot box to the benefit of the poorer candidate. It appears that it is difficult to make a hard and fast rule regarding the amount of expenditures. In most cases the general public can be trusted to make proper distinction at the ballot box."

"Personally I will not tolerate even what the most honest and conservative citizen would denominate as an excessive use of money. I believe that statutory regulation is just and it must not be violated. The provision of law which requires campaign funds to be expended through a committee treasurer and the results published to all the people is a wise one. It is the greatest safeguard against corruption. I know that my friends will observe my wishes in this regard. Indeed they must do it."

"I have spoken frankly and at length because I cannot help but feel that all good citizens, and particularly women, regardless of their political affiliations or inclinations, are concerned first in ascertaining the truth before reaching any conclusion, especially when it involves the character of men in public life. If in doing so, I have been able to render any service to the citizens of Michigan, I am grateful."

This has the right ring and will we believe, meet the reasonable expectations of every citizen.

LIGHTS FOR PEDESTRIANS

A wagish traffic-reformer suggests a set of rules for pedestrians, beginning as follows:

"Pedestrians crossing streets at night shall wear a white light in front and a red light in the rear."

"Before turning to the right or the left, they shall give three short blasts on a horn."

These rules may never be officially adopted, but the problems they deal with are real enough. Anyone who has never driven in a car can hardly realize how difficult it is to see a pedestrian crossing the street in the dark. If pedestrians realized that, they would probably take fewer chances—or wear lighter clothes. White is the best for visibility. It would help, too, of the pedestrian caught napping in the middle of a crowded thoroughfare could use some kind of signal to let drivers know what direction he intends taking. Yet the trouble there is that the pedestrian himself seldom knows. As for the further suggestion that "when an inexperienced driver is would help, too, of the pedestrian shall indicate the same and the pedestrian shall hide behind a tree until the automobile has passed," that seems rather extreme. Even pedestrians have some rights.

CATTLE EXHIBITORS MUST HAVE PERMITS

Tuberculin Tested Cattle Only Ones to Be Admitted

In order that the regulation requiring that cattle exhibited at Michigan fairs and shows during the 1922 season come from herds which have been properly tuberculin tested, H. W. Norton, Jr., director of the bureau of animal industry, is notifying the cattle breeders of the state to secure permits from his department. If you are a breeder of cattle and have not received a blank application, notify Mr. Norton at Lansing and he will mail you one, which you should fill out and return to him. Permits will be issued as promptly as possible.

Frank F. Bird, secretary of the Charlevoix County fair, will require each exhibitor to show an exhibit permit before allowing him to bring his cattle into the fair grounds. This regulation has been issued at the request of a large number of cattle exhibitors and should not result in any hardships to the fairs.

All stalls and pens at East Jordan used for housing livestock exhibits of any sort will be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected prior to the fair.

As the final day draws near for the filing of nomination petitions for county offices, candidates are coming out from under cover and announcing themselves for the county office they seek.

Boyne City will have two aspirants for county office this fall, one for sheriff and one for treasurer.

Lester B. Jersey, connected with the First National Bank of Boyne City, announces himself as candidate for county treasurer, and David Vaughn, from the same place, is in the race for the office of sheriff.

The announcements of both gentlemen appear in another section of this issue.

EAST JORDAN BOND ISSUE CARRIES

City Votes to Have Municipal Owned Electric Plant

The special election held at East Jordan on Monday, called to vote on the proposition to bond the city for $70,000 for the erection of a municipal owned electric light plant, carried by a majority of 301, the vote standing 343 yeas and 42 nays. Not quite so strong as Charlevoix carried the proposition, but enough to plainly show the wishes of a big majority of citizens.

Steps will be immediately taken toward the erection of the plant.

ACKLEY'S SHOW AT EAST JORDAN

One of the Leading Attractions at Legion Carnival Week.

Ackley's Independent Shows at East Jordan this week on the High School ball grounds, owned and managed by Harry A. Ackley, formerly a summer resident of Charlevoix, is now a 7-car show operated by high class show-people, and carrying new and up-to-date equipment of every kind for the amusement of the pleasure-loving public. The show has just completed a very successful engagement at Traverse City, where the so-called carnivals are not allowed to run. City officials and the public joined in their praise of the attractions and the manner in which they were conducted while there.

AT THE MOVIES

Mary Pickford a Boy in next Picture

The thing that will probably interest the public most about Mary Pickford's "Little Lord Fauntleroy," coming to the Palace Theatre next Saturday as the feature attraction, is not so much the fact that she plays a dual role in this picture as that she takes the part of a boy.

Little Mary has played a dual role before—in "Stella Maris"—but this will be the first time she has ever appeared as a boy throughout an entire photoplay. While it is true that she has worn masculine garb in some of her previous productions, she did so as a girl masquerading as a boy for the moment only. But in her film version of Frances Hodgson Burnett's great story, Miss Pickford is constantly on the screen as Little Lord Fauntleroy or as his mother; in fact, much of the time she is there as the mother and the little lord.

The work Miss Pickford does in the dual role is said to be by far the best of her career. Her sympathetic interpretation of the mother part is a startling contrast against her portrayal of the boisterous, mischievous and exuberant boy. It hardly seems possible, that these two widely different characterizations could be assumed by one and the same person.

Some of the best character actors in the cinema world will be seen in this picture, among them Claud Gillingwater, James A. Marcus, Kate Price, Fred Malatesta, and others.

FUNDS GIVEN TO HOSPITAL FUND

Annual Chauffeur's Ball Planned for August Tenth

The annual Chauffeur's ball is scheduled this season for the evening of August 10 at the Lakeside Pavilion.

This event has become an annual affair and each year has proven more popular, both in attendance and good time had. Charlevoix's numerous summer chauffeurs are a fine lot of fellows and are as interested in the development and success of the city's numerous activities as all-year residents.

This season, as in the past, the receipts of the ball will be turned over to the local hospital fund. Receipts from the dance held in August, 1921, amounted to $420.00. It is the intention of those in charge of the dance this year to increase this amount and be able to tender at least $500.00 to the hospital fund.

Frank Winegar's seven piece orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music, which will prove one of the leading attractions of the event.

Progress on New Water Plant

Due to rainy weather the past week, work on the new water plant was somewhat delayed, but is now proceeding nicely. The reservoir is gradually reaching the desired depth and the foundation for the power house is well under way. With continued good weather, work will be rushed to completion.

THURSDAY, JULY 27—Goldwyn presents Tom Moore in "Mr. Barnes of New York." The same Tom with the same golden smile, but in a new kind of part. Also a Rolin comedy, "Stand Pat."

FRIDAY, JULY 28—Goldwyn presents, "A Glorious Fool," with Helen Chadwick and Richard Dix. From the famous story by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Also a Sport Review reel.

MONDAY, JULY 31—Goldwyn presents "The Night Rose," with an all star cast. Leroy Scott's powerful melodrama. Here two women fought the city's king of evil. INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Not Insane—Just Frolic

A medical board who examined a Bad Axe woman, who her husband thought insane, declared that the cause of her peculiar actions was not insanity but a sore foot. Such assurance of understanding and protection will be keenly appreciated, too, by those having carbuncles on the neck.

Leroy and Tom Connors, held in jail at Gaylord charged with having burglarized stores at Elmira and Vanderbilt the first of May, and who recently escaped jail only to be recaptured a few hours later, face trial at the term of circuit court which opened last Monday. The men face a joint charge of burglary and are separately charged with the same crime. They worked for a week cutting a hole through the jail wall, piling the debris on top of the cell block and were undetected at their work. For hours they were free in a patch of woods and were only captured when they feared they would be shot by some members of the posse searching for them. Miss Mildred Kramer, who witnessed the men crawl through the hole in the jail wall, was too frightened to give the alarm until the men had passed through the yard of her home and escaped into the woods.

Victim of Peculiar Accident

A women west of here, writes an upstate reporter, "was the victim of a painful but not serious accident while in town trading Saturday afternoon. She caught her foot in a crack and fell to the sidewalk wrenching the same severely." Luckily, first aid was promptly rendered, and the sidewalk will soon be walked about on as usual.

WARMED WATER HELPS COWS

Cattle That Must Drink Ice Cold Water Show Result in Their Milk-Giving Qualities.

Have you ever experimented with warmed water for cows? Of course water should not be very warm, but it should have the chill taken out of it. Dairy cattle that must drink ice cold water show the result in their milk-giving qualities. Ice cold water chills the animal so that additional food is necessary.

DEPRAVED APPETITE OF HEN

Fowl That Has Formed Habit of Eating Her Eggs Cannot Be Cured—Use the Ax.

The hen that eats her eggs has formed a habit that cannot be broken. Cut off her head with the ax. A depraved appetite may be acquired by seeing some other hen eat an egg, as one hen learns from another to eat chickens. A lack of food or grit may be a contributing factor also.

CLEAN ALL DAIRY UTENSILS

Where Several Cows Are Kept Water May Be Heated by Means of Small Boiler.

One of the greatest conveniences on the farm where cows are kept is some means for heating an abundance of water for washing the milk vessels. Where a considerable number of cows is kept, heating water by means of steam from a small, low-pressure, upright boiler is desirable, but on the small farm a stove with a basin fitted into the top (or it may be separate from the top) can be purchased cheaply and will serve the purpose, provided the water is properly heated. Water can be pumped from the well directly into the basin. In order to avoid heating the milk room and to do away with smoke and ashes, the water heater should be placed immediately outside of the milk room; and, if elevated, the water from it can be run into the washing vat.

PRUNE APPLE TREE PROPERLY

Orchardists Should Take Care Not to Cut a Hole in Top—Too Much Wood Taken Out.

In working on apple trees be careful not to cut a hole in the treetop. Many people read about opening up the center of the tree in order to let sunlight in and then make the mistake of cutting out too much wood. A tree properly pruned should never show where the limbs come from when viewed at a distance of 25 feet.

Guards against appendicitis. Adler-Ike removes matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. B. A. Herman, Druggist.

DAIRY CATTLE ON DRY FARM

Government Begins Study of Dairying and Crop Possibilities in Southwest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In order to study the possibilities of dairying and to develop better methods of crop utilization in the dry farming regions of the Southwest, the bureau of animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture has established a herd of purebred dairy cattle on a farm in the semi-arid district of northwestern Oklahoma. The bureau of plant industry has had a farm here near the town of Woodward for many years, and has studied such crops as grain sorghums, broom corn, forage sorghums, cowpeas, alfalfa, rye for the prevention of soil blowing, and winter wheat for pasture. From now on the farm will be used co-operatively by the bureau of plant industry and the bureau of animal industry. This is considered a necessary combination, as most of the feeds grown there are of the kind that must be fed largely to live stock.

The dairy division hopes to determine whether or not it is desirable to produce live stock under those dry-land conditions, and to grow the crops which will give the largest returns per acre in terms of milk or cream. The question is not one of crop tonnage, but of the amount of finished dairy products that can be turned out. The work here is not designed to discover the best practices for any particular state, but to study practices that will be desirable in the large dry-land regions where only certain crops can be grown.

The people of this little Oklahoma town have shown great enthusiasm in regard to the investigations that the department of agriculture contemplates. The town purchased 100 acres adjoining the old government farm, and turned it over free to the government for a period of 99 years. The voters of the town were almost unanimous in favor of this donation.

The cattle that are being used on this farm are also in the country-wide breeding project being conducted by the dairy division and bulls have been sent from the government farm at Beltsville, Md. In this breeding project, which now includes more than 800 cows and 50 bulls, it is hoped to determine what are the best methods of breeding for the improvement of cattle. The large scale of this investigation should make the results particularly valuable.

Rainbow in Summer and Winter.

Why is the rainbow so frequently seen during the summer and so seldom during winter? Its formation, we are told by Prof. W. J. Humphreys, the eminent meteorological physicist, requires the coexistence of rain and sunshine, a condition that often occurs during local convectional showers but rarely during a general cyclonic storm, and as the former are characteristic of summer and the latter of winter, it follows that the occurrence of the rainbow correspondingly varies with the seasons.

Has Four Year Service Record Behind Him

One of the latest to enter the race for political honors in Charlevoix county is Charles Novak, who has announced himself as a candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of sheriff.

The duties connected with this office are not unfamiliar to Mr. Novak, he having previously served as sheriff for two terms, 1915-18. During his tenure in office he made an enviable record and it was conceded by all that he faithfully and efficiently performed his duties. During this period work in connection with recruiting took a great deal of his time, but regardless of this, the county's interests were not neglected.

Mr. Novak asks the support of the voters of Charlevoix county and when the final returns are in after the September primary, his opponent will realize he was in the race.

her against the windshield, cutting

CHARLEVOIX LOSES TO BOYNE CITY

Rain Makes Good Ball Playing An Impossibility.

Boyne City took Charlevoix into camp last Sunday at Boyne City to the tune of a 11 to 7 score. The game was played in a drizzling rain, neither team being able to display a real article of base ball, and Boyne having the break with them, caused the downfall of the Charlevoix leaguers.

They managed to secure 10 hits off O'Hara and with errors mingled in, succeeded in scoring 11 runs, while Charlevoix was able to get but eight hits and six runs.

voix, managed to pull down a fly good for three sacks.

SAFEST RATION FOR STEER

Silage, Together With Cottonseed or Oil Meal, and Either Clover or Alfalfa.

The safest steer ration for a man who has silage is to feed 40 or 50 pounds of silage per steer daily, together with about 8 pounds of cottonseed meal or oil meal and 2 or 3 pounds of hay, preferably clover or alfalfa. Cottonseed cake generally contains more protein than oil meal, but the protein in oil meal is of higher quality, and ordinarily we would be willing to pay $5 or $6 a ton more for oil meal than for cottonseed meal. The question of feeding corn to steers depends to a considerable extent on the future action of the corn and cattle market. Probably it will be just as well to feed four or five pounds of corn to the average steer daily during the last month or two of the feeding period.

High Blood Pressure Curable.
High blood pressure can be overcome in most cases by exercise, says the Canadian Life. This cause of the many rejections in life insurance is not usually a permanent disorder. It can be cured by exercising gently at first, and increasing up to a reasonable amount. Clients who have been rejected on this account should be advised to take up some moderate form of exercise, and in the course of a few months they may be acceptable.

True Thrift.
Thrift is steady earning, wise spending, some saving, careful investing, and the avoidance of all waste.

isters will be present to preach the

"INTREPID" WINS CHARLEVOIX RACE

PINE LAKE REGATTA WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Winners of Various Races Brought at Pine Lake Regatta—Visitors Delighted with Charlevoix

Saturday's race completed the annual Pine Lake Regatta, held under the auspices of the Charlevoix Yacht Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

The yacht "Intrepid," which early last week won the annual Chicago-Mackinac yacht race of the Chicago Yacht Club, also took first honors in the local event. She is owned and skippered by T. F. Prather of Chicago. The yacht "Rainbow," owned by E. H. Steadman of St. Louis, skippered by W. H. Barnett of that city was second; "Jackson Park II," second, and skippered by A. A. Bennett of Chicago; was third, and "Alpha" owned and skippered by R. W. Simmons of St. Louis, tied for fourth place with the "Tiger," owned by J. H. Smith of Detroit, skippered by George Duffield of the same city.

Other yachts in the race were the "Donella," owned and skippered by H. F. VanDyke of Milwaukee; "Vanadis," owned and skippered by Gordon Seagrave of Chicago, and the "Spider," owned and sailed by E. L. Bloomster of Chicago. The "Spider" withdrew after the first day of racing. The race was seven miles around a triangle both on Thursday and Saturday, with a straight run from Charlevoix to Boyne City Friday.

In the special class for open boats, "Cynthia," owned and sailed by John P. Wilson of Chicago, won. Other boats in this race were "Jane," Robert Stuart, Chicago, and "Whistling," owned by Joseph King of Chicago.

In Saturday afternoon's motor boat race, "Laura B," owned and motored by Samuel T. Gilbert of Detroit, took the cup, with "Militant," owned by J. B. Lord of Chicago not far in the rear.

The regatta judges were Frank Wever, chairman of the regatta committee of the Chicago Yacht Club; Harold, Clarence and Norman Shaw and George Ambrose of Chicago, and Rny Hamilton, secretary of the Charlevoix Yacht Club, Charlevoix.

In the sailing race the time for the seven miles varied from one hour to an hour and 39 minutes. "Intrepid" scored 16 points for the three days; "Rainbow" 13, "Jackson Park II" 11 and "Alpha" and "Tiger" nine each. Both the sailing races were handicaps.

Besides the racers there were many other yachts, owned by cottagers on the lake, and much interest was manifested in the close contest.

Saturday evening those who participating in the racing events together with members of both yacht clubs, enjoyed a delightful social event at The Inn, where a five course banquet was served. At the close of the banquet and program, winners of each event were presented with beautiful sterling silver trophies and souvenirs of the occasion, E. B. Ward, president of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce, acting as toast master.

Charlevoix received many compliments, on the manner in which the event was handled, the entertainment afforded the contestants and visitors, and plans for races for next year's regatta were discussed. It is expected that at least twice the number of boats will participate next season.

COUNTY CLERKS CHOOSE CHARLEVOIX

Michigan Clerks to Hold 1923 Convention Here

At the close of the 14th annual convention of County Clerks held in Flint, Charlevoix was selected for the 1923 meeting. During the session just closed, matters of importance were presented, and one of the most interesting was the naturalization law.

The convention adopted a resolution asking congress to authorize depositions to be taken within the state in which the petitioner lives and to do away with the certificate of arrival.

It is needless to say that these meetings are of great value and will be instrumental in obtaining proper laws pertaining to their offices. Charlevoix welcomes them.

HENRY'S PRODUCTS HOSPITAL FILLERS

Well Advertised "Lizzie" Friend of Physiciao

Talk about a business getter, is there anything that has it on the much advertised and maligned "Lizzie." But regardless of this, they "ramble right along," seemingly working hand in hand with the family doctor and swelling the waiting list at the local hospital.

Claud Myers of fronton, claims a Ford has a kick that greatly discounts a Missouri mule. And Claud knows, for he is carrying his right hand in a sling. Both bones are broken above the wrist—a nasty break and one he will long remember. He was attempting to start his Ford truck Sunday morning. The truck evidently thought the Sabbath was a day of rest and resented. Myers will take a vacation for a month or more.

George Mitchell, a young lad living near Norwood, was trampled on by a "Lizzie" last Sunday also. The rear wheel of the car passed over his stomach, but George paid little attention to it and suffered no bad results.

People with strong stomachs, judging from this incident, need have no fear of a Ford. But if you are looking for permanent injury, try cranking one of them on the Sabbath Day.

MOST HAPPY TIME OF YEAR

FAIR WEEK A TIME OF PLEASURE FOR FARMER

Cannot Be Held Without the Wholehearted Support of the Entire Community

With the ripening of rye and oats comes the whirl of the binder among the waving fields of gold; and while mid-summer still reigns supreme, autumn awaits on the threshold. Harvest time should be and usually is the most satisfying part of the farmer's year, for it is then that he reaps the reward of his efforts.

Fair time comes before the main harvesting, and is a week of pleasure for the farmer and his family. The automobile having solved the transportation problem, there is no reason why all farmers of the present day should not support their home fair, if not as exhibitors, at least patrons of the booster type. We are all interested in the fall fair, though some of us may not realize it. You, Mr. Grouch, and you, Mr. Pess I. Mist, are affected by crops, by dairy products, by everything pertaining to the products of the soil.

Fairs cannot be held without the wholehearted support of the community. Make your plans accordingly. Get out of the rut and arrange to attend the Charlevoix County Fair at East Jordan, beginning Monday, September 11th and lasting the entire week.

A big program is being prepared for your enjoyment; and you will learn a lot besides. There will be baseball games, horse races, good music, splendid exhibits of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and grain.

Frank F. Bird, R. F. D. 3, Charlevoix, is the secretary. He will gladly furnish any information desired.

CHARLEVOIX BOY VISITS OLD HOME

Left Charlevoix 23 Years Ago for The West

Edward McNeill, familiarly known to his many old time friends as Ed, is in the city with his family for a two weeks visit with his mother, Mrs. Mattie McNeill.

Some twenty-three years ago, Ed was a member of the Courier staff, then owned and edited by W. E. Hampton. While still a young man, he left for Chicago, where he continued his trade as a printer for the next fourteen years. A desire to see the West, landed him in Berkeley, California, nine years later, where he engaged in business for himself.

Mr. McNeill says, California is a wonderful place, but to get real climate, you have got to come to Charlevoix. We agree with Ed and assure him that Charlevoix is always glad to welcome her native sons.

BUT FEW OBEY THE VEHICLE LAW

ALL HORSE DRAWN VEHICLES
MUST CARRY LIGHTS

Law Passed for Protection of Both Auto Drivers and Occupants
Of Vehicles

Every person who drives a horse on the streets or public roads at night should remember that the legislation of 1921 enacted this law, Act No. 126, page 274, Public Acts 1921:

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

Section 1. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to drive, or to cause or permit to be driven, upon any incorporated village or city street or a trunk line highway of this state, any vehicle, including wagons, buggies and carriages, drawn by horses or other draft animals, during the period, or any portion thereof, from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise unless there shall be displayed in a conspicuous place on the left side of such vehicle a light of such arrangement and character that the same may be plainly seen either from the front or rear at a distance of not less than three hundred feet.

Section 2. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine of not more than five dollars. Approved May 6, 1921.

Evening after evening we have driven the country roads about Charlevoix, and to date have failed to meet a horse drawn vehicle carrying a light. This is the common experience of practically every person who drives an auto at night.

This law was passed for the protection of the life and property of those who drive horses as well as of those who ride in autos. In fact, it is probable that the danger to drivers of horses and occupants of horse drawn vehicles is far greater in case of collision than to those riding in autos, but no autoist wants to be even the innocent cause of an accident.

The Courier appeals to all who drive horses at night to carefully observe this law whether on a trunk line or in a village or not. This law ought to be strictly enforced for the protection of everybody.

PLANS LAID TO FILM INDIAN PLAY

Dr. John A. Albert Secures Lease of Wa-Ya-Ga-Mug Park

Dr. John A. Albert of this city, has announced an extensive program including the leasing of the buildings, grounds and scenery of Wa-Ya-Ga-Mug park, four miles north of Petoskey, in view of reviving Longfellow's famous Indian Legend play "Hiawatha" which for several years was an annual event of national interest.

The plan underway will not only revive this picturesque custom but will also preserve and broadcast the legends of the American Indians, as arrangements have been made to film and show this feature throughout this and other countries.

Five hundred Ojibway and Sioux will be used in the cast. Work of cleaning and repairing the buildings is well underway and it is planned to begin work as soon possible. Many of the Indian actors who took part in the play when staged by the Pennsylvania railroad have been re-engaged and others will be brought from other parts of Michigan and from Dakota.

SECOND ANNUAL LEGION DAY

Thursday, August 17th, Day of Real Sport

Leslie T. Shapton Post of the American Legion has set aside Thursday, August 17th for their second annual legion day celebration. A Ford car will be given to the person holding the lucky number and besides numerous other sports, a fast game of ball will be played by the Charlevoix and Boyne City league teams.

The first annual event was a complete success and the boys are anxious to repeat it. A day full of fun is assured everyone. Don't forget the date.

MEET AT CADILLAC

Will Visit Charlevoix and Northern Michigan Cities on Tour Through Potato Growing Districts

The speakers will be David Friday, President of the Michigan Agricultural College, A. M. Dunton, Manager of the Minnesota Potato Exchange, Clark L. Brody, general manager of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, and John A. Doelle, Commissioner of Agriculture for Michigan.

This banquet is an annual affair. Last year over three hundred farmers attended. The speakers at this year's banquet will be members of some of the most successful local associations in the exchange.

The Thursday morning session will be made the regular business meeting of the exchange. Reports will be given on the year's business and plans made for the coming season. Two directors will be elected.

The first Michigan potato inspection tour will start from Cadillac on Thursday afternoon immediately following the business meeting and will visit potato fields in nine counties of the Northern Michigan potato belts. The growers will first go to Lake City, visiting fields in Missaukee county enroute and stopping for supper at Missaukee park. They will return on the 18th to Wexford county and cover a route now being mapped out by county farm agent, William F. Johnson of Cadillac. In the middle of the afternoon the tourists will reach Rosecommon county, and under the leadership of county farm agent L. L. Drake will visit fields in Rosecommon and Antrim counties until Saturday afternoon. "Alba, Manclona, and Bellaire" will be visited and Traverse City will be reached late Saturday afternoon. The growers will spend Sunday at Traverse City where Dr. Houston, Secretary of the Grand Traverse County Farm Bureau, is arranging the week-end entertainment.

The tourists will again enter Antrim county Monday morning, stopping at Elk Rapids and Central Lake and reaching East Jordan by noon where county agent, B. O. flagerman will guide them through Charlevoix county. Emmet county will be toured Tuesday, August 22nd, following a route mapped out by county farm agent, Dwight Cavanaugh. Cheboygan will be reached that night.

Wednesday morning they will tour through Cheboygan county with county agent, D. B. Jewell, reaching Gaylord for supper and a night's stop. Thursday morning some of the good growers of Otsego county will be visited under the direction of county agent, A. C. Lytle and then the tourists will start for Elmira, reaching there Thursday noon, August 24th for a big round-up picnic at Maplewood Farm, owned by Thomas Buell, president of the Michigan Potato Producers association.

In each county the tourists will note the cultural practices and methods of treatment. Fertilizer experiments will be observed and experts will be present to explain the value of using commercial fertilizers, high powered sprayers and hill selection of seed.

Among those who will speak, either at the picnic or on the tour are: C. W. Waid of the Ohio State Farm Bureau, F. B. Gaylord of Indiana, J. Daugherty of Pennsylvania, Prof. F. F. Cox and J. W. Weston of the farm crops department of the Michigan Agricultural College, H. C. Moore, secretary of the Michigan Potato Growers Association, Henry Curtis and A. B. Larga of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, Carl H. Barnum of the Farm Bureau Seed Department, Jason Woodman, Paw Paw, member of the State Board of Agriculture and D. L. Hngerman, agricultural agent of the Pennsylvania railroad. County agents of southern Michigan will be invited to make the tour. It is expected 200 potato growers will make the entire trip while many more will attend the meetings in the several counties.

PETOSKEY WALLOPS LOCAL LEAGUE TEAM

Inability to Hit Sphere Loses Hard Fought Game

In a hard fought game featured especially by the fine pitching of Thomas and O'Hara for Petoskey and Charlevoix respectively, the latter team went down to defeat by a score of 3 to 1 at the game played on the Petoskey grounds last Sunday.

Petoskey scored one in the first inning on an error at first and two in the second on a couple of scratch hits and a steal of home by King, Petoskey's catcher. After that Petoskey never had a chance to score.

Charlevoix lost several opportunities to score through inability to hit when hits were needed, at one time having the bases full with one out, and another with two men on and none out. However, Thomas put all he had on the ball and struck out the next batters. Lewis made a nice long catch of a ball hit by Casteel of Petoskey, which looked good for three bases.

Charlevoix plays at Bay View Thursday, and Sunday tackles the hard-hitting East Jordan team here, who defeated Boyne City Sunday. Charlevoix will have new men on first and behind the bat as well as being strengthened by the addition of McIlvane in the field.

STATE TAKES HAND IN COAL STRIKE

SAGINAW MINES TO BE UNDER CONTROL OF STATE

Local Conditions Not Serious, Coal and Gasoline Supply Normal—Erroneous Report About Manitou

The coal strike in Michigan has reached the point whereby the state has taken preliminary steps to take over and control the mines in the Saginaw district, in order to secure a sufficient supply for state institutions and utilities.

The owners of the mines agree to sell the coal, in the ground, and permit the state to operate them. Just what success they will have is hard to determine at the present time.

Conditions throughout the entire country are becoming serious and undoubtedly the national government will have to step in and relieve the situation.

The rail strike continues, latest reports advising railway executives reject the president's seniority plan, but accept two other suggestions for settling nation wide fight.

Charlevoix has experienced little inconvenience up to the present time and our merchants report a normal supply of coal and gasoline. No further cut in train service since last week.

Erroneous reports of discounting the steamer Manitou are discredited by Geo. E. Johnson, general manager of the Michigan Transit Co. He advises that no steamers will be taken off the run, as they are assured by the coal company, that their boats will be supplied.

COUNTY MASONS HAVE A BIG DAY

All Lodges Well Represented at Picnic Thursday

Charlevoix Mason, Eastern Stars and their families, and members of the order from all parts of the county, spent the day at Hayden's Point, on the shores of Pine Lake near Boyne City, on Thursday last.

The crowd began to arrive about ten o'clock, and by noon the spacious grove was well populated. The Boyne City Marine Band was on the job throughout the day and their excellent music was thoroughly enjoyed.

Following the picnic dinner the field sports took place and furnished a vast amount of amusement. The base ball game between Masonic nine from Boyne City and East Jordan resulted in a score of two to one in favor of East Jordan.

The event will be an annual one from now on according to plans recently made, and each year will become more popular.

CADDY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

STRUCK BY BUS WHILE HOOK-ING RIDE TO WORK

Crushed Leg and Fractured Hip are Costly Results of Ill-fated Adventure

Youth's love for adventure and excitement, and a desire to reach the golf grounds more quickly, resulted in what might have been a fatal accident, when Frank Hull, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull, was struck by a large auto, owned by H. R. Fowler and driven by Frank Nowland.

Young Hull was on his way to the golf grounds and was riding a bicycle. Believing that it would be more easy and somewhat quicker to reach the links, he hooked on to the rear end of a Pierce Arrow. When at the intersection of Meech and Dixon Avenue, he decided he had gone far enough and cutting loose from the big car started across the street. Nowland coming west on Dixon at a fair speed, saw the boy, but too late to avoid striking him. He made an effort to turn and in doing so the hub cap struck the boy, splitting the left leg from knee to ankle, breaking the bone below the knee and fracturing the hip.

He was immediately taken to the hospital and from latest reports is doing as well as can be expected. Unless complications arise, the hospital advises that the leg may be saved.

Towing behind autos has become popular with the youngsters and should be stopped. Undoubtedly the boy was to blame in this case, but drivers must remember that the speed limit is fifteen miles, and not forty in the city. A strict adherence to this limit by drivers and the enforcement of the law by officials, will reduce the chance for an accident to the minimum.

AUGUST LOOMS AS BUSY MONTH

TO FIGHT GOOD ROADS' FOES

National Campaigns Launched Against Ancient Enemies of Motor World —Many Sign Up.

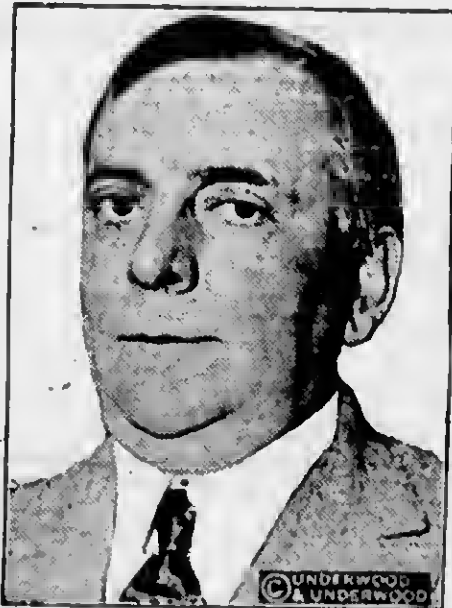

Officials of the newly organized National Motorists' association declared war on a number of ancient enemies of the motor world following an organization meeting at Chicago. They launched national campaigns against political interference with highway building programs, overloaded trucks which are breaking up paved roads, and on increasing motor tax levies, and declared that the campaigns will be carried out consistently in every section of the country.

Their attention was called to the damage done by illegally loaded trucks to roads about Chicago by Senator H. C. Kessinger, who predicted that the new organization will become the champion of 50,000,000 people if its program for improved motor conditions is carried out.

E. E. Ertman of the Illinois association, and Fred H. Cnley of the Ohio State association were named secretaries of the new national body and delegated to open national headquarters shortly in Washington, D. C. An immediate survey has been ordered to determine why gasoline prices should continue at their present peak.

A number of the 350 delegates sent to the initial Chicago convention were empowered by their local clubs to apply for immediate membership in the new national body.

The first to formally sign up was the Ohio State Automobile association, with a membership of 60,000. The Illinois State Automobile association, including 45,000 members outside of Chi-

How The Master Driver Became Master Tire Builder

IN 1903, driving the "999" racing car, Barney Oldfield started his career of victories that later earned him the title of "Master Driver of The World." To overcome the tire weaknesses that made racing difficult and dangerous, he studied tires—specified materials—supervised construction.

Today, Barney Oldfield is known as the "Master Tire Builder." Starting with the crude tires which carried the "999" one mile in sixty seconds, Oldfield gradually developed his famous Cords—a set of which covered 500 miles at eighty-eight miles an hour without a change.

In three years Oldfield tires have won every important race on American speedways. They are the only American tires that have ever taken first place in the French Grand Prix. They have won for three consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis Sweepstakes. So far in 1922, Oldfields have lowered four World's Records and seven track records.

The Wichita Test Run gave evidence of Oldfield superiority in touring—when a set of four Cords covered 34,626 miles over rutted, frozen, winter roads—a performance attested by the Mayor of Wichita.

See your dealer and get a set of these rugged tires that Barney Oldfield has developed and perfected through a lifetime of practical tire experience. Their performance will convince you that they are "The Most Trustworthy Tires Built."

Shark Enjoyed "Scratching."

A diver, working off the Australian coast, had an odd adventure. A 12-foot shark came nosing up to him, and as its rough hide might have damaged his suit, he held the point of his steel "jumper" toward the intruder. This seemed to be just what the shark wanted, and he rubbed himself against it as a pig does against a stick when he is being scratched. He kept the diver at work for half an hour, and at last made off.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

The Uncharted Course

There is plenty of complaining criticism of the intervention by the administration in the coal and railroad strikes. The critics are divided into one class who claim that intervention is untenable and unwarranted, and another class who complain that more vigorous measures should be adopted to bring about cessation of the industrial conflict. The government is trying its best to find remedies for the situations involved. President Harding says there are forty different problems in the issue.

There is a theory, yet unproved, that in the great industrial affairs of the nation that three parties exist in every situation, namely: the employer, the employee, and the public. It is true that with a war to back it up the government succeeded most effectively in telling its side-partners what to do, and what not to do. But in these halcyon days of peace, labor and capital seem equally stubborn in listening to the voice of their government.

The Railroad Labor Board issued orders that have been set at defiance by the parties affected. The president pointed out in his proclamation that the railroads and the strikers both have failed to obey the orders of the board. The president's own offers have been flaunted. Now we have an order by the Interstate Commerce Commission that pools railroad facilities in order to meet the "national emergency." No matter how effective this may prove there is no reason to expect that it will have any appreciable bearing in settling the railroad and coal strikes.

Labor and capital have become so thoroughly organized that neither of them hesitates to take positions practically in defiance of the government. There is nothing theoretical about this statement. "It is a condition that confronts us—not a theory," declared Grover Cleveland in 1887. The definition cannot be improved in 1922.

Despite the fact that the railroads have been "regulated" to the heart's content by laws upon laws evolved out of legislative mills that have ground the same old railroad grist for twenty-five years, the boasted power of the government to prevent such things as strikes and lockouts under its powers to protect the public interests, has not yet been established.

The national administration finds that the enforcement of its power in this direction is undefined. Moral persuasion and the appeal to reason seem to have lost their moral force since war-time days. Perhaps one reason for this was the reaction from the war that left a sort of spirit of rebellion against paternalism. President Harding and his advisers are compelled to admit that their course is an uncharted one.

Nationalizing the Mines.
A good many people in discussing the coal strike are inclined to advance the theory of "nationalizing the mines" with about the same freedom of thought they exercise regarding the changing of a tire. They recognize the fact that there has been an industrial "blow-out," and seize upon what they think is a simple remedy. In war-time we had a number of illustrations of the results of "nationalizing" our industries. The Wilson administration dropped the experiments at the earliest opportunity. They were "hot potatoes," and before they could be dumped overboard they burned away the political majority of the party in power.

Senator Borah has introduced a bill establishing a coal commission. There will doubtless be an "investigation" by the senate, as well. These are always auxiliary movements that grow out of coal strikes. These measures can have nothing to offer with reference to the immediate conditions affecting the country's coal.

President Harding called upon the Governors of coal-mining states to use their whole resources to protect those who would work in the coal mines. The head of the United Mine Workers says that not a single union miner has been forced to return to work by the "assembling and parading of engines of war." The resourceful leader, Mr. John L. Lewis, has insisted that this settlement of the strike must be general and not by districts as the operators desire. Such a settlement would be the complete triumph of unionism in the coal fields. Heretofore the "patched-up" peace that has brought hostilities to a close has been made on a basis that left only parts of the fields unionized. The coal operators are seeking to duplicate such a settlement. Between the strikers and their employers the issue narrows down to a question as to whether or not the whole coal mining industry will be unionized—as is the railroad industry.

The problems of the administration would be somewhat lessened if the coal mining industry was included wholly within the unions. But the administration contends that the question of unions or nonunions is not its concern. The public demands coal mining and coal delivery. The government has no particular degree of control over the coal mines, as it has with the railroads. These powers seem meagre and futile enough with the railroad situation, but they are even less with the coal problem.

It is certain that the country must have coal. Only the most drastic emergency would cause the administration to consider "nationalizing the mines." But there is a new and untried issue that must be settled sometime, and it may be determined before the close of the present industrial crisis. That is the determination as to whether the "public" interest can be protected against all interference, either by labor or capitalistic groups.

General Sawyer's Mishaps

Custom prescribes that the president of the United States shall have a "personal physician," but laws of which we have so many, provide "an appropriation therefore." In consequence the president always brings along his family doctor and has him made a "Major," or something else in the army, and assigned to the particular job of looking after the health of the inmates of the White House. It seems a ridiculous performance—nevertheless that is the way it is always done. President Harding went his predecessors one better and when the medico from his old-home town got into his army clothes his shoulder-straps showed him to be a "General." In explanation of his advancement over his predecessors it was announced that General Sawyer had been delegated special powers with regard to the public health. He was made chief-coordinator of the Federal Board of Hospitalization. But the General's day-dream has been ruthlessly disturbed by the demands of many representative members of the American Legion that he "stand aside." It is claimed that General Sawyer has prevented the program of the Veteran's Bureau from going into effect, and letters assailing him indicate that he has not a proper appreciation of this physical and mental remedies that should be applied in caring for the men whose lives were wrecked by war.

"The President's friend" might have been immune from these attacks had he been sworn in as a "Major," and contented himself with looking after the president's health. Ordinarily the only additional duties would have pertained to afternoon teas, receptions, golf, motoring and similar enervating activities.

But poor old Dr. Sawyer was made General and clothed with public duties. Evidently he has not been giving satisfaction to the American Legion, and that organization is spoiling the old physician's fun. General Sawyer will probably be like the man in one of Shakespeare's plays who thought his "greatness" a ripening, only to discover that on the third day there "comes a frost." This pseudo-tragedy might have been avoided had the old doctor been satisfied with the title of Captain, or even that of Major.

But words are things, and a small drop of ink, falling like dew upon a thought, produces that which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.—Byron.

SUMMER DISHES.

For a pint of cooked fresh beans, chop fine two slices of leek or a thin half-slice of Bermuda onion; add three tablespoonfuls of oil, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a chili pepper, chopped fine, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of red wine vinegar. Mix well and turn on a plate. Set slices of hard-cooked egg around the beans and a tablespoonful of mayonnaise on top. Garnish with a sprinkling of parsley.

Macedonia of Vegetables in Tomato Jelly.—Cook, very gently, two cupsful of tomatoes, two branches of parsley, a stalk of celery, two tablespoonfuls of mushroom trimmings (the peel and stalks), two slices of onion, with two cloves, a small bit of bay leaf and one-half teaspoonful of salt 15 minutes; strain; add one-quarter of a package of gelatin, softened in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water; add a few drops of tobacco smoke. Chop fine the cooked white of an egg. Cut in bits any vegetables at hand, such as beans, asparagus and celery hearts, with cooked peas. Set eight molds in crushed ice; in the bottom of each put a portion of the egg white; add the prepared vegetables and any that is left of the egg to the tomato, which has been cooled somewhat; stir until the tomato holds up the vegetables, then use to fill the molds. Serve on heart leaves of lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Strawberry Jam Tart.—Make a flaky pastry and roll out and cut into rounds with a large cutter. With a very small cutter or pastry tube cut a circle of little rounds in one-half of the paste, but do not remove the centers. Set a generous spoonful of strawberry jam in the center of the little rounds, cover with the other rounds after wetting the edges and firmly press the edges. Brush with milk and water and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake for 15 minutes.

Quilices are delicious baked in a casserole. Add boiling water, orange peel and sugar, filling the centers with sugar and butter.

CLEANLINESS MAY AID HEALTH

Fowls Are Shut Up During Winter Months and Suffer If House Is Not Cleaned Often.

In the summer time the poultry keeper is naturally lured to slight cleanliness of the poultry house, as the fowls usually have the run of the farm. In the winter, however, the farm flock is shut up, and its health can easily suffer on account of neglect to keep the house clean.

USE PULLETS FOR BREEDERS

Only Those Fowls Which Have Proved Heavy Layers in Winter Should Be Selected.

If some pullets must be used for breeders, only those which have laid heavily during the winter should be selected. The heavy layers among the pullets will have a comb, pale skin, good width between pin-bones, soft abdomen, and at least four fingers' body depth.

AT THE MOVIES

Jean Paige, who has the stellar role in "The Prodigal Judge," which will be shown at the Palace theatre next Friday, is one of the most distinctively individual types on the screen. No fancied or real semblance to a stellar light of the day has helped her on her way to stardom. Her charm is her own and not borrowed. She is winsome, with a piquant animation of features that melt into a smile as she talks. Beneath a softly rounded chin there is a certain squalor of contour that hints at a strength of character which all those who know her will tell you she possesses.

Rex Ingram, through his masterful production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," established himself supreme among directors. A tremendous spectacle, envisaging the war as reflected through two continents, it overwhelmed with a superb sense of power.

In "The Conquering Power," his newest production, coming to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday, he works in an intensely different genre. Here we have an intensely intimate study of family life, a universal story of love and greed against the background of a French provincial town. The story has been adapted by June Mathis from Balzac's novel, "Eugenie Grandet," with swift-moving, masterful continuity. Mr. Ingram has illustrated it with pictures that have the tonal quality of great work of art; the soft lighting of the photography and the perfectly composed grouping give an exquisite sense of reality. It is a long stride from "The Four Horsemen," but, as an artistic achievement, no less noteworthy.

INCONSISTENT LAW

Of all the iniquitable and unreasonable laws in Michigan, it strikes us that the automobile license law is monumental in its inconsistency. A man buys his license at the beginning of the year and in mid-summer if he shall exchange for a new machine, he is then compelled to buy a new license at full price, thereby paying two licenses for the whole year, though at no time owning but one car. Another man stores his car from the first of November till the last of May, but is compelled to pay the same license fee as the man that uses his car every day in the year and covers ten times the mileage. Then there's the inquiring man that scarcely gets into the car but for an occasional pleasure ride on Sunday, who possibly may drive a thousand miles in a season, who is compelled to contribute equally with the idle rich that have nothing else to do but to burn the roads. There's the farmer that seldom drives his car but to go to church on Sunday and pays a most generous road tax on his farm and all that he possesses and then some, and his auto license cost him about the same as that paid by the auto-bus or jitney driver who wears the road more in one week than the farmer does in a year. For several years the Courier has been an advocate of a gasoline tax as the only equitable measure of governing the matter; and the more we study the question, the more firmly we believe it to be true. Let each machine contribute to the support of roads according to the amount of gas burned, and no injustice will be done.

Great news lazy men! Dr. Royal S. Copeland, famous physician, says that manipulating the steering wheel of an automobile is fine physical exercise. But chances are he was thinking about jacking up the car and changing tires.

South Bend Lads Visit City on Saturday Last

Six auto loads of boy scouts from South Bend, Indiana, spent a few hours in the city Saturday while on their way to Mackinaw City on a tour and hike from South Bend to Mackinaw and return. Twenty-one boys, one from each twenty-one troops in South Bend, and seven men were in the party.

The kitchen was mounted on a Reo Speed wagon and the boys and men were in six other cars. They left South Bend, early Thursday morning stopping over at Whitehall the first night and Traverse City Friday night. They camped several days at Mackinaw, and returning by way of Petoskey, Boyne City and Cadillac, where they spent three days in Cadillac lumber camps.

This was the first Boy Scout hike and tour in history to this region by Indiana scouts, and it is planned to make the event an annual one.

DAIRY

COOLING MILK REDUCES LOSS

Natural Ice Can Be Harvested on Majority of Farms and Is Most Profitable Crop.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Customer—This milk is sour.
Milk Inspector—Your bacteria count is too high.

Cheesemaker—I can't make good cheese out of this milk.

Buttermaker—We can't use this cream.

Hurts, doesn't it? Yet that is what happens regularly every year when can after can of milk arrives at the milk plant or creamery sour. One creamery returned over $2,600 worth of milk and cream in one year to farmers. A milk plant received nearly 50,000 gallons of sour milk in one year.

Why? Because the milk was held and shipped at too high a temperature and the bacteria in it multiplied so rapidly that the milk soured before it arrived.

Cooling milk on the farm will reduce this loss. All that is required is a supply of ice and a little care. Natural ice can be harvested on farms where 85 per cent of our milk is produced, and it is one of the most profitable crops of the farm. Few tools are required; and for the average farm two saws, two pairs of tongs, two ice books, one pointed bar, and one straight board for marking should be sufficient.

The first thing to do is to provide a place to store the ice. If ice is scarce and hard to put up, it would probably be well to build an ice house, plans for which may be obtained from the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture. When ice is abundant and easily harvested, it may be cheaper to disregard the shrinkage factor and store it in a pit, cellar, shed, or other place, and insulate it with sawdust or shavings. If this is done, 20 to 50 per cent additional ice should be provided to allow for shrinkage.

Where cream only is to be cooled, allow at least one-half ton of ice per cow. For cooling milk, allow 1½ tons per cow. These quantities should be enough to leave in margin for household use; but it is better to have too much than too little. Whenever practicable, build the ice house in the form of a cube, allowing 45 cubic feet of space for each ton of ice.

The pond or stream selected for cutting ice should of course be free from dirt or contamination from barnyards, privies, or refuse heaps. The ice should be kept clear of snow, as snow retards freezing. When it has frozen to a sufficient depth, mark off the surface into cakes of the desired size, making sure that the lines form rectangles. Cut out a strip of ice (with the saw) the width of the cake desired, and force this strip under the ice, thus forming a channel to the landing and loading place. Large strips may then be sawed off and floated to the landing, where they may be cut up into cakes. These cakes are then hauled to the storage place and packed in as close together as possible, and all cracks and air spaces filled in with sawdust. Cakes that are cut squarely and are uniform in size and shape pack together with less air space and are convenient to handle.

The cost of ice is small, and the work generally comes during a slack season. There is little reason, therefore, why every farmer in the natural-ice section should not have ice with which to cool his dairy products, and to make such delicacies as ice cream, iced tea, iced buttermilk, iced fruit and vegetables, etc., possible on the farm.

Detailed information on harvesting and storing ice will be found in Farmers' Bulletin 1078, "Harvesting and Storing Ice on the Farm," which may be obtained on request from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

CONCRETE OR WOODEN SILOS

Test Made by Department of Agriculture Shows Material Used, Cuts No Figure.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In silage fifty better when put up in concrete silos than when it is stored in wooden silos? Silage silos are probably the most common kind; they are usually less costly. Many people, however, prefer the more permanent concrete on account of the greater durability and the fact that the bulldozing material may be found near home in many cases; but there is an impression on the part of some people that the concrete silo does not give such good results in the preservation of the silage from spoiling and from freezing. Experiments made by the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture, do not bear out this notion.

In experiments conducted on the dairy division farm, at Beltsville, Md., two silos were used, one concrete and one stave, standing side by side. The stave silo was directly south of the concrete one, and hence got more sunshine and less north wind. Otherwise they had exactly the same conditions. Temperatures in the two silos were taken by means of electrical thermometers buried in the silage, which made a record which could be read on the outside. The thermometers were placed 3 inches and 18 inches from the wall and also in the middle of each silo. Three snags of silage were carefully weighed and buried in each silo at various depths, close to the thermometers; and when the silage was fed down to where the snags were, their contents were taken out and analyzed.

The quality of the silage was judged by its appearance and odor and its palatability to the cows. If much difference had been apparent a feeding trial would have been made to see which lot of silage was better, but the results in the two silos were so nearly alike that it was not thought worth while to make the feeding test.

In short, neither the temperatures nor the chemical analysis of the two kinds of silage revealed any marked difference that could be ascribed to the material used in the construction of either silo. Cows ate the silage from both silos with the same avidity. It is concluded, therefore, that farmers may build stave silos or concrete silos, which ever they prefer, without any fear of not getting good silage from either one, if the silage is put up right. It is assumed, of course, that the silo in either case will be properly constructed, with smooth walls, straight up and down, so as to be free from pockets and bulges, and properly coated inside with coal tar or some similar preparation; and that the silage will be properly packed, so that all air will be excluded. Silage will not keep in any kind of silo unless packed down and kept airtight.

GOOD PUREBRED BULLS HELP

Breeder Achieves More in Two Generations Than He Can in Five With Grade Sires.

With purebred bulls a breeder achieves more in the improvement of his herd in two generations than he can in five with grade bulls, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Department workers have thoroughly studied the subject of building up herds to better milk, butter and beef production. Better sires may be obtained either by individual purchase or by becoming a member of a bull association. Literature on the latter method can be obtained by writing to the department, and will furnish useful reading during the winter. Full information can also be obtained by consulting your county agent or state agricultural college.

WINTER FEEDS FOR HEIFERS

Young Animals Should Not Be Compelled to "Rough It" During Cold Weather Period.

Young heifers should not be expected to "rough it" during the winter, but should have feed and shelter. The feeds should of course include bulky feeds, such as silage, stover, hay, fodder, etc., and concentrates. The young animals should have enough such concentrates as cottonseed meal, wheat bran, shorts, rice flour, alfalfa, pea hay, peanut hay to develop body.

Practice of Testing Cows.

The practice of testing cows to determine their milk and butter fat production and feed consumption by means of cow-testing associations has become widespread. There are now 432 associations of this kind in the United States.

Cracking Velvet Beans.

Velvet beans, as a dairy feed, are improved by cracking, soaking and grinding. Grinding alone does not pay for the wear on the mill but grinding did, in a case reported in Texas.

DOES IT PAY TO WORRY ABOUT APPENDICITIS?

Can appendicitis be guarded against? Yes, by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-Eka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel removing ALL foul, decaying matter which might start infection. EXCELLENT for gas on stomach or chronic constipation. It removes matter which you never thought was in your system and which nothing else can dislodge. One man reports it is unbelievable the awful impurities Adler-Eka brought out. B. A. Herman, Druggist. Adv. 31t1.

Goat's Milk for Infants.

Dr. J. Camerousse, in a recent number of the Paris Bulletin Medical, says that his extensive experience has proved that when breast milk is out of the question, goat's milk is a safer and better substitute for it than cow's milk. But he insists that the goat must be on the premises, and the milk taken raw. The ideal is to draw the milk fresh for each feeding.

Vacation time is here—how are you equipped for traveling? Let us outfit you. Benj. Brown. Adv. 31t.

Brief Consultation.

Doctor—"Good morning, what can I do for you?" Young Visitor—"I called, sir, to ask for the hand of your daughter." "Humph! Appetite good?" "Not very." "How is your pulse?" "Very rapid, when—when I am with her—very feeble when away." "Troubled with palpitation?" "Awfully when I think of her." "Take my daughter; you'll soon be cured. Five dollars, please."

Rice-Throwing East Indian Custom.

The rice custom came to us from India, and is very old. Rice is the "stuff of life" in that and in many other countries, and to throw rice over a newly wedded couple was one way of telling them that the thrower wished them prosperity.

"SPACIALLY JIM" From the Century

I was mighty good lookin' when I was young,

Peert an' black-eyed an' slim With fellows a-courtin' me Sunday nights,

'Spacially Jim. The likeliest one of 'em all was he, Chipper, an' han'som' an' trim,

But I tossed up my head an' made fun o' the crowd, 'Spacially Jim.

I said I hadn't no 'pinlon o' men, An' I would't take stock in him!

But they kep' up a-comin' in spite o' my talk, 'Spacially Jim.

I got so tired o' havin' 'em roun' (Spacially Jim!) I made up my mind I'd settle down

An' take up with him. So we was married one Sunday in church,

'Twas crowded full to the brim; 'Twas the only way to get rid of 'em all,

'Spacially Jim.

NEW IDEA IN ROAD BUILDING

Cement Mixed With Certain Types of Soil to Alter Characteristics Being Tried.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Mixing cement with certain types of soil to alter the characteristics of the soils and make them more suitable for road surfacing and subgrades is an experiment recently conducted by the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, which is now proving its value in actual use. The treatment was first suggested and tried out at the Arlington experimental station of the bureau. Results warranted a field test, and it was arranged with the California state highway department to try it on the adobe soil there.

A part of the federal-aid project in Solano county was selected for the test. The dry soil was well broken up and harrowed to a depth varying from 8 to 12 inches and mixed with cement in the proportions of 1 part cement to 10 parts soil and 1 part cement to 20 parts soil. It was intended to water and roll the surface but rain prevented. One section was allowed to remain untreated for purposes of comparison.

A recent inspection showed that the untreated section was badly broken up, due to the usual shrinkage cracks characteristic of adobe soils. The treatment is not intended to make a hard surface like concrete, but to alter the properties of the soil so that it will be stable and lessen the effects of moisture.

California plans to conduct additional experiments, which will be observed in detail by the bureau and cost data obtained.

Fruit Threatened by Ravages of Codling Moths.

Codling moths are out in the lower part of the state and have begun to show signs of their coming out in Bellaire. R. H. Pettit, Prof. of Entomology at the Agricultural College recommends immediate spraying.

Apply a spray of diluted lime sulphur, 1-2-50 or Bordeaux 4-4-30, 2-3 lbs. of arsenate of lead powder or twice this weight of paste.

Look Out for Leaf Hoppers and Late Blight

Leaf Hoppers and Late Blight may cause considerable damage to the potato crop this year unless proper methods are employed to prevent. This prediction is based on the fact that during the spring there has been considerable cool, wet weather which is favorable especially for Late Blight.

Get out the old sprayer and make it pay for itself by making liberal applications of Bordeaux. Keep the leaf surface protected by a copper

To the Voters of Charlevoix county: I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Charlevoix county, and my name will appear on the September 12 primary ballot.

The duties of sheriff are not unfamiliar to me, having served during the years 1915-18. I devoted every minute of my time to county affairs during this period, and will, if nominated and elected, serve the county to the best of my ability. I will appreciate not only your vote, but your influence during my candidacy.

armour. The machine that will spray and protect the whole leaf must spray from underneath as well as from above. The pressure necessary to do this effectively should be at least 170 pounds, and 200 pounds pressure is better. Good results can be obtained by a knapsack sprayer if great care is exercised, but it takes so much time and heavy labor that for large fields it is not economical or efficient. Leaf hoppers need the spray on both sides of the leaves for this control. Good seed comes from healthy vines. Fields that are badly infested with leaf hoppers, or effected so that the foliage is materially injured cannot be considered the best for seed.

Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication

For something over a year now the State Department of livestock sanitation has been working in co-operation with our state and county in an effort to clean up Bovine Tuberculosis in Charlevoix county. One, and part of the time two, veterinarians have been on the job testing herds for those who applied for this service. The defect in this work has been that a complete clean-up in any locality was never brought about, because there were always untested cows and a chance that tested herds might be infected from them. Now, however, arrangements have been made whereby the department will send in a force of twelve to fifteen veterinarians and systematically test every herd in the county.

It is expected that every owner of cattle, village or farm, will co-operate in this fine public service by being ready with his herd, whether one animal or one hundred, when notified of the coming of the veterinarian. While there is no charge whatever to the cattle owners, all expenses being paid from public funds, each owner can help keep down costs by being ready when notified. Have the cattle in the barn or inclosure where they can be readily caught. Application of this test causes no pain or inconvenience to the animal and if there is no delay in getting to them it only takes a few minutes for an ordinary sized herd. Therefore it is very important that the veterinarian be not asked to wait while the cattle are driven up from the back forty.

It is expected that the whole job of testing all the herds in the county will be completed within two weeks from the time the work is started. This promptness in cleaning up the work will have the advantage of taking care of one of the most serious difficulties encountered last year. Up to now, with the testing of a few herds at a time in a locality, not enough reactors were ever found to make a car-load shipment possible and where they could not be disposed of locally, owners were sometimes put in a serious inconvenience, amounting to an injustice, by having to hold them for a long time before they could be disposed of. By this quick clean-up method enough reactors will be found within loading distance to make car-load shipment possible and no one having a reactor will be required to hold the animal long.

While it is not expected that there will be any opposition to this work, it may be well to explain that in case any cattle owners should refuse or be unready for this test to be applied to his herd, the federal authorities will protect the owners of tested cattle by putting a strict quarantine on the herd and premises of any such owner whose cattle are untested and no dairy products or beef, either live or dressed, may be removed until such a test is made. In such a case the test will not be made by a department veterinarian but must be made by an accredited practicing veterinarian and the expense paid by the cattle owner. It might be well to add, too, that this method of testing is expensive.

BOY STARTS PUREBRED HERO

Was Means of Eliminating All Scrubs on Father's Farm—Crops Tried for Pasture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Other pig club members may be encouraged by the way in which Thurbert Campbell, a thirteen-year-old boy in Haskell county, Oklahoma, persisted in spite of various setbacks until in little more than a year he had not only started a purebred herd of his own, but eliminated all the scrubs from his father's farm and induced the latter to plant forage crops that had never been tried before.

To begin with, Thurbert's father was not very much interested, either in his joining the pig club in the spring of 1920, or in the Eureka Boys' Demonstration club, of which he was a member. The father was unable, and partly unwilling to back the boy financially when he proposed buying a first gilt. He had plenty of ordinary hogs which he considered good enough for himself, and thought they would do quite as well for the boy to start with. A purebred gilt would cost $50. The county agent became interested and took the matter up with the father, who agreed to let the boy borrow the money if he could do so without obligation on the father's part.

When the time came ten pigs were farrowed, but only one was alive. It was a crushing blow. Thurbert came to the county agent for advice. His $50 note was extended by the bank. He was determined not to quit. The gilt was bred again, and Thurbert went right ahead caring for his pig. The second litter brought eight pigs, all alive, and things looked considerably brighter for the boy. The one pig from the first litter sold about this time for $45, and two of the new ones for $15 each, so that after paying his note with interest Thurbert had $22 left.

From the same breeder who furnished the gilt Thurbert now bought a boar pig. The price, $50, was to be paid when the boy had sold some more stock. Two more pigs which were sold at $25 each cleared the note off and left Thurbert free from all indebtedness with a balance in the bank.

An arrangement has been made with an older brother who is to grow the feed while Thurbert furnishes the herd. The "herd" consists now of foundation stock, soon due to farrow again; three younger gilts, which will be bred this fall; the herd boar, and one young boar which is for sale. All the father's scrub brood sows have been disposed of, with no other scrubs left but a shote, which will go to the pork barrel.

Oats, rape, sudan grass and sweet clover have been tried out with good results for summer pastures. Bermuda and red clover have been planted on a small scale. The entire family is won over to the purebred stock idea and many changes for the better have been begun on this farm.

FOWLS OPEN DOOR OF HOUSE

Tilting Platform Arranged So That Hens May Liberate Themselves
by Stepping on It.

The following is one of the simplest methods of enabling hens to open the henhouse door in the morning, thereby relieving their owner of the necessity of rising at daybreak to let them out. The door of the henhouse is hinged at the top, so that it opens outward, and the lower edge catches against the floor, so that it cannot swing inward. Near the lower edge on the outside a cord is attached, which passes upward over two small pulleys hanging from a beam. The other end of the cord supports a tin can weighted with stones, so as to have just heavy enough to pull the door open and keep it so. On the floor of the henhouse, right in front of the door, is a tilting platform, with a hook in the front edge, which fits an eye screwed into the door. The door can therefore be looked at night by catching the hook in the eye, and the pull of the cord against the door on the outside has the effect of making the hook hold securely. When the owner has locked the door in the evening, after the hens have gone to roost, he sprinkles a few grains of feed on the outward end of the tilting platform, which is now in a horizontal position, and leaves the henhouse by the large door, which he locks behind him. On the following morning, the first hen which jumps upon the platform to pick at the feed tilts the platform, releasing the hook from the eye; and the weighted can on the outside pulls the door open. A knot in the cord, made to catch in the pulley, will prevent wrenching at the hinges.—L. Hussakof, Brooklyn, N. Y., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

FEEDING THE PREGNANT EWE

Fair Amount of Silage, With Cottonseed Cake and Hay, is a Recommendation Made.

Pregnant ewes should receive from three to four pounds of silage per head daily during the winter. This should be supplemented with two or three ounces per head daily of cottonseed cake and some hay. After the lambs are born silage increases the milk flow of the ewes. In the fattening of lambs and yearlings for market the cheapest gains have usually been made when silage constituted a part of the ration.

FEED SILAGE TO THE SHEEP

Must Not Be Made Entire Ration, but Should Be Used With Proportion of Hay.

Whether or not it pays to feed silage to sheep, hogs and horses is a more or less debatable question. It will be safe to feed it to sheep of all classes except that feeding a flock of breeding ewes on silage alone or a ration composed almost entirely of silage is likely to cause a crop of weak lambs in the spring. It will always be safer, therefore, to use some hay and toward spring a little grain also for ewes that are due to lamb.

DEATH CAUSES COMMUNITY LOSS

CITY LOSES ONE OF ITS PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS

The Passing of Edward B. Ward Is to Be Regretted By Friends and Relatives

Edward B. Ward, president of the Charlevoix association of Commerce, for years prominent in all civic affairs and one of the county's most respected citizens, died suddenly about one o'clock Thursday, after an illness of less than three days.

Monday evening upon reaching his home he complained of severe pains in his right side, but paid little attention to his condition. Tuesday he was unable to resume his daily duties and remained at home during the day. Wednesday his condition remained unchanged and during the early part of Thursday, he was hardly able to move about the house. At noon Thursday friends from out of town were guests at dinner, but Mr. Ward did not join them at the table.

Just at the close of the meal, his wife heard the sudden clapping of hands and upon entering the sitting room where Mr. Ward had been reclining in a rocking chair, found him sitting upright, with one hand pointed toward the telephone, signifying his immediate need of medical assistance. Drs. McMillan and Armstrong responded within a few minutes, but their efforts were of no avail, death having taken place before their arrival.

Deceased was born in Marion township, August 24, 1868, and would have been 55 years of age August 24, 1922. He spent his early boyhood days here, attending the district school and at an early age began taking an active interest in local affairs, which in later years made him a leader among men.

Along the early part of 1900 he moved to Charlevoix, where he has since resided. During early manhood he began a career of activity in grange work, and later was master of Charlevoix County Pomona Grange, at that time and mainly through his efforts, the largest in membership of any in the state.

In 1907 he was a member of the city council, later serving as supervisor from the third ward, which position he filled at different times and was acting in this capacity at the time of his death.

Edward B. Ward was one of the successful farmer business men of the region. He was an intellectual power. He studied assiduously every problem. He was a man of fixed convictions, arrived at by a careful study of conditions and history. As a young man he endured every hardship of the northern woods, every reverse of business and learned to do by doing. His executive ability, his great confidence in the final prevalence of what was right, his tremendous energy and calm judgment gave him ultimate success, as men figure results, but he never forgot the road by which he came, and even back-tracked over it with a helping hand for some strugglers not equal to its hardships. His optimism was contagious. He always stood for the upbuilding of the city and was ever on the alert and progressive. In his passing Charlevoix has lost one of its best friends, but his activities will ever remain a fragrant memory and an inspiring example.

He leaves to mourn his passing an aged mother, wife, one daughter, Edna, a brother, John of Toledo, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Mitchell of Flint, Mrs. L. C. Crandall of this city, besides numerous friends not only in Charlevoix, but in all sections of the state.

The funeral was held from the home, corner State and Mason streets, Saturday at 3:00 p. m., Rev. H. R. E. Quant of the M. E. church, conducting the services.

LOCAL TEAM PLAYS GAYLORD SUNDAY

Charlevoix will cross bats with the Gaylord aggregation at Gaylord, Sunday, August 13th. Despite the fact that their opponents are in the cellar in league standing, the local team looks for a stiff battle.

Sunday, August 20th, Charlevoix will meet the league leaders on the home grounds and a fast game is assured. Harbor Springs won from the local boys in a hard fought game at Harbor and the team is out for revenge. Lets go, what say.

While Charlevoix was not affected to any great extent by the recent cut, our summer visitors especially, will appreciate the regular schedule, allowing them to make reservations as originally planned.

U. S. MAY TAKE OVER RAILROADS

THIS APPEARS TO BE ONLY

Heads of Sixteen Railroad Unions to Discuss Strike at Meeting in Washington Friday

Government seizure of the railroads in the public interest appears inevitable as leaders of both sides in the railroad strike indicated and opposition to President Harding's late proposals for settling this menacing dispute.

Rejection of the proposal will leave the president with only two moves, administration leaders said: A call for a conference between railroad executives and strikers' leaders to settle their trouble and, this failing, to take over the railroads.

The president indicated he is nearing the end of his efforts to mediate the dispute.

House is Asked to Re-convene President Harding has practically ordered all members of the house to be back on the job August 15 so that he may turn to them for any legislation he feels necessary in handling of the coal and rail strike.

The original plan was for a few members to return next Tuesday and take three day's recess until the senate took final action on the tariff bill and other measures.

The president's action, therefore, virtually amounts to summoning the house, which has been in recess for about a month, back to Washington to meet any emergency that may arise.

It is indicated that the federal government feels it will have to take over the railroads or the mines or both in order to protect public welfare if the twin strikes are not settled soon, in which event it would be necessary to have congress pass legislation providing methods of operation.

ODD FELLOW CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

E. E. Ormsby of Boyne City Chosen as President

The twelve directors of the Charlevoix County Social Club of Odd Fellows met in East Jordan on Saturday evening of last week and elected officers for the coming year as follows:

President, E. E. Ormsby, Boyne City.

Vice Pres., John H. Bugbee, Charlevoix.

Secretary, L. S. Ranney, Charlevoix.

Treasurer, E. E. Stroud, Horton Bay.

Plans for perfecting the organization were discussed and it was decided to hold four joint general Odd Fellow Club meetings, one in the month of October, one in January, one in April and one in July.

The first meeting will be held with the Horton Bay lodge, second with Boyne lodge, third with East Jordan lodge and fourth with Charlevoix.

Arrangements for the annual picnic to be held in the city park, Charlevoix, were also discussed. A splendid program will be arranged, consisting of sports, a ball game, good speeches, etc., of which further announcement will be made.

TRUSTEES ELECTED FOR COMING YEAR

AT ANNUAL MEETING OF HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION

Minor Changes Made in Articles of Association—Active Year's Work Outlined

Despite the fact that the affairs of the Charlevoix hospital has during the past five or six months been the subject of more or less criticism, little or no interest was shown in the matter, and the annual meeting held at the court house last Wednesday evening was a tame affair, not over fifteen members being present.

Nine trustees were elected, three to serve for three years, three for two years and three for one year. By this method of electing trustees, but three changes are made at the yearly elections, leaving at all times a board with thorough knowledge of the affairs of the association.

Trustees elected for the three year period were: S. M. Rose, H. A. Craig and Ira A. Adams. For two year period: Meyer A. Levinson, George Glados and W. H. Miller. For one year period: Clarence N. Bridge, P. D. Campbell and A. J. Usher.

Following the election of trustees and organization of the new board was affected as follows: President, S. M. Rose; Vice President, Meyer A. Levinson; Secretary, H. A. Craig; Treasurer, Ira A. Adams.

One of the changes made in the by-laws was that with reference to compensation for services of members of the board of trustees. Heretofore, according to the by-laws members were allowed pay for services, but in the future, those who serve on the board will do it gratis.

Matters of importance were discussed, committees appointed, and the meeting adjourned.

Time is Here to Interject a Little "Pop" Into Business

If Charlevoix merchants expect to get their share of the summer and fall business, the time is here right now to interject a little "pop" into business and speed up a little.

We have arranged for a couple of publicity experts to help us do this. The gentlemen we have engaged are Messrs. E. C. LaSage and F. H. Anthony, and this article will serve as an introduction to these gentlemen, who will call on every business house in the city.

They have specialized in this work and in many other sections of the state their methods have produced results.

We won't attempt to explain their plan, but will leave that for them to do, but we sincerely trust our merchants and business men will give them an audience when they call and let them explain their proposition.

The time is here to speed up a little. The business is here and only needs a little hustling and publicity to get it.

PRIMARY SCHOOL FUND $11.70 CHILD

Total Amount Collected in State Amount to $12,037,036

The apportionment of the state primary school fund this year will be $11.70 for each child of school age, according to reports made public Tuesday by Thomas E. Johnson, state superintendent of public instruction.

The total amount collected for the fund, from railroads, utilities companies and other sources was $12,037,036. There are approximately 1,029,704 children of school age in the state. The apportionment does not exactly coincide with the number of children and the total amount because of some deficiencies and surpluses in various districts, from last year.

The per capita this year is the largest since 1904.

Remains Shipped to Chicago

There will be a free lecture on Christian Science at the Palace Theatre, Sunday afternoon, August 13 at 3:00 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. Adv. 321.

TOWNSEND FOR U. S. SENATOR

THE MOST AVAILABLE AND DEPENDABLE MAN

Has Faithfully Looked After Michigan Interests at Washington For Twenty Years

For the past twenty years Chas. E. Townsend of Jackson has been a representative of the state of Michigan and the United States in Washington as a member of Congress, eight years of which period he was a member of the lower house, and with the ending of the present term twelve years in the senate.

With years of experience in the legislation of the nation, a broad and comprehensive understanding of world-wide affairs, Mr. Townsend is particularly well fitted to continue in his present official capacity, and this when taken in connection with an honest ambition to perform the greatest amount of good for the greatest possible number of people in this country wherever located, makes him a valuable national character.

Senator Townsend has attained his high rank through ability and peculiar fitness, and this bespeaks the character of the man; and the fact that he progresses and overcomes obstacles that are apparently unsurmountable adds luster to his character.

Senator Townsend's rise to a position of first rank of American statesmen and statecraft has been by steady and continuous progression, never a backward slip, but always a step forward—safe, steady and sure of his course.

In public life Senator Townsend has steadily grown in public favor. In his everyday life he is an individual of keen conception, rare judgment, with an exceptional faculty for seeing into the more distant future, discovering obstacles which are a long way off and with requisite intellectual capacity to forestall any approaching disaster of national character as well as to differentiate between a local desire and a nation's need. Senator Townsend is entitled to the support of every republican of the state. He is one hundred per cent American. His record in Washington is clean. His reputation as a citizen is untarnished. In his entire history of public life there is ample evidence of faithful service for the public good.

WILKINSON FAMILY ENJOY REUNION

Members of Family Meet at Home of Parents

An occasion of more than usual interest, occurred Monday, August 7th, when, for the first time in five years, the Wilkinson family met at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Wilkinson on State street, and enjoyed a delightful supper.

Members of the family present were: Dr. Frank and wife of Charlevoix, Dr. Allen and family of Douglas, Arizona, Charles and wife of Lansing, James and family of Detroit, and Mrs. Roxanna Morrow of Bellaire. Mrs. Emily Blodgett and Mr. James Hawkins, relatives of the family also attended, and including all grand-children, twenty-five members participated in this joyful event.

COMMUNITY BUILDING WELL UNDER WAY

Legion Day Proceeds for Memorial Building Fund

The past week has shown much progress in the construction of the new Community building on the corner of Bridge street and Belvedere Ave. Foundation footings are all in and work on the building will continue until completed. Unless delayed the Legion boys hope to occupy their fine new quarters this fall.

Thursday, August 17th, the local post will give the people of Charlevoix and surrounding counties, a chance to contribute to their building fund, when they will stage their second annual Legion Day. A fast ball game, good boxing exhibitions, clean dancing, giving away a Ford sedan, and other numerous sports are going to make the day long to be remembered. Let's turn out and help the boys in their worthy cause. Eventually Charlevoix will reap the reward.

"DOSES RUDDIG" HAY FEVER HERE

ANNUAL DRIVE OF THE RAG-WEED IS NOW ON

"Ker Choo" Says Sufferers and They Take Inventory of Supply of Handkerchiefs

Thousands of persons in Michigan are stocking up with an extra supply of handkerchiefs, preparing for many a sleepless night and looking forward with no pleasant thoughts to the annual attack of hay fever. Pollen from blooming grass and ragweed the heaviest source will soon find its way into the noses and throats of many victims.

"Hay fever, the unmistakable disease which seems to have appeared first in medical literature in 1819 and which sends thousands every year to 'hay fever camps' in upper Michigan, can often be prevented," says Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner.

Inoculation of hay fever sufferers is accomplished by giving small amounts of extracts of the pollen to which the person is sensitized. This method has been worked out effectively by a number of physicians. Another preventive measure consist in thorough examination of the nose and throat and treatment of any disease found. Eradication of the ragweed, the pollen of which causes the greatest number of hay fever cases, will aid materially in curbing the disease, authorities declare.

The annual attacks come in August and generally continue for six or eight weeks. The illness commences with a slight tickling in the eyes and nose which comes and goes for about a week and is accompanied by occasional fits of sneezing. The general symptoms may be headache, weakness, exhaustion, depression or ill-humor. Loss of sleep and asthma are serious effects of the disease. The results make the victims more susceptible to diseases of the respiratory tract.

Poor physical and mental condition may provoke an attack. "Keep yourself fit and investigate any symptoms of hay fever, thereby avoiding a great inconvenience and saving money and time for the attack," Dr. Olin advises.

BUY A TAG ON SATURDAY

ANNUAL HOSPITAL TAG DAY SET FOR WEEK END

Citizens of Charlevoix Asked to Liberally Respond and Co-Operate With Movement

Saturday has been designated as "Tag Day" and the big drive will start early in the morning and continue as long as tags can be disposed of.

Charlevoix is to be congratulated in having one of the best equipped and modern hospitals in the state. From the very start was begun the laying of the foundation of a permanent institution. Summer residents and citizens of Charlevoix have liberally donated towards its support. This is an absolute necessity, as but few hospitals in the country are self-sustaining.

Each year drives for funds have been carried on to a successful issue, and this year will be no exception. Those in charge of the hospital management have and will make every effort to keep the cost of operation down to the lowest amount. Charges for patients entering the hospital compare favorably with those charged by other institutions. But it cost a lot of money a year to run a hospital, if patients are properly taken care of.

Tag Day, to be held Saturday, is but one of the numerous events of a like nature being conducted this week for the purpose of raising funds. This is very gratifying to the board of trustees, as it shows that the community is back of them—willing to do their bit in raising funds—also that the public in general realize the great necessity for an institution of this kind, not only for themselves, but for the hundreds of people who spend a part or the entire summer months with us.

On Saturday you will be asked to buy a tag—not once, but without doubt many times. Committees in charge of the drive will make a house to house canvass during the forenoon, and the sale will continue throughout the entire day.

Let's all join together and make Tag Day of 1922 the most successful financially yet held.

Second Annual Chauffeurs Dance

When real boosters are needed for any charitable work in Charlevoix, we can always depend on our summer chauffeurs to do their utmost in putting things across, as they demonstrated at their first annual ball, given for the benefit of the local hospital. On Thursday evening of this week, the boys will stage a similar event at the Lakeside Pavilion and are in hopes of turning in a larger amount than on previous occasions. Everybody dance on this night and help support a worthy institution.

Benefit Dance at Inn Ball Room

The management of the Inn, heads the list as one of our real go-getters and is always ready and willing to assist in anything pertaining to the welfare of our city. On Saturday evening, August 12th, a benefit dance for the Charlevoix hospital will be given at the Inn ball room and it is hoped that a large number of our local people as well as our summer visitors will turn out and aid in financing our hospital.

AT THE MOVIES

"Foolish Wives," the super-picture to be shown at the Palace Theatre beginning Tuesday is the first real million-dollar picture. Its actual cost up to the time of its first showing was $1,103,736. Erich von Stroheim, the author, director and principal actor in the picture, prided himself upon reproducing at Universal City, Cal., the exact scenes and activities to be found at Monte Carlo.

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Remarkable New Cord Tire at a Popular Price

Here is a big, sturdy, long-wearing new tire built to satisfy the buyer on every point of mileage, quality and price.

It is designed especially for the man who wants the essential advantages of cord tire performance at the lowest possible price.

It is designed to offer the buyer a quality product at a price even lower than he has formerly paid for a "long discount" tire. It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and its selling price is substantially less.

This new tire is the Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord it is liberally oversize in all straight-side sizes, the 4 1/2-inch tire, for example, actually measuring nearly 5 inches.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, its foundation is genuine high-grade long-staple cotton.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it embodies the efficient group-ply construction, a Goodyear patent.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it is the product of an experienced company which has a world-wide reputation to safeguard.

Look at the prices of the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord, listed below.

Compare these prices with net prices you are asked to pay for "long-discount" tires of unknown reputation and value.

Why take a chance on such tires?—you know it doesn't pay.

Combinations Replace Competition.
Mostly everybody knows the senate of the United States has been discussing the tariff for many months. The debate has grown so dry and tiresome that many people do not know what it is that the senate has been talking about for several weeks. Vaguely the average newspaper reader knows that the rates of wool, silk, and pulp have recently been in controversy; and that we have had senatorial enlightenment concerning "valuations" either by the American plan or a la European. Embargo on dye stuff and other kinds of stuff about dyes have been discussed. The whole gamut of conversation has been run, and the senate has failed to convince itself that it is going to create a tariff bill that will be approved by itself or the House of Representatives, in time to get on to Uncle Sam's law book before the Fall elections.

The old rule that competition regulates supply and demand isn't working any more. And then the other axiom that the tariff must equalize the difference between the "pauper labor of Europe" and the "high wages of America" is one of the first schedules in tariff logic that needs to be revised. Combinations have replaced competition and it is no longer possible to accurately measure price and wage conditions that affect relations in the commerce of the world. In consequence of all these changes the republican congress has tackled an almost impossible and endless job in trying to create a new protective tariff.

As the Case Now Stands

The Republican of the senate are committed to pass the tariff and soldier's bonus bills before this session of congress ends. The President of the United States has declared it to be his judgment that congress should not adjourn until the merchant marine bill has been passed. That is the party program, and the fulfillment of it before the fall elections will only be possible in the event that congress succeeds in shifting its gears from intermediate to high speed.

A Democratic senator has proposed an investigation of the senate by its

EDWARD B. WARD

The death of Edward B. Ward has brought forth many expressions of real grief, and it has caused deep and sincere regret among the many who knew and honored him.

The intimate role Mr. Ward played in the business life of this community is well known. He was active to the moment his death sickness overtook him. Always he has been known as a busy man; busy in business, busy in charity, busy in those affairs which make for a better Charlevoix. He has been a hard worker and Charlevoix reaps the benefit.

In his long public service he showed sound judgment, and attitude of mind free from personal interests and a splendid regard for duty. This city has felt instinctively the quality of fidelity to purpose; of fine public spirit; of a well defined energy and industry directed by a mind strong and clear.

Edward B. Ward was one of the strongest men in this community. The kind of a man to whom citizens turned instinctively when they wanted good work done and work which once performed would stand because of its integrity. Such men are missed when they answer death's summons. Edward B. Ward is dead but his achievements remain forever. Charlevoix, as a whole, has benefited by his life among us.

THE TRAFFIC JAM TOOTER

There is one motor pest who seems to escape the criticism which is his due, though his fellow drivers have been censured for faults far less annoying. He is the man who toots his horn persistently when he is held by a traffic jam.

It makes no difference to this public disturber that a long string of motorists ahead of him are waiting patiently and silently for their turn to proceed. The cause of the blockade makes no difference. The stoppage may be caused by road construction which is just as much for his benefit as anybody's, or it may be caused by an accident to other human beings; the living may be mangled or the dead being borne from the wreck; it is nothing in his life, as he toots and toots, to signify his impatience and his disgusting self-importance.

Take it all in all, he is, more than most, one of those "pestilential nuisances" mentioned in "The Mikado," "who might be well underground; for they never would be missed." They never would be missed.

THE MATERS

It is about time for the dog haters to begin their annual dirge. Regularly the dog haters comes to the front some time in July or August and begins his usual tirade. Then the dog lover will send a copy of Porch's eulogy to the dog to his favorite paper, usually saying it is something that he found in an old scrapbook, or dashed off himself before breakfast one morning, and the merry battle will be on.

The annual fight usually follows the biting of someone. In a lower Michigan city three persons have been bitten. The biters were a dog, a squirrel and a cat, but dogs and rabies are synonymous in the minds of many and whether the animal so afflicted happened to be a rabbit or a guinea pig the dog usually gets the blame.

In the old days dogs were killed when suspected of being afflicted with rabies. Some poor animal, suffering from the hot weather, would froth at the mouth. Dogs are apt to froth at the mouth in hot weather, inasmuch as the only place a dog perspires is from his tongue. This poor dog would start down the street in search of a cool place to lie, or water, or for almost anything. Perhaps someone would pester him, perhaps he would snap or snarl, and then there would be a cry of mad dog and the police would come. After taking seven shots and wounding three innocent bystanders the animal would be put to death.

We find many human dogs snapping and snarling at folks during hot weather days, and if there is to be a general inoculation of dogs against rabies we believe it would be a good thing to start in with the city directory and run down the list pretty carefully.

But they are not going to shoot poor Fido with policeman's bullets any more. They are going to shoot him with vaccine and make him well. Thus is the march of science, and thus is another spike in the guns of the dog haters. In the near future we confidently expect to see both the boy and his dog going to the city doc to be vaccinated.

WATCH OUT FOR FORGED ORDERS

Postoffice Money Blanks 82476 to 82600 Have Been Stolen

Watch out for U. S. postoffice money orders numbered from 82476 to 82600 inclusive. The blank forms with those numbers, printed for use of Station 3, Kenosha, Wis., were stolen from that station on July 17.

On the evening of July 18 two of these stolen forms were passed on merchants at Fond du Lac, Wis. The orders were made out for $20 and $40. Merchandise was purchased and the change received in cash. The orders were passed by a man claiming to be William Hoffman, a tailor. He was 35 to 40 years old, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches tall, smooth shaven, dark or medium complexion, dark eyes, cheeks slightly sunken; wore dark suit, straw hat and Shriners' pin. He has a club foot, or, at least, he walks with a slight limp.

The money order stamp was not stolen, and the forger used a stamp whose type is larger than on the stamp furnished by the department. The Charlevoix postoffice has been warned.

GAYLORD MAN IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Julius Kramer Must Face Trial on Serious Charge

Mrs. Julius Kramer, was wounded at her home in Gaylord on June 28 by a shot fired when a supposed burglar was discovered in the house. She died in the hospital on July 1.

Public comment in Gaylord has run rife since the shooting as the statement given out at the time by Mr. Kramer was not satisfactory, in that it did not clear up the matter as to just how the woman met her death. Since then Mr. Kramer has told conflicting stories, in the last, he claimed by a friendly officer to have admitted that there was no burglar in the house that night. He is reported to have confessed that he was awakened by a strange noise in the house and to have gotten up to investigate it. He hastily got into his clothes and with his revolver clutched in his hand passed out of the bedroom and into the dining room and there he mistook his wife, who was getting a drink of water, for a burglar, and shot her. He claimed that he was so shattered and undone by what he had done that he framed up the story he first gave out thinking it the best way to avoid trouble.

Later Mr. Kramer is reported to have both affirmed and denied the story told the officer, this continued until he brought down the wrath of the law, and on Thursday last week he was arrested charged with murder.

Regardless of the inclement weather the past month, work on the new water plant is progressing satisfactorily and each day brings us nearer to the realization of a pure and adequate water supply.

The reservoir is now down the required depth and the pumping station is well under construction. From indications now available, the new source of supply assures us of an enormous quantity of filtered water, second to none in the state.

"LIZZIE" BALKS AT MOONSHINE

Rolls Over in Disgust and Injures Occupants

Too much moonshine was the direct cause of a Ford car rolling over last Friday night on the Petoskey road, near Nettleton street. Two of the occupants were taken to the hospital, where their injuries were found not serious.

The owner was assessed $50.00 in justice court, while poor "Lizzie" was so badly damaged, she was disposed of for the amount of the fine.

It's a happy drink

There never was such a friendly drink as Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. Day after day, in summer or winter, in Boston or Los Angeles, the taste never varies. It's a man's drink and a woman's. Little children love it, and it is kind to them. The fussiest people accept it gratefully and are perfectly satisfied. There is the secret of Clicquot's popularity—they all like it.

Buy Clicquot by the case for the home. Take it with you on your picnics. Drink it for its own good self or mix it with any fruit juice when you desire a change.

We also make Clicquot Club Sarsaparilla, Birch Beer, and Root Beer. They are worthy companions of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale—which is the highest praise we can give them.

own committees for the purpose of unearthing senators "financially interested in the production, manufacture or sale of any article or article in and of said tariff bills." The resolution isn't taken seriously because the spotlight of pitiless publicity is shining on every phase of tariff proposals. An investigation would be only another time-killer.

A Good Deal Like a Horse Race
"Position" in a horse race is not considered unfair. The grandstand patrons and the betters are all interested in this feature of the race. The tariff-makers of the senate have for months been "jockeying for position," and in the grandstand and among those throughout the country particularly interested in the different pacers there has been a keen rivalry. The senator who isn't seeking the best kind of a bargain has can get in this international tariff accounting is not giving satisfaction to his constituency. Most of the fundamental features that have governed tariff-makers in the past have been changed but, despite every condition, the tariff bill continues to be regarded by "practical" politicians as "a local issue."

Ignoring the Umpire
The country has been facing "economic upsets" for several years. The rail and coal strikes have presented disputes in the economic game that called for decisions by the umpire. But the rail and coal men have been too much like the old "bush-league-teams" that fought for supremacy on the base ball lots and defied the umpire when he gave adverse decisions. President Harding has asserted that he will enforce his decisions, and the country waits anxiously to find out just how far the "umpire" can succeed.

The Business Pulse
The economic situation is constantly being reviewed by such government authorities as the Federal Reserve Board and the Department of Commerce. There is something of finality in the conclusions of these branches of the government, and their bulletins to the public are of the most optimistic sort. One almost believes that were it not for strikes and lockouts that the nation would not be in the heyday of a boom. The banks, we learn, have "plenty of money," and the rates of interest in the big financial centers have been greatly decreased. Six per cent, which at one time was a banker's "favor" has become almost the standard rate. The stock, grain and livestock exchanges report healthy conditions in their affairs. There has been increased production in highly finished lines of manufacture as well as in basic industries. Iron and steel have shown increased production, and there is significance in the automobile situation. Expensive distribution methods are everywhere being cut and the manufacturers have come to regard the "used car" as a serious competitor in sales. As a result there is all kinds of price cutting and a clearly defined inclination on the part of manufacturers to make up in increased production what they will lose in the profits on smaller numbers of sales.

Political Announcement
I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the office of County Treasurer at the September 12 primaries. ANNUAL BARBECUE AT ELLSWORTH THURSDAY

Milo D. Campbell fills Place of Sen. Chas. E. Townsend on Speakers List—The Auto Winner

The Barbecue on Thursday, August 3rd drew one of the largest if not the largest crowds ever seen here, a crowd which enjoyed itself from morning until evening, a large number in fact, attending the dance that lasted until the small hours of the next day.

People began arriving as early as seven a. m. and long before noon the park was filled with picnic parties.

The main road through the grounds was lined with concession stands and these to-gether with the band stand, which was decorated with flags and bunting, compared favorably with the midway of a county fair ground.

Music was furnished by the Ellsworth band, which had been reinforced for the occasion by out of town talent, so there was not a dull moment.

A fair estimate of the crowd can be made by the number of autos parked on and near the grounds. A count taken of these at two thirty in the afternoon showed nine hundred and eighty-seven cars, ranging from two-passenger "flivers" to seven-passenger sedans.

The failure of Sen. Chas. E. Townsend to appear as scheduled was a disappointment to many, but his place was ably filled by Milo D. Campbell of Cold Water, Michigan, the senator having been called to Washington on business connected with the tariff.

In addition to Mr. Campbell, talks were given by warden Hurburt of the Jackson State prison and by Prof. Blair, superintendent of Public Instruction of Indiana, both of which were thoroughly enjoyed, as was the introductory talks by chairman Thomas D. Meggison.

The ball game between Ellsworth and the Masonic team of East Jordan, was interesting even if one sided, the visitors carrying away the long end of a 12-5 score, due largely to the hitting of Gunderson, who rang the bell with four doubles and a single in five times up.

The Chevrolet car, which was given away immediately following the base ball game, was won by Miss Cornelia Elzinga of Ellsworth. It was decided that the 14th ticket out would be the winner and Lady Luck smiled on Miss Elzinga when the fateful draw was made.

Credit for the success of the day is due almost fully to the committee, which consisted of E. H. Boss, H. H. Elzinga and Bernie Klooster, who worked hard and faithfully to make the day a hummer, while the weather man obligingly handed out a sample of the finest brand of the good weather for which northern Michigan is noted.

Well, we have nothing more to say other than they were overjoyed in meeting a brother and his wife and to talk over the days of yore. The brother was Cyrus Jolliffe.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?
It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Charlevoix testimony.

Mrs. John Hull, 102 Lincoln Ave., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a world of good. I suffered an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a short time they entirely removed the trouble." (Statement given October 26, 1911).

On October 5, 1916, Mrs. Hull said "I can speak just as highly of Doan's as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally as a tonic and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

Young people—Whatever you do, wherever you are, be sure to take the Lord Jesus with you. If this is true, Jesus will not only follow you but will lead you and guide you.

Du business direct with God. We can well afford to sacrifice money for character and spiritual blessing.

God has his image stamped upon you, therefore he has a claim upon you.

What gives significance to life is participation in life's task.

Choosing Jesus is the birth of spiritual life but choosing Jesus' program and showing ourselves into its accomplishment is spiritual growth.

Can it be said of us that Jesus is saying and will say of us—"This is my beloved one in whom I am well pleased?"

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES

It is gratifying to know that the down pour of Sunday morning did not daunt the worshippers at church. Morning and evening gave us great crowds, the preachers were at their best and the singing was splendid. Just come to church and we will guarantee you the service you will enjoy.

Next Sunday's announcement will equal the last. At the 10:30 hour the pastor will preach, unless otherwise arranged.

Good Sunday school at 12m. We cordially invite you.

7:30 p. m. the pastor will preach unless otherwise announced. This service is evangelistic. Excellent singing predominates. Last Sunday night we had three quartettes, a quintette and a duet. You can expect with safety a good singing program this week.

8:30 p. m. is the Epworth League. "Ted" Shaft, the efficient leader. Mr. Shaft hails from the University of North Dakota. All young people visitors or otherwise are urged to be there. Seven-piece orchestra in attendance.

The official meeting of last Monday disclosed very encouraging reports. The church will close this conference year, August 31. The object is that all financial matters whether budget or centenary, be up to par. At the fourth quarterly conference, August 31st, the pastor expects to be able to state that the church is in a better condition than it has been for years.

The superintendent of the Sunday school has announced that the school is stronger by fifty than it was one year ago. That instead of decreasing as is usual in the "good old summer time," has increased to that extent.

At the prayer meeting last week there was a fine crowd, and a splendid meeting. We look for you again.

Barnard will have an interesting audience this Sunday. The girls are to bring in their crosses, Sunday school at 1 p. m. and preaching at 2. Come!

Barnard "Round Up" meeting Wednesday 16th, will be held at Peter Block's. The whole official board will be there. This service will suggest some needed improvements.

COUNTY TREASURER RECEIVES AUTO MONEY

Apportionment for Charlevoix Amounts to $12,423.68

County Treasurer Emery is in receipt of $12,423.68 covering Charlevoix county's share of license money for the quarter ending June 30th. This amount is approximately $2,000.00 in excess over the same period for 1921 and is evidence of the fact that the number of automobiles is rapidly increasing. This money is credited to the road maintenance fund and is used for repairing state reward roads.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE SHOWS AT PETOSKEY

Will Pitch Tents There on Wednesday, August 9.

The high cost of living for the small and large family, seems to have nothing on the high cost of feeding a circus. Knowing the cost of meat today and then to hear that the majestic Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which is to pitch its tents in Petoskey Wednesday, August 9, has to buy five to six hundred pounds of beef for the animals alone, each day, rather takes the rub off our troubles a little.

And that five to six hundred pounds of beef, we are told, is in addition to the many pounds necessary to prepare meals for the performers and working crews, whose foods must be the very best. Then there are the other foods necessary to complete the meals for the people.

Then for the animals there are the many tons of hay; the many bushels of oats and the countless number of specially prepared mixtures for others of the animals, which run into many dollars.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus carries more than 1,000 men, women and animals. If the total cost of feeding the show per day was figured up for the outsiders, we would find that no matter how humble a man must live to beat the high costs, he still has something on the circus.

There will be a free lecture on Christian Science at the Palace Theatre, Sunday afternoon, August 13 at 3:00 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. Adv. 321f.

Pleasant Surprise Party

A very pleasant surprise party was sprung on J. J. Howe the evening of July 28, his 72nd birthday anniversary, when 18 of his relatives and friends dropped in on him at his home south of the city on the Norwood road. A very enjoyable time was had by all and numerous presents were presented to Mr. Howe. A pot luck supper with the large birthday cake was the feature of the event.

Vacation time is here—how are you equipped for traveling? Let us outfit you. Benj. Brown. Adv. 311f.

To the Voters of Charlevoix county: I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Charlevoix county, and my name will appear on the September 12 primary ballot.

I will appreciate not only your vote, but your influence during my candidacy.

The period of August six to twelve might well be designated as a period of entertainment and united effort to raise funds for the Charlevoix Hospital, inasmuch as nearly every day was given over to some form of entertainment, either local or among our summer residents.

The results are that the hospital fund was greatly benefited, and to date a sum exceeding $4,000.00 has or soon will be turned over to the hospital board of trustees. This sum was raised by various methods, including a membership drive, entertainment at the Belvedere hotel, chauffeur's ball, the annual Tag Day on Saturday, and the benefit ball given at the Inn Saturday evening.

The opening event of the week's drive began on Wednesday evening at the Belvedere with a bridge party, staged by those interested in the welfare of the hospital. From this a sum of $531 was raised.

The chauffeur's ball Thursday night netted $301.00. The affair was a success in every way and the boys are deserving of considerable commendation for their efforts.

The annual Tag Day was staged on Saturday. The city was divided into three sections—north side, valley, and south side. Each section was looked after by a committee of ladies, who took entire charge of the sale of tags, and organized their selling force. Few escaped buying a tag, and many bought again and again. The net results of the sale of tags alone amounted to $522.27.

Prizes were offered to those who turned in the largest amount of money and resulted as follows:

North side: First prize, Henrietta Baldwin, $24.28. Second prize, Audrey Smith, $18.47.

Valley: First prize, Simon Sax, $42.21. Second prize, John Dutcher, $29.88.

South side: First prize, Irene Bogart, $19.92. Second prize, Virginia Solomon, $14.19.

In connection with the drive on Saturday, six boys, Lewis Renard, Sidney Rothschild, Robert Schlesinger, George Rosenberg, Arthur Hellman and Edger Mack, summer residents of the north side, conducted a stand at the corner of Michigan and Dixon avenue. The enterprising youngsters solicited the merchants and north side residents for any saleable article and their efforts resulted in disposing of articles contributed to the amount of $154.84.

One of the most amusing features of the day was the stunt carried out by Windsor T. Aldrich of Chicago, and members of Frank Winegar's orchestra. The orchestra, on a dory, covered the main streets of the city, and at intervals furnished excellent music. A flag, held by four members of the party, was utilized to receive the proceeds from tag sales. In this manner $187.54 was raised.

The closing event of the day was the benefit ball given at the Inn, which proved not only an enjoyable affair, but quite successful in its efforts to swell the hospital fund. The amount of money raised amounts to approximately $700.00, the exact amount not being determined yet, no many who have expressed a desire to contribute have not as yet done so.

Decoration of the ball room, one of the big tasks and upon which such splendid comment was made, was accomplished by E. L. Young of New York. The flowers were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. William Shields of the government supply depot. Mrs. L. Simon of Davenport, Iowa, was chairman, and worked in conjunction with Mrs. F. L. McDonald, Mrs. Wm. Brecking and Mrs. D. R. Lamb of St. Louis, Mo. Much praise is due them for their efforts to make the ball a success.

The trustees in charge of hospital affairs are grateful for the efforts put forth in the raising of necessary funds for operating expenses. The spirit shown by citizens and summer residents alike, will act as an impetus toward better management and more efficient service. With such co-operation as shown during the late drive, the future of Charlevoix Hospital is assured.

REGIONAL GRANGE MEETING AUG. 25

At Young State Park on Boyne City Road

A regional grange meeting will be held in the Young State Park, two miles north of Boyne City, on the Boyne City-Charlevoix road, Friday, August 25.

This will be an all day meeting with a basket picnic dinner at noon, the Charlevoix Pomona Grange furnishing coffee and sugar. Each visitor is asked to bring cream and cups. There will be something doing each and every minute for the boys and girls, as a sufficient amount has been appropriated as prizes for their sports. There will also be a ball game in the forenoon.

Several speakers will appear on the afternoon program, but the big event of the day will be a strong address by National Lecturer Needham. Mr. Needham is also master of Kansas State Grange. Deputy State Master W. F. Taylor will also be present and will lead in the community singing.

It is the purpose of this regional meeting to bring the strongest leaders of the order in close touch with the members of the subordinate granges. With the co-operation of all, this meeting will be the greatest regional meeting Michigan has ever known.

NEW FEATURE AT COUNTY FAIR

JUNIOR BOYS' AND GIRLS' JUDGING CONTEST

Will Be in Charge of County Agent
B. O. Hagerman—Land
Clearing Demonstration

Any boy or girl 10 to 18 years of age may enter the Junior Boys' and Girls' Judging Contest, a feature of the Charlevoix County Fair, to be held at East Jordan Sept. 11 to 16, less than a month off.

County Agricultural Agent B. O. Hagerman will have full charge of the contest, details of which will be published later. However, it will cover dairy cattle, beef type, sheep for mutton and commercial hogs. The prizes are liberal. A $200.00 registered Holstein heifer will be offered as first prize, a registered bred gilt and 3 ewe lambs comprising second and third prizes respectively.

A land-clearing demonstration will also be given. Do not imagine you will be loaded in automobiles and taken out to some stump field. The whole thing will be shown in miniature on a table in a room, and you will be instructed in the proper use of explosives and everything.

A merry-go-round has been engaged for the fair. If satisfactory in every way it will probably be purchased.

All of the Charlevoix county ball teams—East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix—will play in the baseball tournament, and either Petoskey or Harbor Springs will be the fourth team. Two teams will play Tuesday and two teams Wednesday. On Thursday the two losers play, and on Friday the two winners.

Premium books are out this week and are being distributed among the business places in the county.

Ironton Grange Meeting

Ironton Grange will meet with Harry Goblenz, August 17. Every member is requested to be present, as there is important business to be brought up. Refreshments served.

NEW SEALS FOR BALLOT BOXES

In giving out supplies for the primary election to be held on Sept. 12, County Clerk Lewis has been provided with self sealing devices for the ballot boxes to be used after the close of the election in the several voting precincts of the county. The seals which were received last week from the Secretary of State at Lansing, are similar to those given out with deer licenses. This is a new provision of the election laws enacted by the last legislature and does away with the old method of a lock and key in use in the past.

MICHIGAN K. P.'S HERE SEPT. 5-7

ANNUAL CONVENTION PYTH- IANS AND PYTHIAN SISTERS

Local K. P. Lodge Are Planning a Novel Entertainment for Visiting Brothers and Sisters

On September 5-6-7 Charlevoix will entertain several hundred Michigan Pythians composing the Grand Lodge of this domain. In addition there will be among us about two hundred members of the Grand Temple, the grand organization of the women's auxiliary of the order.

The members of the Pine Lake Lodge are planning a novel entertainment with the idea of making the affair a sort of picnic vacation for their guests, instead of the usual grind of business.

On Tuesday, the qualifying round of a golf tournament will be played by the golf contingent of the order headed by our erstwhile citizen Grand Keeper of Records and Seal "Bill" Hampton.

Wednesday will be devoted to the transaction of the business of the Grand Lodge and Temple. In the evening, will be read the prize essay on the theme of "Americanism." This prize has been awarded from among High School contestants throughout the state, the winner being given a free trip to Charlevoix during the Grand Lodge convention. In addition to the reading of the prize essays Hon. Philip T. Colegrove of Hastings, will deliver an address. This meeting will be free to all with the compliments of Pine Lake Lodge.

The Grand Lodge headquarters will be at the Inn and the genial master of that noted hostelry may be depended upon to show our visitors the genuine Charlevoix hospitality, and the city should not be far behind him in doing everything necessary to maintain our reputation as the real playgrounds of Michigan.

CHARLEVOIX TRIMS GAYLORD 7 TO 2

Local Team Has Easy Picking Sunday, August 13th.

Ghorlevoix defeated Gaylord 7 to 2 in one of the best and cleanest games of the season. Errorless ball, coupled with fine hitting on the part of Charlevoix, kept the Gaylord boys from scoring until the eighth inning, when a throw by Boak to third got by Mesheky, allowing Gaylord their first score. Johnson, in right field, pulled down four nice ones from the air, aiding to keep Gaylord scoreless.

A three base hit by Lewis and an overthrow at third, allowed him a four sacker. Each individual member of the home team, played wonderful ball and but for the error in the eighth, would have scored a shut-out. Very few of the local fans accompanied the team on account of the distance.

Sunday, August 20th, the local team will meet the league leaders on the home grounds. Harbor Springs has won all games played and no doubt, Charlevoix will have a hard fight. A repetition of last Sunday's playing among the home team, will make it very interesting for the Harbor Springs aggregation, and the boys assure us they are going after the "bacon." The largest crowd of the season is expected, so let's get out and root for Charlevoix.

BIG EVENT OF SOCIAL SEASON

PROMINENT WASHINGTON D. C. YOUNG PEOPLE WED

Summer Home of Mrs. Mathew T.
Scott Scene of Wedding of Unusual Prominence

One of the big events of the social season in Charlevoix was the wedding Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p. m. of Captain Sidney R. Bailey, D. S. O. R. N., and Miss Mildred Washington Bromwell, both of Washington, D. C.

The wedding, which was a quite affair, took place at the summer home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mathew T. Scott, also of Washington, D. C., who has made Charlevoix her summer residence for a number of years.

The ceremony took place on the lawn and was performed by Bishop McCormick of the Episcopal diocese of Grand Rapids. Besides the immediate family and a few intimate friends, the only out-of-town guest was General Keppel Bethel, British military attaché at Washington, D. C.

They were attended by Harold Sims of the British embassy at Washington, acting as best man, and Miss Elizabeth Stevenson of Princeton, N. J., a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid.

The bride was beautifully clothed in white satin, tulle veil and orange blossoms, and wore about her neck a costly pearl necklace, a gift from her mother. The bridal bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's costume was of mouve cheffon, a large picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom and best man were in full uniform.

Capt. Bailey is the son of the late Sir James and Lady Bailey of Loft Hall, Essex, England. During the World War he was aid to Lord Beattie, an officer of high rank in the British navy.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Charles Bromwell of Washington, D. C., and occupies a prominent place in the social life at Washington.

The happy young couple will sail on August 23rd for Rio de Janeiro, South America, where Capt. Bailey will officially represent Great Britain at the centennial celebration. They will return to Washington on or about October 1, and occupy the home of the bride's mother until the latter part of November, when they leave for their permanent home in England.

On their arrival at Washington they will entertain with a large reception and ball.

LUCKY THIS MAN— UNMARRIED TOO

Loeb Farm Employe Disposes of Gold Mine in Canada

Frank Dubois, who has been employed at Loeb Farms since last fall, Monday received word that buyers for his 40-acre gold-mining claim in the famous Porcupine region of Canada had made a substantial payment to relatives living on a farm near Hart, Michigan. Dubois said the purchase price was $49,000.00, and the lucky man left Tuesday morning to complete the deal, which will necessitate another long trip to Porcupine.

Dubois was greatly elated, as he had held the claim at about $20,000.00. Continued inquiries, however, caused him to gradually advance the price. He said it was sold cheap at that, but that he was in no position to develop the property, much expensive machinery being required.

Park Commissioner Resigns

H. L. Oldham, member of the city park commission, tendered his resignation to the city council on Monday last to take effect immediately. The council accepted the resignation and will fill the vacancy in the near future.

"Lizzie" Has Some Kick

A prominent lawyer in a neighborhood city was hit with a car the other day and was badly battered up. We judge by the following paragraph from a personal letter that he is more distressed by what hit him than the resultant injuries:

"To be knocked down by a 'tin Lizzie' is nearly as bad as to be kicked by a jackass."

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A New Tread—a Lower Price Reliable Goodyear Quality

Here is a new Goodyear Cord Tire—a big, sturdy, long-wearing tire—that sells at a price lower than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown value.

It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and it sells for substantially less.

It has in it the same high-grade long-staple cotton, the same Goodyear patented group-ply construction, the same liberally oversize dimensions.

When you buy the 4 1/2-inch size, for example, you get a tire whose actual measurement is nearly 5 inches.

Don't confuse this Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord with other popular-price cords which sell at the same price or for slightly more.

In many cases, these other cords are made of inferior materials, with short-staple cotton as a foundation.

Get the tire that is good enough to carry the Goodyear name, that is built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Oh, Sugar!

It has been many years since the local grocer posted signs in his window announcing "20 pounds of sugar for one dollar." One pauses to wonder in view of the tariff debate whether sugar is any longer a commodity or merely a gamble.

The statement went unchallenged.

In the senate debate that five of the sugar refiners of the United States control companies in Cuba which produce the greater bulk of all the sugar produced in that island. And usually it is not hard to get five concerns whose interests are identical to agree. Within the past year Cuban raws have sold for $1.67 a hundred pounds; but when sugar was a "war baby," and during that period well remembered by everybody and described by Senator Smoot as a "debauch of speculation and manipulation," raw sugar advanced to 23 cents a pound, and in the East, where Cuban sugar supplies the market, regulated sugar sold as high as 35 cents a pound. Senator Smoot says that it has been estimated by reliable authority that the American consumer paid $600,000,000 for this experience.

Even at sky-high prices the speculators in Cuban sugar held their supplies for the market to go higher, but in the spring of 1921 forty-four different nations sought the American market, and found it profitable to pay even a higher tariff duty than the 1.67 preferential Cuban rate, and these new shippers of sugar to our shores dumped 800,000 tons of sugar into American markets. The "big five" American sugar refiners were whipped, and there was nothing left for them to do but hold the Cuban crop for better times. Cuba's house of cards tumbled down upon its foolish little head. Last January Cuban raws sold in New York as low as $1.67 per hundred pounds.

In the speculation and manipulation of Cuban sugar it is interesting to know that the American consumer usually stands the pinch. The sugar beet and cane producers in the United States are likewise the victims of the processes manipulated by the "big five," and their market and their prices are usually subject to the Cuban sugar manipulations. The third member of the triangle is Cuba. Little Cuba still has the luxuries of unrestricted horse racing and licensed booze and poses as an Arcady for sports; but financially our "little sister" is in fact the football of American sugar speculators.

In the tariff debate the American sugar producers have been fighting for protection against Cuban sugar. The senate has placed a duty of 2 and one-third cents a pound on sugar, and a 20 per cent differential in favor of Cuba, which will actually make the Cuban rate 1.84 cents a pound. Vaguely the sugar beet and cane growers believe that they can carry on their industry with this degree of "protection." In the senate arguments it has been usually asserted that this is "protection" against the Cuban crop. Getting down to the brass tacks of the debate one realizes that the "protection" asked for is really against the American sugar refining trust, manipulated in Wall Street.

It all resolves itself into another instance wherein the tariff makers are still holding tenaciously to their historic theory of making a schedule to "regulate competition" whereas the nigger of the woodpile is the sugar refiners "combination." Of course the senators know all this, and their hope is that they can help reach the evil by tariff duty against Cuban sugar. The Hardwick sugar investigation, price-fixing and other nostrums failed to work. Maybe the tariff is still the remedial cathartic.

Is Gas Controlled?
It is unreasonable to suppose that Mr. Rockefeller of Pocantico Hills, New York, is losing any hair worrying about the senatorial inquiry into gasoline prices. Government interference may disturb railroad presidents, coal barons and the so-called "vested interests," but the oil producers have been on the rack so often that a little thing like an official investigation is an old, dull story to them. It is said to be significant, nevertheless, that gasoline dropped two cents a gallon on the day the investigation started in Washington. The gasoline producers have testified before the senate that they have operated at a loss since late in 1920. The senate committee has just turned on the spotlight, and there are several million automobile owners in the United States who will hope that the senate chauffeurs may find some of the bad spots that are in the gasoline highway.

The Coal Emergency

New England has awakened to the fact that it cannot possibly get anthracite coal this winter and a despairing wail from the Fuel Administration of Maine says: "The consumers must plan to use soft coal, and they will be fortunate if they are able to obtain it." Chicago sees a famine in coal "fifteen days away." Even Pennsylvania whose political government bops all the rich coal fields foresees early "hardship to domestic consumers."

People who have used their eyes during the past few weeks could hardly fail to observe that there has been a genuine rush upon coal supplies. In the cities the coal trucks have been going day and night, never letting up even on Sundays. The purchasers have usually been large consumers with hotels, apartment houses, large buildings or factories to look after. As a rule the ordinary householder has not been among the patrons. In a few weeks everyone must have coal. The above are straws that show which way the wind has been blowing. "The other 70 or 80 per cent" of the population will have to take turns under the distribution programs of the National and State Fuel Administrations.

Coal and Water

Although the Federal water power act is about two years old, the expected water power boom is still mostly on paper. The visitor to the great plants at Niagara Falls will find a genuine understanding of the future possibilities of water power.

The present effective radius of distribution of power from Niagara Falls is about 200 miles. The highest voltage used in the existing system is 100,000 volts. Manufacturers now state that they are prepared to guarantee equipment that will carry 300,000 volts. Distribution possibilities are governed solely by what the laymen will understand easiest as the amount of "juice" that can be put back of the distributing plan. And 300,000 volts, the manufacturers explain, is sufficient to put Chicago and New York City in the power zone of Niagara Falls. So much for direct power distributed. A number of Southern power companies demonstrated it last winter. There was a drought in North Carolina and the textile mills were about to close down for lack of power. The Alabama Power Company, transmitted power to the Central Georgia Power Company. That company tied-in with Columbus and the process was repeated farther away through four or five additional units until the North Carolina point over a thousand miles distant was reached and supplied with the needed "juice."

The developments in the transmission of power by the hydro-electric methods thus demonstrated at Niagara Falls and in the southern states shows that the waterpower resources of the United States are sufficient, through co-ordination, and by the further increase of high voltage, to produce and transmit power to supply every spot in the United States.

Colonel R. R. McCormick, of the Chicago Tribune, says: "Electrical fuel competes with coal in making steam; according to the cost of two commodities at the point of use. It takes approximately one horse power of electricity per year to furnish the heat given by one ton of good Pennsylvania bituminous coal. The coal strike has greatly boomed the hydro-electric industry in the water power country and is affecting the paper industry in America."

The Niagara Falls men certainly are right when they say "coal is now a decadent industry." In another twenty-five years coal will find itself in the same class with ox-teams, horse cars and other similar necessities of negeneration ago.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A Hartford resident reports that he has a tom cat which has adopted a brood of eight newly hatched chickens. It is believed that the old fellow hopes to bring them up carefully and, some day when he is hungry, make a cat out of them.

Uncertainly shrieks from a dental office on the main street of Belding brought merchants, clerks and customers rushing to the street. However, as the patient came out just then closing his pocketbook, it was evident that the extraction had been a success.

A woman at Flint who paid a $5 fine for hitting a street car conductor over the head with an umbrella declared it was worth every cent she paid. Still, most women will probably feel that it couldn't have been a real bargain unless she had used a club, and paid $4.99.

A Shiawassee county farmer while cutting wheat drove his binder against a huge copper still, standing in the middle of the field. He believes in the rotation of crops, he says, but he would rather get the wheat off before his neighbors sow any more wild oats there.

A member of an orchestra, playing in Coldwater, cut a gash in his right foot while bathing, but "has retained his place in the orchestra," the local paper states. Every musician, of course, should be ambidextrous, so that in case of an accident like this he can play just as well with the left foot.

Farmers of Branch county have been making considerable fuss about pheasants raised in that vicinity, because these game birds flock with the domestic chickens, and the cock pheasants engage in combat with the roosters, usually thrashing them soundly. The old, old complaint that the little birds should pick on somebody their own size.

NO REST—NO PEACE

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back, and distressing urinary disorders. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Be guided by their experience.

Daniel Himebauch, 107 W. Upright Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I had a lame back and felt pretty bad a good many times with backache. I was bothered by the weak and irregular action of my kidneys and had to get up three or four times at night to pass the secretions, which were highly colored and contained sediment. A few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Metcalf's Drug Store fixed me up in a fine way." 50c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Defying March of the Years.
Some men are in their prime at over seventy, some are in the drab days of decline at twenty-five. You cannot determine the question of ages by a chronometer and a calendar. Some men defy the years with the wonder of their living and will not grow old because they keep their thoughts ever active and in tune with the great real things of life.—Chicago American.

THE UNKIND TONGUE

There ought to be some way to deliver decent people from the tongue of gossip.

Recently our evening meal was nearly spoiled for us by happening to hear about some unkind—and totally untrue gossip—handed out by some fast talking dame about some very fine people who were as far from doing the things mentioned as the east is from the west.

We all have our faults—except "me and thee and thee is a little queer"—but for the love of our fellow men, why not spend a little time looking for the good instead of digging up half truths and a lot of untruths. For further warning of the evil of gossip read Jas. 3:6.

THE FAMILY COAL BIN

It may seem like adding insult to injury to urge the householder to look to his coal bin now. He is inclined to wait until the strikes are settled and things clear up generally. Right there he is wrong.

The prospect of a coal shortage in many localities this winter is plain. If the winter should be severe, there is every prospect of suffering. Whether the mines and rail strikes are settled tonight or next week makes no difference. The wise consumer will estimate his needs for the winter and will place his order as if he expected it to be filled at once. Then he will keep on the job until it is delivered if it takes weeks or months. Cold nights are scarcely two months away in many parts of the country. Four or five months will bring winter.

PETTY STEALING

A lady who lives in a pleasant neighborhood in another city was telling the other day of the loose idea of property rights entertained by many children in her town. She has flower beds closely adjoining her house, and the children come right into the yard and pick and carry off flowers from those beds.

Her place is fenced in, and there is a gate closed by a latch, which well brought up children ought to consider a notice to keep out. But they do not mind such little things as that.

The loss of these flowers is of course trifling, but such a condition indicates that a lot of children are growing up with loose ideas about stealing.

A boy or girl who forms the habit of this petty stealing gets loose ideas about the people's property and sometimes is tempted to go on to more serious deeds and real crime. The stealing of fruits and flowers indicates a great thoughtlessness. Children ought to realize that owners have put a lot of time and some money into developing home gardens, and are entitled to the fruit of the same.

The parents of such children would probably not justify their doings. They would make light of them, and say that boys will be boys; and that children always have stolen fruit and flowers and always will. But that is not so. There are a lot of careful parents who take pains to instruct their children in the idea that they must respect the rights of others, and most of these children do so.

It is unjust to children to let them form these habits of petty dishonesty. When they grow up it makes them unscrupulous, and soon people become suspicious of them and refuse to trust them or give them responsible work to do. You can't violate the fundamental laws of life without paying some penalty. A little serious talk to some children, making them see the injustice and unfairness of petty stealing would change their point of view.

CANNING WITHOUT COOKING.

An old recipe for canning peaches, handed down for several generations, required the peaches to be peeled and packed compactly in jars, covered with sugar, shaken down until the can was full of fruit and sugar, sealed and buried three feet under the ground. This recipe has been tried and the fruit is delicious, flavor rich and color good. Another year the same process was used, the jars kept in the ice chest until cold weather, then transferred to a cold fruit closet, with results as good. The fruit jars should be sterile and cold when the fruit is packed. Sterilize the fruit jars by putting them into a deep pan of cold water after they have been thoroughly washed; bring to the boiling point both jars and tops. Dip the rubbers, before adjustment, into boiling water, put on the tops and set out to cool.

Canned Raspberries.—Wash and drain the berries, add an equal weight of sugar to the berries after every berry has been crushed. Allow to stand over night, or 24 hours in a cool place, stirring occasionally to be sure that the sugar is all dissolved. Seal in sterilized jars that have been well chilled and keep in a cool, dark place. Strawberries and raspberries canned in this manner are excellent for shortcake, sauces for puddings or ice cream. Ripe currants are delicious canned this way, but it is vital that every currant is crushed, otherwise fermentation sets in and the whole jar is spoiled.

Preserved Grapes.—Wash the bunches carefully, removing any bruised fruit. Lay, after draining, in carefully sterilized jars, sprinkle a thick layer of sugar over the layer of grapes, then repeat, using plenty of sugar. Cover carefully, sealing the top of the jar with paraffin. Set in a cool place and in the winter one may revel in these bunches of deliciousness.

Early Struggles Beneficial.
You can't always tell what's in a lad from knowing his start. Many a poor family has worth in it that only hard problems can develop. When the time comes such children of fortune will arise and earn what fate has been reluctant to bestow. And often straitened circumstances in early life bring untold blessing later. The struggle to succeed develops habit that remains dynamic through life.—Grit.

Cent and Penny.

A cent is a United States coin, equivalent to one-hundredth part of a dollar. A penny is a foreign English coin, equivalent to one-twelfth of a shilling, and, as usually reckoned, worth two cents of United States money. Therefore, it would be one-fiftieth part of a dollar. However, in our colloquial English, we often use the word cent and penny interchangeably, meaning one small copper coin.

Hardly Complimentary.

"Thank you so much for your song, my dear," said the elderly woman when the daughter of the house where she was visiting had finished her solo. "It took me back to my childhood days on my father's farm, and while I listened to your voice I seemed to hear the old gate creaking in the wind."

TO GROW SUFFICIENT SILAGE

Experts Assert It Is Easier to Carefully Figure on Silage to Fit Herd of Cows.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The planting season is the time when the dairy farmer should arrange to see that he has crops enough to fill his silo. As a case in point, a Minnesota farmer failed to take this matter into consideration when he bought a silo of 60 tons capacity, for he found that he had corn and sorghum for only 20 tons of silage; and since, moreover, he had only 8 cows, he decided he had made a mistake, and tried to sell his new silo instead of setting it up. A field man from the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture, however, persuaded him to keep it until the next year, and to put up a small silo for immediate use. He did so, and found it such a help in feeding his cows cheaply that he bought more land and resolved to enlarge his herd to 50 cows, and thus make good use of his larger silo.

Both the height and the diameter of the silo must be considered. The proper diameter of the silo depends upon the quantity of silage to be fed daily; and this quantity will vary with the size of the herd. The silage should be fed out fast enough to remove it from the top of the silo at the rate of 1 1/2 to 3 inches a day, depending upon climatic conditions. The warmer the weather the more silage must be removed from the surface daily in order to prevent spoiling. For the winter feeding season it is safer to figure upon removing 2 inches daily than any smaller amount.

A common error in building is to make the diameter too large for the size of the herd. The weight of a cubic foot of silage varies according to the pressure to which it is subjected, but in a silo 30 feet high the weight per cubic foot averages about 40 pounds. So, by knowing the quantity of silage to be fed daily, it is possible to estimate what the diameter of the silo should be to permit the removal of a certain number of inches each day. The table below shows the proper diameter of the silo, on a basis of 40 pounds of silage per cubic foot.

Laying the Foundation of a New Silo.

for herds of different sizes to be fed different quantities for winter feeding, when 2 inches of silage are removed daily:

Relation of Size of Silo to Diameter of Silo for Winter Feeding.

Feet.	Quantity of silage in depth of 2 inches.	Number of animals that may be fed, following—
		40 pounds per head.	30 pounds per head.	20 pounds per head.	10 pounds per head.
10....	524	13	17	26	45
11....	684	16	21	31	53
12....	754	19	25	37	60
13....	892	22	29	44	69
14....	1,036	25	34	51	80
15....	1,178	28	39	58	90
16....	1,340	33	44	67	103
17....	1,512	38	50	75	121
18....	1,694	43	56	86	138
20....	2,094	52	70	104	175

A 900-pound cow ordinarily consumes 30 pounds of silage a day, and a 1,200-pound one about 40 pounds. Yearlings eat about one-half as much as mature animals; fattening cattle, 25 to 35 pounds for each 1,000 pounds live weight.

It happens, sometimes, that a silo is not wholly filled, because there is not enough corn planted for silage, and there are not enough of other crops make up the deficiency. The amount of silage that may be obtained from an acre of corn varies from 4 to 20 tons. A fair allowance on average land is 8 tons per acre. Hence for a 60-ton silo it might be well to plant 8 or 10 acres of corn.

It is by all means best to lay out land enough in silage crops to fill the silo to the very top; and if there is any doubt about how much will be needed, to allow a margin of safety, remembering that the season may cut down the yield of this as well as of other crops. On the other hand, if there is too much corn or sorghum to go into the silo, the excess can be cut as dry fodder, and other crops can be made into hay.

Two bulletins issued by the Department of Agriculture are useful in this connection; one is Farmers' Bulletin 855, Home-made Silos; and the other is Farmers' Bulletin 578, The Making and Feeding of Silage.

amples," II Chron. 24:15-19; 26:

"I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day.
I'd rather one should walk with me than merely show the way.
The eyes a better pupil and more willing than the ear.
Fine counsel is confusing but examples clear;
And best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,
For to see good in action is what everybody needs.

I can soon learn to do it if you'll let me see it done.
I can watch your hands in action, but your tongue too fast may run.
And the lecture you deliver may be very wise and true,
But I'd rather get my lesson by ob-

For I may misunderstand you and

But there's no misunderstanding how you act and how you live."

Some More Things Heard at the Assembly

Act as if God is, and then you shall know that he is and out of that experience, you will hear your call.
Consecration is essential, when we say God, "Here am I, send me," then God will tell us what to do and we will have that feeling that God is guiding us.

It is one thing to attend a theological seminary, summer assembly, etc., but quite another, though they should be joined, to dedicate ourselves to some definite work.

We cannot see Jesus as we would an earthly captain but Christ expects us to do his work with love and chivalry.

Be ambitious to do the work to which God has called you.
Make it your extreme business to follow Christ himself.

There are three classes of people in the world—the pessimist who says,
"It can't be done," the optimists, who say, "It can be done," and the peptimists who say, "We can do it."
You don't need to wait until you get to heaven to be in the kingdom of God.

The kingdom of God is a voluntary obedience to God's will.
The only precious thing on this earth is human life.

We are helping God but while we are making instruments, he is giving skill and we should be careful lest we dissolve partnership with him.

A man is a moral degenerate who will throw life away in a time like this.

No one can make a better investment than to invest with Jesus Christ who pays in dividends of 300, 500, 600, and 1,000 per cent.

Note: (The above statement was made by Daniel Swamidas, a former pupil of Dr. Martin, one of our missionaries, who has spent over thirty years in Ongole, India. Mr. Swam-idas is general secretary of the Y.
M. C. A. of India and this visit to the U. S. is the first time he has been outside his native country.)
Our wealth consists in things of the spirit.

It is our business to put the very best materials into the life we are building. The material is deeds developed into habits and these developed into character.

People who take no exercise usually suffer from dyspepsia. This is true of the spiritual as well as the physical life.

Those who will sit upon the right hand of God are those who make the right use of God's blessings and their opportunities.

We study that we may serve, we serve that we may live, to not live is to die.

The forming of ideals is because of the fact that the soul reaches out after perfection.

There is one person in the universe, you need not be afraid of,
that is God.

Pleasure is worth while but sacrificing life on the altar of pleasure is quite another thing.

AT THE MOVIES

"Just because a girl prefers silk to cotton, you call her wayward" indignantly says Anna Hedder to her stern father in a powerful dramatic scene in "Why Girls Leave Home," the stirring heart interest photoplay which comes to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday and in that sentence is revealed but one reason, and there are many others, why many daughters have left their family roofs and struck out for themselves.

It may be supposed by film fans that the wonderful gowns worn by Miss Betty Bythe in the Rex Beach photoplay, "Fair Lady," produced for the United Artists' Corporation and to be seen at the Palace Theatre next Sunday and Monday are now part of the personal wardrobe of this beautiful leading woman, and some envious ones may think that with each succeeding picture, the number of her gowns increases, but such is not the case. When the work of producing "Fair Lady" was completed most of the beautiful costumes used in the scenes were so worn as to be practically useless.
The strenuous usage given these dresses ruins them in most cases and in this way thousands of dollars are expended on costumes in a single picture.

"The Bachelor Daddy" Coming

"The Bachelor Daddy" is the second novel by Edward Peple to be adapted to the screen with Thomas Meighan in the principal role. The first was "The Prince Chap," a William deMille production filmed some time ago. In that picture Mr. Meighan was a featured player. In the new picture which will be presented at the Palace theatre next Tuesday Mr. Meighan stars.

"Where is my Wandering Boy To- night."

As its feature picture on Friday and Saturday the Palace theatre is glad to announce "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," the B. F.
Zeidman production which enjoyed a run at the Criterion theatre in New York, and which is creating a sensation in every city in which it is shown. The story was suggested by the hymn of the same name, and the pathetic tale of a country boy who follows the lure of the big city is unfolded in such a way that it is bound to grip the attention of all.

Oreaded South African Snake.

The greatest terror of all South African snakes is the black mamba. Its bite is almost instantly fatal, and the mamba is of a strangely irritable disposition, frequently "itching for a scrap," and apparently fond of bluffing a man by its near presence, during him to try and hit it, then lunging a swift

POULTRY FACTS

PUREBREDS PAY IN POULTRY

Experiment Conducted by North Carolina Station With Flocks of Leghorns.

That the value of purebred males counts as much in poultry raising as in stock raising is shown by the records of three flocks of Leghorns, the data for which have been supplied the United States department of agriculture by the North Carolina experiment station. Flock 1, the egg production of which is included in these records, consisted of common hens; flock 2 was produced by breeding these hens to common males; flock 3 was produced by breeding flock 1 to a rooster from a high-producing hen. The following year the original flock laid 89 eggs a hen; flock 2 laid an average of 88 eggs a hen; and flock 3 laid an average of 136 eggs a hen. This increase of 54 per cent in one year tells very specifically ally the benefits of using a purebred male. But the percentages alone do not tell the whole story, for a big proportion of the increase came at a season—May and June—when the production of flocks 1 and 2 was relatively low and the prices were good.

Standard Bred Rose-Comb White Leghorn.

HENS BECOME FOND OF EGGS

Habit Usually Formed Through Accidental Breakage—See That Nests Are Darkened.

Fowls become very fond of eggs, once they begin to eat them. This egg-eating usually begins through accident, by eggs being broken. Be careful to see that this does not happen. See that the nests are properly supplied with straw, and have them darkened, so that if an egg is broken the fowls will not be likely to discover it. When egg-eating is discovered among the flock, the best plan is to kill the offending hen.

GREEN FEEDS ARE ESSENTIAL

Little Chicks Cannot Eat Too Much, and It Pays to Supply Them With Cut Clover.

Young chicks cannot eat too much bran or green food. It pays to give them as much cut clover as they can eat while they are in the brooder house and allow them plenty of green food on the range as soon as they are able to forage for themselves.

RIGHT PLACE FOR BROODERS

Arrangements Should Be Made to Admit Plenty of Light—Warmth of Spring Needed.

Brooders should always be so placed that they have plenty of light and, if possible, so that they will be reached by the sun. Outdoor brooders are not satisfactory until the warmth of spring takes the snow away and dries the ground.

Build a cheap house or shelter.

Grow some green crop in the yard.

Don't keep a male bird. Hens lay just as well without a male.

Purchase well-matured pullets rather than hens.

Incubator chicks are just as strong as hen hatched, all else being equal.

Don't expect great success in hatching and raising chicks unless you have had some experience.

Preserve the surplus eggs produced during the spring and summer for use during the fall and winter when eggs are scarce and high in price.

MUTTON WITH SAUCES.

Mutton would be far more popular in many homes if care in removing the skin were observed. The woolly flavor so objectionable is found in the skin. If the animal has been well dressed there should be no strong flavor.

There are two ways of cooking mutton. For those who are fond of the mutton flavor it is cooked to bring out the natural flavor; the other way unites it with highly flavored vegetables or seasonings which produce a combination of flavors.

One of the important things to remember in serving mutton and lamb with the gravy containing any of the fat is to have it piping hot, as the fat hardens so quickly that it leaves an unpleasant furry feeling on the tongue. Everything used in the serving of mutton, service plates, platters and gravy dishes, should be well heated.

Roast Saddle of Mutton.—A saddle of mutton is the loin cut off in one piece. It is a favorite roasting piece. Sprinkle the meat with salt and pepper, place in the baking pan on a rack and dredge with flour. Bake in a hot oven, basting frequently and allow ten or fifteen minutes to the pound, depending upon whether it is to be rare or well done. The leg of mutton is roasted in the same way. Serve with a brown gravy with or without currant jelly. In making the gravy allow two tablespoonfuls of fat for each cupful of gravy desired. Pour off all the fat and measure the desired amount, add three tablespoonfuls of flour for each two of fat and cook until well browned. Add broth or boiling water—one cupful to the proportions of flour and fat given. Season with salt and pepper and add one glass of currant jelly to a cupful of gravy. This makes a delicious sauce for reheated cold mutton.

Caper Sauce.—Melt one-third of a cupful of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook thoroughly. Pour on gradually one and one-half cupfuls of hot mutton broth, add one-half cupful of capers drained from their liquor and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Chopped sour pickles may be substituted for the capers. This sauce is served with hot mutton.

STATE CHEATED UNDER BOUNTY

—May Repeal Law Governing Bounties

Forty years or so ago the legislature enacted the first law authorizing the payment of bounties for the killing of predacious animals and birds. The total paid the first year was only about $1,000. Subsequent legislation put more animals and birds under the law until last year the total paid was $3,112,246 of which the state paid 50 per cent and the counties 50 per cent. In 1920 the total was only $109,426.04.

John Baird, state commissioner of conservation, is strongly of the impression that predacious animals and birds are not increasing but the state and counties are being defrauded out of large sums. One of many instances that Mr. Baird's investigators found is a trapper in the Upper Peninsula who collected bounties for taking 287 timber wolves claimed to have been trapped in a 10 square mile area. The wolf bounty, until repealed last was $35.

Information comes to the conservation department that coyote pelts were being shipped from far western states, where they were purchased for $3 to $10 to Michigan, and worked off on Michigan bounty paying officials as pelts of Michigan wolves.

In one lower Michigan county the department reported that one man collected bounties for 1,600 woodchucks in 12 months.

Four men are now waiting trial in Keweenaw county on charges of fraudulently collecting bounties on woodchucks and crows. Investigations are being made into reports of like frauds in other counties.

"All this is why Mr. Baird will ask the legislature, at next winter's session, to repeal the woodchuck and crow bounty act, the last of the predacious animal and bird bounty acts on the statute books.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

Get acquainted with your neighbor!
Stop and pass the time of day;
You may get a lot of pleasure
From the things he has to say.
You may find a different fellow
Than you thought him at the start;
You may form a mutual liking,
Though your views are far apart.
He may have a good suggestion
That's the very thing you need—
That will bring you fame or fortune
If you cultivate the seed.
He may need some small assistance
In a purely personal way,
That you'd feel quite free in giving,
So why treat him like a stray?
How is one to love his neighbor,
As the Bible bids us do,
If you never get acquainted—
If he's not a help to you?
Would each happy wife be married
To her present choice of man,
If she hadn't learned to know him
In a way no stranger can?
You may some day be a stranger,
Like the man who's just "moved in,"
Meeting folks with good intentions,
But who just forgot to grin.
Friend, regardless of your calling—
Whether business, field or labor—
Know the fellow at your elbow—
Get acquainted with your neighbor!

FIFTY YEARS OF FOOLISH-
NESS

It seems utterly incredible in these days of sound banks that any person would keep $40,000 in gold hidden in a stocking leg. Still, such a case has just been brought to light by the robbery of Ellen Horigan at her isolated farm home near Tavera, Wisconsin. It was an easy matter for three masked men to hold up this silly defenseless woman who had her savings of half a century "safely" tucked away in the family trunk.

Ellen Horigan had more faith in the present effective banditry than she had in the banks. Now she will be obliged to go to work to earn her livelihood. So long as she lives the dreadful contemplation of her stupendous folly will plague her thoughts by day and haunt her dreams by night. Her $40,000 deposited in any well managed bank would have yielded her $1,600 a year in interest, for which she would not have been obliged to raise her hand. It is a good guess that $1,600 is more than this Wisconsin woman expended annually.

How many more Ellen Horigans are there in the country?

It is probably that the number would be surprising. These misguided persons filled with apprehension, too fearful of the banks to trust them, must live in a constant state of panic and dismay. The terrible bogey of the robber must be always with them.

If these timid persons, so filled with consternation, would only look about them they would discover that their neighbors and all well balanced persons, and those who make the big successes in life patronize the banks freely. They leave their funds in well conducted banks because they have absolute confidence. This faith and assurance is built up by the possitive knowledge that their funds are secure. To deposit money in a banking institution of established reliability is a privilege. Happily this benefit is vouchsafed to the people of Cheboygan County by the trustworthy character of its banks.

The utter futility of attempting to care for funds under a bed tick or in a hole in the cellar, has been explored so many times, it is amazing that so many persons still continue to dwell in an atmosphere of doubt.

That Ellen Horigan's life was not taken is the most surprising feature of the Wisconsin robbery. Such is the usual fate of those so crude in their reasoning that they keep large sums of money in their personal possession.

The most interesting feature of the robbery at Tavera is disclosed by a brief mathematical calculation, which shows that the sum of $40,000 might have been earned money if it had been deposited in a bank at four per cent. The dispatch says that the money had been in course of saving during fifty years of steady accumulation. If the average of $800 a year during the half century had been taken to the bank annually, the interest alone would now equal the principal. In other words, if Ellen Horigan had not been afraid of the banks she would now possess in place of her empty trunk and its ghastly suggestions and a shattered nervous system, the neat sum of $80,000.

He who runs may read the suggestive moral in this sad story.

To Deposit Money in a Banking Institution of Established Reliability is a Privilege

The savings of half a century, $40,000.00, were gone Wednesday because the Horigan family did not believe in banks.

Three masked bandits held up and slugged Miss Ellen Horigan at her lonely farm home and ransacked the house until they found the $40,000.00 in gold in the family trunk.

IT TOOK A LONG TIME TO SAVE $40,000.00

It took a long, long time for Ellen Horigan to save $40,000.00. All the working years of a lifetime were devoted to the job. But she saved that much money—sufficient to represent comfortable wealth.

BUT IT TOOK ONLY A FEW MINUTES TO LOSE IT ALL

She didn't believe in banks. She put her faith in a trunk, in her home, and added slowly accumulated dollars to her hoard over half a century—at the mercy of fire, and at the mercy of robbers. It was the latter evil that visited her.
In a few terrible minutes she lost her lifetime's earnings—lost them hopelessly, with no apparent chance to recover the money.

SHE DIDN'T KNOW WHEN THE THIEVES WERE COMING! AND NEITHER DO YOU!

There is no way of prophesy when the old trunk or the teapot, or the tin can where people distrustful of banks hide their money, will be visited by robbers. There is no way of telling what accident may take your earnings from their hiding place.
There is only one place where money saved is safe and that is a good bank. It is there when it is needed and it is CONSTANTLY WORKING FOR YOU.

THIS UNFORTUNATE WOMAN SUSTAINED A DOUBLE LOSS

All during the half century when she was stowing her dollars away in a trunk she was keeping them idle. They could have been working for her, adding to themselves, through payment of bank interest. Today she is not only left without her fortune, but presumably must take up again the weary grind of earning a living—whereas, if her money had been deposited in the bank, it would be earning enough to support her entirely without effort on her part.

ORGANIZE STAFF OF PHYSICIANS

FOR ADVANCEMENT OF HOSPITAL INTERESTS

Physicians From All Parts of County Met With Hospital Trustees Wednesday

A move which is hoped will not only advance the interests of the Charlevoix Hospital, but result in the bringing together of the entire community was brought to definite conclusion last Wednesday evening, when physicians from Boyne City, East Jordan, Ellsworth and Charlevoix met with the board of trustees of the Charlevoix Hospital at the Beach Hotel, at a six o'clock dinner. Physicians present were Drs. Coule and Shaffer from Boyne City, Dr. Parks from East Jordan, Dr. Beuker from Ellsworth and Dr. McMillan and Armstrong from Charlevoix. Invitations were extended every physician in Charlevoix county, also those of Ellsworth, Central Lake and Bellaire.

The object of the meeting was the organization of a staff of hospital physicians which would include all in this territory; to bring before the people that the Charlevoix Hospital was a community affair, and a united effort on the part of all to see that the hospital is patronized as an institution of its kind is deserving.

The Charlevoix hospital was constructed, equipped and is being conducted for the benefit of the public—those that are sick or injured. It was organized not for profit, but for the benefit of suffering humanity. This is its sole claim for support and maintenance. No instances where medical assistance or hospital treatment is needed will be turned aside. Many cases have been and will be treated where it is known before the case is taken that the regular fee will not be paid. This is the reason why charitably inclined persons take an interest in the institution and so far as able contribute funds to take care of any deficit. On these grounds the support of every citizen of Charlevoix county and neighboring counties is solicited.

The meeting resulted in the organization of staff physicians. Dr. R. B. Armstrong was chosen as chairman and Dr. F. F. McMillan secretary. A more complete organization will be made at a later meeting of the doctors.

RECEIVES BAD FALL ON CONCRETE MIXER

Fred Gill Injures His Leg Saturday Morning

While at work Saturday morning on the concrete mixer, used in the construction of the new road south of the city, Fred Gill, engineer of the mixer, fell from the top of the machine in such a manner as to cut his left leg quite badly. He was taken to the hospital, where several stitches were required to close the wound and was later removed to his home, where he will be confined for the next week.

The second prize is a Westinghouse electric iron, valued at $7.50, on exhibition at Wood Bros. store.

To date, so few answers have been sent in that we have decided to postpone the awarding of prizes and printing of correct answers for one week. ENDS THIRTY YEARS FAITHFUL SERVICE

William S. Kibbe Retires From Coast Guard

After thirty years of faithful service as a member of the U. S. coast guard, William S. Kibbe was placed on the retired list by the government, August 4th, having reached the age limit.

Mr. Kibbe first entered this service in 1884 as surfman in the Muskegon station. In 1890 he was transferred to South Haven, coming to the Charlevoix station 22 years ago, serving continuously here up to the time of his retirement.

In the early days, when large cargoes of lumber, etc., were transported on the lakes by sailing vessels, the life of a coast guard was one of daring and filled with hazards. Of late years, with the passing of the sailing vessels from the great lakes, the duties of the members of the coast guard are not as strenuous, and while closely confined to duty, the calls are less frequent. Mr. Kibbe retires with a faithful and honorable record and we trust that he will enjoy his well-earned rest.

CHARLEVOIX TAKES LONG END OF GAME

WALLOPS LEAGUE LEADERS BY 10-6 SCORE

Fine Pitching By O'Hara—Heavy Hitting and Good Support Gives Harbor First Defeat

The old, old adage, revenge is sweet, was exemplified in Sunday's game, when the Charlevoix League team took the hard-hitting league leaders into camp and squared the defeat received earlier in the season.

The day was ideal and it was estimated that nearly a thousand fans witnessed the game. Harbor Springs at bat, was unable to score in the first, Charlevoix securing one run in this inning and adding another in the second. The league leaders were unable to score until the third, getting one in this inning and another in the fourth, three in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

Charlevoix added another in the fifth and when the lucky seventh rolled around, my, but didn't our boys swat that old horsehide. O'Hara started the slaughter in this round, followed by Cole, Hanna, Burden and Curtis, each getting a wallop at the old pail for safe hits. McIlvane, Johnson, Bosk and Burree next, each sending home the man ahead. Talk about a barrage.

We are willing to wager that the excitement was more intense during this inning, than was any moment of like duration during the late war. This local team was out to win and to make doubly sure, added two runs in the last time at bat.

The management has tried its utmost during the past season to strengthen the team and the result of the last two games proves beyond a doubt that it has succeeded.

Ta the Charlevoix boys goes the honor of being the first team in the league to defeat the strong Harbor Springs aggregation. East Jordan or Traverse City is expected to play here Sunday and announcements will appear later.

COLORED MAN IN TROUBLE

Sheriff of Alamo, Tennessee Here After Prisoner

Sheriff S. Hughes of Alamo, Tennessee, arrived in the city Tuesday with extradition papers for Tom Leo McCane, wanted in the southern city for house-breaking and grand larceny.

McCane, a colored man, recently employed at the Lakeland barber shop as porter and boot-black, escaped from the Alamo jail early this spring and no trace of him was found until recently. Several days ago, the local authorities were notified to hold this man and he was lodged in the county jail.

From his past record, he appears to be a slippery individual. He ignores the extradition papers from the governor of Tennessee and sheriff Hughes is compelled to appear before the governor of Michigan for additional documents.

LIVE STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

FIRST ANNUAL EVENTS AT COMING COUNTY FAIR

Free to Every Boy and Girl in County Between Ages of 12 and 20 Years

The banks of the county, the Fair Association, the County Farm Bureau, the Marketing Associations, and the Chambers of Commerce in Charlevoix county are making it possible to hold the first annual Live-Stock Judging Contest at the county fair this fall.

The ultimate idea in view is to teach the rural boys and girls better livestock types. Believing that there is a promising future in the agricultural and livestock industry here, these organizations have made it possible for the following prizes to be awarded as an inducement towards this type of education.

First prize—Registered Holstein calf, second prize—Registered Duroc Jersey gilt, third prize—Pen of three yearling Ewe Lambs.

These above prizes are for individual efforts. There will be an additional prize of a loving-cup awarded to the school winning the highest score. This school must be represented by a team of three contestants. This loving-cup must be won by the same school three times before it becomes their permanent property.

The following will give an idea as to the method of conducting such a contest:

There will be four kinds of animals to judge. Dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and hogs. There will be three animals of each kind. The boy or girl judging will have to pick out the best, and second best and the third best, and write down on paper his or her placings and the reasons for placing them that way. Twenty minutes will be allowed for judging each ring.

So boys and girls study up the characteristics of a good dairy cow, a good beef cow, a good hog and a good sheep and enter the contest. You may win some of this fine livestock and be able to start in business for your self.

Rules and Regulations

1. All boys and girls who have made entries in either of the above contests will receive a free admission ticket for Thursday, September 14th, no entry fee required in either class for this contest.

2. All contestants must report at the secretary's office on the fair ground at ten o'clock the day of the contest.

3. All entries for this contest must be sent to B. O. Hagerman, County Agricultural Agent, Boyne City, Michigan.

4. These entries must reach Mr. Hagerman not later than Wednesday, September 13th.

5. Each applicant will be given a number by which he will be designated throughout the day.

6. Each contestant will be required to judge one ring each of dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs and sheep.

7. Each contestant will be allowed 20 minutes to place and write reasons substantiating their judgments of each class of stock.

8. Printed forms will be furnished on which to make written reports of each class judged.

9. The written reports when finished by the contestant, must be filed with the superintendent of the contests and will be judged and passed upon by experts.

10. All reports of contestants of all classes will be rated on the basis of 100 points to each class, to be apportioned as follows: Correctness of placing 50 points, reason for placing 40 points, neatness of report 10 points. The total maximum points in the four classes will be 400 points. Thus it will be seen that a perfect score will equal 400 points. That is, if all animals are placed correctly and reasons for placing are correct.

For further information write to Frank Bird, Secretary of Fair Association, Charlevoix Mich., or B. O. Hagerman, County Agricultural Agent, Boyne City, Michigan.

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold a bake goods sale at the Charlevoix Hdq. Co. on Saturday, August 26, all day. Adv. 841.

GASOLINE TAX ONLY REMEDY

ROAD USERS SHOULD BEAR TAX BURDEN

Unreasonable to Compel Man Who Drives But Little to Pay Same as Jitney Driver

Just now there seems to be an intensified situation relative to the proposed gasoline tax for this state. On the recent tour of the West Michigan Pike Association, Phil T. Colgrove, president of the Michigan State Good Road Association, was one of the speakers and one of his subjects was the proposed tax. In a letter to Michigan Roads, on the eve of his departure for San Francisco, July 27, Mr. Colgrove submits his views upon the subject, follows:

"The other side really have no argument. The manufacturers I think are standing in their own light. There are only twelve of the states that do not pay a personal tax on automobiles, 18 states have come in line since our legislature adjourned and have a tax on gasoline, and no doubt the remainder of the states will adopt this tax or put automobiles on the tax roll.

"The license fee that we are now paying is simply for regulation and while it brings a large revenue, it is about one-third of the revenue that would come into the state were all automobiles placed on the tax roll. A man who lives in Chicago pays three taxes. 1st. He pays his license fee to the state as we do; 2nd. He pays a city license fee; 3rd. His automobile is on the tax roll, the same as his property and this constitutes his larger tax.

"During at least four months out of the year Michigan is over-run with tourist who pays nothing. They tear up the roads just as much as the residents of the state, and the only way we have to reach these people is a tax on gasoline that they burn, or the motive power.

"Trucks for commercial purposes and passenger vehicles for hire are the worst of all. They use the roads for commercial purposes, wear them out, tear them up and escape without even a personal tax on their vehicles.

"The situation is all wrong and unless we all help raise a sufficient tax for maintenance and up-keep as well as new construction we shall make a very serious mistake. I am very much opposed to placing any more tax upon the automobile manufacturer than it is possible. It is true that there is a federal tax on the manufacturer, but this is added to the price of the car and the people who buy them pay this tax. It is true that we owe much to the manufacturer, and we are all proud of the record that Detroit has made and the place she occupies in the world so far as automobiles are concerned.

"I took the position I did without consulting with any of them, some of whom are the best friends I have in the world. I do not want to add to their burdens, but I do know the sentiment in this state. On all sides I find that nine-tenths of the people are with me, and I rarely find a man who is opposed to this tax. Without dissent they feel that I am too low in my estimate, that a 1c per gal. tax at the source is too low.

"I would tax this gas at the source and require them to pay into the state treasury to be placed to the credit of the maintenance fund 1c per gallon, which will bring into Michigan a revenue of a little more than one and a half million dollars. We now have more than 12,000 miles of road in which the state and federal government have contributed. In order to pay the interest on the bonds already issued and to maintain these roads, it will cost the state $9,000,000. Who is going to pay this tax?

"I am opposed to saying anything or doing anything that will array any class of our people against any other class. We must all work together and think together for the best interest of Michigan.

"I never want to see the time when the farmers will array against the manufacturers, or indeed, any other industry array against the other. We shall reach our greatest measure of success by uniform effort, doing the right thing, and placing the burden of maintaining the roads as well as all other taxes on an equal basis if such a thing can be done.

"I must confess that after giving much thought to the matter I can see

LAKE MICHIGAN WAS GRAVEYARD

IN REGARD TO NUMBER OF BOATS LOST

Total of 2,333 Lives Lost on All Lakes During Period From 1901 to 1922

A controversy recently arose as to which is the "graveyard" of the Great Lakes. Somebody said it was Lake Erie, but figures on file in the United States steamboat inspection office in Detroit seem to refute this.

The statistics for twenty years show that Lake Michigan was the "graveyard" for that period. But for the disaster to the excursion steamer Eastland, at Chicago in 1915, Lake Superior would have had the doubtful honor.

A total of 2,333 lives were lost on Lake Superior, Michigan, Huron, Erie and Ontario from 1901 to 1921. The first three named claimed by far the greatest number, the total being 82 on Erie and Ontario.

The fatalities were caused by foundering, collisions, explosions, fires and other accidents. The Eastland disaster was really not an open lake mishap, for the boat was tied to a Chicago dock, when it capsized, carrying nearly 800 persons to their death.

This was the only passenger steamer that met with a serious accident on any of the lakes in the 20 years. The loss of life was mostly on freight vessels. In one storm on Lake Huron, late in 1913, nearly 200 sailors on freight vessels lost their lives.

Lake Erie is not immune from storms, but the records prove that there hasn't been a serious accident of a passenger ship on that lake in forty years. Some of the companies that have been operating on the lake for that period never had an accident that involved loss of life.

Forty or fifty years ago, before Lake Superior trade was open to any extent, Lake Erie traffic was heavy and accidents were not uncommon, but boats that have met with mishap usually were small freighters.

Today millions of persons are carried on Lake Erie without loss of a life. It is pointed out that passenger boats meet another boat every five minutes, which minimizes the possibility of loss of life in the event of an accident.

Of course Lake Superior is much larger and not so much traveled, but the records do not show any serious accidents of passenger ships on that lake during the twenty years. The same applies to Lake Huron. But for the Eastland disaster, Lake Michigan would have a good record. Accidents on Lake Ontario have been negligible.

TRY THIS—THEY SAY IT HAS THE "KICK"

So much has happened lately all around the manufacturing and the distributing end of the source of supply of one of the necessities of life, perhaps the following prescription, sent in by one of our readers, may come in handy. At least, you have our permission to give it a try-out if you like.

"Chase a frog three miles, gathering up the hops as you go. Add 10 pounds of tan-bark, 1 pint shellac and a bar of home-made soap. Boll this mixture thirty-six hours, then strain through an old pair of L. W. W. stockings, to prevent working. Bottle up after adding a quart of grasshoppers, to give it a kick.

PETTY THIEVES BUSY AGAIN

Some time during Saturday night, thieves gained entrance through a window at the P. M. station and after breaking a show-case, made way with ten boxes of cigars. Evidently this was the extent of their visit, as nothing more has been reported missing. Up to the present time, no trace of the culprits has been found.

Cecil Richardson celebrated his birthday Monday evening with a party. About 20 young people were present. It was his mother's birthday also, and at nine thirty the same evening, there were twenty-five friends and neighbors walked in without being invited to help celebrate. Songs were sung, games were played by the young folks and Mrs. Pierce rendered a very beautiful and pathetic song entitled, "Johnson's Old Gray Mule." At mid-night light refreshments were served and at about one-thirty the guests departed, wishing Mrs. Richardson and her son many more happy birthdays.

Did You Get the Bottom Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question.

Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

ROAD BUILDING

INSTRUMENT TO TEST SOILS

By Means of Modern Apparatus It Is Possible to Obtain Most Valuable Information.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An instrument for testing soils on which roads are to be built has been devised by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. It consists of a metal disk resting on the soil and supporting a cylinder into which shot can be poured. The apparatus is held in position vertically by means of a tripod, at the top of which is mounted a small dial that tells to one-tenth of an inch how far the disk sinks into the soil as shot is poured into the cylinder. By means of the instrument it is possible to get information as to how the soil will act in wet weather.

The kind of soil beneath a road surface has a great deal to do with how it will stand up under modern traffic, and engineers look upon this as an important consideration in determining the kind of road to be built. This is confirmed by a number of instances where two sections of the same road

Don't be enslaved by a Wringer!

DON'T give your strength to a pair of greedy, destructive rubber rollers! Don't feed clothes through a device which squeezes wrinkles into them, and crushes the buttons!

Why not save yourself, and save the clothes too? The Laund-Dry-Ette makes this possible. It is the most advanced type of electrical washing machine on the market. It has no wringer—and needs none.

The Laund-Dry-Ette not only washes your clothes but wrings them dry for the line. It cannot injure the daintiest pieces, yet it washes and dries the heaviest blankets and comforters. In seven years no Laund-Dry-Ette has ever broken a button or damaged a fastener.

have been built in exactly the same manner and subjected to the same traffic but, on different types of soil. One section has lasted well while the other has broken up in a manner that can only be explained by a lack of supporting power of the soil beneath the road.

The bureau has for some time been investigating this question along various lines both in the field and in the laboratory, studying the characteristics of different soils and experimenting with means to keep down the moisture content of the soil and thus increase its bearing power. The latest development has been the new device.

Considerable interest is being shown in the nominations for county offices, and the friends of the several candidates are advancing reasons, of one kind or another, why their favorite should be nominated. The Courier, while taking the same interest in the selection of candidates as an elector, is not disposed to be partial and by support of one candidate, injure the chances of another. There is one thing that a newspaper must do however, and that is to hold the public interest above the personal ambitions of individuals. The county needs the very best material obtainable in its positions of trust and it is up to the people to see to this. The records of the aspirants should be looked up so that the voter will be familiar with the facts and be able to cast an intelligent ballot. An election is a plain business affair and should have business attention. Failure in this particular, oftentimes causes inefficient service and neglect of the county's business.

The friends of Arthur L. Fitch are finding a whole lot of pleasure in supporting him for the nomination as Prosecuting Attorney. Mr. Fitch was a candidate four years ago but lost by a very narrow margin. He became a candidate again upon the advice of good people from all parts of the county. He admits that he would like the office if the people are willing that he should have it. There is no question that he is a competent and active attorney able to handle himself in any kind of litigation. He is a good trial lawyer and effective before a jury. He is absolutely fearless and at the same time has a proper sense of justice.

AT THE MOVIES

Gloria Swanson's Best

What may prove to be Gloria Swanson's most notable picture, according to Paramount, is Elinor Glyn's "Beyond the Rocks" which will be the feature at the Palace theatre for two days beginning Saturday next. Twenty changes of gowns for the star afford Miss Swanson an opportunity of appearing in some of the most wonderful creations that have ever graced the screen.

Menagerie in Picture

Children as well as grown folks will enjoy Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Fool's Paradise," when it is shown at the Palace theatre for two days beginning Tuesday next. The picture sets a new mark in the number and variety of wild animals and reptiles shown in motion pictures. With a plot that varies between the Mexican border and Siam, unusual opportunity was given Mr. De Mille for the employment of four footed beasts, birds and reptiles. The list includes peacocks, monkeys, bears, elephants, snakes, donkeys, crocodiles, canary birds, horses and a lamb. Several large blue cobras, the most poisonous of their species, are used in a temple sacrifice scene in Siam, and the action in which they are engaged is of the most thrilling description. The cast includes such notable screen stars as Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, Theodore Kosloff, John Davidson and Julia Faye. Other good players are in the cast.

SEE CHARLEVOIX FROM HIGH ALTITUDE

Triangle Airways, Inc., Giant Seaplanes Make Daily Flights

"Seeing Charlevoix from the air" seems popular these days, judging at least from the numerous flights being made by the two huge seaplanes, Isle de Luzon and De Soto, now located on Pine Lake near the Belvedere dock for a few days.

The two boats are owned by the Triangle Airways, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago. Both boats are government built planes type H. S. 2-L, and were originally intended for naval patrol and bombing purposes. However, the abrupt ending of the World War did away with any government need of the planes, and they were never assembled until purchased by their present owners.

The pilots of both planes are experienced men and have had considerable experience with naval aviation work. Flights are made at the convenience of passengers, and the charges are very reasonable. The flying boats are equipped with life preservers, harbor lights and every precaution to avoid and offset a possible accident.

The flight over the city is a wonderful one and we believe the trip worth while. We can assure, from our own experience, that your safety is properly looked after, and you can feel as safe in the air with these competent pilots as you are on land amid the congested automobile traffic. You can speed up as you like, for no "cops" will interfere with you.

AUGUST TERM ENDS SATURDAY

Few Cases Disposed of in Circuit Court

Very little punishment was handed out at the recent term of circuit court which adjourned Saturday last. Andrew Skop of Boyne Falls pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law and sentence was suspended until the October term. Jack Peters of Charlevoix, charged with rape and assault, was convicted on the assault charge, sentence suspended. J. F. A. DeJordy charged with violation of the medical registration law was bound over to the October term also. A. J. W. Greig charged with embezzlement. Earl Beardley charged with statutory rape and assault with intent to rape, pleaded guilty but was not sentenced. In the case of E. C. Waller vs. R. F. Sloan and others for assault and trespass, a judgment of $2,600.00 was awarded the former. George Stevens was given a judgment of $100.00 against the township of St. James. In the case of Koss vs. Robert Gregory, suit to recover, Koss received a judgment of $400.00. Amos Augustus, who lives near Horton Bay, filled up on moonshine and proceeded to wreck his home. He was given thirty days to think it over.

SECOND LEGION DAY A SUCCESS

Boxing, Baseball, Dancing, etc., Entertain Crowd

The second annual legion day, given under the auspices of the Leslie T. Shapton Post, was a success and while the crowd was not as large as on previous occasions, the amusements of the day were of a high class character, enjoyed by all, and demonstrate what the boys can do to put things across.

In the boxing exhibitions, two colored gentlemen, Wolfe of Detroit, and Hall of Saginaw, boxed four rounds to a draw. Meggison of Charlevoix and Bears of Ellsworth, put up four rounds of excellent boxing, ending in a draw.

In a fast game of ball, Charlevoix trounced the strong Boyne City team to the tune of 8 to 5. The dance in the evening at the Lakeside Pavilion, was greatly enjoyed by all and was well attended. Albert Cook, son of James Cook, held the lucky number and drew the Ford sedan.

LOCAL MERCHANT TAKES BRIDE

L. C. Hanna and Irma Cowan Married Tuesday

A very quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cowan on Upright avenue at 5:00 a. m. Tuesday, when their only daughter, Irma, was united in marriage to Luther C. Hanna, one of Charlevoix's popular merchants.

The bride is well known throughout the city having lived in Charlevoix and Norwood all her life, and the news of her wedding came as a great surprise to her many friends.

The happy couple left an hour after the ceremony, on the Manitou for a short wedding tour to Mackinac and the Soo. They will make Charlevoix their future home, and the Courier joins in extending happy congratulations.

We must show them what Christianity really means. We must demonstrate that Christianity is a reality and not a mere name."

THE MEASURE OF LIFE

Not what I get, but what I give
As days go fleeting past;
Not how I feel, but how I live
Must tell the tale at last;
Not what I have, but what I do,
The loads I bear, the paths I hew
Through forests no man over knew.
The highways that I cast
Not the advantage that I take,
But give amid the strife;
The service for some other's sake
Where selfishness is rife;
The effort that I make to bless
My time and fellows with success,
And brotherhood, and happiness,
Measures this little life.

Why we make Clicquot at Millis, Mass.

Under the ground, in the bed-rock, there are springs of cold, clear water. Summer rains and winter snows are filtered and re-filtered many times in Nature's own way, so that when the water is drawn from the rocks it is purified.

And this is the water of which all Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is made. The other ingredients are all pure and good.

Get Clicquot by the case for the home. If you prefer variety, you can get Clicquot Club Sarsaparilla, Birch Beer and Root Beer.

LAI CURSE ON THE BIRDS

Legend Tells How Churchman
Ascribed Evil Influences to the Singers, and Banished Them.

In the days of the crusades when that Bernard who wrote the hymn "Jesu the Very Thought of Thee" was the greatest nun in Europe the monks of Illmensee in the Upper Moselle valley on the Rhine were accused of leading wicked lives. Bernard went to rebuke the sin which were making the country notorious, but found he could accomplish nothing. It was a great country for singing birds, for it was just at the mating season of the year, and after consideration the good man decided that the songs of the birds were leading the monks into wrong. So out he went into the fields and woods, and cursed the poor birds, ordering them to be banished. Then, so the story goes, the monks became good and led holy lives as they had promised. But the abbess of a large convent on the island of Stuten heard of the curse, and pitying the poor birds induced them to come and live near her establishment. Then the robins, nightingales and larks settled and sang. But to the nuns their singing was of heavenly not earthly love, and led them on to nobler, sweeter lives, for to the pure all things are pure. This continued for a time until the evil once again brought temptation and the Stuten convent became noted for its evil as it had been before and was pulled down because of the bad example. But it is very likely that the birds had little to do with it in either case. At any rate that is the tale they tell you there to this day, says the Montreal Family Herald.

Tiger Had Taste for Chinamen.

The tigers of the Malay peninsula have developed a wonderful liking for the Chinese laborers employed on public works. Perhaps this is partly due to the Chinamen's belief that the tigers are only big cats and are not to be feared. A British official writing in the Asahi Magazine, says: "At a certain place where a gang was assembled for work, a man used to take a Chinaman each evening after dark from almost the same spot. This continued for some time. Learning of it, the superintendent of police, Captain Syers, our great shikari, dressed as a Chinaman, and nightly patrolled the road. Malays laughed, saying: 'Of course the tiger knows all about it.' They believed that the tiger possessed supernatural intelligence. And it certainly seemed that he did, for after many nights without sleep, the sportsman, who had never had the slightest indication of a tiger's presence, gave up and went home. The evening of his departure that tiger carried off another Chinaman from the same spot."

Hottentot Never Warlike.

Despite the ferocious connotation of his name the primitive Hottentot seldom engaged in war. He was accounted gentle and tractable. His most explosive quality was the language, now rapidly disappearing, which was easy enough so far as the noises that could be made with the tongue, but the rapid combination of the two few white men could imitate. There was little reason for the Hottentot to fight, since all he required for his simple communal life was a patch of grass. In the evening he danced and sang and smoked. The characteristic orchestral piece was the gong, a crude sort of mouth organ, made of a hollow stick and the entrails of a sheep. A drum and a reed, which had the quality of a flute, completed the list.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

BABY CLINIC A GREAT SUCCESS

Held in Ellsworth School House on Wednesday Last

The first baby clinic was held at the Ellsworth school house on Wednesday of last week and was a decided success, thirty-one children being examined.

The clinic was in charge of Miss Hansen, Antrim county Red Cross nurse, who did the weighing and measuring, while Dr. B. J. Beuker had charge of the physical examination. Miss Hansen was assisted by the district Red Cross superintendent and by members of the Banks township advisory board, Mesdames Clow and Harris, the last named being township chairman.

Miss Hansen is loud in her praise of the assistance and co-operation which she received here and will make a follow-up campaign starting on Wednesday of this week, in a call at the homes of mothers who attended the clinic with children.

She will also conduct an examination of school children some time during the ensuing school year, starting with rural schools which can be reached by motor and leaving the town schools until the last.

SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 4TH

SUCCESSFUL YEAR LOOKED FOR BY ALL

Twelfth Grade Added for Convenience of Advanced Student—List of Teachers Engaged

School will start in District No. 9 on Tuesday, September 4th and one of the best years in the history of Ellsworth is confidently looked forward to. Four new teachers will be on the staff for the coming year, the twelfth grade having been added at the last annual meeting. The school this year will have as Superintendent, Mr. Geo. A. Wide of Coloma, Wisconsin, a man with eighteen years experience as a teacher in 12th grade schools, fifteen in Michigan and three in Wisconsin, and will have as principal Miss Carol Mork of Leeland, who in addition to five years teaching experience, holds a life certificate.

Mrs. Geo. A. Wide of Coloma, Wis., a lady teacher highly recommended, and a teacher for the past seven years, will handle the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, while the primary room will be in charge of Miss Nina Matson of Mancelona, a young lady without teaching experience but with the highest recommendations as to character and industry.

Mrs. Geo. Liberty, who will conduct the third, fourth and fifth grades, is the only member of last year's staff retained by the board of education and she needs no introduction, as she is considered both by parents and pupils, as one of the best teachers ever employed by the Ellsworth schools and one on whom the board should be congratulated for engaging.

Some slight changes have been made in the board since last year and as they now stand they are D. Patterson, Pres., J. H. Elzinga Secy., Koo Klooster Treas., and Wm. Kooyer and Peter Wieland trustees.

The board members are chosen from among the leading business men and farmers of the district, men who have the interest of the school at heart and if the balance of the school patrons will pull with the board and the teachers, Ellsworth will have one of the leading schools in the county.

ORGANIC MATTER IN SANDS

Material Unsuitable for Concrete to Be Investigated by Bureau of Public Roads.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sands unsuitable for concrete on account of the presence of loam or other organic matter are to be investigated by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture and methods of treatment devised to make them safe for use.

Until recent years it often happened that concrete made of good cement and well-graded and apparently good sand, would disintegrate and become worthless. In such cases the poor quality has been attributed to all the different things which go to make a poor concrete.

A few years ago laboratory workers discovered the effect of organic matter in sand and devised a simple test to determine its presence in harmful quantities. The bureau now hopes to find methods of treatment so that such sands can be used. Samples of sand from all parts of the country are desired and anyone is invited to send in a sample in which the presence of organic matter is suspected, addressed to the Bureau of Public Roads, Washington, D. C.

"Slideboard" Really Modern.
The French have since time immemorial had banquet halls and salons and pieces of furniture on which they placed their "cassings bottles," etc.; so very complicated is the history of the slideboard, and the word itself is of comparatively recent introduction. Even in its original meaning it did not occur before the latter half of the sixteenth century, and the earliest usage of it is found in 1573. One woman in mentioning her furniture wrote of "two long tables of syddelboards in the hall."

GOOD HIGHWAYS

TO REGULATE ROAD TRAFFIC

Highways Authorities Must Be Given Wide Discretion as Conditions Vary Greatly.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Regulation of the character and weight of highway traffic to prevent undue injury to the highway is an administrative matter and cannot be properly taken care of by detailed and arbitrary legislation. This is the conclusion of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, based on experiments to determine the effect of all kinds of traffic on road surfaces and observations on conditions throughout the United States.

Even in a single state conditions vary to such an extent that a law which may be carried on one road without injury may cause untold damage to another. Under the average regulatory law thus far made effective, the greatest service has not been secured from the best roads, nor the safety of the lesser capacity roads is assured. The influence of sub-grade soils, tire equipment, distribution of load to the wheels, speed, and many other variables is too complex to be written into law.

The seasonal variation alone in the carrying capacity of the roadbeds, due to moisture conditions, is one of the most serious of all the causes of road damage. Highway authorities therefore must be given wide discretion in traffic regulation. The bureau urges that as a solution of the problem the state highway officials of each state be given broad powers, so that traffic can be regulated to suit conditions as they exist at any particular time.

LOCAL MERCHANT STRUCK BY AUTO

Accident Occurs at Corner of Park and State Streets

While on his way to his place of business, Friday evening of last week, A. S. Mussellam, one of Charlevoix's leading summer merchants, was struck by a large auto, driven by Edward Eggleton of this city.

Mr. Mussellam, in company with Mrs. Mussellam, had reached the corner of Park and State streets, and were about to cross the street, when a car, speeding west on Park avenue, was seen approaching. Mrs. Mussellam hurried and reached safety. As Mr. Mussellam stepped from the curb, Eggleton struck him and threw him some distance, just how far the victim does not know, as he was rendered unconscious and very badly bruised about the head and body.

His clothing was badly torn, indicating that had Mr. Mussellam been a man of less weight and strength, the result would have been fatal.

BIG SLICE CUT FROM STATE TAX

Administrative Board Has Fixed Figures for 1922.

Michigan's tax levy for the fiscal year 1922-1923 will be the lowest in four years as a result of action taken by the administrative board at Lansing.

Meeting in special session the board placed the tax levy at $17,366,830.74. This is a reduction of $3,074,503.05 from the state tax of the previous fiscal year, when the total tax levy was $20,441,303.79.

Reduction of the tax levy for this year was accomplished, board members declared, as a result of the economies in running the state government due to the consolidation of many departments and divisions and the elimination of many non-essential boards and commissions.

In the administrative board meeting Wednesday, Auditor General O. B. Fuller reported that certain funds had a surplus in the state treasury. This surplus, it was estimated, would be sufficient to take care of the expenses of these departments for the coming fiscal year.

WHAT "ITEMIZED" REPORT MEANS

Information For Directors of School Boards in County

For the information of boards of education and township directors the following article will clear up the situation regarding the publication of reports of expenditures and disbursements according to the new ruling:

"An itemized statement would give the person in whose favor the order was drawn, the purpose for which it was issued and the amount; but I do not question whether you can require printing of the number of the order. A court might hold that as a part of an itemized statement. As I understand it, the purpose of printing is to inform the public that an order has been drawn. If the order states to whom it is drawn, the purpose and amount, it would occur to me that the public is informed and that the number of the order is not material, inasmuch as the records of the secretary of the board are public records which are available to the public who are interested. A court, however, might hold that printing of the number of the order was also necessary."

INTERESTING BITS OF IN- FORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Little Child Badly Injured
Little Helen Louise, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott of East Jordan, received a fractured skull in a runaway accident last Saturday morning and is still in a critical condition.

A single horse and buggy belonging to Delbert Hole was standing in front of Clarence Bowman's residence on Main street; an automobile came along frightening the horse who bolted. In front of Mr. Love's residence was a baby cab containing the little girl in charge of her young brother, Robert. The horse and buggy collided with the cab, overturning it and throwing the infant to the pavement, striking on the back of its head, fracturing the skull and rendering her unconscious. She was rushed to a physicians office and revived, but it is still a question whether the little one will survive the injury.

Standard Oil Office at Petoskey Robbed

Some kind of powder sprinkled liberally over the window, basement floor, stairs, office floors, woodwork and the safe in the office effectually blocked all efforts of the blood hound to scent the robber or robbers who rifled the safe in the office of the Standard Oil company, in the south part of that city Saturday night. The safe was looted of about $250, representing the late Saturday collections.

The building was entered through a basement window. The robber then crossed the basement and entered the office through the stairway and door. Everywhere he left a liberal supply of powder.

How long it took the thief to unlock the safe is not known. It is believed a coat or two was spread on the floor in front of the safe while the robber worked at the combination.—Petoskey News.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS VISIT LOEB FARMS

Campers at Hayo-Went-Ha Spend Tuesday in the City

Y. M. C. A. Camp Hayo-Went-Ha of Torch Lake, visited the Loeb Farms Tuesday. Secretary W. Gospell brought over 40 lads in the party, who made the trip in cars. Being farm boys from various parts of the state, they were greatly interested in the Durocks, Belgians and Holsteins now being fitted for the fairs.

Liva Stock Club Leader N. Pearson, Michigan Agricultural college, was with the party and gave the boys instructions in judging stock. This is done at all farms visited.

FIFTY YEARS OF FOOLISH-
NESS

It seems utterly incredible in these days of sound banks that any person would keep $40,000 in gold hidden in a stocking leg. Still, such a case has just been brought to light by the robbery of Ellen Horigan at her isolated farm home near Tavera, Wisconsin. It was an easy matter for three masked men to hold up this silly defenseless woman who had her savings of half a century "safely" tucked away in the family trunk.

Ellen Horigan had more faith in the present effective banditry than she had in the banks. Now she will be obliged to go to work to earn her livelihood. So long as she lives the dreadful contemplation of her stupendous folly will plague her thoughts by day and haunt her dreams by night. Her $40,000 deposited in any well managed bank would have yielded her $1,600 a year in interest, for which she would not have been obliged to raise her hand. It is a good guess that $1,600 is more than this Wisconsin woman expended annually.

How many more Ellen Horigans are there in the country?

It is probably that the number would be surprising. These misguided persons filled with apprehension, too fearful of the banks to trust them, must live in a constant state of panic and dismay. The terrible bogey of the robber must be always with them.

If these timid persons, so filled with consternation, would only look about them they would discover that their neighbors and all well balanced persons, and those who make the big successes in life patronize the banks freely. They leave their funds in well conducted banks because they have absolute confidence. This faith and assurance is built up by the positive knowledge that their funds are secure. To deposit money in a banking institution of established reliability is a privilege. Happily this benefit is vouchsafed to the people of Cheboygan County by the trustworthy character of its banks.

The utter futility of attempting to care for funds under a bed tick or in a hole in the cellar, has been exploded so many times, it is amazing that so many persons still continue to dwell in an atmosphere of doubt.

That Ellen Horigan's life was not taken is the most surprising feature of the Wisconsin robbery. Such is the usual fate of those so crude in their reasoning that they keep large sums of money in their personal possession.

The most interesting feature of the robbery at Tavera is disclosed by a brief mathematical calculation, which shows that the sum of $40,000 might have been earned money if it had been deposited in a bank at four per cent. The dispatch says that the money had been in course of saving during fifty years of steady accumulation. If the average of $800 a year during the half century had been taken to the bank annually, the interest alone would now equal the principal. In other words, if Ellen Horigan had not been afraid of the banks she would now possess in place of her empty trunk and its ghastly suggestions and a shattered nervous system, the neat sum of $80,000.

He who runs may read the suggestive moral in this sad story.

To Deposit Money in a Banking Institution of Established Reliability is a Privilege

The savings of half a century, $40,000.00, were gone Wednesday because the Horigan family did not believe in banks.

Three masked bandits held up and slugged Miss Ellen Horigan at her lonely farm home and ransacked the house until they found the $40,000.00 in gold in the family trunk.

IT TOOK A LONG TIME TO SAVE $40,000.00

It took a long, long time for Ellen Horigan to save $40,000.00. All the working years of a lifetime were devoted to the job. But she saved that much money—sufficient to represent comfortable wealth.

BUT IT TOOK ONLY A FEW MINUTES TO LOSE IT ALL

She didn't believe in banks. She put her faith in a trunk, in her home, and added slowly accumulated dollars to her hoard over half a century—at the mercy of fire, and at the mercy of robbers. It was the latter evil that visited her. In a few terrible minutes she lost her lifetime's earnings—lost them hopelessly, with no apparent chance to recover the money.

SHE DIDN'T KNOW WHEN THE THIEVES WERE COMING! AND NEITHER DO YOU!

There is no way of prophesy when the old trunk or the teapot, or the tin can where people distrustful of banks hide their money, will be visited by robbers. There is no way of telling what accident may take your earnings from their hiding place. There is only one place where money saved is safe and that is a good bank. It is there when it is needed and it is CONSTANTLY WORKING FOR YOU.

THIS UNFORTUNATE WOMAN SUSTAINED A DOUBLE LOSS

All during the half century when she was stowing her dollars away in a trunk she was keeping them idle. They could have been working for her, adding to themselves, through payment of bank interest. Today she is not only left without her fortune, but presumably must take up again the weary grind of earning a living—whereas, if her money had been deposited in the bank, it would be earning enough to support her entirely without effort on her part.

HARBOR SPRINGS QUITS BALL GAME

SUNDAY'S DEFEAT DUPLICATED
LAST FRIDAY

Had Long End of Game Until Last Half of Ninth Inning—Showed Poor Sportsmanship

With the sting of defeat of Sunday's game, (the bone of contention,) Harbor Springs journeyed over here Friday with the avowed purpose of going home victors.

In the first inning the local team connected for three runs. Harbor Springs tied this in the third round. Up to the last half of the ninth inning, the Harbor was leading with the score 8 to 5.

In Charlevoix's last time to bat, a decision by base umpire Lewis, calling Johnson for Charlevoix safe on third base, was hotly contested by the visitors, who declared Johnson out. Umpire Lewis did not change his view of the play and certain members of the Harbor Springs team refused to finish the game.

These same players were the ones who started the row in the game with the Lob team last season. Charlevoix had them defeated and evidently this fact was the reason for their quitting.

We are loyal base-ball fans and we have absolutely no use for quitters. The tactics adopted by some of the Harbor Springs aggregation coincided with the previous action of this kicking, rag-chewing and swell-headed trio. It was a fine opportunity to save their skins from defeat.

Harbor Springs is one of the best little cities in northern Michigan and the attitude taken by certain members of their team should have no bearing whatever on the clean reputation of the Harbor. If they want their team to play clean ball, a general shaking up is badly needed, for the method their leaders used in Friday's game is disgusting and will stand forever as a menace to the great American game. We trust that in all future games with Harbor Springs, the team will at least "show the man", regardless of how the game goes.

Base ball has always been and always will be the leading sport among red-blooded citizens and a repetition of last Friday's game will help kill the only clean game that this great nation of ours indulges in. Our boys are not leading the league, but we are willing to take a licking because we have always tried to play the game square. We ask the citizens of Charlevoix to give the local team the support that all lovers of this great game should have. The boys have done their utmost to give us some little entertainment on Sunday's and when the season closes, should they need any assistance, let us dig down and dig deep, to help those who are endeavoring to make Charlevoix the best and cleanest place in the state. We ask your earnest co-operation.

DEATH CALLS NORWOOD PIONEER

Amos S. Richardson Was One of the Regions Early Settlers

The death of Amos S. Richardson, which occurred Friday, August 25, marks the passing of another of the early settlers of Norwood. Deceased was born in West Chazy, N. Y., July 31, 1837. At the age of 19 years he was united in marriage to Emily A. Pickett. To this union two children were born, Mrs. Adell Cameron, the eldest, who preceded him in death June 17, 1916, and Chas. A. Richardson, who resides in Detroit, and one son by adoption, William M. Richardson of Norwood. He enlisted in the Civil war, Co. D, 96th Reg., in December 1861, and served three years. He came to Norwood in 1867 and lived on their farm for several years, then moved to Norwood.

LICENSES HERE FOR SMALL GAME

COUNTY CLERK RECEIVES SUP-PLY OF PERMITS

May Be Procured of Clerk On and After September 1—Duck
Season Opens Sept. 16

Reminders that summer is on the wane and the open season on furred and feathered game, with the exception of deer and beaver is only a few weeks away, were received by the county clerk several days ago in the shape of an allotment of small game licenses, commonly called "gun licenses."

Contrary to a quite general opinion, these licenses are not issued as a permit to carry fire arms, but are simply a license allowing the holder to hunt and kill small game. They are called hunting and trapping licenses and all trappers, whether professional or amateur, must carry one. Anyone found in the woods with a gun and game in his possession without a small game license on his person is liable to arrest, and for this reason, holders of licenses are requested to carry them whenever they go afield.

Licenses may be procured September 1, and are good until September 1, 1923, and may be used as a permit to hunt, pursue and kill small game during open seasons as prescribed by the state game laws. It is expected that but very few of the licenses will be issued however, until just prior to the opening of the duck season on Saturday, September 16, although rail, a species of waterfowl, may be hunted beginning Friday, September 1. Open season on both partridge and rabbits opens October 15, rabbit season continuing until the last day of December and partridge season closing in the middle of the deer season, November 20.

SOIL SURVEY OF ENTIRE COUNTY

State Men Busily Engaged in Work-
In Two Parties

Two parties representing the Michigan Land Economic Survey are at work in Charlevoix county, one party being camped on Nowland Lake, the other outfit being located near East Jordan.

Prof. Young of the Forestry Department of the University of Michigan is supervising the work. From notes taken afield a soil map of the county will be made. The map will also show other economic phases of farming condition in Charlevoix county.

This is an initial step to determine the value of the work, the expense of which is borne by the state.

MAKE A PICNIC OF VISIT TO FAIR

ANNUAL HOME COMING WEEK
SEPTEMBER 11-15

Week's Program Provides for the Entertainment of Every Member of The Family

The Charlevoix County Fair will begin a week from next Monday, September 11th, and will close Friday, September 15th. It is annual home-coming week for Charlevoix county and Northern Michigan.

Have you made arrangements to hop into the "old bus"—or the new one—and take your family or your friends out to enjoy the merriment and thrills of an old-fashioned county fair? If you haven't an auto, hook-up Dolly and Nellie to the spring wagon. The main thing is to GO. Take your lunch with you, if you prefer, or get good, wholesome "eats" on the grounds. Make a picnic of your visit to the fair.

The officials in charge of your fair have worked hard. The program provides for the entertainment of every member of your family—for dad, mother, the kiddies, and all the cousins and uncles and aunts. You simply mustn't miss it!

In addition to the regular baseball games between the Charlevoix county teams and either Harbor Springs or Petoskey, Secretary Bird has secured Masonic teams from Albion, Boyne City, Mancelona and East Jordan to put on three forenoon games beginning Wednesday. It now develops that the East Jordan Masons under Doc Parks and Doc Bechtel are feeling very cocky over the outcome of these games.

It seems that about six weeks ago Doc Parks, in looking through the advertising pages of the "Hot Stuff Magazine," saw a picture of a gentleman pointing an accusing finger right at him. Underneath the cut were the words: "Be a Big League Ball Player! We teach you how—by mail!" It further explained that Rogers Hornsby, Babe Ruth and a lot of others made "big money," and that it was all a secret of "inside baseball."

It is rumored that the East Jordan Masons have taken a full correspondence course in inside baseball and have a new "hidden-ball" trick and a lot of other up-to-date stuff ready for their opponents. Don't miss these games.

Read the advertisement in this issue and make your plans accordingly. Nothing that does not lend itself to cleanliness and wholesomeness can be found at the Charlevoix County Fair.

CHILDREN GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

MISS IRMA GIBSON ACTS AS COACH FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Proceeds of Delightful Affair Given to Public Library for Children's Books

Under the able leadership of Miss Irma Gibson, social hostess of the Beach Hotel, several of the children of our summer visitors entertained at the popular hotel with a fine program. Those participating were, Elizabeth Strauss, age 11, Emily Wolfson 12, George Gingsberg 11, Corine Oaks 6, Tom Reis 11, Suzanne Hartman 9, and Jane Miller 10. The program was as follows:

Episode I—A pantomime travesty.
Episode II—A novelty dance.
Episode III—The Sheik, solo and ensemble with dance.
Episode IV—Vocal solo—"The Cuckoo Clock."
Episode V—Playlet—"The Princess and the Swineherd."

The star parts were carried by Miss Elizabeth Strauss, grand daughter of the late M. Abrams. She danced, sang and acted her way charmingly into the hearts of the audience. Mester George Gingsberg carried the star male part admirably and sang the solo number in the Sheik. He shows histrionic talent. Baby Corinne Oaks, was a dainty little participant and although only six years of age, she remembered every line assigned her. Miss Suzanne Hartman was very cunning as the Swineherd, while Master Tom Reis and Miss Emily Wolfson showed splendid ability in their various lines. Little Miss Jane Miller also danced a solo in a dainty manner.

Every one complimented Miss Gibson for the success of the evening and felt well repaid for the program. The entertainment netted the young people $36.50 which was given to Miss Minnie Payton, librarian, for the purchase of children's books to be placed in the library.

SOCIAL CARNIVAL AT BEACH HOTEL

Given By Miss Irma Gibson for Local Hospital

The Charlevoix Hospital benefit given Saturday of last week at the Beach hotel under the personal supervision of Miss Irma Gibson, hostess, was a decided success, both artistically and financially.

Miss Gibson arranged the entire decorations as well as the entertainment features of the evening and to her endeavors can be given the success. The pillars in the ball-room were trimmed with vines and were beautifully decorated at the base with cat-tails and sun-flowers, while immense vases of brilliant flowers filled each window. These were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. William Shields.

The stage, where the orchestra sat, was a bower of flowers and spruce, as were the arch-ways. The carnival spirit prevailed, favor hats were presented during the grand march, and confetti, serpentine and crickets were distributed during the evening festivities. Punch was served and Miss Gibson had a fortune teller for the guests.

Preceding the dance, a delightful concert program was enjoyed, the Beach trio giving two selections, followed by Mrs. Rosenberg, coloratura soprano, Miss Gibson reading and dancing and Mrs. Liebenstein, dramatic soprano. In this manner Miss Gibson succeeded in satisfying the desires of both young and old. An electrician was engaged to arrange colored lights from all corners with Japanese lanterns, greatly enhancing the effect and making the ball-room look like a veritable fairyland. Great credit is due Miss Gibson for her untiring efforts in behalf of this event.

MAN MURDERED NEAR WABMEME

Virgil L. King Found Dead with Shot Through His Head

Apparently murdered in cold blood, Virgil L. King, aged 55, was found dead in the woods near his home on the Kerns farm, three miles southeast of Petoskey Thursday morning. One shot through the neck, fired by parties unknown at present, was the cause of his death.

King, who lived alone, was found on a woods road east of his house by two neighbors, William W. Starr and Frank Burnell. He had made an appointment to go berrying with Starr, and when he did not appear on schedule the two men started a search which ended in the finding of his body about 8 o'clock Thursday morning.
